Moscow Talks Resume In "Chilly" Atmosphere

Futile Atomic Test Ban Talks Near Collapse

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain said Wednesday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's rigid stand on nuclear disarmament has brought test ban talks here to the verge of collapse.

"Shouldn't we now be packing our bags?" demanded U.S. Delegate James J. Wardsworth of Semyon K. Tsarapkin, the Soviet negotiators.

Tsarapkin replied that the question of packing bags was up to the West but there need be no talk of failure if the West switched to a "more realistic attitude."

Both Wadsworth and Sir Michael Wright, the British delegate, concentrated on Khrushchev's Kremlin speech.

Khrushchev asserted the fundamental U.S. and British demand for an effective international control system was completely unacceptable.

Wadsworth and Wright for the first time expressed doubts whether it was worthwhile to continue negotiations on a nuclear treaty.

They said Khrushchev indicated the Soviet Union would never accept an effective control system. They scoffed at his premise that a control organization would spy on the Soviet Union.

The talks have been in progress here for nearly four months. Differences over the control and inspection system arose from the start.

Wright recalled the safeguards against possible espionage which the West is willing to place on the network of control posts.

The three delegations nevertheless agreed to meet again Thursday.

Macmillan, Khrushchev To Visit Kiev

MOSCOW (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had lunch and a long talk with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on cold war issues Wednesday in an atmosphere that a British spokesman termed "fairly cool, calm and collected."

With relations strained by the public attack by Khrushchev on Western policies in his Kremlin speech Tuesday, they met at a country house. Thursday they plan to fly to Kiev together.

Macmillan Tired

Macmillan, suffering from a cold and clearly tired, was the host in the resumption of a series of conferences marked earlier by a show of affability and good humor.

"An exchange of opinion was continued on questions of mutual interest," said Tass, the Soviet news agency.

The meeting was at a country home near Moscow. The Soviets turned it over to Macmillan for the duration of his 10-day goodwill mission to Moscow.

Western newsmen were barred. Photographers authorized to make the trip were not permitted to see how Macmillan and Khrushchev greeted each other. Later the leaders posed briefly for pictures.

Kremlin Talk Slated

There will be another round of formal talks at the Kremlin Thursday morning. Then, a British informant said, Khrushchev will join Macmillan and Lloyd for the flight to Kiev, a trip the Britons originally were to have made alone.

After two days in Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, Macmillan will leave by plane Saturday for a day's stay in Leningrad. He will return to Moscow for the final formal talks Sunday.

Missing Fliers' Kin Ask Ike Get Facts In Russia

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—The mother and wife of a missing American airman have asked President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union to find out what happened to a U.S. plane that went down over Soviet Armenia Sept. 2.

Meanwhile, it was learned that similar letters have gone to the president from Pennsylvania and Louisiana relatives of other missing crewmen on the plane.

Mrs. Virginia F. Hicks of Kingsford Heights, Ind., mother of Airman 2.C. James E. Ferguson, wrote the President:

"Is the government going to abandon him, as well as the 10 other crew members because we must handle 'our allies' with kid gloves?

"You should be willing to risk your own personal safety for my son and your other men, who risked so much and lost so much for you and all of us.

"You are the only American given the permission to go wherever you choose in the U.S.S.R."

The airman's wife, Loretta Zahrn Ferguson, called the missing plane incident an "atrocity," and added, "I can't help feeling this way because I have two constant reminders."

Mrs. Ferguson, who has a 2-year-old daughter and a son born Dec. 14, was in Germany when the plane disappeared. She returned to stay with her parents near Hamlet before the second child was born.

The phrasing of Mrs. Hicks' letter was similar to letters sent to the President by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Moore of Baton Rouge, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Mankins of Point Marion, Pa. Their missing sons, respectively, are Airman 1.C. Robert H. Moore and Airman 2.C. Clement Mankins, 19.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said there would be no White House comment on the letters.

Huge Jetliner Loses Engine, Lands Safely

LONDON (UPI) — A giant Pan American 707 Boeing airliner carrying five persons on a training flight dropped one of its four jet engines over France Wednesday shortly before a scheduled run to New York. The plane later landed safely in London.

A Pan American Airways spokesman said the right outboard engine tore loose from the wing when the craft went into a sudden spin during a deliberate demonstration of minimum control speed. He said the pilot righted the plane immediately at 8,000 feet and flew to London on three engines with no difficulty.

The heavy engine plummeted harmlessly into a field on a farm between Chartres and Alencon, southwest of Paris where the training flight originated. A farmer working nearby heard the crash and notified police.

A Pan American spokesman in Paris said the plane had been scheduled to take off Wednesday night on a flight to New York with 110 passengers. He said the craft had been making the Paris-New York run daily since the company's jet service was inaugurated Oct. 27.

The spokesman stressed that even if the plane's engine had dropped off with a full passenger load the craft would have been able to continue to a safe landing at a reduced speed.

The clipper "Tradewinds" carried four American crewmen and Hyram Broiles, a U. S. Civil Aeronautics Authority safety adviser stationed in Paris.

Paris Conference

BONN, Germany (UPI)— The West German government announced Wednesday that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer would go to Paris next Wednesday to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Huge Titan Test-Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A sleek, ocean-spanning Titan was fired over the Atlantic missile range Wednesday in a smooth second flight test of the nation's longest-range ICBM.

It was aimed at an impact only about 300 miles down the tracking range. But the success of the test firing was considered important in ultimately developing it to full 8,400-mile potential.

Both test firings of the Titan so far have been successful. The first, 90-foot 110-ton Titan to be released from its boltings into flight was sent arching on a 200-300 mile shot Feb. 6. That was on the third anniversary of the establishing of a plant to build Titan missiles at Denver, Colo.

Wednesday's firing, three weeks later, went off apparently without a hitch.

Informed sources said the weapon traveled some 300 (statute) miles down the tracking range. "everything looks real good," one source said after studying early data from the test.

Only the booster, or first stage engine, was fired in Wednesday's flight. This engine, made by the Aerojet General Corp., is believed to be the most powerful single engine in the free world.

The first stage engine was ignited, and flame gushed from its base at 2:45 p.m. e.s.t. After six seconds, the missile's clamps were released and it roared skyward into a thin overcast, taking about a minute to reach the wispy clouds. Then it was visible for another 40 seconds longer.

Coal Lobby Group Set Up By Producers And Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers union and soft coal producers joined forces Wednesday in setting up a new lobby group for their mutual protection against oil, the government, and nuclear energy.

Railroads, electric utilities and manufacturers of coal mining equipment are expected to join the new group, known as the National Coal Policy Conference. The idea was first suggested by mine worker President John L. Lewis last May.

George H. Love, board chairman of Consolidation Coal Co., of Pittsburgh, said the industry group would not "seek or expect favoritism." He said it would attempt to achieve only equality of treatment with other industries.

Love will be chairman of the conference and Joseph E. Moody, president of Southern Coal Producers' Association, will be executive director.

The action came as West Virginia lawmakers urged Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles to support their plea for mandatory import quotas on foreign residual oil.

Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.), who attended the meeting along with House members from their state said they were encouraged by Quarles' reception.

They said they would meet Friday with C. Douglas Dillon, under secretary of state for economic affairs, and hoped to be granted an appointment with President Eisenhower at the White House.

Moody told a newsman the new coal lobby group would register with Congress as a lobby.

Eisenhower Raps Defense Plan Critics

Ike Declares He Knows Most About Over-All Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower shoved "humility and modesty" aside Wednesday to say he is better qualified than the individual military chiefs to determine the nation's defense needs.

The former five-star general said that just spending money doesn't make the country stronger —"indeed, if you spend too much money, you will make us weaker."

The nicety of judgment comes in, he said, in getting what the nation needs, getting that by all means, but getting no more. On that, Eisenhower is the final authority in the executive branch of the government.

While he was at it, the man who has devoted most of his life to the military slapped at congressional critics and what he termed demagogic talk about his defense program.

Eisenhower was frowning, clenching a fist and biting off words when the subject struck sparks near the close of a news conference.

It was a conference which also bore down heavily on the related topic of foreign policy, in many aspects.

Eisenhower started off, for example, by announcing that President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, whom he visited at Acapulco last week, has accepted an invitation to come to Washington in the spring.

Then, on the other phases of international affairs:

The first question was about Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's informal rejection of a foreign ministers' conference on German problems.

Such refusals, Eisenhower said, offer little promise for achieving a just peace. He repeated the position of the Western Allies, that, "We are not going to give one single inch in the preservation of our rights, and of discharging our responsibilities in this particular region, especially Berlin."

As the questioning rolled along, Eisenhower said he thought it would be a grave mistake to set up a summit conference of heads of government without assurances that real progress would be made. The people of the world expect something to come of such sessions, he said, and pessimism and hopelessness increase when the results are zero.

Similarly, he said, there would be little value to individual nonaggression pacts the Soviet Union has suggested with other nations unless they had self-enforcing features to give confidence in their being carried out.

On another point, Eisenhower said that "frankly, I would say that hopes are not as strong as they were in the past" for an East-West agreement to halt nuclear weapons tests. The U.S.S.R. is insisting on a veto over any inspection system.

Air Force Delays 'Discoverer' Shot

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. — (UPI) — An attempt by the Air Force to launch a polar-orbiting, 1,300-pound satellite was postponed 24 hours Wednesday without official explanation.

The Air Force's Ballistic Missile division said unofficially that technical reasons were responsible for postponing the scheduled shot southward along the Pacific missile range toward the South Pole.

There was some indication, however, that the attempt would be resumed Thursday to put the initial artificial moon of the "Discoverer" series into orbit.

Anti-White Rioting Spreads In Africa

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI)—Restless natives seized a customs post in northern Nyasaland and went on strike at the mammoth Kariba Dam near here Wednesday as anti-white demonstrations continued to spread through the federation

Rioting natives raided the customs post at Fort Hill and took control of the immediate area. Frantic officials appealed for help from police and military reinforcements sent into the region to quell previous outbreaks.

Fort Hill is on the Tanganyika border. It was the scene of vicious rioting earlier this week in support of independence for the natives of Nyasaland, which is federated with the Rhodesias under British rule.

Campanellas Leave Court

David Campanella, 15-year-old son of Roy Campanella, and his sad-looking mother, Ruthe, leave Queens Children's Court in New York yesterday after $1,000 bail was posted for a March 11 hearing on a burglary charge. It was David's second appearance in the court in two days. He was released Tuesday with a severe reprimand after being found guilty as a juvenile delinquent for a Monday night street fight. He was arrested shortly afterward on a charge of robbing a drugstore. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

Demo Housing Bill Approved By House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Banking Committee Wednesday approved a multi-billion dollar Democratic housing program in another congressional slap at President Eisenhower's economy pleas.

Republicans denounced it as a "budget-busting" bill which eventually would cost the Treasury four billion dollars more than the $1,600,000,000 housing program recommended by Eisenhower.

The committee rejected the President's bill by a wide margin and then approved the Democratic measure 19 to 7. Among other things, it would sharply reduce minimum down payments on FHA-insured loans in excess of $13,500.

It also would expand federally-subsidized public housing and authorize $2,100,000,000 in federal outlays for slum clearance, college housing and other housing programs.

The $2,100,000,000 price tag put on the measure by Democrats did not include the cost of an administration-opposed plan to expand public housing.

Eight Republican members of the committee charged in a joint statement that this feature alone would cost $3,700,000,000 over the next 45 years, boosting the total long-run cost of the bill to $5,800,000,000.

The President's program called for no new public housing.

The Democratic bill would authorize 35,000 new units of public housing annually until all funds once authorized by Congress for this program were exhausted.

Rep. Allen Of GOP Old Guard To Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.), senior Republican member of the powerful House Rules Committee and a key figure in the GOP "old guard," announced Wednesday he will retire from Congress after the current session ends in 1959.

The 60-year-old Galena, Ill., attorney, now fourth ranking House Republican, came to Congress in 1932, one of his party's most trying years. Most of his service was with a Republican House minority, but he headed the Rules Committee during the two Republican Congresses of 1946-48 and 1952-54.

His decision not to seek a 15th two-year term will leave the "old guard" ranks tinner than ever. Deaths and retirements in recent years have pared down the once dominant Republican group to a small, but still potent, faction. Allen's place as top Rules Committee Republican would go to Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), another conservative stalwart.

Protest Strike Against Vermin Closes School

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Thirty mothers marched their children out of a Tampa elementary school Wednesday in a protest against vermin.

The women said the school is crawling with mites, roaches, rats and mice. And the kids won't return to classes, they said, until the situation is remedied.

The school board voted to close the building while exterminators go after the pests.

Principal Albert Buchholz said exterminators worked at the school the past weekend but added that the vermin still were around.

"Cigaret Baby" To Get Checkup

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Medical science will get its chance Friday with Peoria's cigaret puffing 2-year-old.

The mother of Lawrence W. Smith hopes she can keep him away from the filter-tips long enough for a doctor to give him a good going over.

"I hope the doctor can do some good," Mrs. Lawrence Smith said of her tobacco-loving little Smith. "You know, his throat seems red and he's hoarse. Do you think five or six cigarets a day could do that?"

Lawrence, who looks sturdy enough, began smoking about four weeks ago. His mother, a non-smoker, thinks the youngster may have picked up the habit from a 16-year-old baby-sitter. Mrs. Smith, a divorcee, is a tavern waitress.

"I even talked to a priest about it," said Mrs. Smith, who explained she intends to join the Roman Catholic Church.

"My son pestered the priest for a cigaret, crying 'moke, moke,' as he does when he wants one," she sighed. The priest suggested medical attention.

Campanella Boy's Mother Says Charge "Blown Up"

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella and his wife closed family ranks Wednesday behind their son, David, 15, arrested as a street fighter and a drugstore burglar.

"It hasn't been easy for the boy," said his mother, Ruthe. "Everything has been blown out of proportion because of his name."

"Roy is absolutely sick over this and you can imagine how I feel. But we're not thinking of ourselves — we're thinking of the boy."

The elder Campanella has been fighting paralysis ever since an auto accident a year ago ended his brilliant career as baseball catcher for the Brooklyn, now Los Angeles, Dodgers.

Long active in the fight against juvenile delinquency, he said of his son's arrest: "The boy's my boy. I got to try and help him when he gets messed up. I tried to help as much as I could with juvenile delinquency and here's my boy that jumped the track."

Young David was released in $3,500 bond in the burglary case for a March 11 hearing in Children's Court — the same court where Tuesday he was convicted as a street-fighting delinquent. Because of his age he is being handled as a juvenile delinquent, rather than on criminal charges.

As he left the court building with his mother, a crowd of 25 Negro boys and girls pushed and shoved along in his wake, jeering and shouting. One of them cried: "Gimme some of that money, man."

The Campanella boy kept silent.

Police said young Campanella, a Negro, admitted that he and a white chum, George Delmos, 16, broke into a Queens drugstore Feb. 14 and stole $9 in change and some cigarets.

Dulles, 71, Gets Cheering News, Birthday Cake

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles got another X-ray treatment Wednesday together with some cheering news from his doctors and a cake for his 71st birthday.

President Eisenhower, a leading rooter in the secretary's fight against abdominal cancer, told a news conference:

"He is reacting remarkably and the doctors are quite pleased with his progress today."

Dulles was surprised with a birthday cake decorated with the great seal of the United States. It was presented to him by his doctors and nurses in his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

His immediate office staff feted him in midafternoon and still later his wife and other family members arranged a third party.

Dulles received his fifth and most extensive X-ray treatment in the morning. His doctors announced afterward they gave him a dosage of nearly three minutes covering the entire lower abdomen.

The doctors have not yet determined the extent of Dulles' cancer. It reappeared Feb. 13, when he underwent surgery for hernia. It was first discovered in 1956, when a malignant portion of his colon was removed.

Dulles got in a bit of State Department business Wednesday. The department said he talked by telephone about 20 minutes with Joseph N. Green Jr., his special assistant. The subject was Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Moscow speech Tuesday, widely interpreted as a rejection of the West's proposal for a Big Four conference on Germany's future.

Eisenhower sent a message to Dulles in the morning. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described it as a personal handwritten note. But he declined to say what the President wrote.

McClellan Sees Nation Threatened

Senators Wind Up Hearings Marked By Balky Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee's investigation of gangland penetration into the coin machine industry highlights a situation "that threatens the sovereignty of this country," Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said Wednesday.

"The evidence clearly shows how far this racketeering has become entrenched," McClellan said in ending a series of hearings on the jukebox-coin machine industry in New York and Chicago.

"Unless this is successfully stopped, there is great danger to this country. We are threatened from within."

McClellan has contended the underworld has been busy working its way into various industries, with the help of some corrupt labor union officials. He took the position that the coin machine situation fits into that pattern.

Witnesses Refuse To Talk

The committee suspended its hearings until March 10 after fruitless questioning of a series of witnesses who previously have been named in testimony as playing key roles in alleged shakedowns of Chicago area coin machine operators.

Refusing to answer question on Fifth Amendment grounds were:

1. Edward Vogel, described by a committee investigator as the real power behind the Chicago Independent Amusement Assn., Inc. This organization allegedly hired strongarm men to terrorize amusement machine operators into joining and paying off.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Vogel is "one of the overlords of the underworld at the present time."

He invited Vogel to challenge the statement that "you are the key figure behind this whole operation, together with Sam (Mooney) Giancana." Kennedy previously said Giancana is chief gunman for successors of the old Al Capone mob.

Lavish Living On $8,700 Year

2. Hyman Larner, named as titular head of the association. Kennedy accused him of operating a "well-organized shakedown of all the game machine operators in the Chicago area."

Larner refused, among other things to say how he has been able to afford a home in Florida, a Chicago apartment, six autos and two cabin cruisers—all on the $8,700-year income the committee said he has reported for tax purposes.

The committee contends Larner's income from Chicago coin machine rackets came to $100,000 in 1957.

3. Fred Tom Smith, otherwise known as "Jukebox Smitty." Smith heads the coin machine division of Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. His name has been linked in testimony with alleged shakedowns in the coin machine industry.

Carter Halves Son's Salary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Freshman Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) said Wednesday he will cut by nearly half the $11,872 government salary being paid his teenage son.

Carter announced his decision in a House speech, climaxing the furor started when it was disclosed that 19-year-old Steven A. Carter was getting near maximum pay as an aide in his father's office.

The Iowa congressman, elected in the 1958 Democratic landslide, told his colleagues the pay rate set for his son was never intended to be permanent.

But Carter said the youth was put to work when doctors told the congressman he was suffering from cancer and had "only three weeks to live." Carter said he now has been assured of a "normal life span" as a result of treatments he is undergoing at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here.

Without referring directly to his son's present yearly salary, Carter told the 60 House members who listened to his speech that "as of today, his basic salary will be cut in two." This would reduce the son's pay to about $6,400 a year.

Anti-White Rioting Spreads In Africa

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI)—Restless natives seized a customs post in northern Nyasaland and went on strike at the mammoth Kariba Dam near here Wednesday as anti-white demonstrations continued to spread through the federation.

Rioting natives raided the customs post at Fort Hill and took control of the immediate area. Frantic officials appealed for help from police and military reinforcements sent into the region to quell previous outbreaks.

Fort Hill is on the Tanganyika border. It was the scene of vicious rioting earlier this week in support of independence for the natives of Nyasaland, which is federated with the Rhodesias under British rule.

Eisenhower Raps Defense Plan Critics

Ike Declares He Knows Most About Over-All Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower shoved "humility and modesty" aside Wednesday to say he is better qualified than the individual military chiefs to determine the nation's defense needs.

The former five-star general said that just spending money doesn't make the country stronger —"indeed, if you spend too much money, you will make us weaker."

The nicety of judgment comes in, he said, in getting what the nation needs, getting that by all means, but getting no more. On that, Eisenhower is the final authority in the executive branch of the government.

While he was at it, the man who has devoted most of his life to the military slapped at congressional critics and what he termed demagogic talk about his defense program.

Eisenhower was frowning, clenching a fist and biting off words when the subject struck sparks near the close of a news conference.

It was a conference which also bore down heavily on the related topic of foreign policy, in many aspects.

Eisenhower started off, for example, by announcing that President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, whom he visited at Acapulco last week, has accepted an invitation to come to Washington in the spring.

Then, on the other phases of international affairs:

The first question was about Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's informal rejection of a foreign ministers' conference on German problems.

Such refusals, Eisenhower said, offer little promise for achieving a just peace. He repeated the position of the Western Allies, that, "We are not going to give one single inch in the preservation of our rights, and of discharging our responsibilities in this particular region, especially Berlin."

As the questioning rolled along, Eisenhower said he thought it would be a grave mistake to set up a summit conference of heads of government without assurances that real progress would be made. The people of the world expect something to come of such sessions, he said, and pessimism and hopelessness increase when the results are zero.

Similarly, he said, there would be little value to individual nonaggression pacts the Soviet Union has suggested with other nations unless they had self-enforcing features to give confidence in their being carried out.

On another point, Eisenhower said that "frankly, I would say that hopes are not as strong as they were in the past" for an East-West agreement to halt nuclear weapons tests. The U.S.S.R. is insisting on a veto over any inspection system.

Air Force Delays 'Discoverer' Shot

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. — (UPI) — An attempt by the Air Force to launch a polar-orbiting, 1,300-pound satellite was postponed 24 hours Wednesday without official explanation.

The Air Force's Ballistic Missile division said unofficially that technical reasons were responsible for postponing the scheduled shot southward along the Pacific missile range toward the South Pole.

There was some indication, however, that the attempt would be resumed Thursday to put the initial artificial moon of the "Discoverer" series into orbit.

Campanellas Leave Court

David Campanella, 15-year-old son of Roy Campanella, and his sad-looking mother, Ruthe, leave Queens Children's Court in New York yesterday after $1,000 bail was posted for a March 11 hearing on a burglary charge. It was David's second appearance in the court in two days. He was released Tuesday with a severe reprimand after being found guilty as a juvenile delinquent for a Monday night street fight. He was arrested shortly afterward on a charge of robbing a drugstore. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

Demo Housing Bill Approved By House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Banking Committee Wednesday approved a multi-billion dollar Democratic housing program in another congressional slap at President Eisenhower's economy pleas.

Republicans denounced it as a "budget-busting" bill which eventually would cost the Treasury four billion dollars more than the $1,600,000,000 housing program recommended by Eisenhower.

The committee rejected the President's bill by a wide margin and then approved the Democratic measure 19 to 7. Among other things, it would sharply reduce minimum down payments on FHA-insured loans in excess of $13,500.

It also would expand federally-subsidized public housing and authorize $2,100,000,000 in federal outlays for slum clearance, college housing and other housing programs.

The $2,100,000,000 price tag put on the measure by Democrats did not include the cost of an administration-opposed plan to expand public housing.

Eight Republican members of the committee charged in a joint statement that this feature alone would cost $3,700,000,000 over the next 45 years, boosting the total long-run cost of the bill to $5,800,000,000.

The President's program called for no new public housing.

The Democratic bill would authorize 35,000 new units of public housing annually until all funds once authorized by Congress for this program were exhausted.

Rep. Allen Of GOP Old Guard To Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.), senior Republican member of the powerful House Rules Committee and a key figure in the GOP "old guard," announced Wednesday he will retire from Congress after the current session ends in 1959.

The 60-year-old Galena, Ill., attorney, now fourth ranking House Republican, came to Congress in 1932, one of his party's most trying years. Most of his service was with a Republican House minority, but he headed the Rules Committee during the two Republican Congresses of 1946-48 and 1952-54.

His decision not to seek a 15th two-year term will leave the "old guard" ranks tinner than ever. Deaths and retirements in recent years have pared down the once dominant Republican group to a small, but still potent, faction. Allen's place as top Rules Committee Republican would go to Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), another conservative stalwart.

Protest Strike Against Vermin Closes School

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Thirty mothers marched their children out of a Tampa elementary school Wednesday in a protest against vermin.

The women said the school is crawling with mites, roaches, rats and mice. And the kids won't return to classes, they said, until the situation is remedied.

The school board voted to close the building while exterminators go after the pests.

Principal Albert Buchholz said exterminators worked at the school the past weekend but added that the vermin still were around.

"Cigaret Baby" To Get Checkup

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Medical science will get its chance Friday with Peoria's cigaret puffing 2-year-old.

The mother of Lawrence W. Smith hopes she can keep him away from the filter-tips long enough for a doctor to give him a good going over.

"I hope the doctor can do some good," Mrs. Lawrence Smith said of her tobacco-loving little Smith. "You know, his throat seems red and he's hoarse. Do you think five or six cigarets a day could do that?"

Lawrence, who looks sturdy enough, began smoking about four weeks ago. His mother, a non-smoker, thinks the youngster may have picked up the habit from a 16-year-old baby-sitter. Mrs. Smith, a divorcee, is a tavern waitress.

"I even talked to a priest about it," said Mrs. Smith, who explained she intends to join the Roman Catholic Church.

"My son pestered the priest for a cigaret, crying 'moke, moke,' as he does when he wants one," she sighed. The priest suggested medical attention.

Campanella Boy's Mother Says Charge "Blown Up"

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella and his wife closed family ranks Wednesday behind their son, David, 15, arrested as a street fighter and a drugstore burglar.

"It hasn't been easy for the boy," said his mother, Ruthe. "Everything has been blown out of proportion because of his name."

"Roy is absolutely sick over this and you can imagine how I feel. But we're not thinking of ourselves — we're thinking of the boy."

The elder Campanella has been fighting paralysis ever since an auto accident a year ago ended his brilliant career as baseball catcher for the Brooklyn, now Los Angeles, Dodgers.

Long active in the fight against juvenile delinquency, he said of his son's arrest: "The boy's my boy. I got to try and help him when he gets messed up. I tried to help as much as I could with juvenile delinquency and here's my boy that jumped the track."

Young David was released in $3,500 bond in the burglary case for a March 11 hearing in Children's Court — the same court where Tuesday he was convicted as a street-fighting delinquent. Because of his age he is being handled as a juvenile delinquent, rather than on criminal charges.

As he left the court building with his mother, a crowd of 25 Negro boys and girls pushed and shoved along in his wake, jeering and shouting. One of them cried: "Gimme some of that money, man."

The Campanella boy kept silent.

Police said young Campanella, a Negro, admitted that he and a white chum, George Delmos, 16, broke into a Queens drugstore Feb. 14 and stole $9 in change and some cigarets.

Dulles, 71, Gets Cheering News, Birthday Cake

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles got another X-ray treatment Wednesday together with some cheering news from his doctors and a cake for his 71st birthday.

President Eisenhower, a leading rooter in the secretary's fight against abdominal cancer, told a news conference:

"He is reacting remarkably and the doctors are quite pleased with his progress today."

Dulles was surprised with a birthday cake decorated with the great seal of the United States. It was presented to him by his doctors and nurses in his room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

His immediate office staff feted him in midafternoon and still later his wife and other family members arranged a third party.

Dulles received his fifth and most extensive X-ray treatment in the morning. His doctors announced afterward they gave him a dosage of nearly three minutes covering the entire lower abdomen.

The doctors have not yet determined the extent of Dulles' cancer. It reappeared Feb. 13, when he underwent surgery for hernia. It was first discovered in 1956, when a malignant portion of his colon was removed.

Dulles got in a bit of State Department business Wednesday. The department said he talked by telephone about 20 minutes with Joseph N. Green Jr., his special assistant. The subject was Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Moscow speech Tuesday, widely interpreted as a rejection of the West's proposal for a Big Four conference on Germany's future.

Eisenhower sent a message to Dulles in the morning. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described it as a personal handwritten note. But he declined to say what the President wrote.

McClellan Sees Nation Threatened

Senators Wind Up Hearings Marked By Balky Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee's investigation of gangland penetration into the coin machine industry highlights a situation "that threatens the sovereignty of this country," Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said Wednesday.

"The evidence clearly shows how far this racketeering has become entrenched," McClellan said in ending a series of hearings on the jukebox-coin machine industry in New York and Chicago.

"Unless this is successfully stopped, there is great danger to this country. We are threatened from within."

McClellan has contended the underworld has been busy working its way into various industries, with the help of some corrupt labor union officials. He took the position that the coin machine situation fits into that pattern.

Witnesses Refuse To Talk

The committee suspended its hearings until March 10 after fruitless questioning of a series of witnesses who previously have been named in testimony as playing key roles in alleged shakedowns of Chicago area coin machine operators.

Refusing to answer question on Fifth Amendment grounds were:

1. Edward Vogel, described by a committee investigator as the real power behind the Chicago Independent Amusement Assn., Inc. This organization allegedly hired strongarm men to terrorize amusement machine operators into joining and paying off.

He invited Vogel to challenge the statement that "you are the key figure behind this whole operation, together with Sam (Mooney) Giancana." Kennedy previously said Giancana is chief gunman for successors of the old Al Capone mob.

Lavish Living On $8,700 Year

2. Hyman Larner, named as titular head of the association. Kennedy accused him of operating a "well-organized shakedown of all the game machine operators in the Chicago area."

Larner refused, among other things to say how he has been able to afford a home in Florida, a Chicago apartment, six autos and two cabin cruisers—all on the $8,700-year income the committee said he has reported for tax purposes.

The committee contends Larner's income from Chicago coin machine rackets came to $100,000 in 1957.

3. Fred Tom Smith, otherwise known as "Jukebox Smitty." Smith heads the coin machine division of Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. His name has been linked in testimony with alleged shakedowns in the coin machine industry.

Carter Halves Son's Salary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Freshman Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) said Wednesday he will cut by nearly half the $11,872 government salary being paid his teenage son.

Carter announced his decision in a House speech, climaxing the furor started when it was disclosed that 19-year-old Steven A. Carter was getting near maximum pay as an aide in his father's office.

The Iowa congressman, elected in the 1958 Democratic landslide, told his colleagues the pay rate set for his son was never intended to be permanent.

But Carter said the youth was put to work when doctors told the congressman he was suffering from cancer and had "only three weeks to live." Carter said he now has been assured of a "normal life span" as a result of treatments he is undergoing at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here.

Without referring directly to his son's present yearly salary, Carter told the 60 House members who listened to his speech that "as of today, his basic salary will be cut in two." This would reduce the son's pay to about $6,400 a year.

Republicans Name Planning Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major move to try to get the Republican party back on a winning trail was announced Wednesday — formation of a 44-member committee to study long-range objectives.

GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, originator of the idea, announced the committee roster after an hour's conference with President Eisenhower. He said the idea has the enthusiastic support of Eisenhower. The group will be called the Republican Committee on Program and Progress.

Named Chairman was Charles H. Percy, president of Bell & Howell Co., of Chicago, who recently resigned as vice chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee.

Alcorn said he and Percy co-sponsored the idea and the GOP National Committee endorsed it at its January meeting in Des Moines.

That same meeting heard challenges from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania. They demanded that Eisenhower give the party a set of principles that, as they put it, do not copy the New Deal, and that the President himself provide some of the "unremitting effort" he said was needed if the party is to win in 1960.

Neither Goldwater nor Simpson was named to the committee, but Alcorn noted that it includes Goldwater's campaign manager in his 1958 successful reelection campaign, Stephen C. Shadegg of Phoenix.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, GOP floor leaders, were the only Congress members named to the group.

The group includes one governor, Cecil Underwood of West Virginia, several members of the GOP National Committee, a number of women, several professors, and leaders in the fields of labor, agriculture, business and law.

Alcorn called an organization meeting of the committee for March 13-14 here.

He said the committee will sketch out long-range aims in such fields as agriculture, labor, civil rights and fiscal policy. It also will cover campaign organization techniques.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following include the members of a Republican Committee on Program and Progress, announced Wednesday:

Bertha S Adkins, Salisbury, Md.; Lloyd A. Mashburn, Silver Spring, Md.; and Dr. Malcolm C. Moos, Baltimore.

Air Force Denies X15 To Fly Today

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An aviation trade publication says the X15 rocket plane will go aloft for the first time Thursday. But the Air Force says it's not so.

"No flight is planned for the next two weeks," said an official at the air base, where the X15 is slated to begin its space career.

Aviation Daily said the X15 flight would take place Thursday at Edwards and the Army would fire a lunar probe from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Saturday.

The Pentagon and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment, but a spokeman at Edwards declared: "The item is in error."

The X15 will be taken aloft on all flights by a B52 bomber. On the first trip it will be brought down still hanging beneath the B52's wing. Later it will be dropped by the B52 at great altitudes for flights expected to rocket it into space.

Southern Md. Group Assails River Compact

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Southern Marylanders described the proposed new Potomac River compact Wednesday as a step toward communism, a boon to monopolists, a giveaway, a blow to representative government, and a threat to the livelihood of oyster tongers.

In short, they told a joint hearing of the Legislature, they don't like it.

They said they prefer the old Potomac River Compact, which was declared void two years ago and which Virginia has asked the Supreme Court to declare still valid.

But if the Legislature sees fit to approve the new compact, as recommended by Gov. Tawes, the Marylanders said they "will insist" on these amendments:

1. It must prohibit the leasing of oyster bottom to private interests.

2. It must prohibit the use of dredges which scrape the water-bottom and haul up oysters in the river.

3. The six-man bi-state commission proposed to regulate fishing in the Maryland-owned river also must have jurisdiction over the Virginia-owned lower Chesapeake Bay.

4. The two Maryland counties bordering the river, Charles and St. Marys, must have a representative on the commission.

5. Either state must be authorized to cancel out the agreement upon due notice, say three or five years.

These views and provisions, which Virginia is expected to reject, were set forth at a hearing on a bill under which Maryland would ratify the new compact.

The children were taken to General Hospital at Martinsburg for treatment.

The two-story frame house and its contents were destroyed by the rapidly spreading flames. The wife and children escaped in their night clothes.

Mexican Trains Halted By Strike

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Sixty thousand Communist - led railroad workers went on strike on Wednesday for higher wages. Government officials warned them to return to their jobs within 24 hours or face annulment of their union contract.

The strike began at noon against the government - owned national railways of Mexico and virtually crippled rail service throughout the country.

Proposed Pharmacist Law Revisions Cause Confusion

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A confusing conflict of opinions were heard Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee on proposals to tighten regulation of Maryland pharmacists.

The hearing was called to consider three changes in the law, including granting the Board of Pharmacy authority to revoke licenses for certain causes.

However, another bill introduced Monday night and not yet received by the committee was injected into the hearing and the pair provoked disagreement among pharmacists.

What confused the committee was a stand by some witnesses that they favored the later bill which is a complete revision of the law on pharmacy, but not for the one with only three changes. The changes, however, were lifted from the omnibus bill.

In addition to providing for revocation of licenses, they would require annual renewal and license the wholesalers of prescription drugs.

Committee members indicated that because of the confusion the bills would be referred to the Legislative Council for intensive exploration.

Mexican Trains Halted By Strike

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Sixty thousand Communist - led railroad workers went on strike on Wednesday for higher wages. Government officials warned them to return to their jobs within 24 hours or face annulment of their union contract.

The strike began at noon against the government - owned national railways of Mexico and virtually crippled rail service throughout the country.

Proposed Pharmacist Law Revisions Cause Confusion

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A confusing conflict of opinions were heard Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee on proposals to tighten regulation of Maryland pharmacists.

The hearing was called to consider three changes in the law, including granting the Board of Pharmacy authority to revoke licenses for certain causes.

However, another bill introduced Monday night and not yet received by the committee was injected into the hearing and the pair provoked disagreement among pharmacists.

What confused the committee was a stand by some witnesses that they favored the later bill which is a complete revision of the law on pharmacy, but not for the one with only three changes. The changes, however, were lifted from the omnibus bill.

In addition to providing for revocation of licenses, they would require annual renewal and license the wholesalers of prescription drugs.

Committee members indicated that because of the confusion the bills would be referred to the Legislative Council for intensive exploration.

Tawes Submits List Of 35 Statewide Appointments To Maryland Senate

Jewell Confirmed As Commissioner Of Motor Vehicles

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Wednesday began reshuffling Maryland's state administration, from Republican to Democrat, with a list of 39 statewide appointments submitted to the Maryland Senate.

Two of them — a former senator and an incumbent — were confirmed immediately in a traditional courtesy extended to members.

Former Sen. John R. Jewell of Kent County became the newly designated commissioner of motor vehicles for a four year term beginning in May, and Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) was confirmed for a six-year post on the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, also to begin in May.

As had been widely rumored, Tawes postponed selection of one of the most sensitive new posts to be filled — that of superintendent of State Police. An aide said he planned to give it further study and name someone before the Legislature adjourns April 6.

Major William H. Weber, present field force commander of the State Police and one of several candidates for the job, was involved in a report submitted to the governor only Tuesday afternoon by a State Bar Assn. committee which studied alleged improprieties in the State Police force. The report exonerated Weber and other members of the force of any wrongdoing in delay of issuing traffic warrants for a Baltimore contractor. But the aide said Tawes wanted to study it further.

Col. Elmer F. Munshower, present superintendent, is scheduled to leave office June 1.

Among other appointments of interest in those submitted:

William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former attorney general and a leading Democratic Party figure, was named a member of the University of Maryland board of regents, succeeding Edmund S. Burke of Cumberland, for a 9-year term beginning in June.

Edward S. Holter of Middletown, the other regent whose term is expiring, was reappointed by Tawes.

Altogether he reappointed 19 incumbents, some to large state boards and others to smaller agencies. But generally the appointments reflected the change of political climate.

One major holdover from the McKeldin administration was Wallace Reidt of Towson as chairman of the Board of Parole and Probation. His $15,000 annual salary is the highest carried among any jobs in Wednesday's list.

The governor has 130 other statewide jobs to fill later. They don't require confirmation by the Senate, and include members of his reorganized State Roads Commission, Racing Commission, Public Service Commission and other agencies.

Along with his statewide appointments were county lists for trial magistrates, election supervisors and other offices made up from recommendations of local central committees and state senators.

It was among the local appointments, particularly in Baltimore City, where the change in political control of the Statehouse was most apparent.

Paul A. Dorf, an attorney and son-in-law of Baltimore Democratic factional leader Jack Pollack, was named chief magistrate of the Traffic Court succeeding Thomas F. Dempsey, former Democratic state senator appointed by Gov. McKeldin.

The only holdover on the Traffic Court among McKeldin-appointed Democrats was Harry Silbert, who has been ill. Half of the court's eight members are aligned with the Democratic Philip Goodman-Irvin Kovens faction.

Thomas D'Alesandro III, son of the Baltimore mayor, was named to the Board of Supervisors of Election.

Generally, it was noted Democratic opponents of Mayor D'Alesandro's bid for renomination were left out in the cold.

The Phipps appointment to the Tidewater Fisheries Commission came as something of a surprise, although he had been reported in line for it. The Anne Arundel senator indicated he is still not certain whether he will take it. It apparently will depend on Tawes' reported plans to reorganize the three-member commission and how Phipps might fit into those plans.

State's Mental Hospitals Have Doctor Problem

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's commissioner of mental hygiene said Wednesday the state may have to begin looking for "bargain basement" doctors to staff its mental hospitals.

Dr. Clifton T. Perkins told the Senate Finance Committee that recruitment of doctors and other professional personnel is one of his department's biggest problems.

"Someone has got to grab hold of this as our big problem," he said. "We can't do much without good professional people."

Dr. Perkins said the problem is not only competition with other states but with private practice.

Unless salaries are raised to a level comparable to private practice, "we aren't going to be able to take advantage of the investment you've already made (in mental hospitals)," he said.

The director of the state's five mental hospitals discussed his department's proposed budget at a hearing which attracted some 100 people. Many women carried placards proclaiming "we want accredited hospitals," and "thousands are rotting in our state mental hospitals."

The budget submitted by Gov. Tawes would give the department $20,562,235 in operating funds, an 8.5 per cent increase over last year. This was a $2,500,000 cut from Perkins' request.

The department's plea for $6,388,400 for long-term construction was cut back to $2,179,300.

One-twelfth of the total population of the United States can be seated at the same time in the nation's movie houses.

Jobless Benefit Payments Rise

BALTIMORE (AP)—Unemployment benefits paid Marylanders last month increased nearly 29 per cent over December.

State employment officials said, however, their statistics fall short of giving an accurate picture of Maryland unemployment. This is because many Marylanders have exhausted jobless benefits and may be still unemployed but no longer reflected in Department of Employment Security figures.

Benefits paid out last month totaled $5,466,298, close to that of January a year ago of $5,472,493. In December it was $4,241,772.

Robert B. Kimble, executive director of the DES, said most of the increase in unemployment from December to January was seasonal. He said layoffs were concentrated in retail trade with other cutbacks in construction and similar outdoor work because of cold weather.

The average man weighing 150 pounds can exert one-eighth horsepower.

Road Workers Must Retire At Age 65

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Washington County commissioners Wednesday ordered a mandatory retirement age of 65 for all county roads department employes.

Until now, the county roads agency had no mandatory retirement age, and many employes are in their 60s and 70s.

George S. Fockler, board president, said the order was made to increase the efficiency of the roads department. He said the 125-man agency has too many laborers.

The commissioners also decided to go to Baltimore Monday to study that city's methods of distributing food surpluses to welfare cases.

The county plans to set up a similar program here to care for the growing number of persons on the unemployed list.

Some two thousand years ago, the Greek astronomer Hipparchus made a chart in which he divided the zodiac into twelve divisions which he called signs—and these signs are the same ones as the constellations that we know today.

ICC Hearing Scheduled

Frederick Area Residents Protest Plan To Truck Cement, Sand To Virginia Airport

By HENRY DECKER
Editor, The Frederick Post

FREDERICK (AP)—Scheduled hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission on truckers' applications to haul cement and sand to the huge airport being built at Chantilly, Va., are being anticipated with mixed feelings in this area.

Residents in the southern sections of Frederick County and in adjacent Northern Virginia are vigorously protesting the planned motor truck operations from the viewpoint of area road and property damage and urge instead the use of rail transportation to haul the tremendous amount of sand and cement required for the project.

Truckers stress the value to site operations, pointing to the fact that the nearest railroad terminal at Sterling, Va., is nearly four miles from the airport site.

Locally, Frederick stands to gain from the fact that the Alpha Portland Cement Company plant at nearby Lime Kiln will provide almost half of the estimated 142,000 tons required.

On the other hand, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the Baltimore and Ohio system has protested, stressing the point that "adequate railroad facilities are available within a relatively short distance to transport this material, thereby alleviating the conditions complained of" . . . and seeking denial by the ICC of the truckers' request for a permit to haul.

The Mayor and Council of Brunswick, a railroad hub, has written a "very strong letter of protest", as has the Ruritan Club of Point of Rocks.

Truck movement from the Alpha plant would entail the use of the new Frederick Freeway and U.S. 15 south through Buckeystown, Point of Rocks to Leesburg, Va., thence to Chantilly.

Other cement plants are at Union Bridge, Md., Security, Md., and Martinsburg, W. Va.

Citizens of Sterling have won a promise from the airport contractors for a review of plans to truck 442,000 tons of sand and cement over Northern Virginia roads to the airport site.

Present plans call for four large firms to truck 142,000 tons of cement to the airport and 300,000 tons of sand to the site. The trucks, according to William E. Hazelhurst, airport engineer for C. J. Langenfelder and Son, the contractors, will be of a sealed airtight compartment type and there will be no cement dust. He acknowledged that roads will have to be strengthened before trucks could start moving, and that his firm will be bonded to leave the roads in as good if not better condition than at present.

The decision to use trucks, according to Hazelhurst, is based frankly on dollars and cents.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will hold hearings on March 4, 10 and 17 in Washington on the four carriers' applications to haul the Chantilly cement. The opposition is being mobilized.

Jet Found To Be Radioactive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways said Tuesday that one of its new jet airliners was discovered to be radioactive after a Transatlantic high altitude flight.

The discovery was made by technicians when they examined a Boeing 707 jetliner that had taken a sudden 29,000-foot dive while flying over the Atlantic to New York early this month.

Pan American announced the finding of the radioactivity after it had been disclosed in Newsweek magazine.

An airline spokesman said there was no connection between the sudden dive and the radioactivity. He said the amount of radioactivity found was ruled to be harmless to passengers and crew.

The spokesman said the technicians stumbled on the radioactivity while searching for the reason for the aircraft's dive. The instruments they were using to examine the plane disclosed the radioactivity.

Airline officials said that not enough was known about the phenomenon yet to determine whether there is natural radioactivity at the great heights at which jet planes fly or whether the radioactivity was a result of nuclear explosions.

Question Teen-Agers

LONDON (UPI) — Police questioned a stream of teen-agers Wednesday night about a wild dance hall free-for-all which resulted in the fatal knifing of a 17-year-old boy. Authorities said Alan Godfrey Johnson was killed in a battle between two rival gangs of teen-agers in the tough East End district of Barking early Wednesday.

Tibet, with a mean altitude of 15,600 feet, has often been called the roof of the world.

Hush-Hush T. To T. Club Draws New Criticism

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Promptly at noon, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) pounded his gavel, and the Thursday to Tuesday Club was in recess again.

The Thursday to Tuesday Club is one of the most hush-hush outfits in a secretive town.

Officially, it doesn't exist. Even unofficially, no one would admit membership.

Anyone who lurks around the House soon learns that important business rarely is scheduled either for Mondays or Fridays.

Unless he has committee meetings to keep him here, a congressman from, say, New York, Connecticut or New Jersey can get home in time for dinner Thursday night and not have to be back in Washington until the House meets at noon Tuesday.

Recently these T. to T. commuters were brought up by Rep. Glenn Cunningham (R) of Omaha, Neb.

"It would be to the benefit of the taxpayers, it seems to me, if Congress would meet for five or six days a week, get the necessary work done, and then adjourn," Cunningham said in a newsletter to his constituents.

Other congressmen also have complained, mostly in private, but four years ago Rep. H. R. Gross (R) of Waterloo, Iowa, fetched the subject up in a floor debate with the Democratic leader, Rep. John McCormack of Dorchester, Mass.

Well, Gross didn't get far, and Cunningham doesn't expect to, either. For Congress is habit-forming, and a legislative addict is the worst addict there is.

The main problem, Cunningham thinks, is this: Nearby congressmen often leave their families at home, and hence are eager to hurry back every weekend.

Cunningham thinks legislation would be improved if the T. to T. Club quietly passed away.

Sign Agreement

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—The leaders of Nicaragua's two major opposition political parties signed an agreement Tuesday night creating an opposition union against the government of President Luis A. Somoza.

ICC Hearing Scheduled

Frederick Area Residents Protest Plan To Truck Cement, Sand To Virginia Airport

By HENRY DECKER
Editor, The Frederick Post

FREDERICK (AP)—Scheduled hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission on truckers' applications to haul cement and sand to the huge airport being built at Chantilly, Va., are being anticipated with mixed feelings in this area.

Residents in the southern sections of Frederick County and in adjacent Northern Virginia are vigorously protesting the planned motor truck operations from the viewpoint of area road and property damage and urge instead the use of rail transportation to haul the tremendous amount of sand and cement required for the project.

Truckers stress the value to site operations, pointing to the fact that the nearest railroad terminal at Sterling, Va., is nearly four miles from the airport site.

Locally, Frederick stands to gain from the fact that the Alpha Portland Cement Company plant at nearby Lime Kiln will provide almost half of the estimated 142,000 tons required.

On the other hand, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen of the Baltimore and Ohio system has protested, stressing the point that "adequate railroad facilities are available within a relatively short distance to transport this material, thereby alleviating the conditions complained of" . . . and seeking denial by the ICC of the truckers' request for a permit to haul.

The Mayor and Council of Brunswick, a railroad hub, has written a "very strong letter of protest", as has the Ruritan Club of Point of Rocks.

Truck movement from the Alpha plant would entail the use of the new Frederick Freeway and U.S. 15 south through Buckeystown, Point of Rocks to Leesburg, Va., thence to Chantilly.

Other cement plants are at Union Bridge, Md., Security, Md., and Martinsburg, W. Va.

Citizens of Sterling have won a promise from the airport contractors for a review of plans to truck 442,000 tons of sand and cement over Northern Virginia roads to the airport site.

Present plans call for four large firms to truck 142,000 tons of cement to the airport and 300,000 tons of sand to the site. The trucks, according to William E. Hazelhurst, airport engineer for C. J. Langenfelder and Son, the contractors, will be of a sealed airtight compartment type and there will be no cement dust. He acknowledged that roads will have to be strengthened before trucks could start moving, and that his firm will be bonded to leave the roads in as good if not better condition than at present.

The decision to use trucks, according to Hazelhurst, is based frankly on dollars and cents.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will hold hearings on March 4, 10 and 17 in Washington on the four carriers' applications to haul the Chantilly cement. The opposition is being mobilized.

Question Teen-Agers

LONDON (UPI) — Police questioned a stream of teen-agers Wednesday night about a wild dance hall free-for-all which resulted in the fatal knifing of a 17-year-old boy. Authorities said Alan Godfrey Johnson was killed in a battle between two rival gangs of teen-agers in the tough East End district of Barking early Wednesday.

Tibet, with a mean altitude of 15,600 feet, has often been called the roof of the world.

Jet Found To Be Radioactive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways said Tuesday that one of its new jet airliners was discovered to be radioactive after a Transatlantic high altitude flight.

The discovery was made by technicians when they examined a Boeing 707 jetliner that had taken a sudden 29,000-foot dive while flying over the Atlantic to New York early this month.

Pan American announced the finding of the radioactivity after it had been disclosed in Newsweek magazine.

An airline spokesman said there was no connection between the sudden dive and the radioactivity. He said the amount of radioactivity found was ruled to be harmless to passengers and crew.

The spokesman said the technicians stumbled on the radioactivity while searching for the reason for the aircraft's dive. The instruments they were using to examine the plane disclosed the radioactivity.

Airline officials said that not enough was known about the phenomenon yet to determine whether there is natural radioactivity at the great heights at which jet planes fly or whether the radioactivity was a result of nuclear explosions.

Hush-Hush T. To T. Club Draws New Criticism

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Promptly at noon, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) pounded his gavel, and the Thursday to Tuesday Club was in recess again.

The Thursday to Tuesday Club is one of the most hush-hush outfits in a secretive town.

Officially, it doesn't exist. Even unofficially, no one would admit membership.

Anyone who lurks around the House soon learns that important business rarely is scheduled either for Mondays or Fridays.

Unless he has committee meetings to keep him here, a congressman from, say, New York, Connecticut or New Jersey can get home in time for dinner Thursday night and not have to be back in Washington until the House meets at noon Tuesday.

Recently these T. to T. commuters were brought up by Rep. Glenn Cunningham (R) of Omaha, Neb.

"It would be to the benefit of the taxpayers, it seems to me, if Congress would meet for five or six days a week, get the necessary work done, and then adjourn," Cunningham said in a newsletter to his constituents.

Other congressmen also have complained, mostly in private, but four years ago Rep. H. R. Gross (R) of Waterloo, Iowa, fetched the subject up in a floor debate with the Democratic leader, Rep. John McCormack of Dorchester, Mass.

Well, Gross didn't get far, and Cunningham doesn't expect to, either. For Congress is habit-forming, and a legislative addict is the worst addict there is.

The main problem, Cunningham thinks, is this: Nearby congressmen often leave their families at home, and hence are eager to hurry back every weekend.

Cunningham thinks legislation would be improved if the T. to T. Club quietly passed away.

Emigration Of E. Europe Jews Arouses Israeli Hopes And Arab Fears

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

An outpouring of some thousands of Jews from behind the Iron Curtain into Israel in recent months has aroused keen hopes among Israeli leaders and great fears among Arabs.

The new immigrants from Eastern Europe come largely from Communist Romania. In January and the first half of February, according to official Israeli sources, 6,000 arrived in Israel. In 1958 not quite 13,000 immigrants from Eastern Europe resettled there.

Zionist officials have been predicting that as many as 100,000 might come in 1959. Reportedly 20,000 Romanian Jews already possess exit visas and will be departing soon.

But the exodus from Romania, which has the second largest Jewish population among Communist countries, 250,000, is not the heart of the matter. Lurking in the background is the real question which excites both Israelis and Arabs in diametrically opposite directions—the future of two to three million Jews of the Soviet Union.

These Soviet Jews now are not permitted to emigrate. For several decades with few exceptions no emigration has been allowed by the Soviet government. Zionist leaders claim that probably most Soviet Jews would go to Israel if they had the chance. It seems certain that thousands of them would like to leave the Soviet Union.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion has said there are reasons—which he is not free to divulge—for thinking that the factors underlying the change in policy toward Romanian Jews might lead to the dropping of barriers to the exit of Soviet Jewry. He predicted that from 250,000 to 300,000 Jews would come to Israel in the current immigration wave.

Arab reaction has been stormy. The Arab League Council meets in Cairo March 2. Bitter attacks on the Israeli immigration policy are expected. The Cairo paper, Al Ahram, declared a few days ago that Arab governments are discussing joint action, including a possible appeal to Nikita Khrushchev, to clamp down emigration bars against Jews throughout the Communist world.

Western observers in the Mideast have reported that the East European migration to Israel is threatening to produce a strong anti-Soviet reaction among Arabs, and that many Arabs consider the Communist bloc is sending Jewish "volunteers" to fight in the Israeli army.

The Soviets, disturbed by the Arab reaction, have been quick to issue vigorous denials through the Soviet press. They say there has not been nor is there now any mass emigration of Soviet Jews to Israel.

Income Tax Forms Should Be Accurate

The local office of the Internal Revenue Service in the Post Office Building here pointed out yesterday that one of the most important duties of the income taxpayer is checking and double-checking returns before mailing to insure accuracy of facts and figures.

The bureau officials said the current filing period is half over and taxpayers should have all their financial records from last year assembled, together with a copy of last year's return as a helpful guide.

Preparation of the tax return now will give both the taxpayer and the revenue bureau an easier time and will insure a more prompt check of the returns.

"The high error factor in tax returns, sometimes as high as one in every four returns, is expensive to the tax collecting agency as well as to the taxpayer himself," an official said.

A proper guide to filling out the tax return is as follows:

File now; print name, address, city and state, listing both names if a joint return; list Social Security number and occupation; list proper dependents; list all places of employment and attach all W-2 forms from employers with return; read instructions; check arithmetic; sign the return; and if tax is due make check or money order payable to Internal Revenue Service in full.

Local officials noted that all the necessary aid will be given at the Cumberland office to help taxpayers fill out returns, but added that only questions will be answered, and returns will not be filled out by Internal Revenue Service employes.

The Cumberland office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, officials said, adding that additional help is available on Mondays and Fridays for inquiring taxpayers.

Building Contracts Are Up 12 Per Cent

F. W. Dodge Corporation yesterday announced that contracts for future construction in the United States (except Alaska) in January totalled $2,319,167,000, up 12 per cent compared to January 1958.

The increase was due primarily to high levels of activity in the residential category. Contracts for one- and two-family houses and apartments registered sharp gains.

Also helping to boost the January total were increases in contracts for commercial, hospital, and social and recreational buildings.

Income Tax Forms Should Be Accurate

The local office of the Internal Revenue Service in the Post Office Building here pointed out yesterday that one of the most important duties of the income taxpayer is checking and double-checking returns before mailing to insure accuracy of facts and figures.

The bureau officials said the current filing period is half over and taxpayers should have all their financial records from last year assembled, together with a copy of last year's return as a helpful guide.

Preparation of the tax return now will give both the taxpayer and the revenue bureau an easier time and will insure a more prompt check of the returns.

"The high error factor in tax returns, sometimes as high as one in every four returns, is expensive to the tax collecting agency as well as to the taxpayer himself," an official said.

A proper guide to filling out the tax return is as follows:

File now: print name, address, city and state, listing both names if a joint return; list Social Security number and occupation; list proper dependents; list all places of employment and attach all W-2 forms from employers with return; read instructions; check arithmetic; sign the return; and if tax is due make check or money order payable to Internal Revenue Service in full.

Local officials noted that all the necessary aid will be given at the Cumberland office to help taxpayers fill out returns, but added that only questions will be answered, and returns will not be filled out by Internal Revenue Service employes.

The Cumberland office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, officials said, adding that additional help is available on Mondays and Fridays for inquiring taxpayers.

Bill Would Alter W. Va. Law On Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Non-residents of West Virginia could be named to appointive offices under a bill introduced Wednesday in the Legislature by Senate Majority Leader Clarence Martin (D-Berkeley).

Specifically, Martin's proposal is aimed at removing a constitutional requirement that an appointive official be a resident of the Mountain State for one year. However, such a requirement would remain in effect concerning elective officials.

The most recent incident involving the state resident requirement concerned the appointment last month of Dr. Richard Lilly as state mental health director.

Gov. Cecil H. Underwood withdrew Lilly's appointment after it was pointed out by Auditor Edgar B. Sims that the doctor had not been a resident of West Virginia for a year.

Lilly is scheduled to take over the post once he completes his year's residency about May 1. In the meantime, an acting director has been put in charge of the Mental Health Department.

Introduced in the House Wednesday by Dels. Dan Dahill and Thomas Godby (both D-Logan) was a bill to prevent the State Water Commission from extending by more than one year the effective date of an anti-pollution order against an individual, city or firm.

Del. J. C. Cruikshank (D-Clay) submitted a bill to bring pinball and slot machines used for gambling under state gaming laws.

A bill by Del. Don J. Baker (D-Hardy) would raise the gross sales tax rate on strip-mined coal to 2 per cent but leave the rate at 1 per cent on companies that mine by other methods.

Attends YWCA Meet

Nancy Jean Close, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Close, 662 Camden Avenue, attended the YWCA Virginia Conference at Richmond. She was elected a commissioner to represent Madison College for next year.

Girl Scout Leaders End Training Here

Cumberland Council Girl Scout Board has completed a four-day training session at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

Miss Helen Sellers, member of the national field staff, conducted the session. Board members were shown the pattern and working plans of both national and local councils for improving and extending growth of Girl Scouts. Miss Sellers also reviewed the emphases set by the National Girl Scout Board of Directors. These goals are related to the local council level of attainment.

Needs of the eight existing local neighborhoods and future ones were discussed. Members were shown how facts are gathered from troops through leaders of troops, to neighborhood chairmen, to district chairmen, to committees and to board members for formulating goals. Board committees then make a plan, estimate cost and at the end of the year, evaluate their work.

Miss Sellers gave a brief survey of the near future enlargement of this Girl Scout Council to include possibly six and a half surrounding counties.

The Intermediate Girl Scout program has grown to such an extent that the need for Senior troops was recognized and discussed. There is to be included in future leadership training a course for Senior troop leaders or advisers.

Members of the board who attended the course are Mrs. George J. Miller, Cumberland Council president; Mrs. Byron Bonebreak, Mrs. William Claus, Miss Irene Lapp, Mrs. Karl Perry, Mrs. Caroline Whittaker, Mrs. John Lower, Mrs. M. Monroe MacKenzie, Mrs. Z. F. Zimowski, Mrs. C. E. Howell, Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. Gurney Beeman and Mrs. Emma Everstine.

At the closing session Miss Sellers presented certificates to those members who completed the 16-hour course.

Girl Hurt In Crash Is Reported 'Good'

Miss Nancy Mowry, 19, of RD 1, Hyndman, is reported in "good" condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted Monday.

Hospital attaches said the young girl was injured in a one-car accident Monday morning along State Route 96 near Hyndman.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Mowry of RD 1, Hyndman.

Capt. John Smith, of Jamestown fame, had exciting career long before he made history in the founding of America's first permanent English colony. At 16, he fought the Spaniards in the Netherlands. In Hungary, at 20, he commanded 250 horsemen during the Christian-Turkish war. Accepting a challenge to single combat, he vanquished three Turks in a series of jousts that ended in [illegible]s cutting off the Turks' heads.

12 More W.Va. Counties May Be Reappraised

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Tax Commissioner John A. Field announced Wednesday tentative plans calling for the mapping of 12 more West Virginia counties under a statewide property reappraisal program.

Mapping companies will be asked in the near future to submit price proposals for mapping Fayette, Hampshire, Jackson, Mercer, Nicholas, Pleasants, Randolph, Summers, Webster, Lincoln and Raleigh Counties.

Field emphasized that aerial photographs must be made during the foliage-free period ending about mid-April. The actual property reappraisal usually starts several months after the aerial mapping is completed.

The mapping contracts will be signed after ratification by each county court. Contracts were let earlier for mapping of Cabell, Mason, Putnam, Tyler, Wetzel, Marshall Marion, Mineral, Berkeley and Greenbrier Counties.

4-H Youths Attend 'Trial'

Members of the automotive safety group of the Allegany County Boys 4-H Clubs Tuesday attended a mock trial in Trial Magistrates Court here.

James Arnold, assistant county farm agent, arranged the program. Magistrate J. Milton Dick presided and attorneys Gorman E. Getty and Harold E. Naughton were the lawyers in the case.

Using a set of mythical "facts" concerning a two-car auto crash at an intersection here, the 4-H boys who were the "drivers" were required to present their defense as the case progressed.

State Trooper Carlton Lewis testified concerning the crash. David Garland and Merwin Hast III were the two drivers in the case.

Getty And Mason To Attend Meeting

Allegany County will be represented at the winter meeting of the State's Attorney's Association of Maryland when it meets Friday, March 6 in Baltimore.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, will attend the session at the Emerson Hotel.

Getty said yesterday the purpose of the meeting is to review criminal legislation now pending in the General Assembly.

SRC Engineers Push Plans For Thruway

State Roads Commission engineers are working at top speed to get four sections of the Cumberland Thruway under contract this year, C. R. Nuzum, city engineer said yesterday.

Nuzum attended a meeting in Baltimore Tuesday for final briefing on the plans with SRC engineers, traffic experts, representatives of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, and officials of Green Associates, the consultant engineers on the overall project.

Nuzum said that at the next meeting of the engineers and the full commission on the Thruway, one or more of the projects will be advertised for bidding by contractors.

One segment will be the completion of the industrial boulevard from Crawford and West streets to Williams Street. This covers 1.2 miles and will cost an estimated $1,040,000.

A second will be the bridge carrying the boulevard over the B&O Railroad at Thomas and Wineow streets. It will cost about $708,000, the SRC has announced.

The third project will be the interchange ramp from Route 40 at Baltimore Avenue, .15 of a mile. It is estimated to cost about $118,000.

The fourth job will be the Thruway interchange bridge at Willowbrook Road that will run about $778,000.

Those present discussed the various engineering features of the project which will run from Lindnerville to the Six Mile House.

Cumberland's engineering department is working on the relocation of utilities in the eastern and downtown section of the Thruway, Nuzum said yesterday.

PONTIAC NAMED CAR · OF · THE · YEAR

"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling...performance and styling of any '59 car" —The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

Md. Counties Get Share Of Forest Funds

$19,731 Distributed Throughout State

Several of the recently published county tax levies, including those of the four westernmost counties of Maryland, showed an increasing favorable balance in forest fire prevention financial needs.

William H. Johnson, district forester, pointed out yesterday that this was especially noticeable in counties sharing in state funds from forest fire fines and in state forest and park income distribution under Section 354 of the Maryland forest and park regulations.

Mr. Johnson said that in the fiscal year 1958, the state distributed $19,731 to 14 of these counties, covering 15 per cent of the state's total receipts from forest fire and forest and park use and sales income.

Distribution ranged from $58.25 in one county to more than $6,000 in another. Remaining state income from these sources was plowed back, by law, into state forest and park administration, maintenance and improvements.

In most of the counties similar forest-park receipts are anticipated through the coming year. In several counties, the 1959 receipts from this state source may be substantially larger due to large timber sales on the local state lands or as a result of increased fees collected at state parks and historic monuments in 1958.

Mr. Johnson said that over the years, the levies in many counties have reflected also the growing improvement in forest fire control, with resultant cost reductions. In Garrett County, for instance, where a levy of $2,000 was not considered inordinate for forest fire control even back in the days when more protection could be bought for the dollar, the 1959 levy provides a sum of only $200 for this purpose.

The county shows an anticipated $5,000 state forestry income which can go into the general treasury for fire or other uses.

The breakdown of state 1958 forest-park distribution to the four westernmost counties affected:

Allegany County, a total of $429.24 including $427.74 forests and $1.50 parks; Garrett County, $6,401.37, including $6,353.61 forests and $47.76 parks; Washington County, $531.86, including that amount for parks; Frederick County, $667.46 for parks.

Zembower Is Attending Fire Instructors Session

Cromwell C. Zembower of La-Vale Volunteer Fire Company is attending the 31st annual meeting of Fire Department Instructors Conference at Memphis, Tenn.

The four-day session will include a review of modern fire service problems.

A series of spectacular "test fires" to demonstrate latest methods of controlling block conflagrations, rocket fuel fires and diesel locomotive fires are among the features of this year's conference. A number of condemned buildings, given to the Conference by the City of Memphis, are being burned for experimental purposes in testing various conflagration control methods, demonstrated by Memphis' Fire Department under Chief John C. Klinck, conference co-chairman.

Other subjects on this year's program include "live" tests of fire resistive suits, the toxicity of fire gases, new trends in fire apparatus, fire hazards of materials in industry, and liquid metal and rocket fuel fires.

An outstanding feature is a full analysis and discussion of the recent Chicago school disaster in which 90 school children and three teachers lost their lives in a fire which, in less than 12 minutes after discovery, reached disastrous proportions.

Over 2,300 persons from more than 45 states, District of Columbia, Canada, and several foreign countries are registered at the conference. The conference is attended by key fire department officials, educators from colleges and universities, fire and plant protection engineers, and public officials, all of whom participate only on invitation of the two conference sponsors, Fire Prevention Department of Western Actuarial Bureau, Chicago, and Memphis Fire Department. The conference is managed and presided over by Emmett T. Cox, conference co-chairman, who is senior field officer of Western Actuarial Bureau Fire Prevention Department.

Vegetable Growers To Meet Today

Vegetable growers of Allegany County will meet tomorrow afternoon in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, at the Court House.

At 1 p. m. Dr. Francis S. Stark, vegetable specialist of the University of Maryland, will discuss fertilization and how to grow a good crop of high quality tomatoes.

One hour later, Herman A. Hunter, extension vegetable specialist at the university, will speak on new varieties of vegetables for the 1959 season as well as some recommendations on weed control in vegetable crops.

A question and answer session will follow, according to Mr. Steger, who said this is the fourth and final winter meeting for farmers of the county.

Airport Will Get New Repair Hangar

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that construction of a new repair hangar will begin soon at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The former repair quarters were destroyed by fire several months ago.

Officials said the $6,000 insurance from the old building will be sufficient to build the new structure.

It will be built under the supervision of Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent for the Queen City Air Service, operated by Warren Mullenax.

Sailor Thanks

not to fail to meet their quotas.

Donald's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Hartsock, will tell anyone who cares to know, that the Red Cross, a CUF agency, is on the ball in other areas as well as in operating a blood program, since it was the Cumberland "ed Cross office, after the distraught parents had received the meagerest information of their son's accident, that contacted Tripler Hospital in Hawaii and had full and satisfying information in record time.

Seabee Donald Hartsock is still under observation at Bethesda Naval Hospital, but gets home occasionally, and looks and feels as good as new. He was home this week. And his mother reported that his appetite is also as good as new, as he devours mountains of home-cooked food in much the same way that a monstrous drain pipe tried to devour him over two months ago.

Better Health

service because of their top-heavy organizational setups.

Eats Up Money

"So long as you have one separate health agency for every disease," he stated, "then you are going to have an organizational setup that simply eats up the money and uses it for purposes other than for what the people thought it had been contributed."

Mr. Graef said that there are now more than 100 national health agencies, "each with its own executive and office and staff, and each hoping that it will become as big and strong as heart, cancer and polio, with separate chapters in each and every community, each with its own office, its own executive and its own staff."

The CUF volunteer workers then heard Mr. Graef declare: "This, to your community leaders, is the last straw!"

He referred to a Rockefeller Foundation report of 1945, and to a similar report made by the Ohio State Medical Association two years ago, both of which recommended a single health agency for all diseases, and agreed that:

"Multiplicity of agencies means inefficiency, unnecessary expense, duplication of staff, competition for public support, less effective leadership and direction for all, dissipation of energy and confusion to the public."

Is New Project

The single, local health foundation is the "new product being developed by community leaders in many cities, including Cumberland, and they are getting it ready for market.

"They are not waiting for the product to be absolutely perfect before they proceed. They know there are many problems to solve and they are taking them on one at a time.

"They are already facing immediate problems arising out of relationships with some national agencies that have informed them they want to cooperate in the new movement. There will be problems arising out of relationships with other national health agencies whose past history indicates very little cooperation can be expected.

"But," he concluded, "most important of all, your community leaders are taking a long, hard look at what their relationship will be with more than 100 health agencies already in existence at the national level—agencies that are not yet established in your local community, but all of which want to move in, and will move in—unless your community leaders cling to their plans for a single, local health foundation to cover all diseases."

In addition to President Walsh, other officers elected for the coming year include:

William C. Walsh, president; Dr. W. Royce Hodges, vice president; William R. Carscaden, secretary; and Earl K. Hess, treasurer.

The executive committee will consist of A. Trago Brust Jr., Mr. Carscaden, Wilbur Johnson, Duard H. Little, John B. White and Mr. Walsh.

Members of the board of directors are:

Gov. Underwood Seeks More Funds To Expand W.Va. Road Building

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. Cecil H. Underwood urged the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds for a greatly-expanded highway construction program — declaring "the time has come for you to pass this or some other program to save our state."

Legislative leaders immediately countered that they are in the process of carrying out many of the governor's recommendations. They said he "failed to recognize" this because he has been spending "too much time making political speeches" outside the state.

Noting that unemployment has increased steadily since his last address to the Legislature on opening day Jan. 14, he said:

"I know of no other way in which the state can produce substantial numbers of jobs than through an extensive highway construction program.

"How better can we prime our economic pump than to provide the funds to match the approximately 130 million dollars of unused federal aid cash which is available for highway use in West Virginia?"

Underwood recalled to the lawmakers, assembled in a joint session, that he recommended measure on Jan. 14 "to provide immediate relief to our distressed conditions.

"I am not here to critize the Legislature; but I am here to be plain spoken. In six weeks, not a single bill has reached my desk which will produce a single job for a single unemployed person or provide any measure or relief for the economy," he said.

House Speaker Harry R. Pauley said Underwood had failed to submit any specific bills to relieve immediate unemployment — proposing "those of long - range and not immediate relief."

"If there is such a bill, I have not seen it," Pauley said.

As of December 31, the 52 local fund members had 6,161 shares of Sears stock and additional securities and cash amounting to $84,772 to their credit.

Senate Enacts Bill To Create Poet Laureate

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate finally agreed Wednesday that the governor should appoint a poet laureate for Maryland.

The much-debated bill was enacted and sent to Gov. Tawes after Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester) withdrew a recommendation that the poet serve only at the pleasure of the governor.

Malkus said he was bowing to the judgment of Sen. Dean (D-Queen Annes) who had observed that such an amendment might make the job subject to change with each new administration.

The senators were unanimous in creating the unsalaried position, except for Sen. See (R-Allegany) who asked to be "excused" from the voting. He had previously expressed fear that a "rock-and-roll or cha-cha-cha" man might get the job.

No Resurrection

Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) attempted to resurrect a bill which would require railroads to pay their employes weekly instead of twice a month.

He asked the Senate to reconsider the vote by which the measure failed on third reading, but his effort to get the bill back on the floor lost by a vote of 11-5.

Everybody Happy

"I'm very happy you're all satisfied," Speaker Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) commented Wednesday after the House cleared a bill on obscene literature in an atmosphere of tranquility.

Amendments cleared up earlier objections.

"It's now a very fine bill," said Del. Sasscer (D-Prince Georges).

Del. Hedrick (D-Balto 2nd) of the Judiciary Committee praised Del. Gallagher (D-Balto 3rd) for proposing the amendments and Chairman Melvin (D-Anne Arundel) commented "his spirit of cooperation was gratifying."

Gallagher's amendments would prohibit the display of objectionable literature so it could be seen from the street by anyone under 18 and from permitting minors to peruse the literature.

The amended bill returns to the Senate for concurrence.

If proposed bill is passed by the Maryland Legislature You'll Pay More For Milk

Backers of a proposed bill just introduced in the Maryland General Assembly are conducting an organized campaign to establish a milk commission with powers to control retail milk prices in this State. The alleged reasons for such a commission are vague and varied, but they all add up to one thing: Higher milk prices for you! You have a right to know about the dangers inherent in such a commission so that you can take action to protect your interests.

The bill now before the Legislature has been inspired by certain minority interest groups who are out to profit at your expense. By eliminating the healthy benefits of free competition, this gang of operators would have things exactly as they want them. Like the people of every other state where a milk commission exists, you would be required to pay an established minimum price for milk. No matter how efficiently a milk processor might operate, he could not pass the savings on to you in the form of lower milk prices, simply because the commission-established controls would not let him do so.

Take, for example, the situation in Virginia. In Virginia, a state milk commission was set up in the thirties to take care of a "temporary" depression emergency. The depression became history long ago, but Virginians are still paying tribute to the Commission. Authorities have shown that because of the Virginia Milk Commission, milk is costing consumers twenty-seven and a half million dollars more per year than it would without controls.

Comparison of Virginia's per capita milk consumption provides even stronger evidence against a milk commission. In the latest period covered by Department of Agriculture figures, fluid milk consumption in Richmond, Virginia remained almost static. In the same period, milk consumption in Baltimore rose by 21 pounds per person. In 1956 alone, Baltimore families consumed almost 100 pounds more fluid milk per person than families in Richmond, Virginia. If prices in Virginia weren't fixed at high levels, you can be sure that families would use more fluid milk.

Massachusetts offers another horrible example of what happens when power-hungry special interest groups push through milk controls. The abuse of power by the Massachusetts Milk Commission has come under strong criticism from the press, public, independent investigating bodies, and from the Governor of Massachusetts himself. The Governor of Massachusetts demanded that the commission "be abolished."

Although the Massachusetts Commission was allegedly established to protect the farmer, the Farm Bureau Federation is quoted as follows from the daily press: "The retail price-fixing provisions have been demonstrated as an instrument too dangerous to be left in the hands of a state agency and should be eliminated." The pity is that it is much harder to remove a commission than it is to install it. It takes time, costs much money, and places an undue burden upon the consumer.

Wherever milk prices have been controlled, hardship for both farmer and consumer, and abuse of powers by controlling agencies have followed. Areas where milk has been controlled by commissions or other agencies have a history of high consumer prices and lower fluid milk consumption. High fluid milk consumption is important to family health and to farmers' income. However, when prices are held at artificially high levels by bureaucratic order, fewer people are able to afford as much milk as they need. Because of the artificial market situation created by such controls, fluid milk consumption goes down, and everyone suffers. Such conditions would not, and cannot exist when free competition prevails!

It is to your distinct advantage to fight vigorously to protect the rights of free enterprise now enjoyed by the milk industry in Maryland. Help protect free competition by speaking out against those who seek to take away your right to a free milk market. Write to Governor J. Millard Tawes, to your newspaper editors, and to your representatives in the General Assembly. Join the growing force of alert Marylanders who are prepared to fight to protect their rights to a free, and uncontrolled economy.

MARYLANDERS FOR MILK FREEDOM, a group of public spirited citizens, have already organized in a crusade to protect Maryland families against the evils of milk controls. Md. Counties Get Share Of Forest Funds

$19,731 Distributed Throughout State

Several of the recently published county tax levies, including those of the four westernmost counties of Maryland, showed an increasing favorable balance in forest fire prevention financial needs.

William H. Johnson, district forester, pointed out yesterday that this was especially noticeable in counties sharing in state funds from forest fire fines and in state forest and park income distribution under Section 354 of the Maryland forest and park regulations.

Mr. Johnson said that in the fiscal year 1958, the state distributed $19,731 to 14 of these counties, covering 15 per cent of the state's total receipts from forest fire and forest and park use and sales income.

Distribution ranged from $38.25 in one county to more than $6,000 in another. Remaining state income from these sources was plowed back, by law, into state forest and park administration, maintenance and improvements.

In most of the counties similar forest-park receipts are anticipated through the coming year. In several counties, the 1959 receipts from this state source may be substantially larger due to large timber sales on the local state lands or as a result of increased fees collected at state parks and historic monuments in 1958.

Mr. Johnson said that over the years, the levies in many counties have reflected also the growing improvement in forest fire control, with resultant cost reductions. In Garrett County, for instarce, where a levy of $2,000 was not considered inordinate for forest fire control even back in the days when more protection could be bought for the dollar, the 1959 levy provides a sum of only $200 for this purpose.

The county shows an anticipated $5,000 state forestry income which can go into the general treasury for fire or other uses.

The breakdown of state 1958 forest-park distribution to the four westernmost counties affected:

Allegany County, a total of $429.24 including $427.74 forests and $1.50 parks; Garrett County, $6,401.37, including $6,353.61 forests and $47.76 parks; Washington County, $531.86, including that amount for parks; Frederick County, $667.46 for parks.

Zembower Is Attending Fire Instructors Session

Cromwell C. Zembower of LaVale Volunteer Fire Company is attending the 31st annual meeting of Fire Department Instructors Conference at Memphis, Tenn.

The four-day session will include a review of modern fire service problems.

A series of spectacular "test fires" to demonstrate latest methods of controlling block conflagrations, rocket fuel fires and diesel locomotive fires are among the features of this year's conference. A number of condemned buildings, given to the Conference by the City of Memphis, are being burned for experimental purposes in testing various conflagration control methods, demonstrated by Memphis' Fire Department under Chief John C. Klinck, conference co-chairman.

Other subjects on this year's program include "live" tests of fire resistive suits, the toxicity of fire gases, new trends in fire apparatus, fire hazards of materials in industry, and liquid metal and rocket fuel fires.

An outstanding feature is a full analysis and discussion of the recent Chicago school disaster in which 90 school children and three teachers lost their lives in a fire which, in less than 12 minutes after discovery, reached disastrous proportions.

Over 2,300 persons from more than 45 states, District of Columbia, Canada, and several foreign countries are registered at the conference. The conference is attended by key fire department officials, educators from colleges and universities, fire and plant protection engineers, and public officials, all of whom participate only on invitation of the two conference sponsors, Fire Prevention Department of Western Actuarial Bureau, Chicago, and Memphis Fire Department. The conference is managed and presided over by Emmett T. Cox, conference co-chairman, who is senior field officer of Western Actuarial Bureau Fire Prevention Department.

Vegetable Growers To Meet Today

Vegetable growers of Allegany County will meet tomorrow afternoon in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, at the Court House.

At 1 p. m. Dr. Francis S. Stark, vegetable specialist of the University of Maryland, will discuss fertilization and how to grow a good crop of high quality tomatoes.

One hour later, Herman A. Hunter, extension vegetable specialist at the university, will speak on new varieties of vegetables for the 1959 season as well as some recommendations on weed control in vegetable crops.

A question and answer session will follow, according to Mr. Steger, who said this is the fourth and final winter meeting for farmers of the county.

Airport Will Get New Repair Hangar

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that construction of a new repair hangar will begin soon at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The former repair quarters were destroyed by fire several months ago.

Officials said the $6,000 insurance from the old building will be sufficient to build the new structure.

It will be built under the supervision of Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent for the Queen City Air Service, operated by Warren Mullenax.

Sailor Thanks

not to fail to meet their quotas.

Donald's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Hartsock, will tell anyone who cares to know, that the Red Cross, a CUF agency, is on the ball in other areas as well as in operating a blood program, since it was the Cumberland "ed Cross office, after the distraught parents had received the meagerest information of their son's accident, that contacted Tripler Hospital in Hawaii and had full and satisfying information in recorr' time.

Seabee Donald Hartsock is still under observation at Bethesda Naval Hospital, but gets home occasionally, and looks and feels as good as new. He was home this week. And his mother reported that his appetite is also as good as new, as he devours mountains of home-cooked food in much the same way that a monstrous drain pipe tried to devour him over two months ago.

service because of their top-heavy organizational setups.

Eats Up Money

"So long as you have one separate health agency for every disease," he stated, "then you are going to have an organizational setup that simply eats up the money and uses it for purposes other than for what the people thought it had been contributed."

Mr. Graef said that there are now more than 100 national health agencies, "each with its own executive and office and staff, and each hoping that it will become as big and strong as heart, cancer and polio, with separate chapters in each and every community, each with its own office, its own executive and its own staff."

The CUF volunteer workers then heard Mr. Graef declare: "This, to your community leaders, is the last straw!"

He referred to a Rockefeller Foundation report of 1945, and to a similar report made by the Ohio State Medical Association two years ago, both of which recommended a single health agency for all diseases, and agreed that:

"Multiplicity of agencies means inefficiency, unnecessary expense, duplication of staff, competition for public support, less effective leadership and direction for all, dissipation of energy and confusion to the public."

Is New Project

The single, local health foundation is the "new product being developed by community leaders in many cities, including Cumberland, and they are getting it ready for market.

"They are not waiting for the product to be absolutely perfect before they proceed. They know there are many problems to solve and they are taking them on one at a time.

"They are already facing immediate problems arising out of relationships with some national agencies that have informed them they want to cooperate in the new movement. There will be problems arising out of relationships with other national health agencies whose past history indicates very little cooperation can be expected.

"But," he concluded, "most important of all, your community leaders are taking a long, hard look at what their relationship will be with more than 100 health agencies already in existence at the national level—agencies that are not yet established in your local community, but all of which want to move in, and will move in—unless your community leaders cling to their plans for a single, local health foundation to cover all diseases."

In addition to President Walsh, other officers elected for the coming year include:

Gov. Underwood Seeks More Funds To Expand W.Va. Road Building

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. Cecil H. Underwood urged the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds for a greatly-expanded highway construction program — declaring "the time has come for you to pass this or some other program to save our state."

Legislative leaders immediately countered that they are in the process of carrying out many of the governor's recommendations. They said he "failed to recognize" this because he has been spending "too much time making political speeches" outside the state.

Noting that unemployment has increased steadily since his last address to the Legislature on opening day Jan. 14, he said:

"I know of no other way in which the state can produce substantial numbers of jobs than through an extensive highway construction program.

"How better can we prime our economic pump than to provide the funds to match the approximately 130 million dollars of unused federal aid cash which is available for highway use in West Virginia?"

Underwood recalled to the lawmakers, assembled in a joint session, that he recommended measure on Jan. 14 "to provide immediate relief to our distressed conditions.

"I am not here to critize the Legislature; but I am here to be plain spoken. In six weeks, not a single bill has reached my desk which will produce a single job for a single unemployed person or provide any measure or relief for the economy," he said.

House Speaker Harry R. Pauley said Underwood had failed to submit any specific bills to relieve immediate unemployment — proposing "those of long - range and not immediate relief."

"If there is such a bill, I have not seen it," Pauley said.

GETTING THE GOOD NEWS—C. W. As of December 31, the 52 local fund members had 6,161 shares of Sears stock and additional securities and cash amounting to $84,772 to their credit.

Senate Enacts Bill To Create Poet Laureate

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate finally agreed Wednesday that the governor should appoint a poet laureate for Maryland.

The much-debated bill was enacted and sent to Gov. Tawes after Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester) withdrew a recommendation that the poet serve only at the pleasure of the governor.

Malkus said he was bowing to the judgment of Sen. Dean (D-Queen Annes) who had observed that such an amendment might make the job subject to change with each new administration.

The senators were unanimous in creating the unsalaried position, except for Sen. See (R-Allegany) who asked to be "excused" from the voting. He had previously expressed fear that a "rock-and-roll or cha-cha-cha" man might get the job.

No Resurrection

Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) attempted to resurrect a bill which would require railroads to pay their employes weekly instead of twice a month.

He asked the Senate to reconsider the vote by which the measure failed on third reading, but his effort to get the bill back on the floor lost by a vote of 11-5.

Everybody Happy

"I'm very happy you're all satisfied," Speaker Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) commented Wednesday after the House cleared a bill on obscene literature in an atmosphere of tranquility.

Amendments cleared up earlier objections.

"It's now a very fine bill," said Del. Sasscer (D-Prince Georges).

Del. Hedrick (D-Balto 2nd) of the Judiciary Committee praised Del. Gallagher (D-Balto 3rd) for proposing the amendments and Chairman Melvin (D-Anne Arundel) commented "his spirit of cooperation was gratifying."

Gallagher's amendments would prohibit the display of objectionable literature so it could be seen from the street by anyone under 18 and from permitting minors to peruse the literature.

The amended bill returns to the Senate for concurrence.

If proposed bill is passed by the Maryland Legislature You'll Pay More For Milk

Backers of a proposed bill just introduced in the Maryland General Assembly are conducting an organized campaign to establish a milk commission with powers to control retail milk prices in this State. The alleged reasons for such a commission are vague and varied, but they all add up to one thing: Higher milk prices for you! You have a right to know about the dangers inherent in such a commission so that you can take action to protect your interests.

The bill now before the Legislature has been inspired by certain minority interest groups who are out to profit at your expense. By eliminating the healthy benefits of free competition, this gang of operators would have things exactly as they want them. Like the people of every other state where a milk commission exists, you would be required to pay an established minimum price for milk. No matter how efficiently a milk processor might operate, he could not pass the savings on to you in the form of lower milk prices, simply because the commission-established controls would not let him do so.

Take, for example, the situation in Virginia. In Virginia, a state milk commission was set up in the thirties to take care of a "temporary" depression emergency. The depression became history long ago, but Virginians are still paying tribute to the Commission. Authorities have shown that because of the Virginia Milk Commission, milk is costing consumers twenty-seven and a half million dollars more per year than it would without controls.

Comparison of Virginia's per capita milk consumption provides even stronger evidence against a milk commission. In the latest period covered by Department of Agriculture figures, fluid milk consumption in Richmond, Virginia remained almost static. In the same period, milk consumption in Baltimore rose by 21 pounds per person. In 1956 alone, Baltimore families consumed almost 100 pounds more fluid milk per person than families in Richmond, Virginia. If prices in Virginia weren't fixed at high levels, you can be sure that families would use more fluid milk.

Massachusetts offers another horrible example of what happens when power-hungry special interest groups push through milk controls. The abuse of power by the Massachusetts Milk Commission has come under strong criticism from the press, public, independent investigating bodies, and from the Governor of Massachusetts himself. The Governor of Massachusetts demanded that the commission "be abolished."

Although the Massachusetts Commission was allegedly established to protect the farmer, the Farm Bureau Federation is quoted as follows from the daily press: "The retail price-fixing provisions have been demonstrated as an instrument too dangerous to be left in the hands of a state agency and should be eliminated." The pity is that it is much harder to remove a commission than it is to install it. It takes time, costs much money, and places an undue burden upon the consumer.

Wherever milk prices have been controlled, hardship for both farmer and consumer, and abuse of powers by controlling agencies have followed. Areas where milk has been controlled by commissions or other agencies have a history of high consumer prices and lower fluid milk consumption. High fluid milk consumption is important to family health and to farmers' income. However, when prices are held at artificially high levels by bureaucratic order, fewer people are able to afford as much milk as they need. Because of the artificial market situation created by such controls, fluid milk consumption goes down, and everyone suffers. Such conditions would not, and cannot exist when free competition prevails!

It is to your distinct advantage to fight vigorously to protect the rights of free enterprise now enjoyed by the milk industry in Maryland. Help protect free competition by speaking out against those who seek to take away your right to a free milk market. Write to Governor J. Millard Tawes, to your newspaper editors, and to your representatives in the General Assembly. Join the growing force of alert Marylanders who are prepared to fight to protect their rights to a free, and uncontrolled economy.

MARYLANDERS FOR MILK FREEDOM, a group of public spirited citizens, have already organized in a crusade to protect Maryland families against the evils of milk controls. All alert Marylanders are urged to join this group. No dues required. Write MARYLANDERS FOR MILK FREEDOM, 1654 Mathieson Building, 10 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Md. for your membership applications.

Bill To Raise Judge's Salary Is Introduced

Two bills were introduced yesterday in the General Assembly by the Allegany County delegation.

One of them will increase the fee for marriage licenses from $3 to $5 each. Del. Noel Speir Cook (R. Allegany) reported that this bill by the delegation was requested by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The county board had asked that the increase be made only for those persons from out of state who come here to obtain wedding permits. Del. Cook said it was felt that there might be some legal points which would arise if it was limited only to out-of-state persons.

It was decided that due to time of the legislative session running short to introduce the bill calling for a general increase of $2 in each license.

The second measure introduced as an Allegany County bill is legislation providing for an increase in the salary of the Circuit Court judge by $2,500 annually. This would make his salary $19,500 annually.

Del. Cook said the delegation felt that Judge Harris' salary should be increased in view of legislation by the Frederick and Montgomery county delegations' move to raise Circuit Court salaries by $2,500 annually.

The foundation you choose shapes your figure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Choose The Right Foundation

Lucky is the modern woman! She has the double advantage of being able to breathe normally and keep her figure fashionable at the same time. Few foundation garments are made today with a waistline that is under twenty-four inches.

However, not even the perfectly proportioned figure of a Powers Girl would be allowed to walk down a runway without the correct underpinnings. To keep your figure coordinated this spring with the current silhouette of neat hips and a curving waist, a proper foundation garment is an absolute necessity.

The key to selecting a proper foundation garment for the new clothes lies in the following four specifications:

1. Whether your figure is small, medium, or not-so-slender, and whether you are teen-age or matron, if you want to improve your figure and safeguard your health and comfort, you must select the type of garment that is built and proportioned for your figure.

2. Your age should greatly influence your selection. The teen-ager, the young woman, and the matron may all be exactly the same size but their corseting requirements are as widely different as their ages. The teen-ager should look for a garment that refines; the young woman for one that molds; and the matron for one that affords real support and control.

3. Make as certain that you purchase the correct size in a foundation garment as you do in your shoes, remembering as in the case of shoes that the fabric used may influence the sizing. Elastic, or fabric and elastic are bound to give you more leeway than an all fabric garment.

4. Choose only the garment that fits the purpose you have in mind — office or home wear, sportswear and dress wear.

If you'd like your permanent copy of all these foundation hints, send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to this column, c/o this paper and ask for my valuable booklet, "Figured For You."

How Goes The Oil From Iraq?

"Riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma" may be what Churchill once called Russia, but today the phrase could be applied equally well to Iraq and what's happening there. President Eisenhower himself confessed that the answer is not "clear" nor "clean-cut." Whatever it is, it's of more than academic interest to this country.

For what happens in Iraq determines what happens to oil from Iraq. What happens to oil from Iraq helps to determine what happens to all oil from the Middle East. What happens to Middle East oil helps to determine the health or sickness of the economy of Western Europe, and that helps to determine the strength or weakness of the United States vis-a-vis Russia.

When the pro-West regime in Iraq was overthrown on July 14, 1958, the overthrowers were said to be pro-Nasser. But one of their leaders, Brigadier Arif, considered an adherent if not the agent of the Egyptian dictator, was sentenced to death for treason. Thereupon six pro-Nasser members of Gen. Kassem's government resigned.

Their replacements are called on the whole leftist and yet not pro-Communist. The Government professes itself uncommitted to either Moscow or the West, but it has entered into an agreement for Soviet economic and technical aid, as Nasser has. And the Baghdad bazaars buzz with reports that a pro-Moscow clique operating outside the government is now actually running the show.

If the Russians did get control of Iraqi oil, they could of course move to withhold it from Western Europe. Only about 12-15 per cent of the Middle East production comes from Iraq; but if Russian control of Iraq spread to Kuwait (30 per cent), Saudi Arabia (25 per cent), Iran (20 per cent), Western Europe would be in trouble. Russia stands in no need of Iraqi oil for itself, but would hope to use it to blackmail Western European countries, one against the other.

These Days

Dope And Divorce

It is impossible to fail to observe the increasing reference to the business of selling and using dope of all kinds, principally opium derivatives. The various arrests that are made over the country, the influence of the so-called Mafia, the references to high school and college children going to combination dope and sex parties provide a picture not only of immorality among individuals but even more of a degenerating society.

During the 14 years that I lived in China, I witnessed the ravages of dope, particularly among intellectuals who despaired of the world about them. So profitable was the opium business that many foreigners engaged in it as well as Chinese, and Opium Suppression Bureaux were centers of corruption. Opium was called the Black Powder and Heroin, the White Powder. It was Heroin that became the more deadly drug and it was smuggled in from all parts of the world. One merchant brought it into China in the inner tubes of automobile tires; another in holes cut into the granite of tombstones. There was big money in this stuff and there still is.

No influence, not even Communism, has been more destructive in China than dope, and now I see the same thing happening here where the kids start it as a thrill, get hooked, become junkies and in the end, debase themselves and the society in which they live.

In this country, the problem of dope is seriously aggravated by the numerous divorces and broken homes which leave children to a varying degree not only maladjusted to the world in which they live but frightened, insecure and therefore seeking artificial means to stimulate personality. If divorce were a personal matter, involving only one individual, it might be said that it is none of society's business. But divorce, particularly in families where there are children, is a communal act, far-reaching in time and dangerous to the community.

If juvenile delinquency or the use of dope were limited to the poor, one could generalize on this subject on a class basis, but all forms of social degradation run up and down the economic class line and in such cities as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles are as often present in the high earning brackets as in the low.

The decline of the family in Western countries has proved to be more costly than anyone could have believed at the turn of the century, but the fact is that today even in homes that are not broken, the number of waking hours that parents are accessible to children are few, particularly in families where both parents work. It used to be that most working women were in the laboring brackets, but today an increasing number of women are engaged in white collar work, in the professions, in journalism, advertising, public relations and such conditions of the economic system.

The child therefore is dependent to an increasingly important degree upon outside adults who may or may not give a tinker's damn for the charges trusted to them and to whom a job is only a job. I once overheard a conversation between two mothers, Mrs. A. criticizing Mrs. B. for devoting too much of her life to her children. Mrs. A. believed that a woman should live her own life, go out places, have friends, etc., so that when the children left the nest, she would not be alone. She accused Mrs. B. of being stingy, because she did not hire somebody to look after her children.

Mrs. B.'s response was so simple. She said that she did not want anyone looking after her children whom she would not ordinarily welcome at her table as a guest.

It is so true. Children of the wealthy are so often reared by inferiorly educated persons, so that wealth has ceased to be a criterion of breeding. In fact, among the most vulgar and ill-bred persons I know are some of notable inherited wealth. When it comes to dope or other degradations, there is no class consciousness. Dope is not limited to the slums; it is everywhere, just as divorce knows no class, no race and in these days, even no creed. These are social poisons that are ubiquitous and are a result of the decline of the family, which is a religious institution in all wholesome societies.

Strauss Misled Congress, Public On Progress In Nuclear Energy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A lot of people on Capitol Hill have wondered why Eisenhower risked Congressional criticism by appopinting Admiral Lewis Strauss as his new Secretary of Commerce when no man in this Administration had ever been so severely criticised by Congress.

Inside reason was George H. Humphrey, the former Secretary of the Treasury and the man who has influenced Ike's economic policies more than any other, in or out of government. Though Humphrey did what no other Cabinet officer has done since the Budget Bureau was established—criticised the budget — Ike still visits him in Georgia and has now adopted the very same budget-balancing policies which last year Humphrey couldn't sell.

After Humphrey retired from government he recommended Strauss as Secretary of Commerce and the President bought the recommendation immediately. Humphrey had known Strauss first when Strauss' investment firm, Kuhn, Loeb and Company, floated M. A. Hanna bond issues. Later Humphrey made Strauss a director of his International Rayon Company, on which Harry Byrd Jr., son of the Senator, also served.

Ordinarily Ike doesn't like to tangle with Congress over appointments. But when Humphrey recommended Strauss, he didn't hesitate.

Roll-Call Of Deception

Meanwhile here are some of the other deceptions which Congress has charged against the new Secretary of Commerce:

FAILURE OF PEACETIME ATOMIC ENERGY — Atoms-for-Peace has been one of Ike's favorite slogans. He has talked about it both in campaign speeches and personal conversations. He sincerely believes the United States must pioneer in creating peacetime atomic energy.

Yet the fact remains that the United States has lagged behind both Russia and England.

Admiral Strauss as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission got most of the blame, and has engaged in a running fire of charge and counter-charge with Congress over how far behind we are.

In October 1956, the admiral made a speech claiming that the Shippingport, Pa., atomic reactor, built by Westinghouse with a subsidy of $100,000,000 from the U. S. government, "will be the world's first large nuclear project power plant exclusively for civilian use."

This brought a hot blast from Congressman Mel Price (Dem., Ill.), a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

"I suppose he thinks that by using the word 'exclusively,'" rebutted Price, "he can slough over the fact that the British are placing in operation this month a full-scale nuclear power plant which will produce both electricity and plutonium. Would it be that he is trying to gloss over the fact that this country is falling behind Britain and Russia in nuclear power development through the stagnation of our own program which he, himself, is largely responsible for?"

It was not until more than a year later, incidentally, that the first U. S. peacetime reactor, at Shippingport, was finally finished.

Meanwhile, the admiral had testified before Congress in February 1957, that our peacetime atomic progress was "particularly noteworthy."

On that same day, however, AEC Commissioner Tom Murray testified just the contrary. He told Congress that our atomic programs were "not adequate."

Unless the federal government steps in, Murray warned, the United States will lose the atomic leadership of the world.

Seven Years Behind

Simultaneously, Admiral Hyman Rickover, father of the atomic submarine, warned that atomic power was failing to develop, and that American industry had an "inadequate understanding" of the problem. Rickover also told European atomic scientists that American development of atomic energy was bogged down and that Europe had better go ahead on its own.

Later, Kenneth Davis, a Strauss subordinate and director of AEC reactor development, flatly contradicted his own boss. Britain, he said, is already seven years ahead of the United States.

All this in a field in which the United States pioneered the first earth-shaking atomic bomb and in which we held the lead until about the time Admiral Strauss took over the chairmanship of atomic energy.

DANGER OF STRONTIUM 90 —This is the deadly radioactive poison which gets into children's bones and may affect our future generations. For a long time Admiral Strauss fought a battle inside the Atomic Energy Commission against revealing the danger of strontium 90 to the public.

Commissioner Murray differed with him. Murray told this writer that when he spoke in New York in 1954, giving the first public warning of strontium 90, Admiral Strauss instructed Commissioner Willard Libby to issue a statement to the contrary. Strauss even arranged for Libby to make a statement prior to Murray's speech so that the public would get a confused idea of who was really telling the truth.

Today, five years later, President Eisenhower himself has recognized the danger of strontium 90 by entering into negotiations with Russia for the ending of future nuclear tests.

These are some of the deceptions, along with the secret talks with Adolphe Wenzell, the banker for the Dixon-Yates power deal, which Strauss first denied, then had to admit, which make Congressmen wonder how the controversial admiral was made Secretary of Commerce.

Why Ambassador Menshikov Should Be Recalled

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has denied the report published in the Soviet government's weekly "New Times" which gave the impression that the Arkansas Senator had told a Communist writer softer treatment of Soviet Russia by the United States could be expected if the Democrats should win the 1960 Presidential election.

The article in the "New Times" was written by Stanislav Menshikov, son of the Soviet Ambassador here, while visiting in Washington recently. Inasmuch as the Ambassador's son was writing for a Soviet government publication and was himself a part of the Soviet Embassy entourage during his four-month stay in the United States, the publication of this article, impinging on American politics, becomes the responsibility also of the head of the Embassy, Mikhail Menshikov.

This correspondent at first was under the impression that it was the Soviet Ambassador who had the interview with Senator Fulbright and mistakenly wrote it that way but corrected his dispatch an hour later upon learning that the author of the article was the son of the Ambassador.

Unquestionably the Ambassador, however, was familiar with the mission of his son in approaching Senator Fulbright for the interview on politics and must have known the nature or contents of the article finally transmitted to Moscow for publication in the government-controlled "New Times."

For an even less tenuous connection with American politics, a British envoy was expelled from Washington by the United States government many years ago.

In this instance, Sir Lionel Sackville-West, British minister to Washington, sent a letter marked "private" to an American who had asked what would be the best way for a naturalized citizen, formerly of Great Britain, to vote in the Presidential election of 1888. The minister wrote that it would be to the best interests of Great Britain if the vote were cast for Grover Cleveland. The letter was made public through friends of the recipient. Though an intent to interfere in American politics was disclaimed by the British minister, he was promptly handed his passport by order of President Cleveland. But the damage was done, and Mr. Cleveland was defeated in that campaign largely because of the opposition of anti-British groups.

Meddling in American politics by any diplomatic representative of a foreign government has always been considered by the United States government as an improper activity.

In an early instance, "Citizen" Genet, the diplomatic representative of the French government, criticized the United States in public for issuing a proclamation of neutrality in the war then going on between France and Great Britain. When he threatened to appeal over the head of President Washington to the American people, his recall was requested by the Secretary of State, Thomas Jefferson.

In 1952, the Soviet government itself requested the recall of Ambassador George Kennan because of some remarks he made to the press while in Bonn, Germany. These comments were critical of the Soviet government, which, in a formal note, declared that he had committed "a rude violation of the generally recognized norms of international law." To this, Secretary of State Acheson replied that the Soviet itself had disregarded the rules of international intercourse and that what Mr. Kennan had said was true. Anyway, the recall, of course, took effect, as it is the custom to comply with the requests of other governments when they declare any member of an Embassy or legation to be "persona non grata" or unacceptable any longer to the resident government.

Mikhail Menshikov, the present Soviet Ambassador, has violated the rules in more ways than one. He refused last November, for instance, while at the Department of State to listen to a tape recording which dealt with the crash of an American unarmed airplane in which 17 Americans were killed. To refuse to accept a part of any communication submitted in diplomatic intercourse and, in effect, to challenge its veracity is to offer an insult to the resident government. For ambassadors are regarded as channels of communication and, if these are inoperative, there is little use in continuing to receive the same ambassador as an accredited representative of his government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

More than 90,000 children are adopted by foster parents each year in the United States. Unfortunately, some of these adoptions, entered into in haste, have caused unhappiness for children and foster parents alike.

To assist prospective adoptive parents, the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has just issued a revised booklet titled "When You Adopt a Child." It can be obtained from the Government Printing Office for 15 cents.

The booklet tells you how to find out where to go to seek an adoptive child, the reasons why people adopt children, some questions you should know about yourself before adoption, what you should know about the child you plan to adopt, how adoptions are brought about, and many other helpful suggestions.

Perhaps the most sagacious observation in the entire pamphlet is contained in the introduction. It says: "Adoption is a serious business. It's a lasting pact. It may take a lot of what you call red tape, fuss, bother. And you're going to want it to take more, if more is needed to get you what you really want. Because we say again; adoption is lasting. It stretches beyond the cradle-days. It stretches through the years. It's a kind of road that you and the child will travel all of your lives."

Market Gyrations

By Leslie Gould

The stock market is again at an all-time high and the experts are confounded. Most of them have been cautious to moderately bearish for the near term.

In two weeks—most of it in the last week—the market has regained all the ground lost and exceeded the all-time high made in January.

The January 22 to February 9 slide chopped around $14 billion from market values, or 30 points in the Dow Jones industrial share price index.

The market closed in the Dow, Jones average Friday at 602.21. This was the highest closing on record for this index. On Jan. 22 it got to 601.74 during the day, but closed at 595.69. Friday, the day's high was 603.91.

This is an inflation market. There is a flight from the dollar. This has been going on now for a year.

The renewal of the boom reflects speculative as well as investment opinion that the Administration will be unable to balance the budget nor will industry be able to check the wage-price spiral.

The stock market could be guessing wrong on both points. The test will come later in the year—in the summer in the expected steel strike and this spring in Congress.

Long range, the outlook is for a continuing inflation. President Eisenhower will have a difficult time keeping the Democratic Congress in line on his budget and if there is a change in administrations in the 1960 elections, there will be no reductions in spending.

President Eisenhower's budget is disappointing, for its balance is mostly on optimistic guesses as to revenues and Congressional action on his higher tax proposals. If the budget is balanced, it will be a political miracle. This is the view of the stock market.

While the stock market may at this stage be over-discounting the inflation, there is no incentive to move into bonds or other fixed-income investments.

Bonds, particularly those with interest subject to income tax, have little appeal. This is why the U. S. Treasury is having such a tough time financing the debt and the annual deficits. Also, this is why stocks are booming to new highs and Government bonds are selling at their lowest prices on record. They can be bought at discounts up to 14 points, or $140 on a $1,000 bond.

The steady liquidation of Government bonds and the bidding up of stocks as an inflation hedge should be enough warning for something positive to be done about checking the inflation.

The U. S. is engaged in an all-out war with the Communist nations. The emphasis now is on the economic front. This is all the more reason for public faith to be restored in the dollar's integrity.

The only gainers from a flight from the dollar will be the Russians. Their currency has no international standing. It has no true value. The official exchange rate is four rubles to the dollar. Tourists to Russia get a 10 ruble to the dollar rate and the black market is 20 rubles to the dollar.

The Russians instead of currency, use gold and other commodities produced by slave labor. The U. S. has been helpful in the extension of the Russian economic power by providing a floor under the world gold market of $35 an ounce. There is pressure from other gold producing nations for an increase in this price.

Instead of a fixed gold buying price, by the U. S. Treasury, there should be a free gold market. Then any dumping of gold by the Russians will have the same effect on its value as their dumping has had on other metals and commodities.

In addition to the inflation, the current market rise has reflected better business news. The steel mills are operating at a high rate and automobile sales are showing a better than expected trend.

The steel orders are due in some degree to inventory build up in anticipation of a serious strike this summer. The steel workers are putting on a big campaign for another inflationary increase, plugging the line that the more a worker gets the more he can buy. This is fine if the advances are matched by increased productivity so that the price line can be held. There is no talk of this.

Trading on the N. Y. Stock Exchange averaged 3,700,000 shares daily vs. 2,958,000 the previous week:

Overwork Can Make You Grow Old Too Soon

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We were asked recently whether it hurts a person to continue working when he is bushed. The healthy body has tremendous recuperative powers and occasional overexertion is tolerated. But the story is different when you overwork for a long period. This applies to the business man as well as to the athlete and the laborer.

Stress from constant over-fatigue may create changes in the body that lead to premature aging, hypertension, and heart attacks. In this respect it is harmful to force one's self when overly tired. The energy must come from somewhere, and to carry on when utterly exhausted, the system calls upon tissues and chemical processes that are not used ordinarily for the job at hand.

The heart, for example, compensates when pushed beyond its capacity but there is a limit on how much stress it will tolerate. Furthermore, a fatigued organ is an inefficient organ. It no longer work.. in harmony with other structures. The body can take so much and then rebels.

Fitness helps to resist physical stress. The heart and other organs become accustomed to increasing amounts of physical activity and in time are capable of doing twice as much without undue strain. This allows the individual to do more and to adjust quickly to sudden emergency efforts. In addition, physical fitness improves the feeling of well being and appears to combat many of the factors that hasten the aging process.

Fatigue is relative. Some persons tire more easily than others. But when weariness is present for no apparent reason, especially when trivial exertion produces it, examination is in order. Anemia, infection, or low metabolism may be responsible.

Emotional stress must be considered. It has a secondary effect on many organs and chemical processes. Many organic diseases are traced to this origin, especially when prolonged. In addition, every person has his breaking point and herein lies the origin of mental disease.

TOMORROW: Whooping cough is tiring.

TONSILS AND HEALTH

Mrs. F. C. writes: Is it true that children eat better, grow more, and have fewer colds after a tonsilectomy?

REPLY

Yes, provided the tonsils were diseased to such an extent as to effect the child's health and feeling of well-being.

CIGARS OR CIGARETS?

C. H. writes: Is cigar smoking (not inhaling) less hazardous than cigaret smoking (inhaling)?

REPLY

Yes, in that the incidence of lung cancer and heart disease is higher in cigaret smokers.

PEANUT BUTTER

O. Y. writes: Will peanut butter cause constipation or indigestion?

REPLY

Some persons develop these symptoms but considering the popularity of peanut butter, this would be unusual.

IT HAPPENS

D. B. writes: If a man is sterile for several years after marriage, could he suddenly become fertile? A friend tells me she knows of such a case.

REPLY

Yes, because sterility is relative.

OUTLOOK IN EPILEPPSY

Mrs. E. writes: Is epilepsy ever curable?

REPLY

It appears to be in many persons but control is a better word than cure. There are examples of patients going 20-30 years between attacks.

PRESCRIPTION LANGUAGE

J. D. A. writes: In what language do physicians write prescriptions?

REPLY

In English, in this country, except for a few abbreviations. But some medicos have such poor penmanship, it looks like Greek and is thought to be Latin.

WITCH HAZEL

J. N. writes: A friend gets wonderful relief of her varicose veins by taking two teaspoonfuls of witch hazel every day. Is this a good treatment?

REPLY

I'm glad she is getting relief but there is no rationale to the treatment. I would not recommend it.

NEWSPAPERS ARE CLEAN

Mrs. Z. writes: I use clean newspapers on the table under my child's plate, cup, and cutlery. Is this unhealthy or unsanitary?

REPLY

Not unless the child picks up spilled food and eats it, in which case some of the ink may get on the food. Why not use plastic mats, oilcloth or wax paper?

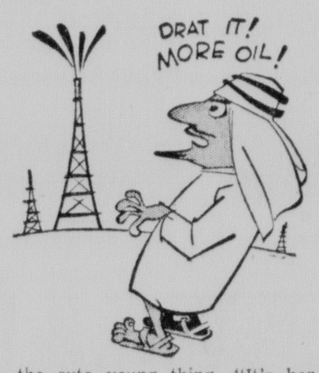
To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An Englishman was invited to dine with a very rich sheik near the Arabian oil fields. Wine flowed freely for the non-Moslems, but the water was handled with something akin to reverence. "I import this drinking water all the way from Scotland," explained the sheik. "That seems wasteful," commented the Englishman. "Why don't you drill a well and get the water right here?"

"We've tried that," sighed the sheik, "but every ill-starred time we strike oil!"



Horrified cop collared a cute young thing dressed in the scantiest of bikinis and demanded reproachfully, "What would your Ma say if she saw you in that suit?"

"She'd say plenty," admitted the cute young thing. "It's her suit."

Dick Kollmar has a friend who is a winetaster. "Only chap I know," insists Kollmar, "who is unsteadily employed."

No influence, not even Communism, has been more destructive in China than dope, and now I see the same thing happening here where the kids start it as a thrill, get hooked, become junkies and in the end, debase themselves and the society in which they live.

In this country, the problem of dope is seriously aggravated by the numerous divorces and broken homes which leave children to a varying degree not only maladjusted to the world in which they live but frightened, insecure and therefore seeking artificial means to stimulate personality. If divorce were a personal matter, involving only one individual, it might be said that it is none of society's business. But divorce, particularly in families where there are children, is a communal act, far-reaching in time and dangerous to the community.

If juvenile delinquency or the use of dope were limited to the poor, one could generalize on this subject on a class basis, but all forms of social degradation run up and down the economic class line and in such cities as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles are as often present in the high earning brackets as in the low.

The decline of the family in Western countries has proved to be more costly than anyone could have believed at the turn of the century, but the fact is that today even in homes that are not broken, the number of waking hours that parents are accessible to children are few, particularly in families where both parents work. It used to be that most working women were in the laboring brackets, but today an increasing number of women are engaged in white collar work, in the professions, in journalism, advertising, public relations and such conditions of the economic system.

The child therefore is dependent to an increasingly important degree upon outside adults who may or may not give a tinker's damn for the charges trusted to them and to whom a job is only a job. I once overheard a conversation between two mothers, Mrs. A. criticizing Mrs. B. for devoting too much of her life to her children. Mrs. A. believed that a woman should live her own life, go out places, have friends, etc., so that when the children left the nest, she would not be alone. She accused Mrs. B. of being stingy, because she did not hire somebody to look after her children.

Mrs. B.'s response was so simple. She said that she did not want anyone looking after her children whom she would not ordinarily welcome at her table as a guest.

It is so true. Children of the wealthy are so often reared by inferiorly educated persons, so that wealth has ceased to be a criterion of breeding. In fact, among the most vulgar and ill-bred persons I know are some of notable inherited wealth. When it comes to dope or other degradations, there is no class consciousness. Dope is not limited to the slums; it is everywhere, just as divorce knows no class, no race and in these days, even no creed. These are social poisons that are ubiquitous and are a result of the decline of the family, which is a religious institution in all wholesome societies.

Strauss Misled Congress, Public On Progress In Nuclear Energy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A lot of people on Capitol Hill have wondered why Eisenhower risked Congressional criticism by appopinting Admiral Lewis Strauss as his new Secretary of Commerce when no man in this Administration had ever been so severely criticised by Congress.

Inside reason was George H. Humphrey, the former Secretary of the Treasury and the man who has influenced Ike's economic policies more than any other, in or out of government. Though Humphrey did what no other Cabinet officer has done since the Budget Bureau was established—criticised the budget — Ike still visits him in Georgia and has now adopted the very same budget-balancing policies which last year Humphrey couldn't sell.

After Humphrey retired from government he recommended Strauss as Secretary of Commerce and the President bought the recommendation immediately. Humphrey had known Strauss first when Strauss' investment firm, Kuhn, Loeb and Company, floated M. A. Hanna bond issues. Later Humphrey made Strauss a director of his International Rayon Company, on which Harry Byrd Jr., son of the Senator, also served.

Ordinarily Ike doesn't like to tangle with Congress over appointments. But when Humphrey recommended Strauss, he didn't hesitate.

Roll-Call Of Deception

Meanwhile here are some of the other deceptions which Congress has charged against the new Secretary of Commerce:

FAILURE OF PEACETIME ATOMIC ENERGY — Atoms-for-Peace has been one of Ike's favorite slogans. He has talked about it both in campaign speeches and personal conversations. He sincerely believes the United States must pioneer in creating peacetime atomic energy.

Yet the fact remains that the United States has lagged behind both Russia and England.

Admiral Strauss as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission got most of the blame, and has engaged in a running fire of charge and counter-charge with Congress over how far behind we are.

In October 1956, the admiral made a speech claiming that the Shippingport, Pa., atomic reactor, built by Westinghouse with a subsidy of $100,000,000 from the U. S. government, "will be the world's first large nuclear project power plant exclusively for civilian use."

This brought a hot blast from Congressman Mel Price (Dem., Ill.), a member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

"I suppose he thinks that by using the word 'exclusively,'" rebutted Price, "he can slough over the fact that the British are placing in operation this month a full-scale nuclear power plant which will produce both electricity and plutonium. Would it be that he is trying to gloss over the fact that this country is falling behind Britain and Russia in nuclear power development through the stagnation of our own program which he, himself, is largely responsible for?"

It was not until more than a year later, incidentally, that the first U. S. peacetime reactor, at Shippingport, was finally finished.

Meanwhile, the admiral had testified before Congress in February 1957, that our peacetime atomic progress was "particularly noteworthy."

On that same day, however, AEC Commissioner Tom Murray testified just the contrary. He told Congress that our atomic programs were "not adequate."

Unless the federal government steps in, Murray warned, the United States will lose the atomic leadership of the world.

Seven Years Behind

Simultaneously, Admiral Hyman Rickover, father of the atomic submarine, warned that atomic power was failing to develop, and that American industry had an "inadequate understanding" of the problem. Rickover also told European atomic scientists that American development of atomic energy was bogged down and that Europe had better go ahead on its own.

Later, Kenneth Davis, a Strauss subordinate and director of AEC reactor development, flatly contradicted his own boss. Britain, he said, is already seven years ahead of the United States.

All this in a field in which the United States pioneered the first earth-shaking atomic bomb and in which we held the lead until about the time Admiral Strauss took over the chairmanship of atomic energy.

DANGER OF STRONTIUM 90 —This is the deadly radioactive poison which gets into children's bones and may affect our future generations. For a long time Admiral Strauss fought a battle inside the Atomic Energy Commission against revealing the danger of strontium 90 to the public.

Commissioner Murray differed with him. Murray told this writer that when he spoke in New York in 1954, giving the first public warning of strontium 90, Admiral Strauss instructed Commissioner Willard Libby to issue a statement to the contrary. Strauss even arranged for Libby to make a statement prior to Murray's speech so that the public would get a confused idea of who was really telling the truth.

Today, five years later, President Eisenhower himself has recognized the danger of strontium 90 by entering into negotiations with Russia for the ending of future nuclear tests.

These are some of the deceptions, along with the secret talks with Adolphe Wenzell, the banker for the Dixon-Yates power deal, which Strauss first denied, then had to admit, which make Congressmen wonder how the controversial admiral was made Secretary of Commerce.

Why Ambassador Menshikov Should Be Recalled

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has denied the report published in the Soviet government's weekly "New Times" which gave the impression that the Arkansas Senator had told a Communist writer softer treatment of Soviet Russia by the United States could be expected if the Democrats should win the 1960 Presidential election.

The article in the "New Times" was written by Stanislav Menshikov, son of the Soviet Ambassador here, while visiting in Washington recently. Inasmuch as the Ambassador's son was writing for a Soviet government publication and was himself a part of the Soviet Embassy entourage during his four-month stay in the United States, the publication of this article, impinging on American politics, becomes the responsibility also of the head of the Embassy, Mikhail Menshikov.

This correspondent at first was under the impression that it was the Soviet Ambassador who had the interview with Senator Fulbright and mistakenly wrote it that way but corrected his dispatch an hour later upon learning that the author of the article was the son of the Ambassador.

Unquestionably the Ambassador, however, was familiar with the mission of his son in approaching Senator Fulbright for the interview on politics and must have known the nature or contents of the article finally transmitted to Moscow for publication in the government-controlled "New Times."

For an even less tenuous connection with American politics, a British envoy was expelled from Washington by the United States government many years ago.

In this instance, Sir Lionel Sackville-West, British minister to Washington, sent a letter marked "private" to an American who had asked what would be the best way for a naturalized citizen, formerly of Great Britain, to vote in the Presidential election of 1888. The minister wrote that it would be to the best interests of Great Britain if the vote were cast for Grover Cleveland. The letter was made public through friends of the recipient. Though an intent to interfere in American politics was disclaimed by the British minister, he was promptly handed his passport by order of President Cleveland. But the damage was done, and Mr. Cleveland was defeated in that campaign largely because of the opposition of anti-British groups.

Meddling in American politics by any diplomatic representative of a foreign government has always been considered by the United States government as an improper activity.

In an early instance, "Citizen" Genet, the diplomatic representative of the French government, criticized the United States in public for issuing a proclamation of neutrality in the war then going on between France and Great Britain. When he threatened to appeal over the head of President Washington to the American people, his recall was requested by the Secretary of State, Thomas Jefferson.

In 1952, the Soviet government itself requested the recall of Ambassador George Kennan because of some remarks he made to the press while in Bonn, Germany. These comments were critical of the Soviet government, which, in a formal note, declared that he had committed "a rude violation of the generally recognized norms of international law." To this, Secretary of State Acheson replied that the Soviet itself had disregarded the rules of international intercourse and that what Mr. Kennan had said was true. Anyway, the recall, of course, took effect, as it is the custom to comply with the requests of other governments when they declare any member of an Embassy or legation to be "persona non grata" or unacceptable any longer to the resident government.

Mikhail Menshikov, the present Soviet Ambassador, has violated the rules in more ways than one. He refused last November, for instance, while at the Department of State to listen to a tape recording which dealt with the crash of an American unarmed airplane in which 17 Americans were killed. To refuse to accept a part of any communication submitted in diplomatic intercourse and, in effect, to challenge its veracity is to offer an insult to the resident government. For ambassadors are regarded as channels of communication and, if these are inoperative, there is little use in continuing to receive the same ambassador as an accredited representative of his government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

More than 90,000 children are adopted by foster parents each year in the United States. Unfortunately, some of these adoptions, entered into in haste, have caused unhappiness for children and foster parents alike.

To assist prospective adoptive parents, the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has just issued a revised booklet titled "When You Adopt a Child." It can be obtained from the Government Printing Office for 15 cents.

The booklet tells you how to find out where to go to seek an adoptive child, the reasons why people adopt children, some questions you should know about yourself before adoption, what you should know about the child you plan to adopt, how adoptions are brought about, and many other helpful suggestions.

Perhaps the most sagacious observation in the entire pamphlet is contained in the introduction. It says: "Adoption is a serious business. It's a lasting pact. It may take a lot of what you call red tape, fuss, bother. And you're going to want it to take more, if more is needed to get you what you really want. Because we say again; adoption is lasting. It stretches beyond the cradle-days. It stretches through the years. It's a kind of road that you and the child will travel all of your lives."

Market Gyrations

By Leslie Gould

The stock market is again at an all-time high and the experts are confounded. Most of them have been cautious to moderately bearish for the near term.

In two weeks—most of it in the last week—the market has regained all the ground lost and exceeded the all-time high made in January.

The January 22 to February 9 slide chopped around $14 billion from market values, or 30 points in the Dow Jones industrial share price index.

The market closed in the Dow, Jones average Friday at 602.21. This was the highest closing on record for this index. On Jan. 22 it got to 601.74 during the day, but closed at 595.69. Friday, the day's high was 603.91.

This is an inflation market. There is a flight from the dollar. This has been going on now for a year.

The renewal of the boom reflects speculative as well as investment opinion that the Administration will be unable to balance the budget nor will industry be able to check the wage-price spiral.

The stock market could be guessing wrong on both points. The test will come later in the year—in the summer in the expected steel strike and this spring in Congress.

Long range, the outlook is for a continuing inflation. President Eisenhower will have a difficult time keeping the Democratic Congress in line on his budget and if there is a change in administrations in the 1960 elections, there will be no reductions in spending.

President Eisenhower's budget is disappointing, for its balance is mostly on optimistic guesses as to revenues and Congressional action on his higher tax proposals. If the budget is balanced, it will be a political miracle. This is the view of the stock market.

While the stock market may at this stage be over-discounting the inflation, there is no incentive to move into bonds or other fixed-income investments.

Bonds, particularly those with interest subject to income tax, have little appeal. This is why the U. S. Treasury is having such a tough time financing the debt and the annual deficits. Also, this is why stocks are booming to new highs and Government bonds are selling at their lowest prices on record. They can be bought at discounts up to 14 points, or $140 on a $1,000 bond.

The steady liquidation of Government bonds and the bidding up of stocks as an inflation hedge should be enough warning for something positive to be done about checking the inflation.

The U. S. is engaged in an all-out war with the Communist nations. The emphasis now is on the economic front. This is all the more reason for public faith to be restored in the dollar's integrity.

The only gainers from a flight from the dollar will be the Russians. Their currency has no international standing. It has no true value. The official exchange rate is four rubles to the dollar. Tourists to Russia get a 10 ruble to the dollar rate and the black market is 20 rubles to the dollar.

The Russians instead of currency, use gold and other commodities produced by slave labor. The U. S. has been helpful in the extension of the Russian economic power by providing a floor under the world gold market of $35 an ounce. There is pressure from other gold producing nations for an increase in this price.

Instead of a fixed gold buying price, by the U. S. Treasury, there should be a free gold market. Then any dumping of gold by the Russians will have the same effect on its value as their dumping has had on other metals and commodities.

In addition to the inflation, the current market rise has reflected better business news. The steel mills are operating at a high rate and automobile sales are showing a better than expected trend.

The steel orders are due in some degree to inventory build up in anticipation of a serious strike this summer. The steel workers are putting on a big campaign for another inflationary increase, plugging the line that the more a worker gets the more he can buy. This is fine if the advances are matched by increased productivity so that the price line can be held. There is no talk of this.

Trading on the N. Y. Stock Exchange averaged 3,700,000 shares daily vs. 2,958,000 the previous week:

Overwork Can Make You Grow Old Too Soon

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We were asked recently whether it hurts a person to continue working when he is bushed. The healthy body has tremendous recuperative powers and occasional overexertion is tolerated. But the story is different when you overwork for a long period. This applies to the business man as well as to the athlete and the laborer.

Stress from constant over-fatigue may create changes in the body that lead to premature aging, hypertension, and heart attacks. In this respect it is harmful to force one's self when overly tired. The energy must come from somewhere, and to carry on when utterly exhausted, the system calls upon tissues and chemical processes that are not used ordinarily for the job at hand.

The heart, for example, compensates when pushed beyond its capacity but there is a limit on how much stress it will tolerate. Furthermore, a fatigued organ is an inefficient organ. It no longer work, in harmony with other structures. The body can take so much and then rebels.

Fitness helps to resist physical stress. The heart and other organs become accustomed to increasing amounts of physical activity and in time are capable of doing twice as much without undue strain. This allows the individual to do more and to adjust quickly to sudden emergency efforts. In addition, physical fitness improves the feeling of well being and appears to combat many of the factors that hasten the aging process.

Fatigue is relative. Some persons tire more easily than others. But when weariness is present for no apparent reason, especially when trivial exertion produces it, examination is in order. Anemia, infection, or low metabolism may be responsible.

Emotional stress must be considered. It has a secondary effect on many organs and chemical processes. Many organic diseases are traced to this origin, especially when prolonged. In addition, every person has his breaking point and herein lies the origin of mental disease.

TOMORROW: Whooping cough is tiring.

TONSILS AND HEALTH

Mrs. F. C. writes: Is it true that children eat better, grow more, and have fewer colds after a tonsilectomy?

REPLY

Yes, provided the tonsils were diseased to such an extent as to affect the child's health and feeling of well-being.

CIGARS OR CIGARETS?

C. H. writes: Is cigar smoking (not inhaling) less hazardous than cigaret smoking (inhaling)?

REPLY

Yes, in that the incidence of lung cancer and heart disease is higher in cigaret smokers.

PEANUT BUTTER

O. Y. writes: Will peanut butter cause constipation or indigestion?

REPLY

Some persons develop these symptoms but considering the popularity of peanut butter, this would be unusual.

IT HAPPENS

D. B. writes: If a man is sterile for several years after marriage, could he suddenly become fertile? A friend tells me she knows of such a case.

REPLY

Yes, because sterility is relative.

OUTLOOK IN EPILEPPSY

Mrs. E. writes: Is epilepsy ever curable?

REPLY

It appears to be in many persons but control is a better word than cure. There are examples of patients going 20-30 years between attacks.

PRESCRIPTION LANGUAGE

J. D. A. writes: In what language do physicians write prescriptions?

REPLY

In English, in this country, except for a few abbreviations. But some medicos have such poor penmanship, it looks like Greek and is thought to be Latin.

WITCH HAZEL

J. N. writes: A friend gets wonderful relief of her varicose veins by taking two teaspoonfuls of witch hazel every day. Is this a good treatment?

REPLY

I'm glad she is getting relief but there is no rationale to the treatment. I would not recommend it.

NEWSPAPERS ARE CLEAN

Mrs. Z. writes: I use clean newspapers on the table under my child's plate, cup, and cutlery. Is this unhealthy or unsanitary?

REPLY

Not unless the child picks up spilled food and eats it, in which case some of the ink may get on the food. Why not use plastic mats, oilcloth or wax paper?

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An Englishman was invited to dine with a very rich sheik near the Arabian oil fields. Wine flowed freely for the non-Moslems, but the water was handled with something akin to reverence. "I import this drinking water all the way from Scotland," explained the sheik. "That seems wasteful," commented the Englishman. "Why don't you drill a well and get the water right here?"

"We've tried that," sighed the sheik, "but every ill-starred time we strike oil!"

Horrified cop collared a cute young thing dressed in the scantiest of bikinis and demanded reproachfully, "What would your Ma say if she saw you in that suit?"

"She'd say plenty," admitted the cute young thing. "It's her suit."

The Many Faces of WASHINGTON

George Washington was the most painted, sketched and engraved American of his generation.

There is some doubt as to the number of likenesses made of him from life. The market for these was so lively that he was often painted by men who never saw him—much to his amusement.

Thus, after seeing a mezzotint of himself by a certain Mr. Campbell in Boston in 1776, the general wrote in the tone of ironic humor he relished: "Mr. Campbell, whom I never saw to my knowledge, has made a very formidable figure of the commander-in-chief, giving him a sufficient portion of terror in his countenance."

Washington took a rather dim view of portrait art and artists. To sit for his portrait smacked of vanity. Too, it seemed a precious waste of time. But he submitted—glumly—when his wife and friends insisted. It is fortunate for us that they did.

Two painters of George Washington stood out. They were Charles Willson Peale and Gilbert Stuart. Peale, who painted 14 different closeups, was Washington's favorite. Stuart was more prolific. He made at least 40 paintings of the general. Artist John Trumbull also painted many. He considered his full-length portrait of Washington, done in 1792, the best.

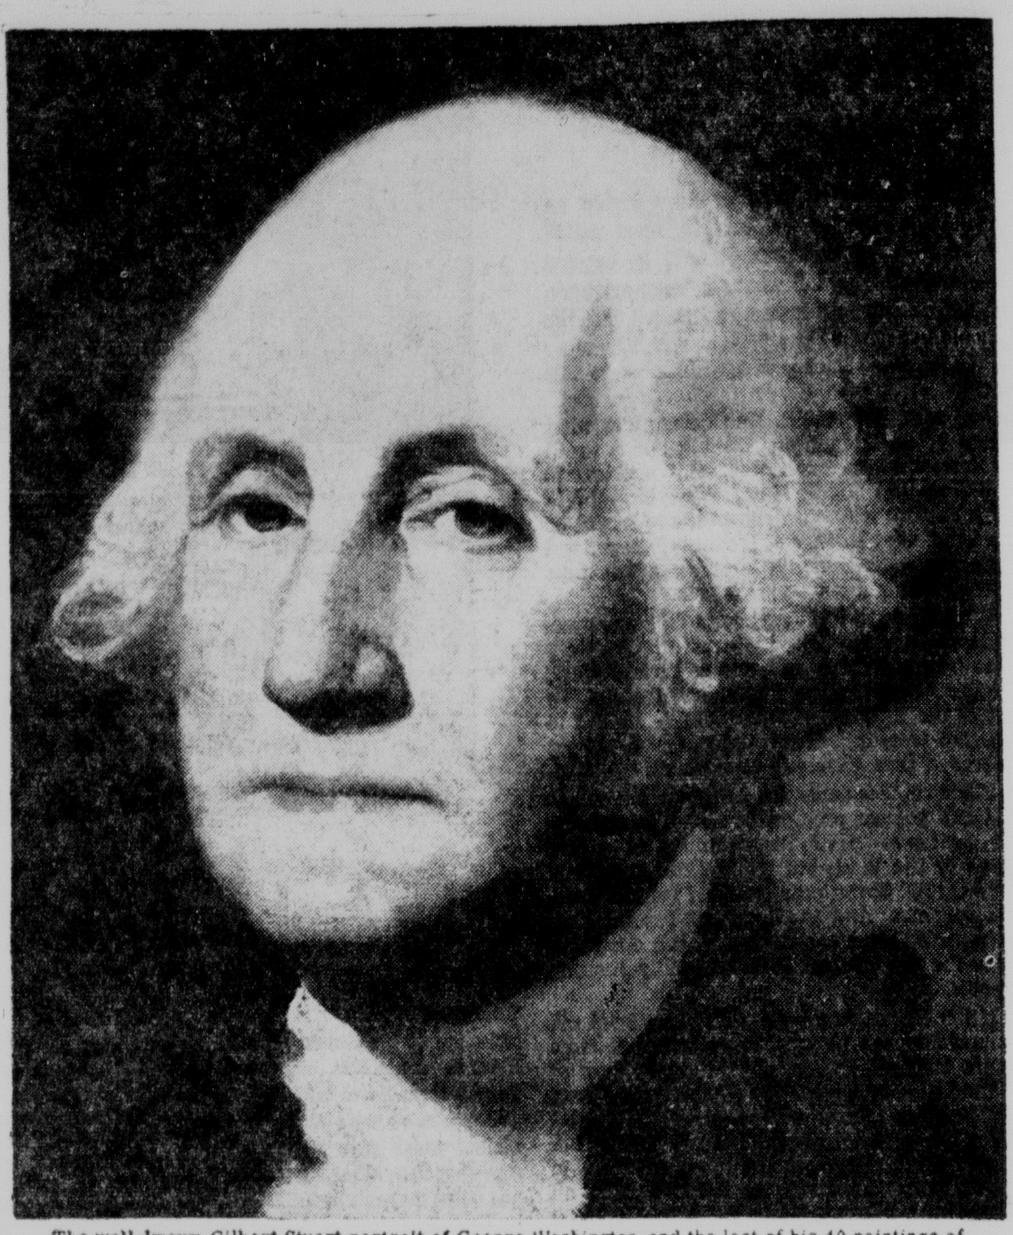
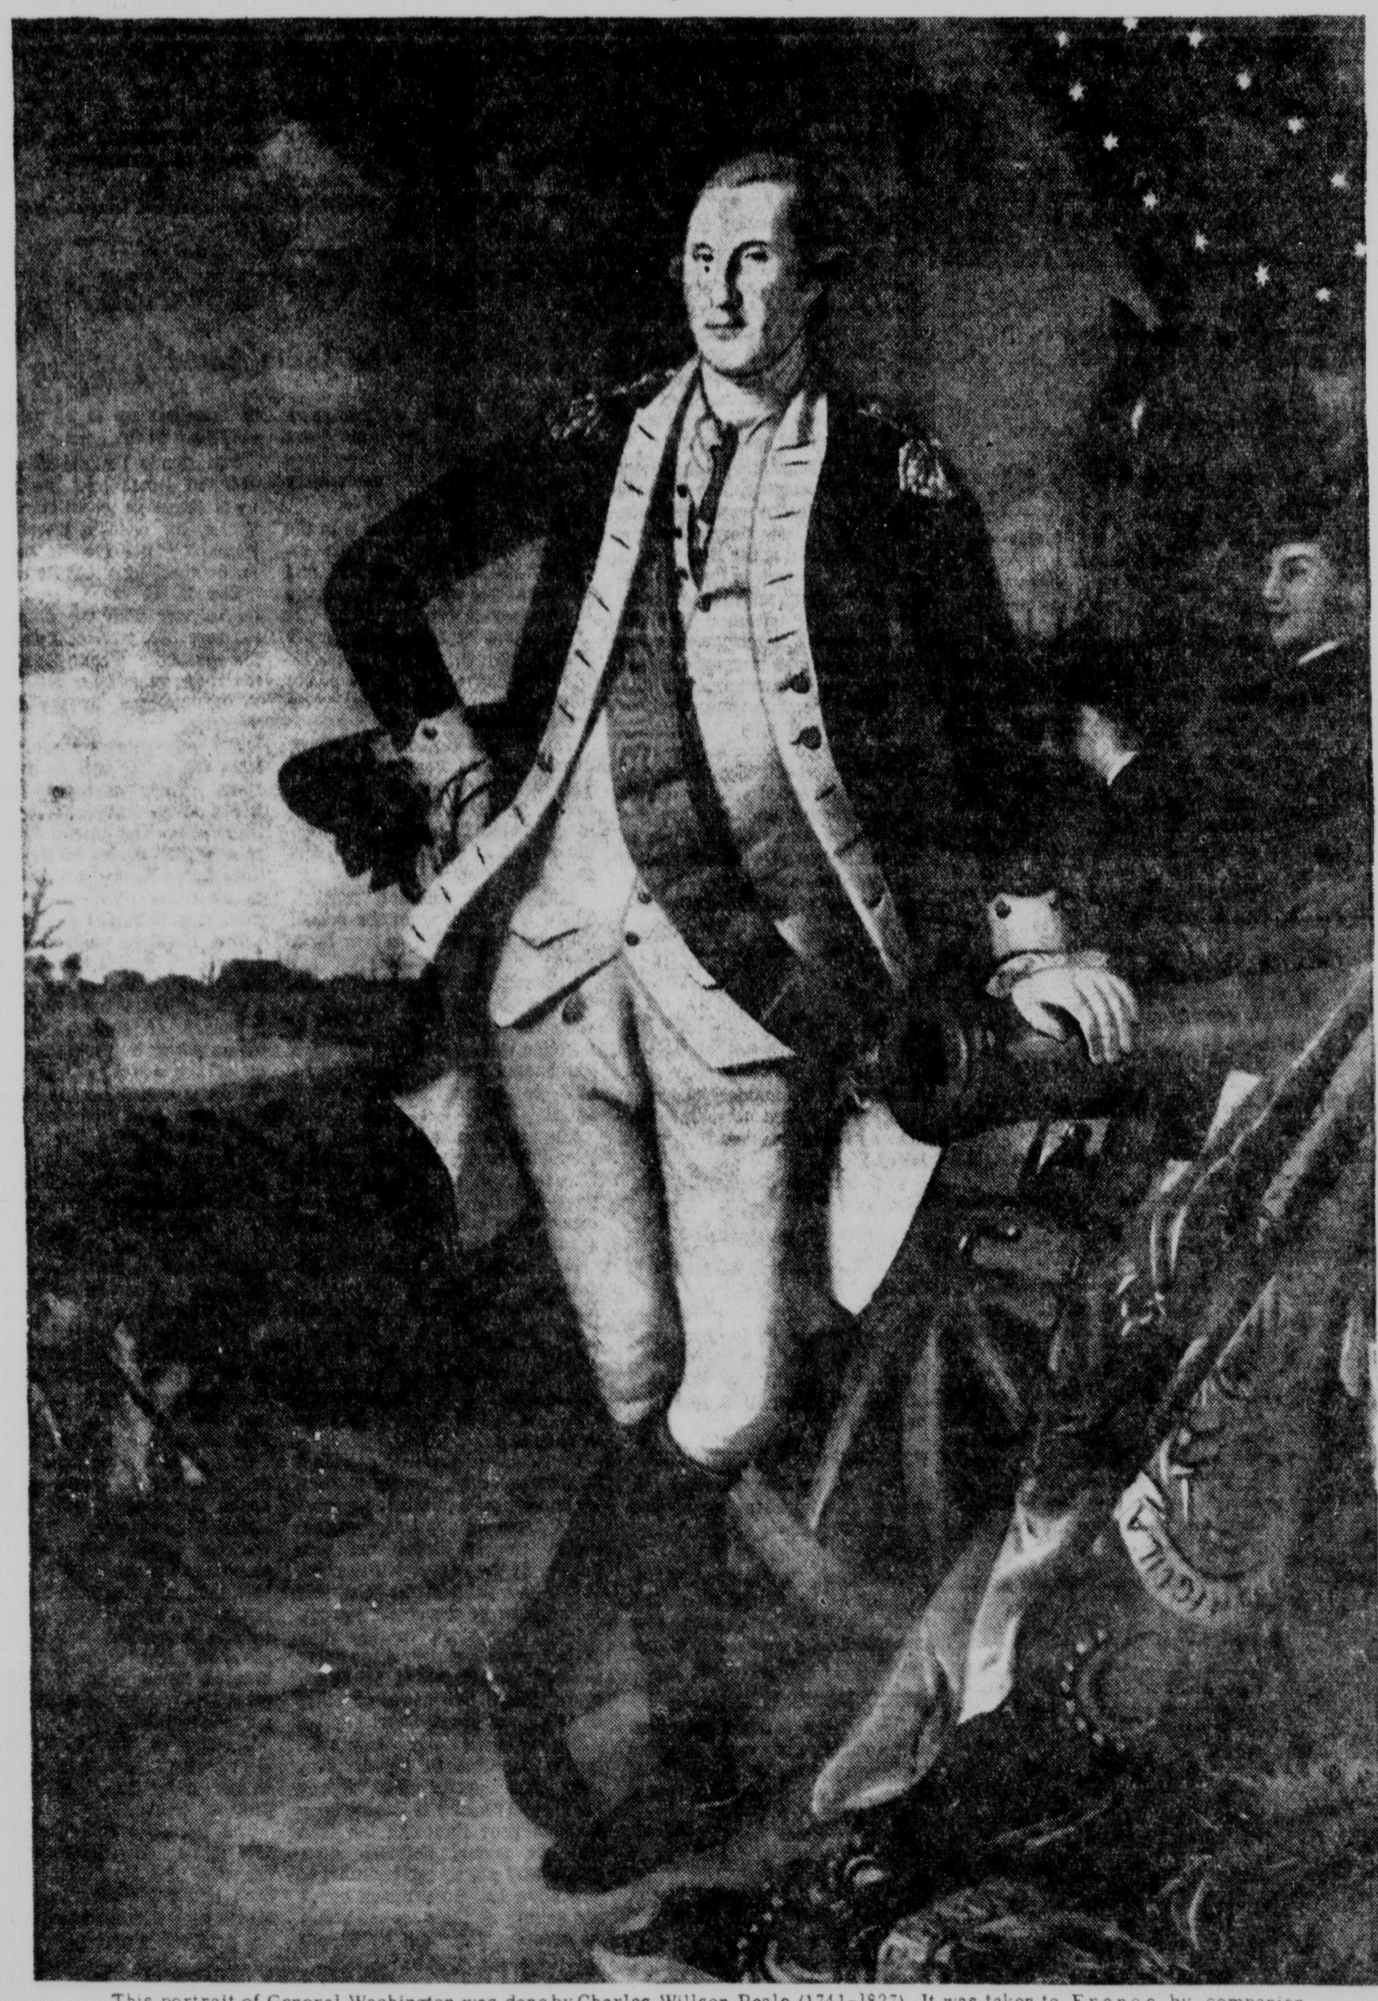
Life portraits of Washington by three artists: At left, work of Scottish painter Archibald Robertson (1765-1835); center, as Gilbert Stuart (1755-1828) saw him, and, right, painting of Washington as President by Joseph Wright (1756-1793).



The well-known Gilbert Stuart portrait of George Washington, and the last of his 40 paintings of the general. Many of the traces of age and illness have been concealed by the painter's art.



This portrait of General Washington was done by Charles Willson Peale (1741-1827). It was taken to France by companion of Rochambeau, and later returned to this country. Peale was noted for his portraits and statesmen of Revolutionary War.

John Trumbull's fine portrait of General Washington. He served on Washington's staff, painted many scenes of Revolutionary War. His most famous: "The Battle of Bunker's Hill."

Underwood Calls On Legislature To Act On Highway Program For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood urged the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds for a greatly - expanded highway construction program—declaring "the time has come for you to pass this or some program to save our state."

Noting that unemployment has increased steadily since his last address to the Legislature opening day Jan. 14, he said:

"I know of no other way in which the state can produce substantial numbers of jobs than through an extensive highway construction program.

"How better can we prime our economic pump than to provide the funds to match the approximately 130 million dollars of unused federal aid cash which is available for highway use in West Virginia?"

Underwood recalled to the lawmakers, assembled in a joint session, that he recommended measure on Jan. 14 "to provide immediate relief to our distressed conditions."

Underwood also renewed his request for creation of a state Economic Recovery Agency (ERA), first proposed Jan. 14 to undertake comprehensive, long - range planning for the state's economic future.

Underwood said the ERA could help restore the state's economic health through proper utilization of natural and human resources, development of industrial potential, wise use of natural advantages and attraction of industry and tourists.

Handed to the lawmakers was a bill to set up a nine - member agency with an executive director qualified in the fields of state, local and national economic planning and community development.

The ERA would replace the State Planning Board, coordinate and supervise research now handled by various state agencies, "serve many private industrial and economic development groups . . . provide much needed service to counties and cities" and act as a receiving agency for proposed federal aid to depressed areas.

Underwood asked the Legislature to provide $250,000 to finance it, in addition to $100,000 available in federal matching money on grounds "it will be futile to undertake this important work unless it is adequately financed."

On the subject of current unemployment, he said "statistics have become more alarming . . . each week you have been in session."

As of Jan. 14, some 42,000 persons had exhausted jobless benefits, while the current total is near 50,000. More than 12,000 initial claims were filed during January, he said.

Commenting later, House Speaker Harry R. Pauley said he knows "of no bill before the House that would provide employment for all the unemployed people of West Virginia."

Pauley said he will gladly sup-

Underwood Calls On Legislature To Act On Highway Program For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood urged the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds for a greatly - expanded highway construction program—declaring "the time has come for you to pass this or some program to save our state."

Noting that unemployment has increased steadily since his last address to the Legislature opening day Jan. 14, he said:

"I know of no other way in which the state can produce substantial numbers of jobs than through an extensive highway construction program.

"How better can we prime our economic pump than to provide the funds to match the approximately 130 million dollars of unused federal aid cash which is available for highway use in West Virginia?"

Underwood recalled to the lawmakers, assembled in a joint session, that he recommended measure on Jan. 14 "to provide immediate relief to our distressed conditions."

Underwood also renewed his request for creation of a state Economic Recovery Agency (ERA), first proposed Jan. 14 to undertake comprehensive, long - range planning for the state's economic future.

Underwood said the ERA could help restore the state's economic health through proper utilization of natural and human resources, development of industrial potential, wise use of natural advantages and attraction of industry and tourists.

Handed to the lawmakers was a bill to set up a nine - member agency with an executive director qualified in the fields of state, local and national economic planning and community development.

The ERA would replace the State Planning Board, coordinate and supervise research now handled by various state agencies, "serve many private industrial and economic development groups . . . provide much needed service to counties and cities" and act as a receiving agency for proposed federal aid to depressed areas.

Underwood asked the Legislature to provide $250,000 to finance it, in addition to $100,000 available in federal matching money on grounds "it will be futile to undertake this important work unless it is adequately financed."

On the subject of current unemployment, he said "statistics have become more alarming . . . each week you have been in session."

As of Jan. 14, some 42,000 persons had exhausted jobless benefits, while the current total is near 50,000. More than 12,000 initial claims were filed during January, he said.

Commenting later, House Speaker Harry R. Pauley said he knows "of no bill before the House that would provide employment for all the unemployed people of West Virginia."

Pauley said he will gladly sup-

South Branch Valley Group Plans Cooperative To Erect TV Translator Station On Branch Mountain

MOOREFIELD — The South Branch Valley and the communities of Moorefield and Petersburg will be able to receive all four networks on TV with a clear signal if the plans of a local group are completed.

A non-profit cooperative is in the process of being formed which will install equipment on Branch Mountain near the CAA beacon to rebroadcast signals from four stations in Washington which will give all four networks to TV set owners in the valley.

A non-commercial enterprise, the service will be given by a non-profit cooperative without the use of cables or wires. Charles Kuykendall is gathering data and has been working on the project for the past several months along with D. J. Ott, Allen's Electronics, V. W. Webster and Sons, Barr's Appliance Store and Clines Store. The installation will be similar to the translator now serving the Frostburg, Md., area.

The translator expected to be used is designed to give continuous service to the 'fringe' areas, especially those blocked from good reception by mountainous terrain.

The total cost of the installation for service from four networks will be in the neighborhood of $20,000. Operational costs and maintenance will be nominal. It is estimated that if 400 set owners in the area to be served will subscribe for stock in the cooperative at $50 each and an estimated $5 per year maintenance, the project is feasible. Operation after installation is automatic and requires no personnel other than for occasional servicing of the equipment and checking of navigational lights.

The installation will be on land owned by R. E. Fisher and will be leased to the cooperative for $1 per year. Adjacent to the proposed installation is the CAA beacon, a radio station operated by the Potomac Light and Power Company and a radio station operated by the State Police.

Kuykendall pointed out that the translator station site is on the highest point in Hardy County and will give maximum coverage for the TV signals. He said the ten watt translators give a perfect signal for 22 miles, that many similar installations give perfect signals up to 75 miles and that the translators are in wide use throughout the west.

A separate translator has to be installed for each channel which receives the signals on VHF frequencies. These signals are in turn translated into UHF frequencies for local reception. The only equipment necessary for the UHF reception is a standard UHF antenna and a simple UHF converter on the standard TV sets. Most new sets presently marketed already have the UHF. The translators can transmit high quality pictures in either color or black and white.

Kuykendall pointed out that the the non-profit cooperative have proposed site has been tested for signals and found to be the best in the area. He also pointed out that power for the operation of the translators is already available from the REA line now serving the beacon and the two radio stations, and a road is already built to the proposed site. He said that anyone who could see or almost see the revolving beacon light at night would be assured of perfect reception.

Arrangements for a charter for the non-profit cooperative have been made.

North Hagerstown Trips AHS For 20th Win In A Row

Hubs Close Season With 59-53 Win

Unbeaten Quintet Wraps Up Game In Closing Minutes

HAGERSTOWN—North High's Hubs of Hagerstown closed out their regular basketball season here last night with a 59-53 triumph over a tough Allegany High quint from Cumberland in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest.

The win was the 20th in succession for the unbeaten charges of Coach Mel Henry and enabled the victors to close out their CVAL schedule with a 10-0 mark.

The loss snapped a five-game win skein for Chet Payne's improving Campers who last week tied up the Allegany County Class A title race by defeating Fort Hill. North High's Hubs will vie in the Maryland District No. 1 tournament March 6-7 at the North High gym, representing Washington County.

Three quick field goals by Ronnie Hawkins with less than 1:30 to play in the game iced the verdict for North High after Allegany had rallied to pull within two points, 49-47.

The Campers grabbed a 14-13 lead in a see-saw first quarter in which the score was tied several times. Dick Spencer scored four goals for Hagerstown to keep the Hubs in contention in the initial stanza.

The Hubs finally pulled ahead 27-26 at intermission and quickly built their margin to 30-26 as the third quarter opened.

Allegany trailed throughout the remainder of the second half before Gerald Horton's twin-pointer pulled the Campers within two points with 1:47 to play. At this point Hawkins' three goals put the contest out of reach for the Paynemen who suffered their ninth loss of the campaign.

High point men for Hagerstown were Hawkins and Spencer with 15 tallies each while Gary Frisby had 15 for Allegany.

North High lost Jim Washington and Hawkins on personal fouls while Frisby and Bob Gaffney exited via the same route for Allegany. The lineups:

Carol Heiss Takes Lead

World Skating Title Is Runaway

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Carol Heiss rallied magnificently from a mild setback Wednesday and made a runaway of her bid for her fourth world women's figure skating championship.

The 19-year-old college coed from Ozone Park, N.Y., jumped into an insurmountable 73.5-point lead over Austria's Hanna Walter in the school figures with 771.9 points and threatened to post a record margin in the free-skating phase.

The six compulsory figures, skated the last two days, make up 60 per cent of the scoring for the title with free skating counting 40 per cent. Miss Heiss is rated the most brilliant free skater in the world.

Carol's previous high margin of victory in the world tournament was 103 last year, but more judges were used then instead of seven as in the case at the Broadmoor Ice Palace here.

The blonde champion had a disappointing performance in her fifth and next-to-last figure, losing it to teammate Barbara Roles of Temple City, Calif., but put on a spectacular finish to more than make up the deficit.

Miss Roles placed fourth with 680.1 points.

Miss. State Won't Play In N.C.A.A.

Ban Expected By College President

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Mississippi State University apparently will not be allowed to compete in the NCAA basketball tournament because of state policy against integrated athletics, United Press International learned Wednesday.

University President Ben Hilbun said he had reached a decision to be announced later, but it obviously was a negative one.

When asked whether he had made a decision, Hilbun said reluctantly "I think so." He said, however, he would not reveal what it was until after State's final game with Mississippi Saturday night.

It was generally agreed that Hilbun had decided not to buck Mississippi's unwritten law against athletic competition between members of different races.

Coach Babe McCarthy, who met with Hilbun, said "no matter what the decision is nothing is to be mentioned either way until after the Saturday night game".

Virginia Upsets Tar Heels 69-68

North Carolina Is Dumped From First

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Virginia's Cavaliers dumped North Carolina from first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Wednesday night, 69-68.

The Tar Heels grabbed an early lead and built it steadily to a 12-point advantage before Virginia's guard Paul Adkins came into the game.

From then on, the Cavaliers chopped away at the lead until they held a 36-34 halftime advantage.

The lead changed hands seven times during the second period. The Tar Heels led, 68-67, with 1:30 left to play when Adkins, on a driving layup shot, scored the winning basket.

Herb Busch and John Siewers led the defensive action and rebounding for Virginia. The win puts the Cavaliers in fifth place in the conference.

Busch also led scoring for the Cavaliers with 20 points followed by Adkins with 19 and John Haner with 11.

Harvey Salz, who scored 17 of his 19 points in the last period to keep Carolina in the game, led scoring for the Tar Heels. He was followed by York Larese with 16 points.

Webb Scores TKO Over Bob Boyd In First

CHICAGO (AP) — Spider Webb, No. 3 ranked middleweight, recovered from a jolting assault to blast a first-round 1:55 technical knockout of Bobby Boyd in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Referee Frank Sikora stopped Webb's onslaught against the seventh-rated Boyd 1 minute and 55 seconds after opening bell.

The nationally televised bout was as furious as it was brief, with Webb recovering from a whistling Boyd left hook which staggered him in the opening seconds.

Just when it seemed Boyd was measuring Webb for the kill, the Spider exploded a rousing two-fisted attack of his own.

A series of two powerful rights to the jaw sent Boyd down for a nine-count. He staggered to his feet glassy-eyed. Webb followed with steaming lefts and rights to the head. Again Boyd went almost through the ropes from a cruel left-right combination.

Boyd again wobbled to his feet at the count of nine. Referee Sikora signaled for the fighters to resume, took another look at Boyd's glassy eyes and halted the bout.

High man for the outclassed Chaney's quintet was Colin Detrick with 25 points.

In the second game of the City doubleheader the Loyal Order of Moose five edged the Old Exports, 66-62.

Trailing 40-38 at intermission the Moose rallied in the third quarter when Ronnie Cage's goal put them ahead, 42-41, a lead the victors held the remainder of the game.

Bill Kirk fouled out with 7:25 remaining in the fourth period leaving the Old Exports with only four players the rest of the contest. The losers rallied to pull within two points at 64-62 when the Moose froze the ball during the final three minutes. A layup by Don Lilya with 40 seconds left iced the contest for the Moose.

Training Briefs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — General manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians visited the New York Yankees' training camp in search of an infielder Wednesday but got the run-around from manager Casey Stengel.

Stengel first hid in the outfield and then in the clubhouse while Lane stood at the Yankee batting cage and told how he was looking for a third baseman. It is known that he wants Andy Carey or Jerry Lumpe of the Yankees.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Barry Latman, a rookie righthander manager Al Lopez is counting on as a starting pitcher, reported to the Chicago White Sox Wednesday in even better condition than other players who had a three-day jump on him in training.

Latman, who didn't agree to terms until Tuesday, has been working out at the University of California. He checked in at 213 pounds, exactly the same figure he scaled last fall.

PHOENIX (UPI) — First baseman Orlando Cepeda, National League's 1958 Rookie of the Year, is scheduled to arrive here Thursday night from Puerto Rico.

Cepeda hit .368 to lead the Puerto Rico winter league after whacking .312 for the Giants with 25 home runs and 96 rbi's. He recently signed for approximately $17,000.

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Infielder Billy Gardner and outfielder Lennie Green agreed to terms Wednesday leaving only four members of the Baltimore Orioles unsigned.

Gardner, who hit .225 last season compared to .262 in 1957, is believed to have accepted a $1,000 cut which would make his new salary about $14,000. Green, who hit .265 for Rochester and .231 in 68 games with Baltimore, probably signed for $8,000.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Coaches Charlie Dressen and Joe Becker were in charge of the Los Angeles Dodgers' training camp Wednesday while manager Walt Alston was called to New York as a court witness.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics will open full drills here at Connie Mack Field Thursday but apparently without their slugging outfielder, Bob Cerv.

Cerv, who hit 38 homers and drove in 104 runs while batting .305 for the A's last year, is locked in a salary dispute with general manage Parke Carroll. It is believed Cerv is asking for around $30,000 and that the Athletics would like him to settle for about $7,000 less. Cerv says he will remain at his Kansas City home until the A's come up with the right offer.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Del Ennis, long-ball-hitting outfielder, agreed to 1959 terms Wednesday in a 20-minute telephone conversation with general manager Gabe Paul, completing the Cincinnati Reds' roster for the coming season.

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — Manager Bob Scheffing, a firm believer in plenty of batting practice in spring training, gave his Chicago Cubs three full rounds of it Wednesday.

Johnny Goryl, fresh from the Cuban winter league, hit four drives out of the park.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) —Norm Zauchin, regular first baseman, agreed to contract terms Wednesday, slicing the Washington Senators' holdout list to eight men. Zauchin reportedly took a slight cut in salary.

Ron Samford, the man the Senators are counting on as their regular shortstop, worked out for the first time Wednesday. Samford came from Detroit along wiht Reno Bertoia and Jim Delsing in the deal which sent Eddie Yost, Rocky Bridges and Neil Chrisley to the Tigers.

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves reduced their list of unsigned players to six Wednesday when pitcher Juan Pizarro agreed to terms in time to work out with the other batterymen.

Still unsigned were pitchers Don McMahon and Gene Conley, catcher Del Rice, first baseman Joe Adcock and infielders Felix Mantilla and Casey Wise.

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) —Outfielder Tito Francona signed his contract with the Detroit Tigers Wednesday, leaving only outfielders Charley Maxwell and Gus Zernial dissatisfied with the club's offers. Both are fighting pay cuts.

St. Michael's Seeks Win And League Title Today

SS. Peter-Paul Win Would Tie Up Race

The second half race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League draws to a close tonight and the big battle of the evening will be the fifth meeting of St. Michael's of Frostburg and SS. Peter & Paul at 8 o'clock on the Fayette street court.

SS. Peter & Paul must win this one or Father's Larkin's Mountain City quint will gallop off with the league title.

St. Michael's won the first half by defeating SS. Peter & Paul in a playoff game, 37-35, after the teams had ended the regular schedule with 9-1 records. They had split even prior to that, SS. Peter & Paul winning at home, 40-26 while St. Michael's took the return game on its home court, 32-31.

Leading the second half race with a 9-0 record, St. Michael's comes here tonight with a 15-game winning streak. SS. Peter & Paul (8-1) suffered its only loss of the second half race at the hands of St. Michael's, 31-20, at Frostburg.

If Coach Bob Mattingly's passers can emerge the winner tonight the race will be tied up, thus necessitating a playoff game for second half honors.

In the first game of the twin bill, St. Ambrose will play St. Peter's of Westernport at 6:45.

St. Mary's Gaels will host St. Mary's in the other league game scheduled for tonight on the Oldtown Road court at 7:30.

Aggies, Oldtown Clash Tonight

Battle For Class C Title At Ft. Hill

Flintstone High School's Aggies and the Oldtown High School quint will clash tonight at 8 o'clock at Fort Hill High School gym for the Allegany County Class C diadem.

The playoff meeting between the two teams was necessitated by Oldtown's only win in 19 starts this year, a 46-44 decision over Coach Stony Jackson's Aggies February 18. Flintstone has won five of 12 contests this year.

Clifton Van Roby and Floyd "Pete" Elliott will officiate in tonight's playoff battle for the right to represent Allegany County in the District No. 1 tournament next week in Hagerstown.

Tickets will be sold at the door at game time.

The teams split even during the regular campaign with the Aggies copping the opener, 65-49, before dropping the second contest to Coach Ronald Kellough's tossers.

The winner of the Oldtown-Flintstone clash will qualify for the district tourney next week and will play Hancock in the championship game on Saturday, March 7, at 6:30 p. m.

Terps Whip Georgetown

McNeil Gets 27 In Easy 67-56 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charley McNeil, 6 - foot - 6 sharpshooter, flipped in nine goals and as many free throws tonight as Maryland sauntered to a 67-56 victory over Georgetown.

McNeil and his Terrapin teammates came from behind in the first half and then, with an edge in height, kept the ball well under control to throttle Georgetown's bid for an upset.

Maryland was a distinct favorite after its 68-51 upset of North Carolina last Saturday night that dumped the Tar Heels from first to third in the national rankings.

Georgetown, which had lost 13 of its 21 previous games, opened up with gusto and with Tom Coleman heading the offense spurted to a 10-3 lead in five minutes. The Hoyas were ahead at 14-9 when they collapsed and Maryland started hitting.

For the next 10 minutes Georgetown was unable to pop in a field goal against Maryland's tight man for man defense. In that period, Coleman sank three free throws but Maryland forged ahead and at halftime the Terps were on top at 24-21.

Bill France, president of NASCAR and the Daytona International Speedway, said movies and still pictures showed that Petty won.

The decision means Petty collects $19,000 and Beauchamp $8,000.

Otto Graham Named Coast Guard Coach

Stresses Team Is "Not Big Time"

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Coast Guard Academy Wednesday hired a big name — Otto Graham—as head football coach, but stressed it will not "go big time."

Graham was a great football player between 1943 and 1956, when he decided to retire. He was an All-America back at Northwestern University, All-Service at North Carolina Pre-Flight, and All-Professional with the Cleveland Browns.

This will be his first job as a head coach, although he spent a few weeks last August directing a squad of College All-Stars to victory over the Detroit Lions, 1957 National Football League champs.

Graham, 37, also was named athletic director at the Coast Guard Academy.

An academy official said Graham was "our number one choice, the man we wanted from the start." More than 80 applications were received shortly after Nelson W. Nitchman was dropped last November.

North Hagerstown Trips AHS For 20th Win In A Row

Hubs Close Season With 59-53 Win

Unbeaten Quintet Wraps Up Game In Closing Minutes

HAGERSTOWN—North High's Hubs of Hagerstown closed out their regular basketball season here last night with a 59-53 triumph over a tough Allegany High quint from Cumberland in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest.

The win was the 20th in succession for the unbeaten charges of Coach Mel Henry and enabled the victors to close out their CVAL schedule with a 10-0 mark.

The loss snapped a five-game win skein for Chet Payne's improving Campers who last week tied up the Allegany County Class A title race by defeating Fort Hill. North High's Hubs will vie in the Maryland District No. 1 tournament March 6-7 at the North High gym, representing Washington County.

Three quick field goals by Ronnie Hawkins with less than 1:30 to play in the game iced the verdict for North High after Allegany had rallied to pull within two points, 49-47.

The Campers grabbed a 14-13 lead in a see-saw first quarter in which the score was tied several times. Dick Spencer scored four goals for Hagerstown to keep the Hubs in contention in the initial stanza.

The Hubs finally pulled ahead 27-26 at intermission and quickly built their margin to 30-26 as the third quarter opened.

Allegany trailed throughout the remainder of the second half before Gerald Horton's twin-pointer pulled the Campers within two points with 1:47 to play. At this point Hawkins' three goals put the contest out of reach for the Paynemen who suffered their ninth loss of the campaign.

High point men for Hagerstown were Hawkins and Spencer with 15 tallies each while Gary Frisby had 15 for Allegany.

North High lost Jim Washington and Hawkins on personal fouls while Frisby and Bob Gaffney exited via the same route for Allegany. The lineups:

Carol Heiss Takes Lead

World Skating Title Is Runaway

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Carol Heiss rallied magnificently from a mild setback Wednesday and made a runaway of her bid for her fourth world women's figure skating championship.

The 19-year-old college coed from Ozone Park, N.Y., jumped into an insurmountable 73.5-point lead over Austria's Hanna Walter in the school figures with 771.9 points and threatened to post a record margin in the free-skating phase.

The six compulsory figures, skated the last two days, make up 60 per cent of the scoring for the title with free skating counting 40 per cent. Miss Heiss is rated the most brilliant free skater in the world.

Carol's previous high margin of victory in the world tournament was 103 last year, but more judges were used then instead of seven as in the case at the Broadmoor Ice Palace here.

The blonde champion had a disappointing performance in her fifth and next-to-last figure, losing it to teammate Barbara Roles of Temple City, Calif., but put on a spectacular finish to more than make up the deficit.

Miss Roles placed fourth with 630.1 points.

Special Meeting Of Little League

A special meeting of the Maryland-West Virginia Little League has been called for Monday at 7 p. m. in the Ridgeley, W. Va., council chambers, Charles Fryer, president of the circuit, said last night.

Managers and representatives of all teams are urged to attend the session of the newly-formed circuit.

Miss. State Won't Play In N.C.A.A.

Ban Expected By College President

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Mississippi State University apparently will not be allowed to compete in the NCAA basketball tournament because of state policy against integrated athletics, United Press International learned Wednesday.

University President Ben Hilbun said he had reached a decision to be announced later, but it obviously was a negative one.

When asked whether he had made a decision, Hilbun said reluctantly "I think so." He said, however, he would not reveal what it was until after State's final game with Mississippi Saturday night.

It was generally agreed that Hilbun had decided not to buck Mississippi's unwritten law against athletic competition between members of different races.

Coach Babe McCarthy, who met with Hilbun, said "no matter what the decision is nothing is to be mentioned either way until after the Saturday night game".

Virginia Upsets Tar Heels 69-68

North Carolina Is Dumped From First

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Virginia's Cavaliers dumped North Carolina from first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Wednesday night, 69-68.

The Tar Heels grabbed an early lead and built it steadily to a 12-point advantage before Virginia's guard Paul Adkins came into the game.

From then on, the Cavaliers chopped away at the lead until they held a 36-34 halftime advantage.

The lead changed hands seven times during the second period. The Tar Heels led, 68-67, with 1:30 left to play when Adkins, on a driving layup shot, scored the winning basket.

Herb Busch and John Siewers led the defensive action and rebounding for Virginia. The win puts the Cavaliers in fifth place in the conference.

Busch also led scoring for the Cavaliers with 20 points followed by Adkins with 19 and John Haner with 11.

Harvey Salz, who scored 17 of his 19 points in the last period to keep Carolina in the game, led scoring for the Tar Heels. He was followed by York Larese with 16 points.

Webb Scores TKO Over Bob Boyd In First

CHICAGO (AP) — Spider Webb, No. 3 ranked middleweight, recovered from a jolting assault to blast a first-round 1:55 technical knockout of Bobby Boyd in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Referee Frank Sikora stopped Webb's onslaught against the seventh-rated Boyd 1 minute and 55 seconds after opening bell.

The nationally televised bout was as furious as it was brief, with Webb recovering from a whistling Boyd left hook which staggered him in the opening seconds.

Just when it seemed Boyd was measuring Webb for the kill, the Spider exploded a rousing two-fisted attack of his own.

A series of two powerful rights to the jaw sent Boyd down for a nine-count. He staggered to his feet glassy-eyed. Webb followed with steaming lefts and rights to the head. Again Boyd went almost through the ropes from a cruel left-right combination.

Boyd again wobbled to his feet at the count of nine. Referee Sikora signaled for the fighters to resume, took another look at Boyd's glassy eyes and halted the bout.

Old Germans Cop 17th Win In Succession

Wallop Chaney Five By 143 To 64 Score

The league-leading Old Germans racked up their 17th consecutive victory last night, blasting Chaney's Transportation quint right off the court with a 143-64 pasting at Carver gym.

Two of the Old German cagers tallied 41 points in the 70-goal splurge, one of the highest on record in the six-team City Basketball League. Ed Orndorff and Glen Smith each connected for 20 field goals in the slaughter. Center Don Moran chipped in with 31 tallies for the unbeaten Germans.

High man for the outclassed Chaney's quintet was Colin Detrick with 25 points.

In the second game of the City doubleheader the Loyal Order of Moose five edged the Old Exports, 66-62.

Trailing 40-38 at intermission the Moose rallied in the third quarter when Ronnie Cage's goal put them ahead, 42-41, a lead the victors held the remainder of the game.

Bill Kirk fouled out with 7:25 remaining in the fourth period leaving the Old Exports with only four players the rest of the contest. The losers rallied to pull within two points at 64-62 when the Moose froze the ball during the final three minutes. A layup by Don Lilya with 40 seconds left iced the contest for the Moose.

Training Briefs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — General manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians visited the New York Yankees' training camp in search of an infielder Wednesday but got the run-around from manager Casey Stengel.

Stengel first hid in the outfield and then in the clubhouse while Lane stood at the Yankee batting cage and told how he was looking for a third baseman. It is known that he wants Andy Carey or Jerry Lumpe of the Yankees.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Barry Latman, a rookie righthander manager Al Lopez is counting on as a starting pitcher, reported to the Chicago White Sox Wednesday in even better condition than other players who had a three-day jump on him in training.

Latman, who didn't agree to terms until Tuesday, has been working out at the University of California. He checked in at 213 pounds, exactly the same figure he scaled last fall.

PHOENIX (UPI) — First baseman Orlando Cepeda, National League's 1958 Rookie of the Year, is scheduled to arrive here Thursday night from Puerto Rico.

Cepeda hit .368 to lead the Puerto Rico winter league after whacking .312 for the Giants with 25 home runs and 96 rbi's. He recently signed for approximately $17,000.

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Infielder Billy Gardner and outfielder Lennie Green agreed to terms Wednesday leaving only four members of the Baltimore Orioles unsigned.

Gardner, who hit .225 last season compared to .262 in 1957, is believed to have accepted a $1,000 cut which would make his new salary about $14,000. Green, who hit .265 for Rochester and .231 in 68 games with Baltimore, probably signed for $8,000.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Coaches Charlie Dressen and Joe Becker were in charge of the Los Angeles Dodgers' training camp Wednesday while manager Walt Alston was called to New York as a court witness.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics will open full drills here at Connie Mack Field Thursday but apparently without their slugging outfielder, Bob Cerv.

Cerv, who hit 38 homers and drove in 104 runs while batting .305 for the A's last year, is locked in a salary dispute with general manage Parke Carroll. It is believed Cerv is asking for around $30,000 and that the Athletics would like him to settle for about $7,000 less. Cerv says he will remain at his Kansas City home until the A's come up with the right offer.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Del Ennis, long-ball-hitting outfielder, agreed to 1959 terms Wednesday in a 20-minute telephone conversation with general manager Gabe Paul, completing the Cincinnati Reds' roster for the coming season.

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — Manager Bob Scheffing, a firm believer in plenty of batting practice in spring training, gave his Chicago Cubs three full rounds of it Wednesday.

Johnny Goryl, fresh from the Cuban winter league, hit four drives out of the park.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) —Norm Zauchin, regular first baseman, agreed to contract terms Wednesday, slicing the Washington Senators' holdout list to eight men. Zauchin reportedly took a slight cut in salary.

Ron Samford, the man the Senators are counting on as their regular shortstop, worked out for the first time Wednesday. Samford came from Detroit along wiht Reno Bertoia and Jim Delsing in the deal which sent Eddie Yost, Rocky Bridges and Neil Chrisley to the Tigers.

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves reduced their list of unsigned players to six Wednesday when pitcher Juan Pizarro agreed to terms in time to work out with the other batterymen.

Still unsigned were pitchers Don McMahon and Gene Conley, catcher Del Rice, first baseman Joe Adcock and infielders Felix Mantilla and Casey Wise.

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) —Outfielder Tito Francona signed his contract with the Detroit Tigers Wednesday, leaving only outfielders Charley Maxwell and Gus Zernial dissatisfied with the club's offers. Both are fighting pay cuts.

Living Stone Wins Game In Overtime

Grace Baptist Church cagers scored their 13th victory of the season last night in the Sunday School Basketball League with a 46-43 triumph over Central Methodist on the Central YMCA court.

The win solidified Grace Baptist's hold on third place in the National Division as fourth place First Baptist also registered a triumph with a 44-19 verdict over Old Furnace.

In a third game played on the Y court last night the Living Stone Church of the Brethren edged past Salvation Army Citadel quintet, 26-24, in overtime to break a deadlock between the two teams for last place in the division.

Grace Baptist trailed throughout the first half before spurting to catch Central Methodist in the third stanza, 31-28, and then went on to rack up the win for Coach Frank Trozzo. Shook paced the victors with 18 points while Often tallied 16 in a losing cause for Central.

Living Stone scored in an overtime period after battling the Citadel quint to a 24-24 deadlock in regulation time to capture its second win of the season. The victory pushed the Salvation Army team (1-15) further in the cellar.

St. Michael's Seeks Win And League Title Today

SS. Peter-Paul Win Would Tie Up Race

The second half race of the Catholic Youth Basketball League draws to a close tonight and the big battle of the evening will be the fifth meeting of St. Michael's of Frostburg and SS. Peter & Paul at 8 o'clock on the Fayette street court.

SS. Peter & Paul must win this one or Father's Larkin's Mountain City quint will gallop off with the league title.

St. Michael's won the first half by defeating SS. Peter & Paul in a playoff game, 37-35, after the teams had ended the regular schedule with 9-1 records. They had split even prior to that, SS. Peter & Paul winning at home, 40-26 while St. Michael's took the return game on its home court, 32-31.

Leading the second half race with a 9-0 record, St. Michael's comes here tonight with a 15-game winning streak. SS. Peter & Paul (8-1) suffered its only loss of the second half race at the hands of St. Michael's, 31-20, at Frostburg.

If Coach Bob Mattingly's passers can emerge the winner tonight the race will be tied up, thus necessitating a playoff game for second half honors.

In the first game of the twin bill, St. Ambrose will play St. Peter's of Westernport at 6:45.

St. Mary's Gaels will host St. Mary's in the other league game scheduled for tonight on the Oldtown Road court at 7:30.

Aggies, Oldtown Clash Tonight

Battle For Class C Title At Ft. Hill

Flintstone High School's Aggies and the Oldtown High School quint will clash tonight at 8 o'clock at Fort Hill High School gym for the Allegany County Class C diadem.

The playoff meeting between the two teams was necessitated by Oldtown's only win in 19 starts this year, a 46-44 decision over Coach Stony Jackson's Aggies February 18. Flintstone has won five of 12 contests this year.

Clifton Van Roby and Floyd "Pete" Elliott will officiate in tonight's playoff battle for the right to represent Allegany County in the District No. 1 tournament next week in Hagerstown.

Tickets will be sold at the door at game time.

The teams split even during the regular campaign with the Aggies copping the opener, 65-49, before dropping the second contest to Coach Ronald Kellough's tossers.

The winner of the Oldtown-Flintstone clash will qualify for the district tourney next week and will play Hancock in the championship game on Saturday, March 7, at 6:30 p. m.

Terps Whip Georgetown

McNeil Gets 27 In Easy 67-56 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charley McNeil, 6 - foot - 6 sharpshooter, flipped in nine goals and as many free throws tonight as Maryland sauntered to a 67-56 victory over Georgetown.

McNeil and his Terrapin teammates came from behind in the first half and then, with an edge in height, kept the ball well under control to throttle Georgetown's bid for an upset.

Maryland was a distinct favorite after its 68-51 upset of North Carolina last Saturday night that dumped the Tar Heels from first to third in the national rankings.

Georgetown, which had lost 13 of its 21 previous games, opened up with gusto and with Tom Coleman heading the offense spurted to a 10-3 lead in five minutes. The Hoyas were ahead at 14-9 when they collapsed and Maryland started hitting.

For the next 10 minutes Georgetown was unable to pop in a field goal against Maryland's tight man for man defense. In that period, Coleman sank three free throws but Maryland forged ahead and at halftime the Terps were on top at 24-21.

Petty Is Named Stock Car Winner

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Lee Petty Wednesday was declared winner of the 500-mile Stock Car Sweepstakes Sunday. This took the victory away from John Beauchamp, who had been named the winner after the race.

Bill France, president of NASCAR and the Daytona International Speedway, said movies and still pictures showed that Petty won.

The decision means Petty collects $19,000 and Beauchamp $8,000.

Otto Graham Named Coast Guard Coach

Stresses Team Is "Not Big Time"

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Coast Guard Academy Wednesday hired a big name — Otto Graham—as head football coach, but stressed it will not "go big time."

Graham was a great football player between 1943 and 1956, when he decided to retire. He was an All-America back at Northwestern University, All-Service at North Carolina Pre-Flight, and All-Professional with the Cleveland Browns.

This will be his first job as a head coach, although he spent a few weeks last August directing a squad of College All-Stars to victory over the Detroit Lions, 1957 National Football League champs.

Graham, 37, also was named athletic director at the Coast Guard Academy.

An academy official said Graham was "our number one choice, the man we wanted from the start." More than 80 applications were received shortly after Nelson W. Nitchman was dropped last November.

Moorefield Class A Sectional Meet Opens Tonight

Jackets Face Franklin In First Game

Paw Paw, Keyser Tournaments Open On Friday Night

The first of three Class A sectional basketball tournaments in nearby West Virginia begins tonight at Moorefield High School where four of the five teams entered will play opening round contests.

John A. Mathias, principal of Moorefield High School, will be the director for the Section 14-A tourney in which Franklin, Moorefield, Mathias, Circleville and Wardensville will compete in the three-day event which will be concluded Saturday night.

In the opener at 7:30 p. m., Franklin High's Panthers (19-2) coached by Curtis "Gus" Smith will do battle with Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield Yellowjackets, who have won 8 out of 20 games this season. The night cap affair on opening night brings together Mathias (3-18) coached by Hoy Dove, Jr., and Coach Guy Propst's Circleville High Indians (3-17) at 8:30 o'clock.

Coach Charles "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High Warriors (14-6) drew a bye in the opening round and play the Mathias-Circleville winner on Friday night.

Franklin, runner-up for the P.V.C. title this season, holds 59-53 and 61-49 decisions over Moorefield while Circleville split its series with Mathias, losing the opener, 86-83, and winning the second game, 56-43.

John Fox and Larry Patterson will officiate.

Others Open Friday

Friday night the other sectionals are slated to get under way at Potomac State College in Keyser, and Paw Paw High School.

In the section 13-A games at Keyser, Fort Ashby will oppose Piedmont at 7:30 and Ridgeley High's Blackhawks are slated to meet Elk Garden at 8:30. The losers play in the opening game Saturday night at 7:30 while the championship contest is set for 9 o'clock.

Melvin M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley High School, will be the director of the Keyser tourney while the officials will be John Diamond and Floyd "Pete" Elliott.

Thomas Small, principal of Paw Paw High School, will be in charge of the Section 15-A tourney which gets under way tomorrow night at Paw Paw High School.

At 7:30 o'clock, Berkeley Springs will face Capon Bridge and at 8:30 Paw Paw High's Pirates will play the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney. The consolation game is billed for Saturday at 7:30 and will be followed by the championship contest.

Joseph Hartle, Hagerstown, and Joe Stanislawczyk, Keyser, will officiate. Allen Goldstrom will be the official scorer.

Four Winners To Keyser

The winning teams at Keyser, Paw Paw and Moorefield along with the victor in this week's Section 16-A tourney at Shepherdstown will qualify for the Regional tourney set for Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, at Potomac State College where Melvin Heiskell will be the director.

The survivor of the regional advances to a two-team area test and the eight area winners will compete for the West Virginia State Class A championship at Marshall College, Huntington, March 20 and 21. The state Class AAA and Class AA titles also will be decided there.

Schools competing in the 16-A sectional at Shepherdstown this week are Harpers Ferry, Musselman, Page Jackson of Charles Town, Ramer of Martinsburg and Shepherdstown. Hedgesville High is ineligible to compete this year after being put on probation as a result of unruly conduct at the Hedgesville-Aurora game staged a year ago at Keyser.

Class AA Next Week

The Class AA schools of nearby West Virginia will not swing into action until one week from today at Petersburg where Romney, Keyser, Petersburg and Charles Town will battle it out in a two-day sectional event.

In the opening round games Friday, March 6, Charles Town plays Keyser at 7 p.m., and Petersburg tangles with Romney at 8:15. Referees for the tourney will be Clifton Van Roby and "Pete" Elliott.

Martinsburg has graduated into Class AAA this year and is slated to battle Morgantown at Martinsburg High School next weekend.

RIDING HIGH - - - - - By Alan Maver

The Sports Patrol

NEW YORK (UPI) — Where'll they find the players to start a third major league?

There barely are enough top-flighters to stock the two existing leagues among the 650-odd candidates heading into the 16 spring training camps this week if you rate them according to the classic standard—a .300 average for the hitters, 20 victories for the pitchers.

Only nine hitters in each league, led by the incomparable Ted Williams and Stan Musial, are authentic lifetime .300 hitters.

Only 23 pitchers have won 20 or more games a season one or more times, 13 in the American League and 10 in the National.

And three old timers — Williams, Musial and Warren Spahn of the Braves—are so far ahead of their contemporaries their records look like throwbacks to the "dead ball era."

Ted Tops Hitters

Williams, .349, has the highest lifetime batting average among active players. Musial is second with .340. No one else even is close.

Trailing Williams in the American League's lifetime .300 class are Mickey Mantle of the Yankees (.314), Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers (.308), Al Kaline of the Tigers (.308), Billy Goodman of the White Sox (.305), Minnie Minoso of Cleveland (.304), Bob Boyd of Baltimore (.304), Bill Skowron of the Yankees (.304) and Enos Slaughter of the Yankees (.302).

National Leaguers back of Musial are Willie Mays of the Giants (.318), Hank Aaron of the Braves (.316), Richie Ashburn of the Phillies (.315), Duke Snider of the Dodgers (.303), Joe Cunningham of the Cardinals (.303), Ted Kluszewski of the Pirates (.302), Wes Covington of the Braves (.301) and Carl Furillo of the Dodgers (.300).

Among the pitchers, Spahn is the stickout with nine 20-game seasons under his belt. Bob Lemon, on a comeback with Cleveland, has done it seven times and Robin Roberts of the Phillies six.

Night Play Curtails Hitter

Early Wynn of the White Sox (4), Don Newcombe of the Reds (3), Johnny Antonelli of the Giants (2) and Billy Pierce of the White Sox (2) are the only others who have done it more than once.

Times admittedly have changed since the original classic standard was set up.

Night baseball, the passion for home runs, the development of the relief pitching art and the further development of a pitch called the "slider" led most of the experts—Williams included—to insist the day of the .400 hitter was long gone from the game.

Yet, only two years ago, Williams himself came within just five base hits of racking up his second .400 campaign. That year he led the American League with .388 but if, somewhwere along the way, he had picked up five hits instead of the five "outs" he made it would have been .400.

So obviously it's not entirely the "home run" era that's responsible for skidding averages.

But if the averages continue to sink, the .300 hitter may get as "lost" as the .400 hitter today. And if two leagues are short of major talent, where'll they find enough to stock a third?

Mantle Fails To Join Yanks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — For the first time in Mickey Mantle's eight years with the New York Yankees, the slugging outfielder stayed home as the club started training Wednesday.

That made him baseball's No. 1 holdout as other players reported to the New Yorkers' camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mickey says he's sticking by a demand for more money. The Yanks are said to have offered $72,000 for his services this season. He wants $3,000 more than whatever the club proposed to pay him.

Jockey Scores Triple

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Jockey Wayne Chambers scored a triple Wednesday to highlight the Fair Grounds racing program. Chambers began his streak aboard Natural Count ($15.60) in the second, continued with Krazy Karno ($17.00) in the fourth and completed the string on Peeler in the ninth.

Dismisses Case

BROOKLYN (UPI) — A Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice on Wednesday threw out a $100,000 suit brought against the former Brooklyn Dodgers by a field guard who lost the sight in one eye while retrieving a ball. The plaintiff, Irving Wiener, 63, told Supreme Court Justice John E. Cone he was retrieving balls on Aug. 7, 1954, near third base when a batting practice ball hit by Dodger infielder Don Hoak hit him in the left eye.

Deack Duncan Wins Overbrook

Corle Is Aboard Victor At Bowie

BOWIE, Feb. 25 (AP)—In his first win since the Bowie meeting last March, Deack Duncan captured the $4,500 Overbrook Purse today, paying $14.20.

Last year the 4-year-old gelded son of High Bandit scored an upset victory at Bowie in the $30,000 Governor's Gold Cup, but was unable to win at any other track.

On his favorite strip again today, the John S. Kelly color bearer had little trouble turning back the late challenge of Satan Helper in the seven furlong test.

Agha Alibhai, 3-2 favorite with the crowd of 9,541 fans, could do no better than third, two and a half lengths behind Satan Helper.

Apprentice Bob Corle, the meeting's leading rider, was astride Deack Duncan for his 20th tally of the meeting.

Chasmar Flash and Introduction finished one-two in the fifth, a test for maiden 3-year-olds.

The daily double was worth $262 with Mans Reward, $11.80, and Fleet Pep $19, scoring in the first and second races.

Moorefield Class A Sectional Meet Opens Tonight

Jackets Face Franklin In First Game

Paw Paw, Keyser Tournaments Open On Friday Night

The first of three Class A sectional basketball tournaments in nearby West Virginia begins tonight at Moorefield High School where four of the five teams entered will play opening round contests.

John A. Mathias, principal of Moorefield High School, will be the director for the Section 14-A tourney in which Franklin, Moorefield, Mathias, Circleville and Wardensville will compete in the three-day event which will be concluded Saturday night.

In the opener at 7:30 p. m., Franklin High's Panthers (19-2) coached by Curtis "Gus" Smith will do battle with Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield Yellowjackets, who have won 8 out of 20 games this season. The night cap affair on opening night brings together Mathias (3-18) coached by Hoy Dove, Jr., and Coach Guy Propst's Circleville High Indians (3-17) at 8:30 o'clock.

Coach Charles "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High Warriors (14-6) drew a bye in the opening round and play the Mathias-Circleville winner on Friday night.

Franklin, runner-up for the P.V.C. title this season, holds 59-53 and 61-49 decisions over Moorefield while Circleville split its series with Mathias, losing the opener, 86-83, and winning the second game, 56-43.

John Fox and Larry Patterson will officiate.

Others Open Friday

Friday night the other sectionals are slated to get under way at Potomac State College in Keyser, and Paw Paw High School.

In the section 13-A games at Keyser, Fort Ashby will oppose Piedmont at 7:30 and Ridgeley High's Blackhawks are slated to meet Elk Garden at 8:30. The losers play in the opening game Saturday night at 7:30 while the championship contest is set for 9 o'clock.

Melvin M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley High School, will be the director of the Keyser tourney while the officials will be John Diamond and Floyd "Pete" Elliott.

Thomas Small, principal of Paw Paw High School, will be in charge of the Section 15-A tourney which gets under way tomorrow night at Paw Paw High School.

At 7:30 o'clock, Berkeley Springs will face Capon Bridge and at 8:30 Paw Paw High's Pirates will play the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney. The consolation game is billed for Saturday at 7:30 and will be followed by the championship contest.

Joseph Hartle, Hagerstown, and Joe Stanislawczyk, Keyser, will officiate. Allen Goldstrom will be the official scorer.

Four Winners To Keyser

The winning teams at Keyser, Paw Paw and Moorefield along with the victor in this week's Section 16-A tourney at Shepherdstown will qualify for the Regional tourney set for Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, at Potomac State College where Melvin Heiskell will be the director.

The survivor of the regional advances to a two-team area test and the eight area winners will compete for the West Virginia State Class A championship at Marshall College, Huntington, March 20 and 21. The state Class AAA and Class AA titles also will be decided there.

Schools competing in the 16-A sectional at Shepherdstown this week are Harpers Ferry, Musselman, Page Jackson of Charles Town, Ramer of Martinsburg and Shepherdstown. Hedgesville High is ineligible to compete this year after being put on probation as a result of unruly conduct at the Hedgesville-Aurora game staged a year ago at Keyser.

Class AA Next Week

The Class AA schools of nearby West Virginia will not swing into action until one week from today at Petersburg where Romney, Keyser, Petersburg and Charles Town will battle it out in a two-day sectional event.

In the opening round games Friday, March 6, Charles Town plays Keyser at 7 p.m., and Petersburg tangles with Romney at 8:15. Referees for this tourney will be Clifton Van Roby and "Pete" Elliott.

Martinsburg has graduated into Class AAA this year and is slated to battle Morgantown at Martinsburg High School next weekend.

The Sports Patrol

NEW YORK (UPI) — Where'll they find the players to start a third major league?

There barely are enough top-flighters to stock the two existing leagues among the 650-odd candidates heading into the 16 spring training camps this week if you rate them according to the classic standard—a .300 average for the hitters, 20 victories for the pitchers.

Only nine hitters in each league, led by the incomparable Ted Williams and Stan Musial, are authentic lifetime .300 hitters.

Only 23 pitchers have won 20 or more games a season one or more times, 13 in the American League and 10 in the National.

And three old timers — Williams, Musial and Warren Spahn of the Braves—are so far ahead of their contemporaries their records look like throwbacks to the "dead ball era."

Ted Tops Hitters

Williams, .349, has the highest lifetime batting average among active players. Musial is second with .340. No one else even is close.

Trailing Williams in the American League's lifetime .300 class are Mickey Mantle of the Yankees (.314), Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers (.308), Al Kaline of the Tigers (.308), Billy Goodman of the White Sox (.305), Minnie Minoso of Cleveland (.304), Bob Boyd of Baltimore (.304), Bill Skowron of the Yankees (.304) and Enos Slaughter of the Yankees (.302).

National Leaguers back of Musial are Willie Mays of the Giants (.318), Hank Aaron of the Braves (.316), Richie Ashburn of the Phillies (.315), Duke Snider of the Dodgers (.303), Joe Cunningham of the Cardinals (.303), Ted Kluszewski of the Pirates (.302), Wes Covington of the Braves (.301) and Carl Furillo of the Dodgers (.300).

Among the pitchers, Spahn is the stickout with nine 20-game seasons under his belt. Bob Lemon, on a comeback with Cleveland, has done it seven times and Robin Roberts of the Phillies six.

Night Play Curtails Hitter

Early Wynn of the White Sox (4), Don Newcombe of the Reds (3), Johnny Antonelli of the Giants (2) and Billy Pierce of the White Sox (2) are the only others who have done it more than once.

Times admittedly have changed since the original classic standard was set up.

Night baseball, the passion for home runs, the development of the relief pitching art and the further development of a pitch called the "slider" led most of the experts—Williams included—to insist the day of the .400 hitter was long gone from the game.

Yet, only two years ago, Williams himself came within just five base hits of racking up his second .400 campaign. That year he led the American League with .388 but if, somewhwere along the way, he had picked up five hits instead of the five "outs" he made it would have been .400.

So obviously it's not entirely the "home run" era that's responsible for skidding averages.

But if the averages continue to sink, the .300 hitter may get as "lost" as the .400 hitter today. And if two leagues are short of major talent, where'll they find enough to stock a third?

Mantle Fails To Join Yanks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — For the first time in Mickey Mantle's eight years with the New York Yankees, the slugging outfielder stayed home as the club started training Wednesday.

That made him baseball's No. 1 holdout as other players reported to the New Yorkers' camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mickey says he's sticking by a demand for more money. The Yanks are said to have offered $72,000 for his services this season. He wants $3,000 more than whatever the club proposed to pay him.

Jockey Scores Triple

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Jockey Wayne Chambers scored a triple Wednesday to highlight the Fair Grounds racing program. Chambers began his streak aboard Natural Count ($15.60) in the second, continued with Krazy Karno ($17.00) in the fourth and completed the string on Peeler in the ninth.

Dismisses Case

BROOKLYN (UPI) — A Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice on Wednesday threw out a $100,000 suit brought against the former Brooklyn Dodgers by a field guard who lost the sight in one eye while retrieving a ball. The plaintiff, Irving Wiener, 63, told Supreme Court Justice John E. Cone he was retrieving balls on Aug. 7, 1954, near third base when a batting practice ball hit by Dodger infielder Don Hoak hit him in the left eye.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Petite, attractive Christine Carere, with only two pictures, "Mardi Gras" and "A Certain Smile" at 20th, had such strong movie theatre owners response in a recent poll that she has been given the lead in "Love Maniac." Christine, who recently lost her expected baby, will be well enough to travel here in three weeks to talk with director Raoul Walsh and producer Dave Weisbart.

Incidentally, speaking of Raoul, he made many pictures on the 20th lot, but they were all he-man, heavy melodramas. This one is a light comedy utilizing the young players whom headman Buddy Adler is having trained on the lot for bigger and better pictures.

Any day the deal for Harold Mirisch to buy the popular musical, "Westside Story", from Ray Stark will be announced. It's all set but the actual signing.

After Mirisch acquires this popular stage play he will sign Elizabeth Taylor for the starring role.

Mrs. Bregman, "she sang so well with the symphony orchestra and I think it would be nice if she would do more of this sort of thing. She is so talented and lovely."

As for Mrs. Alberghetti, Anna Maria's mother, who has been withholding her approval of the match, I'm betting she'll be present when the wedding bells ring in April.

Lex Barker, once married to Arlene Dahl, Lana Turner, and before Arlene to a socialite, is getting married again, this time to a Swiss girl. He writes from Spain:

"She's young and beautiful, and though there's 19 years difference in our ages, you always said I was young for my age. We'll be married in Switzerland next month."

Lex tells all but the gal's name. Says he's been in Spain since Dec. 10 and has three weeks more to go on his picture, "Mission In Morocco."

She has expressed interest and the chances are ten to one she'll do it.

She was happy as a lark over being named one of the five Academy nominees. She had given up hope of being chosen and it came as a complete surprise.

Afterthoughts on the Academy nominations: I'm delighted two great comedies are in the race, "Auntie Mame" and "Gigi," the latter more aptly termed a musical comedy.

I'm disappointed that Maurice Chevalier, who was such a charmer in "Gigi," isn't among those competing in "best performance by an actor" category. Another surprise is that Dean Martin didn't make it for his fine performance in "Some Came Running."

I believe that Louis Jourdan and Hermione Gingold were done out of recognition in the "best support" groups by being billed as "stars" in "Gigi."

It is a great tribute to Sidney Poitier's compelling portrayal in "The Defiant Ones" that his fellow actors voted for him among the top five—and Poitier achieved this without press agents beating the tom toms for him or any big studio behind him.

The race is on — may the best man win!

There will be no mother-in-law trouble in the Anna Maria Alberghetti-Buddy Bregman marriage on his mother's side! I had a chat with Mrs. Clare Bregman in Palm Springs and she told me that when Anna Maria went East recently for a symphony concert, she went with her.

"I am so proud of Anna," said

LONDON (UPI)—Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes, who survived a plane crash in which 14 other persons were killed, will fly back to Ankara Thursday, the Turkish Embassy announced. Menderes has been in a London clinic since the crash of a Turkish government plane Feb. 17. He was treated for shock but suffered no injuries.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

A Matter Of Economics

Costs are becoming an awful problem on television. Gads, I remember way back when the Milton Berle Show — the whole hour, including musicians, writers, chorus girls, guest stars, and Berle—came to $17,000 a week. Today you can hardly get the dog act for that. Today you can hardly get anything for $17,000 except prolonged commercials on daytime television.

Sure, television is graced by an occasional "Hamlet" or "For Whom the Bell Tolls." But increasingly, the specials and even the regulars like "Playhouse 90" are falling behind their budgets. Television more and more is in an era of deficit financing like government. Sometimes the deficits are fairly formidable, too. Eventually, they will be downright frightening.

Already "See It Now" has vanished, mostly though not solely because it was too expensive. The other serious operations on television—most of them anyway—are sustained by deficit financing that cannot go on forever. However, even apart from the shows that have disappeared altogether, like "See It Now," the rising problem of cost has cut the quality of television in less spectacular ways.

Already, a good many writers, including several who started in television, said they won't write for TV because TV can't afford them. That applies also to actors. To get a cast like that in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" you have to go way over your budget. If the best writers are unobtainable you must take lesser writers and get a lesser script.

All of which leads me to ask the question aloud that I have been asking myself for a long time: Can the advertisers afford television much longer? Or, to put it another way, can it afford good television, which is what we are primarily concerned with here? Sure, the advertiser can afford to turn on the network and fill it almost uninterruptedly with commercials, as is now being done on daytime television. Or, it could fill the night time air with garbage—Westerns and parlor games.

But is this enough? It's not enough for me. I am increasingly in favor of pay television, because I think it is the only solution to the interesting problems. I have never been naive enough to suppose that pay TV would automatically open the flood gates to operas, symphonies, and really worthwhile things. Let's not delude ourselves with great expectations. There will be plenty of junk on pay TV, too.

But at least there will be plenty of money to put on decent dramas. Actors we got; writers we got; directors we got; and the creative energy of this country is at white heat. All we haven't got is money, at least on television we haven't. I would dearly love to see a top producer like Fred Coe given enough money to pull together all the elements he needs in writing and acting and then thrown into competition with the junk merchants at the box office. If it were a question of paying a quarter to see a "Playhouse 90" (or a top drawer two hour live drama), as against paying a quarter to see "I've Got a Secret," who do you suppose would win? And, you can't argue with the cash register. Ratings, I'm convinced, are hogwash, but you can't dismiss the cash register that lightly.

Television should be restored to the hands of the showmen instead of the advertisers. Again, this is not necessarily Nirvana. There have been some awfully shoddy, sensational, cheapack showmen. But at least the aim of any showman is to entertain, not simply to sell goods. Just the absence of commercials would add so much to some shows. Already good directors are driven out of their wits by inserting underarm deodorant advertisements in the middle of tender, dramatic scenes. When the under-arm commercials become the price of survival, then your serious writer and director leaves the medium altogether.

Why not pay TV? Well the chief cry against it is that it is un-American. Free broadcasting is the American tradition. But is any television really free? They add the cost of "As the World Turns" to the soap chips. And I don't even like "As the World Turns." I'm forced to pay for a program I don't want—and so are you. This isn't free TV; this is pay TV, and you don't have any control over what you're paying for.

I don't think sponsored television will disappear altogether, either. If you wanted to play "Concentration" or to watch Dick Clark's teen-agers dancing to rock 'n' roll music, or to see "Secret Storm," it would have to be on free television because no one in his right mind would pay to see those things.

I'm convinced that even quite popular shows on free TV would never make the switch to pay TV because people have a different set of values when they pay to see something. A concert by the Philharmonic would not attract an audience big enough to interest Proctor & Gamble, but it would sure attract a big enough one to interest Sol Hurok, whereas no one would pay ten cents to see "Name That Tune"—The rating notwithstanding.

Besides, all the arguments are going to pale eventually before the single over-riding argument of economics. If costs continue to mount, the advertisers won't be able to pay the bills and it will have to be pay TV.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Petite, attractive Christine Carere, with only two pictures, "Mardi Gras" and "A Certain Smile" at 20th, had such strong movie theatre owners response in a recent poll that she has been given the lead in "Love Maniac." Christine, who recently lost her expected baby, will be well enough to travel here in three weeks to talk with director Raoul Walsh and producer Dave Weisbart.

Incidentally, speaking of Raoul, he made many pictures on the 20th lot, but they were all he-man, heavy melodramas. This one is a light comedy utilizing the young players whom headman Buddy Adler is having trained on the lot for bigger and better pictures.

Any day the deal for Harold Mirisch to buy the popular musical, "Westside Story", from Ray Stark will be announced. It's all set but the actual signing.

After Mirisch acquires this popular stage play he will sign Elizabeth Taylor for the starring role.

She has expressed interest and the chances are ten to one she'll do it.

She was happy as a lark over being named one of the five Academy nominees. She had given up hope of being chosen and it came as a complete surprise.

Afterthoughts on the Academy nominations: I'm delighted two great comedies are in the race, "Auntie Mame" and "Gigi," the latter more aptly termed a musical comedy.

I'm disappointed that Maurice Chevalier, who was such a charmer in "Gigi," isn't among those competing in "best performance by an actor" category. Another surprise is that Dean Martin didn't make it for his fine performance in "Some Came Running."

I believe that Louis Jourdan and Hermione Gingold were done out of recognition in the "best support" groups by being billed as "stars" in "Gigi."

It is a great tribute to Sidney Poitier's compelling portrayal in "The Defiant Ones" that his fellow actors voted for him among the top five—and Poitier achieved this without press agents beating the tom toms for him or any big studio behind him.

The race is on — may the best man win!

There will be no mother-in-law trouble in the Anna Maria Alberghetti-Buddy Bregman marriage on his mother's side! I had a chat with Mrs. Clare Bregman in Palm Springs and she told me that when Anna Maria went East recently for a symphony concert, she went with her.

"I am so proud of Anna," said Mrs. Bregman, "she sang so well with the symphony orchestra and I think it would be nice if she would do more of this sort of thing. She is so talented and lovely."

As for Mrs. Alberghetti, Anna Maria's mother, who has been withholding her approval of the match, I'm betting she'll be present when the wedding bells ring in April.

Lex Barker, once married to Arlene Dahl, Lana Turner, and before Arlene to a socialite, is getting married again, this time to a Swiss girl. He writes from Spain:

"She's young and beautiful, and though there's 19 years difference in our ages, you always said I was young for my age. We'll be married in Switzerland next month."

Lex tells all but the gal's name. Says he's been in Spain since Dec. 10 and has three weeks more to go on his picture, "Mission In Morocco."

Sure, television is graced by an occasional "Hamlet" or "For Whom the Bell Tolls." But increasingly, the specials and even the regulars like "Playhouse 90" are falling behind their budgets. Television more and more is in an era of deficit financing like government. Sometimes the deficits are fairly formidable, too. Eventually, they will be downright frightening.

Already "See It Now" has vanished, mostly though not solely because it was too expensive. The other serious operations on television—most of them anyway—are sustained by deficit financing that cannot go on forever. However, even apart from the shows that have disappeared altogether, like "See It Now," the rising problem of cost has cut the quality of television in less spectacular ways.

Already, a good many writers, including several who started in television, said they won't write for TV because TV can't afford them. That applies also to actors. To get a cast like that in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" you have to go way over your budget. If the best writers are unobtainable you must take lesser writers and get a lesser script.

All of which leads me to ask the question aloud that I have been asking myself for a long time: Can the advertisers afford television much longer? Or, to put it another way, can it afford good television, which is what we are primarily concerned with here? Sure, the advertiser can afford to turn on the network and fill it almost uninterruptedly with commercials, as is now being done on daytime television. Or, it could fill the night time air with garbage—Westerns and parlor games.

But is this enough? It's not enough for me. I am increasingly in favor of pay television, because I think it is the only solution to the interesting problems. I have never been naive enough to suppose that pay TV would automatically open the flood gates to operas, symphonies, and really worthwhile things. Let's not delude ourselves with great expectations. There will be plenty of junk on pay TV, too.

But at least there will be plenty of money to put on decent dramas. Actors we got; writers we got; directors we got; and the creative energy of this country is at white heat. All we haven't got is money, at least on television we haven't. I would dearly love to see a top producer like Fred Coe given enough money to pull together all the elements he needs in writing and acting and then thrown into competition with the junk merchants at the box office. If it were a question of paying a quarter to see a "Playhouse 90" (or a top drawer two hour live drama), as against paying a quarter to see "I've Got a Secret," who do you suppose would win? And, you can't argue with the cash register. Ratings, I'm convinced, are hogwash, but you can't dismiss the cash register that lightly.

Television should be restored to the hands of the showmen instead of the advertisers. Again, this is not necessarily Nirvana. There have been some awfully shoddy, sensational, cheapack showmen. But at least the aim of any showman is to entertain, not simply to sell goods. Just the absence of commercials would add so much to some shows. Already good directors are driven out of their wits by inserting underarm deodorant advertisements in the middle of tender, dramatic scenes. When the under-arm commercials become the price of survival, then your serious writer and director leaves the medium altogether.

Why not pay TV? Well the chief cry against it is that it is un-American. Free broadcasting is the American tradition. But is any television really free? They add the cost of "As the World Turns" to the soap chips. And I don't even like "As the World Turns." I'm forced to pay for a program I don't want—and so are you. This isn't free TV: this is pay TV, and you don't have any control over what you're paying for.

I don't think sponsored television will disappear altogether, either. If you wanted to play "Concentration" or to watch Dick Clark's teen-agers dancing to rock 'n' roll music, or to see "Secret Storm," it would have to be on free television because no one in his right mind would pay to see those things.

I'm convinced that even quite popular shows on free TV would never make the switch to pay TV because people have a different set of values when they pay to see something. A concert by the Philharmonic would not attract an audience big enough to interest Proctor & Gamble, but it would sure attract a big enough one to interest Sol Hurok, whereas no one would pay ten cents to see "Name That Tune"—The rating notwithstanding.

Besides, all the arguments are going to pale eventually before the single over-riding argument of economics. If costs continue to mount, the advertisers won't be able to pay the bills and it will have to be pay TV.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Annie O'Donnell, who passed away Feb. 26, 1944.
You left a beautiful memory,
A sorrow too great to be told;
But to one who has loved and lost you
Your memory will never grow old.
Daughter,
RUTH DURKIN.

In beloved memory of our Mother and wife Mary M. Metz, who passed away three years ago today, February 26, 1956.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep green
And never fade away.
Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Annie O'Donnell, who passed away Feb. 26, 1944.
You left a beautiful memory,
A sorrow too great to be told;
But to one who has loved and lost you
Your memory will never grow old.
Daughter,
RUTH DURKIN.

In beloved memory of our Mother and wife Mary M. Metz, who passed away three years ago today, February 26, 1956.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep green
And never fade away.
Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

ENDS ONE-MAN-WAR WITH U.S.—Chicken rancher Stanley Yankus, 39, sits near a copy of the Declaration of Independence at Cassopolis, Mich., after he announced the end of his one-man war with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Yankus has been fined $4,561 in the last four years for raising more wheat than is permitted by Government quotas. He used the wheat to feed his 4,000 chickens. Yankus said that he would sell his farm and move to Australia, to start a new life.

Few In W.Va. Ever Saw State Namesake Ship

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Precious few West Virginians have ever seen the battleship named for the state — and they apparently couldn't care less. The announcement Tuesday by the Navy that the West Virginia and four other battleships would be scrapped caused hardly a stir.

The West Virginia was completed in 1921, less than three years after the end of World War I, and people were still enjoying peace rather than thinking about such a war-making dreadnought.

In fact, West Virginians were so unconcerned about the big ship they wouldn't even give enough money to buy things like silverware, plaques, flags and other equipment traditionally contributed by states for their namesakes of the fleet.

The only contribution made to the ship by the state was in the form of two specially-made silk-en colors — a national ensign and a state flag.

The West Virginia was badly damaged and it sank during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. She was raised and repaired and later saw considerable World War II action in the Pacific.

W.Va. Delegates Dispute Route Of U.S. Road

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A politically - controversial resolution calling on the Road Commission to abandon plans for a "Ravenswood loop" on Interstate 77 between Charleston and Parkersburg was adopted by the Legislature Wednesday.

The House of Delegates adopted it by an 83-17 vote, generally along party lines. Senate approval was given earlier on the same day the measure reached the floor from the Senate Roads Committee which originated it.

House Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio) tried unsuccessfully to have it referred to the Road Committee, then to amend it.

Seibert opposed adoption on grounds that "if we are going to build roads by legislative edict I submit we have destroyed the effect of the Interim Committee study on roads and the legislation resulting from it."

All Republicans but Del. Lakin Ours (Grant) lined up against the measure and all Democrats were for it except J. R. Campbell (Greenbrier) and Dan Dahill and Thomas Godby (both Logan).

At issue is whether the proposed Interstate highway should follow an "east route" near Ripley or swing toward Ravenswood by a "west route." The resolution said the longer west route would cost an additional $9,000,000 and continued:

(The Legislature) declares as a finding of fact that the interests of the people of West Virginia would best be served if the Road Commission abandons its plan to use that route designed "Ripley west" and selects the route designated "Ripley east."

"The Road Commissioner is hereby respectfully requested to act in accordance with this finding and refrain from obligating or expending any public funds on that route designated Ripley west."

Seibert said the resolution should be studied by the House Roads Committee to find if its allegations are true, since millions of dollars are involved. Defeated in that, he offered an amendment to specify that it had not been checked by any House committee.

Majority Leader T. E. Myles argued that the resolution had been considered on its merits by the Rules Committee, while Seibert contended the Rules group looked only at procedural matters, not the merits.

Business Tax May Extend To Individuals

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill to extend the state business and occupation privilege tax to professional persons was approved Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The measure, originally estimated to bring in upwards of $1,500,000 a year, was amended by the committee to apply to any person operating under a state license, such as architects and certain engineers as well as doctors and lawyers.

Another amendment would exclude from the tax any income not earned through the profession, such as stock dividends or rent.

The Finance Committee also reported out a committee substitute for a bill by Senate President Ralph J. Bean to extend the business and occupation tax to all wage-earners on income over $5,000 a year.

It was completely revised by the committee to provide only for extending the surtax under the business and occupation tax to contracting at a rate of three-tenths of 1 per cent of the regular tax. Reference to taxing individuals was eliminated.

Measures approved by other committees included:

Senate Judiciary — A proposed preamble to the state constitution recognizing the existence of the Deity, previously adopted by the House.

House Forestry — A Senate - approved resolution calling for an interim committee study of a proposed Department of Natural Resources, and a bill to provide for establishment of a state park or forest in Marion County.

House Finance — To double to $4 the fee for a driver learner's permit, with the additional $127,000 a year going to the State Police.

This, together with an estimated $40,000 from another bill calling for a fine of $10 for failure of a motorist to promptly turn in a revoked license, would provide a $50-a-month pay raise for state policemen.

Underwood Calls

port any bill to relieve unemployment and plans to co-sponsor and work for approval of Underwood's ERA bill.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean also said he supports the ERA proposal but said the Legislature is doing all it can for roads "within the present tax structure" where Underwood had proposed it stay.

"He is apparently spending too much time in California and other western states making political speeches and failed to recognize that many of the recommendations which he made are being carried out," Bean said.

DISAPPOINTING CANNON

HIDESHEIM, Germany (UPI)—Officers and men of the British First Royal Horse Artillery Regiment stationed here were mighty proud of their "100-year-old" cannon until one of them discovered Wednesday that it had a small obscure inscription which read "made in Essen, Germany, 1956."

REPORT SURPLUS COAL

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—The Soviet Union has its own surplus coal problem, the Ukrainian Pravda disclosed Wednesday. The Communist newspaper reported coal stockpiles in the Don Basin amounted to 18,500,000 tons. Annual output in the area is 164-million tons.

The honeybee moves its wings back and forth more than 400 times a second.

ENDS ONE-MAN-WAR WITH U.S.—Chicken rancher Stanley Yankus, 39, sits near a copy of the Declaration of Independence at Cassopolis, Mich., after he announced the end of his one-man war with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Yankus has been fined $4,561 in the last four years for raising more wheat than is permitted by Government quotas. He used the wheat to feed his 4,000 chickens. Yankus said that he would sell his farm and move to Australia, to start a new life.

Few In W.Va. Ever Saw State Namesake Ship

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Precious few West Virginians have ever seen the battleship named for the state — and they apparently couldn't care less. The announcement Tuesday by the Navy that the West Virginia and four other battleships would be scrapped caused hardly a stir.

The West Virginia was completed in 1921, less than three years after the end of World War I, and people were still enjoying peace rather than thinking about such a war-making dreadnought.

In fact, West Virginians were so unconcerned about the big ship they wouldn't even give enough money to buy things like silverware, plaques, flags and other equipment traditionally contributed by states for their namesakes of the fleet.

The only contribution made to the ship by the state was in the form of two specially-made silken colors — a national ensign and a state flag.

The West Virginia was badly damaged and it sank during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. She was raised and repaired and later saw considerable World War II action in the Pacific.

Business Tax May Extend To Individuals

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill to extend the state business and occupation privilege tax to professional persons was approved Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The measure, originally estimated to bring in upwards of $1,500,000 a year, was amended by the committee to apply to any person operating under a state license, such as architects and certain engineers as well as doctors and lawyers.

Another amendment would exclude from the tax any income not earned through the profession, such as stock dividends or rent.

The Finance Committee also reported out a committee substitute for a bill by Senate President Ralph J. Bean to extend the business and occupation tax to all wage-earners on income over $5,000 a year.

It was completely revised by the committee to provide only for extending the surtax under the business and occupation tax to contracting at a rate of three-tenths of 1 per cent of the regular tax. Reference to taxing individuals was eliminated.

Measures approved by other committees included:

Senate Judiciary — A proposed preamble to the state constitution recognizing the existence of the Deity, previously adopted by the House.

House Forestry — A Senate-approved resolution calling for an interim committee study of a proposed Department of Natural Resources, and a bill to provide for establishment of a state park or forest in Marion County.

House Finance — To double to $4 the fee for a driver learner's permit, with the additional $127,000 a year going to the State Police.

This, together with an estimated $40,000 from another bill calling for a fine of $10 for failure of a motorist to promptly turn in a revoked license, would provide a $50-a-month pay raise for state policemen.

W. Va. Delegates Dispute Route Of U.S. Road

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A politically-controversial resolution calling on the Road Commission to abandon plans for a "Ravenswood loop" on Interstate 77 between Charleston and Parkersburg was adopted by the Legislature Wednesday.

The House of Delegates adopted it by an 83-17 vote, generally along party lines. Senate approval was given earlier on the same day the measure reached the floor from the Senate Roads Committee which originated it.

House Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio) tried unsuccessfully to have it referred to the Road Committee, then to amend it.

Seibert opposed adoption on grounds that "if we are going to build roads by legislative edict I submit we have destroyed the effect of the Interim Committee study on roads and the legislation resulting from it."

All Republicans but Del. Lakin Ours (Grant) lined up against the measure and all Democrats were for it except J. R. Campbell (Greenbrier) and Dan Dahill and Thomas Godby (both Logan).

At issue is whether the proposed Interstate highway should follow an "east route" near Ripley or swing toward Ravenswood by a "west route." The resolution said the longer west route would cost an additional $9,000,000 and continued:

"The Road Commissioner is hereby respectfully requested to act in accordance with this finding and refrain from obligating or expending any public funds on that route designated Ripley west."

Seibert said the resolution should be studied by the House Roads Committee to find if its allegations are true, since millions of dollars are involved. Defeated in that, he offered an amendment to specify that it had not been checked by any House committee.

Majority Leader T. E. Myles argued that the resolution had been considered on its merits by the Rules Committee, while Seibert contended the Rules group looked only at procedural matters, not the merits.

DISAPPOINTING CANNON

HIDESHEIM, Germany (UPI)—Officers and men of the British First Royal Horse Artillery Regiment stationed here were mighty proud of their "100-year-old" cannon until one of them discovered Wednesday that it had a small obscure inscription which read "made in Essen, Germany, 1956."

REPORT SURPLUS COAL

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—The Soviet Union has its own surplus coal problem, the Ukrainian Pravda disclosed Wednesday. The Communist newspaper reported coal stockpiles in the Don Basin amounted to 18,500,000 tons. Annual output in the area is 164-million tons.

The honeybee moves its wings back and forth more than 400 times a second.

Underwood Calls

port any bill to relieve unemployment and plans to co-sponsor and work for approval of Underwood's ERA bill.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean also said he supports the ERA proposal but said the Legislature is doing all it can for roads "within the present tax structure" where Underwood had proposed it stay.

"He is apparently spending too much time in California and other western states making political speeches and failed to recognize that many of the recommendations which he made are being carried out," Bean said.

Stocks With "Atom" Link Climb In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks identified with things atomic were marked up sharply in a generally irregular, moderately active market.

Getting a lift from indications of expanded budgets for research, stocks in this field soared gains ranging past 5 points in the recently favored Thiokol Chemical, a jet fuel maker. General Tire, parent of Aerojet General, General Controls, Emerson Electric, Raytheon, Litton Industries, Union Carbide, rose 2 to more than 3 points.

Another standout on the upside, Zenith Radio ran up 14 points to 215. Pfizer gained more than 4 in the drugs. Arvin Industries soared nearly 2 on a stock dividend. There were gains of 4½ in Philadelphia & Reading, 2½ Scott Paper, 2¼ Brunswick-Balke-Collender, a point in American Telephone.

American Telephone, however, was one of very few issues to gain among those used in compiling the averages. Goodyear rose a point and Union Carbide nearly 2, but other industrials generally showed losses, bringing a drop of 1.73 to 601.18 in the Dow-Jones industrial average.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT.	Pass	2 NT.
Pass	3 NT.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♦.

A stiff upper lip is an essential part of the equipment of any good declarer.

The slightest tendency by South to be crestfallen today might have alerted the defense to the drastic measures required to defeat the contract.

The bidding was right out of the book, and against the final three no trump contract West opened the seven of diamonds and declarer observed that he had no reasonable play for his contract. Even if he could bring in the entire heart suit it would still be necessary to run three spade tricks without surrendering the lead—an unlikely prospect. Since one of the adversaries had to have at least five diamonds, it appeared that the hand could be won only by resort to the "confidence game."

If West had led from a holding containing the ace of diamonds, South saw that he had a remote chance to steal the contract. He put up the queen in dummy and promptly led a low club, finessing the nine. West was in with the king and was faced with a difficult problem in defense. Though East had played the nine of diamonds, obviously a very high card, at trick one, West could not read that declarer's king was now bare. West realized that his partner held the pack, but South's original holding might easily have been K-3-2.

So he decided on a neutral defense by getting out with a club, hoping that partner eventually could get in to come through declarer's king of diamonds. South took East's queen of clubs with his ace and ran for cover with nine tricks—four clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and two spades.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed the day steady and firm on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ¾ cent; corn (old) up ⅝ cent; (new) up ½ to ⅞ cent; oats off ⅝ to up 1⅛ cents; rye up 1 to off ⅛ cent; soybeans up ⅛ to 1 cent.

Business was irregular throughout the session, but rallying tendencies edged most grains higher.

There was good commission house buying on May wheat, resulting in an advance of ⅝ cent. Locals also wanted March, pushed it to the $2 mark, and contributed to May's advance. Reports of government awards for domestic flour and hopes of increased export interests tended to firm nearby contracts. July, September and December deliveries remained about steady. Trade was slow in cash trade, and no sales were reported.

Corn showed strength when local shorts covered the March delivery at $1.15 a bushel. Old March picked up ⅝ cent and the new took ½. May, July and September rose about ⅝ cent apiece. Northwest brokers wanted the March, while commission house demand centered in the May. All subsidy bids offered Wednesday were rejected.

July oats gained 1⅛ cents. Cash houses changed throughout the session between March and May hedges. Trade, however, was quiet and business took its cue from the leaders.

In rye, the May delivery gained a cent, while others remained about steady. Realizing selling was noted in the March and July contracts.

Vigorous upturns in oil and meal prices pushed soybean positions into firm ranges. July beans advanced a full cent, and the May ⅝.

Grains at outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Stocks With "Atom" Link Climb In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks identified with things atomic were marked up sharply in a generally irregular, moderately active market.

Getting a lift from indications of expanded budgets for research, stocks in this field soared gains ranging past 5 points in the recently favored Thiokol Chemical, a jet fuel maker. General Tire, parent of Aerojet General, General Controls, Emerson Electric, Raytheon, Litton Industries, Union Carbide, rose 2 to more than 3 points.

Another standout on the upside, Zenith Radio ran up 14 points to 215. Pfizer gained more than 4 in the drugs. Arvin Industries soared nearly 2 on a stock dividend. There were gains of 4½ in Philadelphia & Reading, 2½ Scott Paper, 2¼ Brunswick-Balke-Collender, a point in American Telephone.

American Telephone, however, was one of very few issues to gain among those used in compiling the averages. Goodyear rose a point and Union Carbide nearly 2, but other industrials generally showed losses, bringing a drop of 1.73 to 601.18 in the Dow-Jones industrial average.

Opening lead: Seven of ♦.

A stiff upper lip is an essential part of the equipment of any good declarer.

The slightest tendency by South to be crestfallen today might have alerted the defense to the drastic measures required to defeat the contract.

The bidding was right out of the book, and against the final three no trump contract West opened the seven of diamonds and declarer observed that he had no reasonable play for his contract. Even if he could bring in the entire heart suit it would still be necessary to run three spade tricks without surrendering the lead—an unlikely prospect. Since one of the adversaries had to have at least five diamonds, it appeared that the hand could be won only by resort to the "confidence game."

If West had led from a holding containing the ace of diamonds, South saw that he had a remote chance to steal the contract. He put up the queen in dummy and promptly led a low club, finessing the nine. West was in with the king and was faced with a difficult problem in defense. Though East had played the nine of diamonds, obviously a very high card, at trick one. West could not read that declarer's king was now bare. West realized that his partner held the pack, but South's original holding might easily have been K-3-2.

So he decided on a neutral defense by getting out with a club, hoping that partner eventually could get in to come through declarer's king of diamonds. South took East's queen of clubs with his ace and ran for cover with nine tricks—four clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and two spades.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed the day steady and firm on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ¾ cent; corn (old) up ⅝ cent; (new) up ½ to ⅝ cent; oats off ⅝ to up 1⅛ cents; rye up 1 to off ⅛ cent; soybeans up ⅛ to 1 cent.

Business was irregular throughout the session, but rallying tendencies edged most grains higher.

There was good commission house buying on May wheat, resulting in an advance of ¾ cent. Locals also wanted March, pushed it to the 82 mark, and contributed to May's advance. Reports of government awards for domestic flour and hopes of increased export interests tended to firm nearby contracts. July, September and December deliveries remained about steady. Trade was slow in cash trade, and no sales were reported.

Corn showed strength when local shorts covered the March delivery at $1.15 a bushel. Old March picked up ⅝ cent and the new took ½. May, July and September rose about ⅝ cent apiece. Northwest brokers wanted the March, while commission house demand centered in the May. All subsidy bids offered Wednesday were rejected.

July oats gained 1⅛ cents. Cash houses changed throughout the session between March and May hedges. Trade, however, was quiet and business took its cue from the leaders.

In rye, the May delivery gained a cent, while others remained about steady. Realizing selling was noted in the March and July contracts.

Vigorous upturns in oil and meal prices pushed soybean positions into firm ranges. July beans advanced a full cent, and the May ⅝.

Grains at outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Bill To Aid Oldtown Fire Unit Enacted

Chapel Hill Co. Contribution Stopped

A bill directing the County Commissioners to pay $838.40 toward the support of the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Department was adopted Tuesday night after the Senate concurred in amendments made in the House.

The measure, Senate Bill 223, was sponsored by State Senator Charles M. See.

The bill was amended by the Allegany County Delegation to delete a $150 contribution to the Chapel Hill Hose Company, a social group.

Senator See said Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the amendment was made in response to a suggestion that the Chapel Hill contribution be cut out, as it is no longer in existence.

The organization went out, Senator See said, when Nelson W. Russler died.

The legislators made no change in the $150 contribution to the Cumberland Hose Company, whose former quarters are used by the Cumberland Auxiliary Police unit.

Seek Fire Area

Deletion of the Chapel Hill contribution brings the total the county is directed to pay the several volunteer fire companies to $22,813.40.

Two other fire company bills may be acted on during the current session of the Assembly.

The first is a bill to create a special taxing area for fire protection in election districts served by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and to allow a tax of not more than 10 cents on each $100 assessed valuation of property to finance the company.

The proposal would be put up to the voters in the districts in a referendum 90 days after June 1, when the bill would become effective.

The Allegany County Delegation, which is sponsoring the bill, has received endorsements.

Francis Fatkin, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association, wrote he had contacted 10 companies and all approved.

It was endorsed by the LaVale Civic Association in a letter from Lloyd Buchanan, president, according to Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Delegation.

City Wants Aid

The other bill is one sent down by the City of Cumberland to the Allegany County Delegation, requesting that the county contribute toward the support of the Cumberland Fire Department a sum equal to aid to volunteer fire companies.

The plan was placed in the hands of the Allegany County Delegation Monday after city and county officials disagreed, and City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the "delegation must take a stand."

So far as is known, the bill has not been introduced.

State Senator Charles M. See said last night he "will not legislatively referee differences between the City of Cumberland and the County Commissioners."

Convinced

Seabee Donald L. Hartsock of Bedford Valley and his mother both are convinced of the value of the Red Cross blood program. Blood transfusions helped save Seabee Hartsock's life after he was sucked into a drainpipe while swimming on Kwajalein. He is now well on the road to recovery after a long and desperate battle for his life.

Sailor Thanks Red Cross For Its Life-Saving Help

It was 5:30 on the afternoon of a warm, tropical day. The 19-year-old Seabee, Donald L. Hartsock, CECP, U. S. Navy, had finished his day's work as a construction electrician. Two companions watched as he hooked his toes over the edge of the swimming pool on the island of Kwajalein and prepared to dive.

Fifteen years ago this tiny island of the Marshall group had been retaken from the Japanese in bloody fighting. Now, palms swayed peacefully over the sparkling rectangle of cement, and the fresh blue waters, contrasting with the green of the South Pacific out across the beaches, were like the waters of Lake Koon back near Donald's home, 8,000 miles away, surrounded by the green of the Pennsylvania hills.

It was a day of peace and relaxation. And Seabee Donald Hartsock dived deep—to the very bottom of the 11-foot pool. And then time stopped. And the day was turned to horror.

Suddenly, as he glided over the bottom of the pool in a lazy crawl, the great maw of a 20-inch drain pipe—looking for all the world like the gaping mouth of an underwater monster—sucked his body down into its gullet while tons of water rammed into his back, literally driving his body in a reverse jack-knife into the jaws of death.

Trapped Underwater

Pain seared the boy's body and brain. The blood vessels in his abdomen burst under the powerful suction, his liver ruptured; his lungs screamed for oxygen, his mind became a red flare. And then there was that terrible moment of realization that someone had opened the drain line without posting notice.

In the next moment, the first of many miracles occurred. Donald's body was so tightly wedged into the hole that the suction eased. His instinct for survival sensed the relaxation of the pull, and with all his might, Donald Hartsock struggled backward against the pressure of the water above.

How, he will never know, but the struggle dislodged his body and forced it backward far enough so that it was not caught by the re-surge of water into the monstrous mouth. He will never know how he made it back to the surface and to the edge of the pool where his two buddies dragged his pain-ridden body from the water.

His blood vessels and liver were repaired on Kwajalein. Then he was flown to Tripler Hospital in Hawaii, 2,100 miles away, where he was given food, but his body could not retain it.

There were complications. There was a blood clot so big in the aorta, the great artery that comes out of the heart, that it pressed against his intestine and prevented the passage of food.

Now he was flown to Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland, where an operation was to be performed to remove the blood clot. But another miracle had taken place—the blood clot had dissolved itself.

Meantime, from December 15, when the accident occurred, until the end of January, Donald was fed through tubes inserted directly into his intestine. All of the miracles of modern medicine were being brought to bear to keep him alive—to get him back to the green Bedford Valley, 16 miles from Cumberland.

The Miracle of Blood

The "miracle of blood" also came into play during his ordeal. He had five, six, seven . . . he lost count of the number of pints he received. But, knowing the value of blood, the youth urges blood donors of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and of the Piedmont-Westernport area, who are asked to give blood next Monday and Tuesday when the Johnstown Bloodmobile unit visits this area.

Better Health Work Sought, Graef Tells CUF

William C. Walsh Is Named President

"Communities are no longer interested in wooing health agencies into their United Funds," Edward V. Graef, executive director of the Health Research and Services Foundation of Allegheny County, Pa., told assembled volunteer workers of County United Fund at their annual meeting and election of officers at the Cumberland Country Club last night.

The dean of Western Maryland fundraisers, William C. Walsh, former circuit court and court of appeals judge and attorney general of Maryland, who maintains law offices in Cumberland and Baltimore and is prominent in local, state and national bar associations, was elected president of the big givers' organization in which he has played a leading role since its founding.

A complete slate of officers, board members and executive committee members was elected at the meeting, which was presided over by Lewis J. Ort, first-year campaign chairman and second-year president of CUF.

Drive Nets $316,807

The invocation was delivered by Salvation Army Captain Daniel K. Biggs, 1959 CUF campaign chairman, who later reported on the recent drive that netted $316,807 for the support of 32 affiliated CUF agencies in Allegany and Mineral counties.

A. Trago Brust Jr., secretary, read the minutes of the last CUF meeting; Earl K. Hess, treasurer, gave a financial report for the year, and Robert G. Garner, chairman, gave the 1959 nominating committee report.

Mr. Graef, who helped to organize the first local health foundation in the United States while serving as United Fund executive director in Durham, N. C., was introduced by Mr. Ort.

"United Funds are now moving in a new direction," he declared. "As far as health agencies are concerned, United Funds are interested in developing a better product—one that will do a much better job in the field of medical research; a far superior job in the field of health education; a much finer job of providing medical services to people who need those services."

The speaker traced the history of United Funds from their origin in Detroit in 1948, where business men and labor leaders became annoyed at the number of fund campaigns conducted in their plants, and where the Ford Motor Company discovered it was costing $40,000 in lost time and production each time a fund campaign took place in Ford installations.

Cites Confusion

"Business, labor and other community leaders then asked themselves, 'Why can't this situation be corrected?'," Mr. Graef said, "just as they are now asking themselves, 'Why do we need a separate health agency for every disease?' "

He declared that "in the beginning, the national health agencies gave hope to the business and labor leaders who organized United Funds. The American Heart Association joined in some four or five hundred campaigns. The American Cancer Society joined in some three or four hundred campaigns. Tuberculosis joined. Crippled Children joined.

"Then," he continued, "confusion developed. National policies restrained local health groups from accepting money from United Funds in some places, while in others they were permitted to participate. And finally, although United Funds included 'cause' money for health agencies in their successful campaigns year after year, the time arrived when nearly all of the health agencies refused to accept the money."

Mr. Graef then traced the studies made by various communities of the operations of health agencies, "most of which," he declared, "can render very little

Seventh Grader Is Best Speller In Junior High

A seventh grade pupil of Allegany High School yesterday morning was adjudged the top speller in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades of that school.

She is Judy Dickerhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dickerhoof, 1217 Frederick Street. Judy was presented a gold medal, on the back of which was inscribed "AHS 1959 Junior High winner."

Mrs. Mary Hinze, English instructor who was the word caller, said yesterday's contest was the first such spelling bee in about a decade.

Second place winner was Catherine Evans of the ninth grade. Carol Petry, an eighth grade pupil, was third place winner. Each received a silver medal. The medals were presented by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of the school.

Catherine tripped on the word "parliament," and Carol misspelled "suffice." Judges of the contest were Miss Nell Hawkins and Mrs. Flora Lease, reading teachers of the seventh grade.

On February 10 the semi-finals were held, at which time the five top spellers of each grade became eligible for the finals after elimination contests had been held.

Mrs. Robert Mann, eighth grade English instructor, was in charge of yesterday's spelling bee.

Barton Still Seeking Better Water Supply

Town officials of Barton are continuing efforts to secure a better water supply for residents of the community.

Last night some 60 interested persons met with Mayor Arthur Hoffa and councilmen at the American Legion home and discussed the possibilities of getting a more adequate water supply.

Maurice Lamberson, one of the councilmen, spoke on the possibility of bettering the supply by building a secondary dam near the present dam located on Butcher Run about a mile from the corporate limits of the community.

Mayor Hoffa said he and the councilmen have agreed to make an appointment with Rep. John R. Foley. The purpose of the meeting would be to learn about possible federal aid necessary for a survey.

The mayor said he and town officials have been attempting to relieve the situation but the cost of improving the supply will be high.

Some 30 residents of the Dogwood Flat section of Barton last night indicated they would like to become incorporated as part of the community.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of getting the services of a resident physician. The community has been without the services of a doctor for about 10 or 15 years when Dr. Samuel Boucher maintained an office there.

It was pointed out at the meeting that two rooms next to the Post Office are available as office space for a physician. The secretary of the Allegany County Medical Association will be contacted to learn if there is a possibility of getting a doctor at Barton.

At the present time, residents are getting the services of physicians at Lonaconing and the Tri-Towns.

Another matter of business discussed at the town meeting was the plans for a playground for the children.

Among those attending the meeting were Frank Williams, Patrick Gallagher and John Bradley, councilmen; Alex Gross, water commissioner, and Mrs. Margaret Devlin, town clerk.

Viaduct Pump Station Gets Final Inspection

Will Be Turned Over To Cumberland Soon

The last of three pumping stations needed for the Cumberland - Ridgeley flood protection project will be turned over to the City of Cumberland soon.

A final inspection of the structure was made yesterday by the Corps of Engineers, with officials of the City of Cumberland and the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor, as observers.

The City was represented by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and Roy Maphis, assistant maintenance superintendent.

Mr. Nuzum said he was told several minor deficiencies found in the inspection by Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, will be completed today or tomorrow and be followed by a recommendation that the unit be turned over to the city for maintenance.

Pass Running Tests

The inspection was something of a formality, as all of the equipment has been put through its paces in running tests which have been going on for weeks.

The Viaduct pumping station was completed by the Albrecht firm for about $100,000 as part of the $2,115,879 contract for sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the flood project.

The two other units, the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations, were built by the same firm for about $768,000.

The Viaduct station is equipped with two electric pumps, each capable of lifting 23,000 gallons of water each minute. The pumps and controls, which will operate the station automatically after it is started, are protected from freezing by space electric heaters and from rusting by dehumidifiers.

Are Standby Units

The unit will be placed into operation when flood waters rise to 15 feet in Wills Creek. Below that point, surface water collected from the North End will flow by gravity into the creek.

Mr. Nuzum pointed out that surface water caused considerable trouble during the 1936 flood, popping manholes in many sections of the city.

The Mill Race and Ridgeley stations will pump ground water from the downtown area and the Williams Street area into the Potomac River and the Ridgeley unit will serve the same purpose in the adjoining West Virginia community.

Mayor Inspects Flood Job On His First Plane Ride

Mayor J. Edwin Keech made two inspections of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project yesterday afternoon.

The second view was from the air as he took his first plane ride.

Early yesterday afternoon, the mayor participated in an inspection of the Viaduct pumping station, which will be turned over to the city for operation soon.

He then accompanied City Engineer C. R. Nuzum for a tour of the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Mayor Keech took his first flight in a plane piloted by Warren Mullenax, who operates the airport for the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor said the ride was "wonderful" and that the flood control structures look even more beautiful from the air than on the ground.

He couldn't have picked a better day to take to the air, as skies were clear and a bright sun pushed the thermometer past the 50 mark.

Heart Envelope Use Is Urged

George R. Hughes Jr., general chairman of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association fund drive, yesterday urged persons who weren't home Sunday during the Heart Sunday canvass to use the envelopes left by the volunteers to mail in their donations.

Mr. Hughes said more than $7,300 was collected Sunday during the door-to-door canvass and the association office has been receiving contributions through the mail during the week.

The campaign members of the Heart Association expressed their thanks to area workers and those who contributed to Sunday's drive.

A group of tellers from local banks who tabulated returns from the Heart Sunday collection also were thanked for their work by Mrs. William J. Gunter, Heart Sunday chairman.

They were William Dudley, Mrs. Margaret Wonn, Mrs. Cora Hardin, Miss Yvonne Allen, Walter Fraley, Miss Donna Umstott, James Connelly, Mrs. Helen Whetzel, Fred Hill, Kenneth Mahaney, Estel Oster, Charles Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith and James Bishop.

Meeting Postponed

The executive board meeting of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America scheduled tonight has been postponed.

Bill To Aid Oldtown Fire Unit Enacted

Chapel Hill Co. Contribution Stopped

A bill directing the County Commissioners to pay $838.40 toward the support of the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Department was adopted Tuesday night after the Senate concurred in amendments made in the House.

The measure, Senate Bill 223, was sponsored by State Senator Charles M. See.

The bill was amended by the Allegany County Delegation to delete a $150 contribution to the Chapel Hill Hose Company, a social group.

Senator See said Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the amendment was made in response to a suggestion that the Chapel Hill contribution be cut out, as it is no longer in existence.

The organization went out, Senator See said, when Nelson W. Russler died.

The legislators made no change in the $150 contribution to the Cumberland Hose Company, whose former quarters are used by the Cumberland Auxiliary Police unit.

Deletion of the Chapel Hill contribution brings the total the county is directed to pay the several volunteer fire companies to $22,813.40.

Better Health Work Sought, Graef Tells CUF

William C. Walsh Is Named President

"Communities are no longer interested in wooing health agencies into their United Funds," Edward V. Graef, executive director of the Health Research and Services Foundation of Allegheny County, Pa., told assembled volunteer workers of County United Fund at their annual meeting and election of officers at the Cumberland Country Club last night.

The dean of Western Maryland fundraisers, William C. Walsh, former circuit court and court of appeals judge and attorney general of Maryland, who maintains law offices in Cumberland and Baltimore and is prominent in local, state and national bar associations, was elected president of the big givers' organization in which he has played a leading role since its founding.

A complete slate of officers, board members and executive committee members was elected at the meeting, which was presided over by Lewis J. Ort, first-year campaign chairman and second-year president of CUF.

Drive Nets $316,807

The invocation was delivered by Salvation Army Captain Daniel K. Biggs, 1959 CUF campaign chairman, who later reported on the recent drive that netted $316,807 for the support of 32 affiliated CUF agencies in Allegany and Mineral counties.

A. Trago Brust Jr., secretary, read the minutes of the last CUF meeting; Earl K. Hess, treasurer, gave a financial report for the year, and Robert G. Garner, chairman, gave the 1959 nominating committee report.

Mr. Graef, who helped to organize the first local health foundation in the United States while serving as United Fund executive director in Durham, N. C., was introduced by Mr. Ort.

"United Funds are now moving in a new direction," he declared. "As far as health agencies are concerned, United Funds are interested in developing a better product—one that will do a much better job in the field of medical research; a far superior job in the field of health education; a much finer job of providing medical services to people who need those services."

The speaker traced the history of United Funds from their origin in Detroit in 1948, where business men and labor leaders became annoyed at the number of fund campaigns conducted in their plants, and where the Ford Motor Company discovered it was costing $40,000 in lost time and production each time a fund campaign took place in Ford installations.

Cites Confusion

"Business, labor and other community leaders then asked themselves, 'Why can't this situation be corrected?'," Mr. Graef said, "just as they are now asking themselves, 'Why do we need a separate health agency for every disease?' "

He declared that "in the beginning, the national health agencies gave hope to the business and labor leaders who organized United Funds. The American Heart Association joined in some four or five hundred campaigns. The American Cancer Society joined in some three or four hundred campaigns. Tuberculosis joined. Crippled Children joined.

"Then," he continued, "confusion developed. National policies restrained local health groups from accepting money from United Funds in some places, while in others they were permitted to participate. And finally, although United Funds included 'cause' money for health agencies in their successful campaigns year after year, the time arrived when nearly all of the health agencies refused to accept the money."

Mr. Graef then traced the studies made by various communities of the operations of health agencies, "most of which," he declared, "can render very little

Seventh Grader Is Best Speller In Junior High

A seventh grade pupil of Allegany High School yesterday morning was adjudged the top speller in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades of that school.

She is Judy Dickerhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dickerhoof, 1217 Frederick Street. Judy was presented a gold medal, on the back of which was inscribed "AHS 1959 Junior High winner."

Mrs. Mary Hinze, English instructor who was the word caller, said yesterday's contest was the first such spelling bee in about a decade.

Second place winner was Catherine Evans of the ninth grade. Carol Petry, an eighth grade pupil, was third place winner. Each received a silver medal. The medals were presented by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of the school.

Catherine tripped on the word "parliament," and Carol misspelled "suffice." Judges of the contest were Miss Nell Hawkins and Mrs. Flora Lease, reading teachers of the seventh grade.

On February 10 the semi-finals were held, at which time the five top spellers of each grade became eligible for the finals after elimination contests had been held.

Mrs. Robert Mann, eighth grade English instructor, was in charge of yesterday's spelling bee.

Barton Still Seeking Better Water Supply

Town officials of Barton are continuing efforts to secure a better water supply for residents of the community.

Last night some 60 interested persons met with Mayor Arthur Hoffa and councilmen at the American Legion home and discussed the possibilities of getting a more adequate water supply.

Maurice Lamberson, one of the councilmen, spoke on the possibility of bettering the supply by building a secondary dam near the present dam located on Butcher Run about a mile from the corporate limits of the community.

Mayor Hoffa said he and the councilmen have agreed to make an appointment with Rep. John R. Foley. The purpose of the meeting would be to learn about possible federal aid necessary for a survey.

The mayor said he and town officials have been attempting to relieve the situation but the cost of improving the supply will be high.

Some 30 residents of the Dogwood Flat section of Barton last night indicated they would like to become incorporated as part of the community.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of getting the services of a resident physician. The community has been without the services of a doctor for about 10 or 15 years when Dr. Samuel Boucher maintained an office there.

It was pointed out at the meeting that two rooms next to the Post Office are available as office space for a physician. The secretary of the Allegany County Medical Association will be contacted to learn if there is a possibility of getting a doctor at Barton.

At the present time, residents are getting the services of physicians at Lonaconing and the Tri-Towns.

Another matter of business discussed at the town meeting was the plans for a playground for the children.

Among those attending the meeting were Frank Williams, Patrick Gallagher and John Bradley, councilmen; Alex Gross, water commissioner, and Mrs. Margaret Devlin, town clerk.

Viaduct Pump Station Gets Final Inspection

Will Be Turned Over To Cumberland Soon

The last of three pumping stations needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project will be turned over to the City of Cumberland soon.

A final inspection of the structure was made yesterday by the Corps of Engineers, with officials of the City of Cumberland and the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor, as observers.

The City was represented by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and Roy Maphis, assistant maintenance superintendent.

Mr. Nuzum said he was told several minor deficiencies found in the inspection by Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, will be completed today or tomorrow and be followed by a recommendation that the unit be turned over to the city for maintenance.

Pass Running Tests

The inspection was something of a formality, as all of the equipment has been put through its paces in running tests which have been going on for weeks.

The Viaduct pumping station was completed by the Albrecht firm for about $100,000 as part of the $2,115,879 contract for sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the flood project.

The two other units, the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations, were built by the same firm for about $768,000.

The Viaduct station is equipped with two electric pumps, each capable of lifting 23,000 gallons of water each minute. The pumps and controls, which will operate the station automatically after it is started, are protected from freezing by space electric heaters and from rusting by dehumidifiers.

Are Standby Units

The unit will be placed into operation when flood waters rise to 15 feet in Wills Creek. Below that point, surface water collected from the North End will flow by gravity into the creek.

Mr. Nuzum pointed out that surface water caused considerable trouble during the 1936 flood, popping manholes in many sections of the city.

The Mill Race and Ridgeley stations will pump ground water from the downtown area and the Williams Street area into the Potomac River and the Ridgeley unit will serve the same purpose in the adjoining West Virginia community.

Mayor Inspects Flood Job On His First Plane Ride

Mayor J. Edwin Keech made two inspections of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project yesterday afternoon.

The second view was from the air as he took his first plane ride.

Early yesterday afternoon, the mayor participated in an inspection of the Viaduct pumping station, which will be turned over to the city for operation soon.

He then accompanied City Engineer C. R. Nuzum for a tour of the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Mayor Keech took his first flight in a plane piloted by Warren Mullenax, who operates the airport for the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor said the ride was "wonderful" and that the flood control structures look even more beautiful from the air than on the ground.

He couldn't have picked a better day to take to the air, as skies were clear and a bright sun pushed the thermometer past the 50 mark.

Heart Envelope Use Is Urged

George R. Hughes Jr., general chairman of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association fund drive, yesterday urged persons who weren't home Sunday during the Heart Sunday canvass to use the envelopes left by the volunteers to mail in their donations.

Mr. Hughes said more than $7,300 was collected Sunday during the door-to-door canvass and the association office has been receiving contributions through the mail during the week.

The campaign members of the Heart Association expressed their thanks to area workers and those who contributed to Sunday's drive.

A group of tellers from local banks who tabulated returns from the Heart Sunday collection also were thanked for their work by Mrs. William J. Gunter, Heart Sunday chairman.

They were William Dudley, Mrs. Margaret Wonn, Mrs. Cora Hardin, Miss Yvonne Allen, Walter Fraley, Miss Donna Umstott, James Connelly, Mrs. Helen Whetzel, Fred Hill, Kenneth Mahaney, Estel Oster, Charles Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith and James Bishop.

Macmillan-Russian Talks Seen Failure

Group Plans 'Depressed' Area Check

Douglas Committee To Determine Need For Aid Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas will gather more testimony on a grass roots level to determine the need for his 389-million dollar aid plan for chronically depressed areas.

The Illinois Democrat, head of the Senate Production and Stabilization Subcommittee, has scheduled hearings for his subcommittee in Detroit March 2; at Charleston W. Va. March 4; at Beckley, W. Va. March 5; and at Morgantown, W. Va. March 6, it was announced Wednesday.

Douglas said an appeal to voters over President Eisenhower's head would be made by backers of the 389 million dollar program if he vetoes their proposal again this year.

Will Fight Veto

He warned his group of 33 Democrats and six Republicans would not accept another veto without a fight in opening hearings on the bill by his subcommittee.

"We shall seek to take the issue to the people in all proper ways," if the measure is again vetoed, he stated.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt, Altoona, Blair County, in a compromise move, is seeking approval of his 158-million dollar plan. Van Zandt said Eisenhower would veto bills he found unacceptable and that Congress would back him.

Urges Approval

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), urged approval of the President's 55 million dollar redevelopment program. He said it would aid depressed areas and not upset the President's economy plans.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) is the principal Republican co-sponsor of the bill advocated by Douglas.

The Douglas-Cooper bill has also been endorsed by Democratic Rep. Daniel J. Flood of Wilkes Barre, who has sponsored a similar proposal in the House. According to Flood, some 25,000 of the 300,000 persons in his district were out of work.

Not Beggars

"We are not beggars; we just want you to help us help ourselves," Flood said.

Another compromise measure costing 200 - million dollars has been presented by Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.). The Philadelphia senator's bill would allow the federal government to lend up to 50 per cent of the cost of area redevelopment projects. The Douglas - Cooper bill would permit 65 per cent federal participation.

Scott said his proposal was "a reasonable approach to certain differences which resulted last year in the pocket veto of an urgently needed program."

Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) is a member of the subcommittee.

Byrd said Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.), who with him were among co-sponsors of the Douglass bill, probably would sit in on two of the hearings as a "guest." Byrd may be the only committee member at the hearings.

Probe Of Labor Political Tactics, Spending Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee plans an extensive investigation of labor unions' tactics and spending in political campaigns, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) said today.

Mundt, the committee's vice chairman, predicted the inquiry will deal at some length with:

1. Whether some union flower funds—set up to buy flowers for members who are sick or have died—are used only for those purposes.

2. Whether federal laws forbidding unions to participate in federal election campaigns have been violated or circumvented.

Controversy Seen

The inquiry is believed certain to plunge the committee's four Democratic and four Republican members into bitter controversy. An investigation of Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union last year touched off such a squabble.

The UAW and many other labor unions traditionally support Democrats against Republican candidates.

Republican members raised some critical questions about UAW flower funds during last year's inquiry, but the committee refrained from ordering an audit of those funds at the time.

Right-To-Work Actions

One committee member, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), was described as proposing that the new inquiry embrace the explosive subject of unions' tactics in last November's election campaign against "right to work" laws. Such measures were defeated in five of the six states in which they were voted on last fall.

The committee's chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) confirmed that the right to work issue had been mentioned Wednesday in a closed meeting, but he said no motions were made or votes taken. He declined to elaborate.

The committee wound up its public hearings Wednesday on alleged extortion rackets in Chicago area jukebox and game machine operations.

Atlantic Plane Fare Boosted

PARIS (AP)—The International Air Transport Assn. today boosted all transatlantic fares two per cent and added a special charge on jet flights.

The action added $30 to the cost of a round-trip economy or tourist transatlantic jet flight. For the first-class jet passenger the increase amounts to $40.

The increases were demanded by many lines which do not yet have jets in transatlantic service and were losing business steadily on their propeller-driven craft.

The new rates go into effect April 1 subject to the approval of the governments involved.

The new first-class fares will be $440 one way between New York and London. The additional charge for "de luxe" will be $10 more and jet travel will be $20 more.

Graham Continues Crusade Despite Recurring Ailment

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—A recurrence of eye infection kept evangelist Billy Graham in bed today. But he will go on with his Melbourne crusade, said the Rev. Grady Wilson, a member of Graham's evangelical team.

"The eye trouble has been with him ever since the Melbourne crusade began almost a fortnight ago," Wilson said.

The infection delayed Graham's departure from the United States for Australia early this month. He spent two weeks in Hawaii recuperating from it.

The doctors have advised Graham to rest as much as possible and told him to cut his sermons from 60 to 35 minutes to reduce the strain.

About 200,000 persons so far have attended Graham's Melbourne meetings, which began 11 days ago.

The evangelist told a capacity crowd of 25,000 Wednesday night to pray for "Macmillan in Moscow, and Dulles and all other world leaders who are working for peace."

Payton Gets Cheers From Plant Pickets

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Extra highway patrolmen and a steady rain served to minimize activities in the strike at the Henderson-Harriest Cotton Mills here today.

The crowds of about 150 persons each stood in a pouring rain and watched as about 100 or so workers reported to their jobs at the mills' North Henderson and South Henderson plants.

Only three instances of rock throwing were observed. Boyd Payton of Charlotte, regional vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America, was cheered when he arrived at the picket line this morning. (Payton is a former official of Local 1874, Cumberland.)

Payton was lured to the door of his motel room early Tuesday and struck on the head with a pop bottle. He was released from a hospital Wednesday.

Gov. Luther Hodges sent in 14 extra highway patrolmen, bringing to 29 the patrol force on the scene.

Federal conciliator Yates Heafner was to arrive today to participate in the negotiations.

East Zone Reds Want Marriage Pledge Revised

BIELFIELD, Germany (AP) — Communist East Germany wants to replace the "love, honor and obey" in the marriage ceremony.

Move Starts To Head Off Africa Riots

Security Forces Arrest Agitators, Political Leaders

By ERIC ROBINS

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Security forces striking before dawn rounded up nationalist agitators throughout this troubled colony today, launching the first major crackdown on the anti-white violence that has swept Africa this week.

The colony-wide roundup, aimed at leaders of political organizations which have been a focus of unrest, was ordered under the terms of a state of emergency proclaimed by Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead.

"Instructions have been given under the emrgency powers to detain all officeholders and executive members of the four African congresses and all branch officials simultaneously . . ." Whitehead said.

Operation Success

"Operations were synchronized to start at 2 a.m., and so far have been completely successful. Most of the men affected have been rounded up."

The total number of persons arrested could not be determined.

Anti-white agitation is raging in territories spanning Africa from sea to sea and from the Congo jungles to the Cape of Good Hope.

Sullen strikes and savage rioting are the hallmarks of a menacing although apparently uncoordinated upsurge of native resentment of the authority of the Dark Continent's vastly - outnumbered white men.

The most serious outbreak reported in the past 24 hours occurred at Ft. Hill in northern Nyasaland, where Negro rioters blocked the airfield with tree trunks and huge boulders and seized a customs post dominating thev protectorate's main north-south highway.

Troops On Way

Troops and police were reported on the way from neighboring Tanganyika to deal with the Ft. Hill mobs.

Elsewhere in Nyasaland, the situation was reported "at the boiling point" in Lilongwe, where two Africans were killed and one injured in a clash between troops and rioters earlier this week.

GOP Backs Long-Range Report Plan

Committee Named To Draft Statement On Party Principles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move by National Chairman Meade Alcorn to draft a statement of long-range Republican party objectives won support today from GOP members of Congress.

Alcorn announced after a conference with President Eisenhower Wednesday the appointment of a 44-member committee to draft a statement of party principles. The group will be headed by Charles H. Percy, president of the Bell & Howell Co., Chicago.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said "it certainly is worth a try" for party members to attempt to define where they are going.

"We can't get hurt trying this approach and if the members of the committee can come to an agreement on Republican principles it will indicate that the party can do the same," Goldwater said.

Alcorn said he expects the committee, which meets here March 13-14, to have ready by Sept. 1 a statement covering such topics as civil rights, agriculture, labor, monetary policy and other areas.

Saying that the committee represents "all segments of Republican party thinking," Alcorn said he invited only one Republican governor, Cecil Underwood of West Virginia, to join the group.

Alcorn named Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, party leaders in the two houses, as the only congressional members.

Faces Crucial Hurdle

Hawaii Statehood Bill Goes To Rules Group

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress labored today to extend America's boundaries far into the blue Pacific by making Hawaii the 50th state.

The statehood bill faced a crucial hurdle in the powerful and traditionally-hostile House Rules Committee. But prospects were good that the group would grant its approval.

At the same time, the Senate territories subcommittee worked behind closed doors to polish up its statehood measure after virtually no opposition was voiced at one-day public hearing.

Supporters are pushing for Senate and House passage before Congress goes home for its Easter vacation March 26.

Despite past opposition, there were strong indications that the House Rules Committee, which funnels legislation to the floor, would approve Hawaiian statehood rather than risk a scrap with the bill's backers.

These supporters have threatened to invoke a special parliamentary action to get the bill to the House if the committee holds back. This maneuver was used to get a House vote when the rules committee tried to bottle-up the Alaskan statehood measure last year.

It's Not Boss Who's Victim

LONDON (UPI)—It is not the boss who has a heart attack, Dr. Robert Piper, medical officer of one of Britain's biggest corporations, said Wednesday.

"The man at the top often seems to have little or nothing to do," he told a conference of industrial health officers. "When you ask him a question he presses a button and a harassed-looking little man appears to find the answer.

"He is the one who gets the thrombosis."

Coal Industry Asks Equality Of Treatment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soft coal management and labor, along with related industrial and utility interests, presented today a united lobby in an effort to press for equality of treatment with other industries.

Formation of the National Coal Policy Conference was announced here Wednesday. Its membership includes soft coal operators, United Mine Workers officials and representatives of railroads, electric utilities and mining equipment manufacturers.

The association, which was to register with Congress as a lobby, would represent the interests of coal and related industries against oil, government or nuclear energy proposals which would prove detrimental to the coal industry.

The group will not "seek or expect favoritism," said George H. Love, board chairman of Consolidation Coal Co. of Pittsburgh and chairman of the conference.

The group announced at a press conference that its objectives would include an increase in income tax depletion allowances, a mandatory government limit on imports of crude and residual oil and opposition to nuclear energy installations where they would cut into coal markets.

Police Officer, Companion Face Slaying Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — A police officer and his companion were charged today in the rape-slaying of a 60-year-old widow.

Police said Mrs. Viola Mirman of Brooklyn was dragged into a car Monday, beaten with fists and a blackjack, raped and abandoned in a parking lot.

A tip to authorities led to the arrest Wednesday night of Patrolman Francis J. Rogers, 26, and Thomas Murtha, 22, a truck driver.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said Rogers, who was off duty, admitted beating the woman, but denied raping her. Rogers accused Murtha of the rape. Murtha also denied raping Mrs. Mirman, but told of beating her.

Violent Blast Rocks British Nuclear Plant

Two Die, One Hurt; No Radioactivity Is Involved In Accident

ALDERMASTON, England (AP) — A violent explosion rocked Britain's big H-bomb research base here today after somebody dropped an explosive charge. Two men were killed and one injured.

Officials announced there was no radioactivity hazard to the staff or the general public.

The explosion set doors and windows rattling in the village of Aldermaston, two miles away, where 300 people live. Fire engines screamed through the village streets. But there was no panic.

"We get used to living close to this thing," said Woodley Thomas, 19, a clerk at the ivy-covered post office.

The British Atomic Energy Commission said the accident occurred as the explosive was being unloaded from a vehicle. The vehicle was destroyed and a fire broke out, damaging a nearby building extensively. The fire was soon put out.

"The explosive was of a conventional type and no radioactive materials were involved," the commission said. "There is no radioactivity hazard to staff or to the general public."

The Aldermaston base lies up a leafy lane near the village and is screened by trees. It houses Britain's biggest hydrogen bomb plant.

Aldermaston is 45 miles west of London.

(Two employes of the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic laboratory were killed Tuesday in an explosion of nonradioactive material.)

Platform Mishap Kills 11 Children

SAN LUIS, Mexico (AP) — Eleven school children who stepped up to pledge allegiance to the Mexican flag are dead, killed when the platform gave way.

Twenty-three other adults and children suffered serious injuries in the accident during a festival celebration Tuesday night in the farming community of Estacion Coahuila, 18 miles south of here.

Official Says Neither Side Budges Inch

Parleys Reported Ended; Khrushchev Shuns Kiev Flight

KIEV, Ukraine (AP) — The Macmillan-Khrushchev talks have ended with neither side "budging an inch," a British spokesman said here today.

KIEV, Ukraine (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew into this capital of Ukraine today without the promised company of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The absence of Khrushchev indicated a further cooling off in relations.

British sources said that prior to his departure for Kiev, Macmillan sternly warned Khrushchev that any attempt to interfere with Western rights in Berlin would be fraught with danger.

Has 'Bad Tooth'

A British spokesman said Khrushchev told Macmillan at a meeting in the Kremlin this morning he had a bad tooth and must have it filled.

Diplomats wondered whether this was a diplomatic illness.

The British have made no secret that relations between the two delegations have worsened since Khrushchev's speech on Tuesday in which he virtually rejected Western proposals for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany.

It became known that Macmillan and Khrushchev have virtually ended their talks on world problems.

Plan Communique

The expectation was they would meet formally Monday to draw up a communique.

Diplomatic sources said the communique likely would touch only slightly on international affairs, and would express agreement in principle to have more trade and more cultural exchanges.

The talks thus appeared to have made little headway in reconciling British and Western policies with those of the Soviet Union.

In a chilly political atmosphere, Macmillan made it clear to Khrushchev at a meeting in the Kremlin that any attempt to interfere with the Western powers'

Couple Tried To Kill Child

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Charges of attempting to kill a retarded six-year-old boy with poisoned candy have been filed against a California couple.

Phoenix officers were to go to Los Angeles today to pick up Mrs. Edna F. Howard, 36, and James L. Will, 38, her former husband, both of Pasadena, Calif.

They are charged with trying to poison Michael Howard, son of the woman by an earlier marriage. The charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years to life.

An official of the Valley of the Sun School for Handicapped Children uncovered the poisoned candy Wednesday when she disregarded instructions to see that it went only to Michael.

As Mrs. Bernice Kussell, school superintendent, broke up the candy for distribution among all the children, she discovered two capsules later found to contain lethal dog worm medicine.

The discovery led to the arrest of the couple in Los Angeles.

Hungry Workers Discover Good Samaritan In Priest

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Hungry farm workers who traveled hundreds of miles desperate for $6 a day jobs, only to find neither work nor shelter, had brighter prospects today.

They could thank a slight, compassionate man in black clothing—the Rev. Richard A. Crowley.

For days they had barely enough food to keep alive. Men, women and children camped in the open, along ditch banks, without protection from winter rains and freezing night temperatures.

Cotton crop failures in Arizona threw the people out of work. They heard rumors crops were ready to be picked in Nevada's Moapa Valley near Overton, 65 miles northeast of Las Vegas. Hopefully they headed north, 300 strong.

They found the harvest late and farmers' housing already bulging with hundreds of other workers who follow the crops. Until the onion, radish and tomato crops ripened, there would be far more workers than jobs.

"The only thing these people have to bargain with is their hunger," says Father Crowley, a Roman Catholic priest.

He visited the workers' camps daily, in a borrowed truck, with meager offerings of food and clothing he has collected from donors.

For a week State Labor Commissioner George Jolly was on the scene, sent by Gov. Grant

West Fears Of Germany Crisis Build

Khrushchev Oratory Sets Off Speculation Over Berlin's Future

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western fears of a dangerous Berlin crisis late this spring are beginning to build up again under the impact of Nikita Khrushchev's oratory.

Unless the Soviet government can be drawn into high level negotiations on German issues in the next two or three months, authorities here are not sure what may happen. But they see an increasing possibility that in his present cocky, confident mood the Soviet premier may try some extremely risky moves.

United States officials still cling to the hope that Khrushchev will agree to a foreign ministers meeting for late April or early May. His speech in Moscow Tuesday rejecting negotiations about German reunification does not constitute a real answer to the Western proposal of Feb. 16 for a Big Four session, informants said.

Ike Appraisal Gloomy

But President Eisenhower's rather gloomy appraisal of the outlook at his news conference Wednesday seemed to reflect a growing uncertainty over the possibility of actually getting serious negotiations started.

Eisenhower said Khrushchev had displayed an "obviously, palpably intransigent attitude" in his speech and though there was nothing very new in it the tone and the timing were matters of concern.

Noting that the speech came in the midst of Khrushchev's talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Eisenhower said the development "is not one that, certainly, you could call hopeful."

Two-Point Policy

He then defined a two-point policy for the United States in the present situation. First, he said, "we are not going to give one single inch in the preservation of our rights" to maintain the Western position in West Berlin and to move supplies into that city.

Second, Eisenhower said that this country and its allies are "always ready to negotiate when the other person will give us the slightest area or region in which to negotiate."

But he added that he could not see "very much use for conferences" or much promise for negotiation if the present Soviet attitude continues.

position in Berlin "would lead to a dangerous situation," British informants said.

A communique by Tass, the Soviet news agency, in which every word is officially weighed, omitted any reference to a friendly atmosphere at the latest meeting. A Moscow radio broadcast insisted the morning's talks were "warm and friendly."

Leaders of the Communist-oriented world peace council strove to put a good face on the conferences. They said Khrushchev believes Macmillan's visit will be a good one even if no hard agreements are reached.

Church Council Studies Housing Discrimination

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—The National Council of Churches governing body today considered a proposed resolution asking its 38 million U.S. Protestant members to wipe out discrimination in housing because of race or religion.

The housing resolution deferred from Wednesday was expected to highlight this closing session of the two-day winter meeting of the general board of the council.

Also scheduled was a panel discussion on peaceful uses of atomic energy. Panel members were Victor Reuther, assistant to the president of the United Auto Workers Union; Dr. Shields Warren, pathologist and former consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission; the Rev. Robert F. MacGregor, dean of Trinity Cathedral in Newark, N.J. and former rector of the Oak Ridge, Tenn. parish; and Edwin A. Wiggin, a New York businessman who heads an industrial group studying atomic energy.

The body was asked to take a stand on "right to work" issues but this was dropped from the agenda because of a crowded schedule.

The board Wednesday appealed to the 33 Protestant denominations in the council to "uphold the right and duty of the church to study and comment upon issues of human concern, however controversial."

It is the right of church groups as well as citizens to "discuss freely and to express judgments without exposure to attacks upon motive or integrity for daring to exercise the right to do so," the pronouncement said.

The pronouncement grew out of criticism of a report by the World Order Study Conference last November which included recommendations for U.S. recognition of Red China and that country's admission to the United Nations.

Titan Missile 'Short Range' Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Titan, fledgling member of this country's arsenal of intercontinental ballistic missiles, apparently had another success to its credit today.

The Air Force sent one of the sleek rockets aloft Wednesday under limited power and over a short range. "Everything looks real good," a project official commented after early data was in.

The Titan, lighter and more powerful than the Atlas ICBM, is designed to carry a hydrogen warhead more than 8,000 miles. In Wednesday's test the 110-ton test vehicle traveled about 300 statute miles under the propulsion of a single booster engine, believed to be the most powerful single thrust unit in the free world.

A dummy second stage, filled with about 5,000 gallons of water for ballast, was not separated.

This was the second successful Titan firing in as many attempts, although malfunctions have caused "scrubbing" of other test shots before the missile left its pad.

The Martin Co., builder of the Titan, believes the weapon can be made combat-ready within a year.

'Taxpayer Revolt' Gains Momentum; Letters, Petitions Deluge Legislators

RITZVILLE, Wash. (AP) — A "nonpartisan taxpayers' revolt" that started here over a cup of coffee went into its third week today with the letter-writing campaign spreading to the far corners of the state.

An estimated 10,000 or more revolt-inspired form letters have poured in on state legislators in Olympia, and Gov. Albert D. Rosellini's office said he has received 1,358 of them.

In addition, thousands of companion petitions were being circulated, the signers pledging not to ask for additional services from state government and demanding in return that no new tax laws be passed.

"The campaign has exceeded our wildest dreams," said Edward Cross, an attorney who helped start it. "With all the phone calls, my practice has gone by the boards. We've really got a tiger by the tail."

It started at a Lions Club meeting in this town of 2,200 on Feb. 11 when Bryson Reinhardt, a Wenatchee, Wash., salesman, made a speech about government and taxes.

"When it was over, some of us got to talking and decided that's what we always do—just talk," Cross said. "We agreed to meet for coffee next morning and consider some kind of petition and form letter."

Twenty men showed up, then 40 more joined in, $300 was collected for printing and a nameless organization was born with an eight-man steering committee headed by Ralph Danekas, a mortician who says he is politically independent.

The original goal was to get 1,500 signatures on a "no-new-services, no-new-taxes" petition in the Adams County. Cross said they got 1,150 in three days and the idea "snowballed."

After 500 form letters piled up on his desk, Rosellini, a Democrat, replied with a form letter of his own, asking revolters to be "realistic" and claiming increased taxes are needed to maintain even a minimum of services.

"We weren't convinced," Cross said.

Rosellini has proposed increasing the state sales tax from 3 1-3 to 4 per cent and letters or not, some kind of tax increase is expected.

'K' Ignores Macmillan

MOSCOW (UPI) — The ballet was "Romeo and Juliet" but the atmosphere was so chilly that Nikita Khrushchev and Harold Macmillan might have been watching a frozen "Swan Lake."

The British prime minister and the Soviet premier stared straight ahead through Wednesday night's performance, looking only at the famed Bolshoi dancers and exchanging no remarks.

They so completely ignored each other that Khrushchev was absent from their red velvet-draped box for an entire scene.

Motor Boat Licensing Upsets Owners

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Motor boat owners are expected to storm the Statehouse today to protest licensing of their craft.

They are upset mostly over a proposal to charge $5 a year for renewal of their boat licenses.

The House Ways and Means Committee will take up the bill to establish for the first time registration of small motor boats. If the State doesn't do it, then the federal government will.

However, the federal government is proposing only a $3 fee for the license, and initially it would be good for three years.

The proposed State bill also differs from the federal regulation in that it would apply to every motor. The federal would start registration of 10 horsepower motors.

There also is a difference of opinion between two state agencies over which should administer the act. The Department of Tidewater Fisheries is named in the bill, but the Department of Game and Inland Fish feels it should have the authority.

One complaint voiced against the bill, which has the blessing of Gov. Tawes, is that it has been expanded from being in the interest of safety to a revenue raiser.

Some estimate that 200,000 boats boats will be subject to the license fee which would mean an income of one million dollars a year.

The money will go into the general fund of the State so Tawes may spend it as he sees fit.

Tawes Target Of Group On Mental Aid

Finances Sought By Citizens For Hospital Work

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland citizens seeking more money for State mental hospitals are expected to shift their campaign now from the Legislature's finances committees to the governor's office.

Yesterday they urged the finance groups not to make any cuts in the Department of Mental Hygiene budget submitted by Gov. Tawes. And they indicated they will ask the governor for more money in his supplemental budget due next month.

The legislature may not increase Tawes' proposals for operating funds, but it has a free hand with the building program he suggested.

The mental hygiene budget submitted by Tawes totals some $20,500,000, an 8.5 per cent increase over last year but $2,500,000 below the amount sought by the department. The agency's request for more than six million dollars in construction money was cut back to two million dollars.

There have been indications that Tawes may have more money to spend than he thought when the budget was drafted. The mental health groups would like to see some of it go to mental hospitals.

Sen. Dean (D-Queen Annes) told Mental Hygiene Department officials at yesterday's budget hearing that he, for one, would support any move to get more money for the department and those who staff the State's five mental hospitals.

He said he was a member of a legislative committee which toured some of the hospitals and commented that "I wouldn't work in some of them for $50,000 a year."

About 100 persons attended the hearings. Some women carried signs which proclaimed "We Want Accredited Hospitals" and "A Mental Hospital Doesn't Have To Be A Snake Pit."

Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, Maryland's commissioner of mental hygiene, listed these problems in his testimony:

1. One of the department's major problems is recruitment of professional personnel. If salaries are not raised to meet competition from other states and private practice, the State may have to shop for "bargain basement doctors" to staff mental hospitals. A request for raises is before the Standard Salary Board.

2. The proposed budget will allow the department of "hold the line" but "will hardly permit acceleration" of needed programs.

3. The five hospitals are now overcrowded by some 1,000 patients. Even if all buildings in the new capital improvements programs were completed tomorrow, the overcrowding figure would be 418.

4. He is "disturbed" about a steady increase in the rate of readmissions. He said this could mean inadequate treatment in the hospitals or an inadequate follow-up on persons discharged. "We ought to take a good look" into this problem, he said.

Chamber Wants To Air Parking

Parking in downtown Cumberland will be discussed at a meeting being sought by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Robert C. Petersen, manager, said Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming, the executive committee of the Chamber and its Retail Merchants Association will be asked to attend.

He said the meeting will deal with various parking problems and especially with the $5 fine imposed on those who park cars on North Centre and North Mechanic streets from 4 to 6 p.m.

Plans for the meeting were discussed by the Chamber's board Tuesday night.

The board also accepted with regret the resignation of T. J. Klauenberg as a director and made plans to name a successor to the post soon.

Halleck Says Budget Battle Is Top Issue

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The battle of the budget is the most important issue facing the 86th Congress, House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Indiana) said Wednesday night.

In a Lincoln Day dinner address, Halleck told West Virginia Republicans that Democrats had thrown a dozen measures in the hopper. He said if they were enacted it "would increase federal spending by billions of dollars beyond what is necessary for the good of the country."

He described as "the basic difference between the major philosophies of our two major parties... Republican emphasis on thrift in government as against Democrat extravagance."

"No one escapes the fire of inflation completely. The big fellow is least hurt. He can take care of himself. But it is the breadwinner of a fixed income and the senior citizen trying to get by on a pension who gets severely burned when the cost of everything goes up."

Halleck praised West Virginia's lone Republican in Congress, Rep. Arch Moore, as "one of the outstanding members among the ranks of our newer Republicans."

Development Plan Backed In WV Bills

Measures Would Set Up Economic Recovery Agency

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Bills to establish an Economic Recovery Agency in West Virginia as proposed by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood were introduced in each chamber of the Legislature today.

The measures were submitted under bi-partisan sponsorship of Senate President Ralph Bean (D-Hardy) and Minority Leader John Carrigan (R-Marshall) in the Senate and Speaker Harry R. Pauley (D-McDowell and Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio) in the House.

Under the plan, a nine-member commission would be set up to prepare a master plan for the physical, social and economic development of the state. Underwood said in an address to the Legislature Wednesday one of the first duties of the commission would be to make a survey of manpower skills and land use.

The group would be empowered to disburse federal funds available for economic development and contract with federal and state agencies for various surveys to promote its work. Underwood asked that the commission be allocated $250,000 in the next year.

Also among the six new Senate and 11 House bills introduced was a measure by Senate Finance Committee Glenn Jackson (D-Logan) and Carrigan to change the state license fees for hotels, motels, tourist homes, riding devices at parks, and the sale of weapons.

It also would set up a new section for theaters and public shows with the fee to be based on the size of town in which they operated. There was no immediate estimate on the tax yield from the measure.

Del. J. E. Watson (D-Marion) and Charles Buch (R-Ohio) sponsored a bill to create a junior driver's license for 16-to-18 year-olds. It would authorize the licensees only to drive to and from school. After age 18, a regular driver's licenses would be required.

Other bills would:

Eliminate consideration by the attorney general's office of any claims against the state which previously had been rejected by the Legislature (Chilton & Graziani).

—Provide that county school board candidates could wait until 30 days prior to general elections to file certificates of candidacy, rather than before primary elections. (Brotherton).

Decimal Point Proves Costly

FAIRFAX, Va. (UPI) — When baker Lucas Gallegos misplaced a decimal point, he made a monumental error.

The nine boys of Den One, Cub Scout Pack 187, ordered an $8.50 cake for their annual banquet Tuesday night. Gallegos read it $85.

The result: A three-foot high frosted cake in the form of the Washington Monument.

"Oh, well," philosophized Gallegos, "the scouts wanted a nice cake. They acquired a feat of art which has never been achieved before. We are happy for them to have it."

He charged them only $8.50 for the "feat of art."

Legislature Gets Budget On Education

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Education was scheduled today to appear before Senate and House finance committees to discuss its $6,500,000 budget for 1959-60.

The board Wednesday received an apparent low bid of $27,571 from Bowling Construction Co., Bluefield for construction of an addition to the bleachers on the Concord College athletic field. It also listened to a cost estimate of a new science and classroom building at West Liberty State College but took no action on the bid.

West Liberty President Paul N. Elbin said the cost of the building would be some $1,299,800.

In other action, the board approved an amendment to Wheeling College's certificate of incorporation which officially makes the institution a degree-granting college.

Board executive secretary H.K. Baer was instructed to advertise for bids on some $1,350,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance construction of a new health and physical education building at Marshall College. The college has another $500,000 on hand for the project.

W.V.U. Coed Returns After Being Missing

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Barbara Jean Henderson, 19, Richwood, a West Virginia University coed who turned up here late Wednesday two days after she disappeared, was recovering today in a hospital.

Dr. Clark Sleeth, physician at the university health service, said it appeared that the WVU sophomore had suffered from temporary amnesia.

Sleeth said the girl told of "coming to her senses" near here Wednesday and calling a taxicab. She was admitted to the health service for treatment shortly after returning to her room, he said.

The physician said Miss Henderson, a daughter of Richwood grade school principal Dale Henderson, was suffering from exposure. She was not immediately able to fill in details of where she had been during her disappearance.

George Washington was appointed commander-in-chief of American Continental Army Forces on June 15, 1775.

Supreme Court Reverses Award In Woman's Estate

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A $720 Wood County Circuit Court jury award to C. P. Nicholas from the estate of his deceased wife for expenses following her death was reversed Wednesday by the State Supreme Court.

Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, in the first opinion he has written since his election to the high court, said:

"The common law duty of a husband to support his wife and to supply her with reasonable necessities embraces a duty of his part to pay reasonable funeral expenses incident to her death..."

It said the fact the wife had separate properties made no difference.

"The common law duty has not been changed by statute in this state," Calhoun wrote.

Hold On To Your Pocketbooks!

If this bill passes the jug stores close!

Special interests have worked out a new campaign to make you pay more for your milk. They are backing a bill in the Maryland General Assembly, which proposes the establishment of a state milk control commission. No matter how they try to justify it, this bill means just one thing to you: Higher milk prices! The people in favor of milk controls want to fatten their profits at your expense. All they have to do is convince you of the "evils" of free competition.

The backers of this bill have already begun their campaign against milk freedom by spreading a lot of malarky about needing a milk commission to insure a stable milk market. They're saying that a milk commission is vital to insure a constant milk supply, and they claim that the farmer needs it to get better prices for his milk.

But here's what they're not saying:

1. This bill would mean the end of THE JUG STORES AND THE SAVINGS THEY MAKE POSSIBLE.
2. You, the consumer, don't have anything to say about milk prices in a controlled market.
3. The law of supply and demand goes out the window when prices are fixed.

You're supposed to think it's O.K. to pay the retail price that's fixed by a commission, but they don't want you to know that this price is usually fixed at the highest home delivered price. They're not saying that their profits will swell if a commission sets the same price for all milk—home delivered or store-bought. They're not letting on that the only way to save money on milk in a controlled market, is to buy less. You're supposed to find these things out for yourself, after the bill is written into law. Here are some more things about milk controls you won't hear from these special interest groups: When consumers pay more for fluid milk, they use less on their tables. The consumers of states like Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, where they have Milk Commissions, will testify to that fact. When fluid milk consumption goes down, the milk not used for drinking is made into dairy products and sold. When items like butter, cheese, and non-fat milk solids are not sold, they go into surplus and are bought by the government.

In other words, you wind up paying taxes to buy surplus dairy products which you couldn't afford to buy in fluid form in the first place!

But it doesn't end there. As high prices force consumers to buy less and less fluid milk, the farmer's income drops. Since the farmer's income depends mainly on how much fluid milk he sells, he has to ask a higher price for his milk. When this happens, the milk commission raises retail milk prices and the whole cycle begins again. Less milk is used, more surplus is created, farm income goes down, and the commission socks you with another price increase. In fact, this very thing is happening in Virginia right now.

Compare this with the freedom you have in Maryland. Now, you buy all the milk you need from the dairy that sells at the price you want to pay. Prices are not controlled. They seek their own level. They are set by the operation of the law of supply and demand.

Here's how this free competition benefits you. In Baltimore, for instance, families consumed about 100 pounds more fluid milk per person in 1956, than did the families of Richmond, Virginia. Virginia has a State Milk Commission. The Baltimore housewife pays about 18 cents less per gallon of milk than her Richmond counterpart. Maryland farmers sell more fluid milk, and are enjoying a good income.

Taxes in Maryland do not include the cost of administering a state milk commission. Maryland dairies are constantly striving to improve their products, their methods of distribution, and their services. Dairies in Virginia have no such incentive. In fact, one major city in Virginia has only two milk distributors.

Milk is the most complete food known to man. It is essential for the growth and health of babies and children. Milk prices must be kept low enough to allow every family to buy all the milk it needs for proper health. No state milk commission will ever be able to keep retail milk prices as low as companies engaged in free enterprise in a free milk market. Don't let them take away your right to save on the milk your family needs.

Protect your right to a free milk market. Write Governor J. Millard Tawes, your newspaper editors, and your delegates. Tell them that you are against the proposed state milk commission. This is an appeal to all public-spirited citizens to join in the fight against power-hungry special interest groups. Add your voice to the growing throng of consumers who want to keep their milk free from controls.

MARYLANDERS FOR MILK FREEDOM, a group of public spirited citizens, have already organized in a crusade to protect Maryland families against the evils of milk controls. All alert Marylanders are urged to join this group. No dues required. Write MARYLANDERS FOR MILK FREEDOM, 1654 Mathieson Building, 10 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Md. for your membership applications.

Foley Backing Bill To Save Landmark

Congress Is Urged To Preserve Famous Antietam Battlefield

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was urged today to speed action toward buying more land to preserve the Antietam Battlefield site in Maryland.

Unless early action is taken, sponsors of the project say, there is danger of losing the land to residential and commercial development.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md) is backing a bill to permit the National Park Service to use some of its funds to buy additional land. Present law permits acquisition of land at the site by donation only.

Foley said in a statement for a hearing on his bill today that an estimated $300,000 would be required to buy about 1,300 acres needed to round out the site.

The basic purpose of his bill, Foley said, is to free the hands of the Park Service to use already appropriated funds to buy the land.

"Unless the National Park Service can take action in the very near future," Foley said, "there is imminent danger that the 1,300 acres will be lost for all time.

"Commercial development withing the Sharpsburg area along the Hagerstown Road and the Boonsboro Road as well as the Harpers Ferry Road leading into Sharpsburg, clearly reveals the future of the use to which the 1,300 acres may be put," he said.

"Residential building along with the establishment of stores and gasoline stations already have appeared adjacent to the battlefield site area."

National Guard Undergoes Change

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arms and tactics have changed and so must the Maryland Army National Guard.

Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, State adjutant general, said today the Maryland National Guard will be revamped to meet "the requirements of modern warfare" on March 1. It is part of a nationwide program.

The reorganization will mark the end of the infantry regiment as the principal Army fighting organization.

And the State guardsmen will get an additional missile battalion, the third.

The revamping is similar to the adjustments made by the regular Army. It is expected to be completed in time for field training this summer.

This will be the first major overhaul of the 29th Infantry Division, divided between Maryland and Virginia, since early World War II days.

The principal changes:

1. Two infantry regiments, the 115th and 175th, will be replaced by three smaller fighting groups of seven company-size units each. The infantry regiments will become non-tactical combat arms regiments.

The 1st Battle Group of the 175th Combat Arms Regiment will replace the 175th Infantry Regiment with headquarters at the 5th Regiment Armory, Baltimore.

The 1st and 2nd Battle Groups of the 115th Combat Arms Regiment will be substituted for the 115th Infantry Regiment with headquarters at Towson and Salisbury, respectively, plus units in Catonsville, Frederick, Kensington, Silver Spring, Hyattsville and Eastern Shore towns where units are presently located.

2. A third battalion will be added to Maryland's part of the artillery of the 29th Division. The division presently consists of a headquarters battery and two battalions, the 110th and 224th, of 105 mm howitzers. Under the revamped program, each of the three battalions will have two firing batteries, with the 155 mm howitzer added to the 105 mm howitzer.

The three new batallions will be designated the 110th, 224th and 610th. Pikesville will continue to be the artillery headquarters with outlying batteries at Bel Air, Greenbelt and Westminster.

3. The Maryland guardsmen will have a medium tank battalion for the first time. Its headquarters and a tank company will be at Cumberland. Two companies are planned for Hagerstown and one each at Frostburg and Oakland. It will be known as the 1st Medium Tank Battalion of the 115th Combat Arms Regiment.

4. The 121st Engineers will lose its company at Oakland but will gain two by conversion at Laurel and Glen Burnie. Headquarters will remain in Ellicott City.

5. The 231st Transportation Battalion in Baltimore will convert two of its three truck companies into armored personnel carrier companies. It will be redesignated the 229th Transportation Battalion of the 29th Infantry Dvision.

6. A new combat aviation unit will be organized in part at Baltimore's Harbor Field. It will be known as the 29th Aviation Company and will have some 35 liaison pilots for light planes. Part of the company is planned for Virginia.

7. Another new unit for the 29th Division will be the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment of the Division Trains. This will see supporting elements of the division drawn together for administrative purposes. It will be located at the 5th Regiment Armory.

No substantial changes are planned for the medical and ordnance battalions nor the quartermaster company at Annapolis.

The 29th Division Headquarters in Baltimore will see some minor changes and three new non-division units will be reorganized.

In addition, Maryland has been allotted an additional missile battalion (NIKE), the 686th, for the Washington area. It will have two firing batteries.

Road Workers Retire At 65

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Washington County roads department employes are to be retired at 65, the county commissioners decided yesterday.

The department previously had no mandatory retirement age.

Board President George S. Fockler said the order was issued to increase efficiency.

The commissioners also decided to go to Baltimore Monday to study methods of distributing food.

Ex-Del. Kendrick Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Charles D. McKenrick, former member of the House of Delegates, died yesterday at Veterans Hospital. He was 54.

McKenrick served in the House in the 1930s as a delegate from Baltimore's Fifth District and was active in the Maryland National Guard. He held the rank of colonel and served overseas in World War II.

McKenrick was a partner in the Baltimore law firm of Bartlett, Poe and Clagett.

Expressway Work Let

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Roads Commission has awarded a contract for the first leg of the much-debated Northeastern Expressway.

C. J. Langenfelder & Son, Inc. of Baltimore County submitted a low bid of $1,847,299 for construction of 2.17 miles of road running from the city line into Baltimore County. The contract also calls for construction of three steel span bridges and two reinforced concrete abutments.

The expressway, in the talking stage for more than four years, will run from Baltimore to the Delaware line—roughly paralleling U. S. 40.

Eating Scoops

In eating, flamingoes thrust their long, flexible necks far from their bodies, then feed back toward their feet. Their curved upper mandibles serve as scoops to take organic material from the mud.

Bethlehem Donates Towards Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. has given $150,000 toward the 11-million-dollar Children's Medical Center to be built at Johns Hopkins Hospital, fund officials announced.

The 10-story center is scheduled for completion in 1962. It will have 250 beds and nearly double the children's facilities at the hospital.

The new structure will be connected floor by floor with the recently completed Clinical Science Building.

Boy Sentenced For Bomb Hoax

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Kanawha County Juvenile Judge Herbert Richardson Wednesday sentenced Chester Canterbury, 14, Nitro, to the state boys reformatory at Prunty Town in connection with a phony bomb scare at Nitro High School last week.

Two other 14-year-olds arrested with Canterbury got off easier. Lennis Angel was placed on probation and charges were dismissed against the other boy.

Two Charleston boys and one from Beckley previously were given reform school sentences for hoaxes. One of the Charleston boys, Kenneth W. Spears, 16, has petitioned for a trial. Richardson will hear arguments on that motion March 4.

Electricians To Meet

A meeting of Local 307, Electrical Workers Union, will be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Labor Temple on South Liberty Street.

Civilian consumption of margarine in the U.S. last year was 9.1 pounds per person, compared with 8.5 pounds for butter.

Bowling Green Club Will Begin Tray Making Project

The regular meeting of the Bowling Green Homemaker's Club was held a recent afternoon, in the social room of St. Matthew's Church, beginning with a covered dish luncheon. The Valentine motif was carried out and a flower arrangement by Mrs. Coit Speicher centered the table. Mrs. Shanholtz welcomed eight guests and members and gave the invocation.

The meeting, presided over by Mrs. Harrison Shanholtz, was opened with the homemaker's collect read by Mrs. William Yeager. Mrs. Lakin Root, vice president, read the history of the hymn, "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past", after which it was sung by the group.

Mrs. William Yeager, clothing chairman, asked a number of questions pertaining to the Demonstration "A Good Foundation Makes the Dress". She then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Marie Seymour, who displayed, described and prescribed the proper foundation garment for the dress, and commented on the fact that a "foundation wardrobe" was an important need with the various types of dresses worn today.

A discussion, concerning the time of future meetings, was held, and it was decided to continue to meet at the usual time, but that light refreshments would be served and two hostesses appointed for each month.

A tray making project was planned. Information and enrollment will be in March, with the actual work starting in April.

Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, will be guest speaker at the March meeting with Mrs. Lakin Root and Mrs. Edwin Everhart, hostesses. The meeting was adjourned with the singing of "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party."

The following attended, Mrs. Seymour, Mrs. Donald F. Murry, Mrs. Willis Smelzer, Mrs. T. L. Grove, Mrs. Richard Kenney, Mrs. Elizabeth Cranor, Mrs. Allen Deffinbaugh, and Mrs. Lillian Hendrickson, guests; Mrs. Harrison Shanholtz, Mrs. Russel Beck, Mrs. Garland Chaney, Mrs. J. E. Tritt, Mrs. Louis Yeager, Mrs. William Yeager, Mrs. Nelson Warren, Mrs. Albert Robinett, Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, Mrs. F. B. Kreichbaum, Mrs. Coit Speicher, Mrs. Lakin Root, Mrs. W. M. Watson, Mrs. James Kisamore, Mrs. Geo. Hansel, Mrs. Glen Johnson, Mrs. D. Thompson, Mrs. Ed. Everhart, and Mrs. H. Utterback, members.

Italian "Sensation" Cesare Danova Makes His First U. S. Film Since Coming Here Three Years Ago

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cesare Danova is finally making his first Hollywood movie, almost three years after he came here as the new Italian sensation.

Is he bitter? Not in the least. "I'm not mad at anyone," he declares. "I can see how these things happen."

His understanding didn't make the experience any less painful, however. He was imported originally to play the title role in "Ben Hur."

"I came here without being able to speak a word of English," said the actor. "It was agreed that the first six months would be devoted to learning the language. That came easy to me. I have always enjoyed studying languages. (He speaks five.) I like to study words."

Armed with the knowledge of English, he seemed well qualified for the lead in MGM's super-epic. He is well constructed along his 6 feet, 4 inches, is remarkably handsome with wavy brown hair and had a background of classical acting.

But Charlton Heston got the role.

"The studio still wanted me," Danova said. "But the director, William Wyler, wanted no accents in the cast. So he wouldn't take me.

"I am not blaming him. He was the director. He had to do the picture according to his own conception. If he had taken me unwillingly, it would have been a bad situation."

So Danova sat. And sat. He couldn't work, and the studio wouldn't let him go. For almost two years he did absolutely nothing.

He managed to survive by reading, hobbies such as furniture-making and playing with his two young sons by English actress Pamela Matthews. His first action came with the musicalized "Grand Hotel," which he played on the West Coast with Paul Muni. It was a flop. But at least he was working.

Nunnally Johnson saw Danova on TV's "The Rifleman" and picked him for Leslie Caron's lover in "The Man Who Understood Women." Now he's on his way.

Total U.S. supplies of meat for 1959 are estimated by industry sources at 27 billion pounds, about one and a half billion pounds more than in 1958.

New Theory Advanced In Phobia Study

Suffering Could Be Stopped By Remaining Still

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new theory on phobias sees them as like some watches, that is, self-winding, and goes on from there to suggest they can be stopped like the watches can be, by not letting them wind themselves.

Since phobias are common and people who have them suffer agonies and since science hasn't been very successful in stopping phobias, this new theory is going to get a lot of try-outs. It was presented by Dr. Nicholas Melleson, a London psychiatrist, who tried it out on several phobic persons.

There are as many phobias as there are objects and situations. Among the best known is claustrophobia (fear of confined spaces) and acrophobia (fear of heights). Fro an example in describing his theory, Melleson used ailurophobia, which though it can also be called galeophobia and even gatophobia, is simply a fear of cats.

Urge To Escape

"The sufferer from a cat phobia, on getting near a cat or to a place where he suspects a cat will, feels mounting fear," Melleson said. "With it comes the urge to escape. As he turns and hurries away, his immediate fear feeling is dispersed."

This makes the fear both real and reasonable to the sufferer and thus the phobia is re-wound by its own built-in mechanism. "Potentially strengthened and enhanced, this fear remains inside ready to be reexperienced at his next encounter," Melleson continued. "By such a cycle—fear-escape - urge - more fear—phobic patterns could become established."

Should Not Flee

To stop the re-winding, the victim shouldn't flee but just stand in the spot where the fear first hit him and "fully experience the unpleasant emotions and all the concomitant bodily sensations that are aroused in him." While doing this, he should pay close attention to everything he is feeling.

Melleson argued that after a phobic person has done this a number of times, he becomes so bored with phobic fears he stops feeling them and then can even fondle cats with indifference if not with affection. Melleson suggested this could be done in easy (or rather, not impossible difficult) steps.

WAF Recruiter Will Visit Here Tomorrow

A/1c Esther White, recruiter for the Air Force WAF, will be at the Post Office tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. to interview women interested in careers in the service.

She will also talk to college women interested in direct commissions in the Air Force and attendance at Officers' Candidate School.

LAST TRY — By an ironic twist, this pretty girl stands between a convicted killer and the electric chair. She's Columbus, Ohio, attorney Lois Lanker, appointed by the National Legal Aid Society to take the final plea of Clevelander Walter J. Byomin, 42, to the U.S. Supreme Court. Byomin has been sentenced to death for the murder of a Wellington, Ohio policeman in 1957.

TV, Radio To Lose Top Journalist

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — When Edward R. Murrow leaves CBS July 1 on a year's leave of absence, television and radio will lose its foremost journalist.

Under the terms of his contract, which has several years to run, Murrow says he is obligated legally and morally to return.

"You're talking to a tired 50-year-old who wants a rest," he told me. "It's an age to enjoy some travel and contemplation if you have the time. That's all there is to my requesting a leave."

Since Murrow did not tell me more, it would be presumptuous to try to read his mind. Yet from a variety of sources other than Murrow, one can gather facts that should bear substantially on his contemplations while traveling . . .

Murrow, Edward R., fiftyish, reporter. Health: excellent. Personal life: happy; a wife, a son, a farm in Pawling, N.Y., that's a pleasant home. Temperament: reserved, some say "shy," extremely slow to anger, cool and lucid when the going's rough. Acquaintances: innumerable. Intimate friends: extremely few.

Financial worries: none for the rest of his life. Principal interests: the communication of ideas to people, his craft as a reporter. Principal concern: "I believe this country is in grave perhaps mortal danger."

Achievements: employed by CBS for 25 years, principally as a reporter. Did a hitch as a network executive, didn't like it. His "See It Now" series an outstanding contribution to TV journalism, a classic in its field, the recipient of innumerable awards.

ESB To Mail Forms Early

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Department of Employment Security will attempt to head off an "anticipated deluge of questions" from employers on tax-rate changes.

Executive Director Robert B. Kimble says the department plans to make an early mailing of tax forms and letters explaining the changes for the first quarter of this year.

The letters, Kimble said, will be mailed early next month to employers covered by the Maryland Unemployment Insurance law.

Conversation Pieces Being Sought By Antique Collectors

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's something new in the business of collecting the old.

Today's antiquers are concentrating on the "different" finds—from suits of armor to totem poles—which make better conversation pieces in the home than collections of old porcelain or glass, even if they are not as valuable.

Take time to browse New York's Second and Third avenues, where every other shop seems to deal in some phase of antiquity. It is amazing what has been emptied from attics to fill store windows.

There are those suits of armor, handed down from heaven-knows-whose militant ancestor; old diving helmets; gaming devices; cigar store Indians; weathervanes; coffee mills; churns; wooden well-buckets; bird houses whittled by some patient early settler; "anting decoys; whirligigs which once decorated fence posts; figure-heads from old sailing vessels; shopkeepers' signs or plaques saying "stage coach stops here"; andscapes and portraits done by tinerant artists, the results now called "primitives," and even "wanted" posters from pre-FBI days offering $50 reward for horse thieves dead or alive.

And all are selling.

"People buy for fun, no longer for investment," said Henry Coger, a native of Jonesboro, Ark., who with his partner, John Bihler, formerly of Chicago, run a well-cluttered hangout for collectors of the unusual.

Coger figures there are three basic reasons for the changing taste of antiques collectors. They no longer can afford the servants to help clean elegant collections of old glass, china and figures, have no room to display such collections, and no longer are interested in gathering together the traditional.

Coger and Bihler do most of their antiques hunting at antiques fairs—"the nation's attics long since have been emptied," said Coger.

"There is a real shortage of antiques," said Coger, "and in all fields from fine old European furniture to early American cookie boards.

"It will only get worse. In our present world of mass production there is so little made which can stand the test of time."

House, Senate Votes Planned On Tax Bills

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A $7,700,000 road tax package came up for amendments in the West Virginia House of Delegates today while the Senate was to vote on a property transfer tax to raise $3,000,000 for schools.

The highway revenue bills include a one-cent increase in the six-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax and higher fees for motor vehicle and drivers' licenses. They passed the Senate Tuesday and will be up for House passage Friday unless they meet unexpected delays.

A Senate vote had been scheduled Wednesday on the 1 per cent property transfer tax, but was delayed so that technical amendments can be made.

Action Speeded Up

The sudden speed-up in action on revenue bills and other major legislation was marked Tuesday by:

—Senate passage of a bill to raise an estimated $3,120,000 for state colleges and the University through a $50-per-semester entrance fee.

—House approval of a bill to liberalize workmen's compensation benefits, including an increase from $20 to $23 in weekly benefits for disabled workmen and from $65 to $70 in monthly widows' benefits.

Senate approval of the college entrance fee bill came by a 29-3 margin with only Sens. O.G. Hedrick (D-Marion), Roy Parker (D-Monroe) and Arch W. Riley (D-Ohio) opposed.

The Senate Finance Committee, which substituted it for a bill originally designed to raise tuition charges, estimated it would yield $1,720,000 a year for the nine state colleges and $1,400,000 for WVU and Potomac State. Two-thirds would be earmarked for building construction and most of the remainder for faculty salaries. House approval is still required.

Approved by the Senate and returned to the House for concurrence in amendments were bills to allow state college students and their spouses cast absentee ballots if otherwise qualified to vote, and to revise laws governing the state board of accountancy.

Legislature Disapproves Of SRC Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature is on record disapproving Road Commission plans to include a "Ravenswood loop" on Interstate 77 between Charleston and Parkersburg.

A resolution called on the SRC to abandon such plans as opposed to "the interests of the people" was adopted by the House Wednesday following earlier approval by the Senate, whose Roads Committee originated the measure.

The issue is whether the multiple-lane superhighway should follow a more direct route near Ripley or swing west in a loop toward Ravenswood, designated as "Ripley west."

The resolution said the loop would add $9,000,000 to constriction costs.

Keyser Key Club Attends Meeting

KEYSER — Members of the Key Club of Keyser High School, under sponsorship of the Keyser Kiwanis Club, were in Petersburg yesterday for an inter-school meeting.

Water Situation Aired By Barton Council

BARTON—Town officials are continuing efforts to secure a better water supply for residents of this community.

Last night some 60 interested persons met with Mayor Arthur Hoffa and councilmen at the American Legion home and discussed the possibilities of getting a more adequate water supply.

Maurice Lamberson, one of the councilmen, spoke on the possibility of bettering the supply by building a secondary dam near the present dam located on Butcher Run about a mile from the corporate limits of the community.

Mayor Hoffa said he and the councilmen have agreed to make an appointment with Rep. John R. Foley to learn about possible federal aid necessary for a survey.

The mayor said he and town officials have been attempting to relieve the situation but the cost of improving the supply will be high.

Some 30 residents of the Dogwood Flat section of Barton last night indicated they would like to become incorporated as part of the community.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of getting the services of a resident physician. The community has been without the services of a doctor for about 10 or 15 years when Dr. Samuel Boucher maintained an office there.

It was pointed out at the meeting that two rooms next to the Post Office are available as office space for a physician. The secretary of the Allegany County Medical Association will be contacted to learn if there is a possibility of getting a doctor at Barton.

At the present time, residents are getting the services of physicians at Lonaconing and the Tri-Towns.

Moorefield Legion Post Readies For Visit Of State Commander

MOOREFIELD — The John M. Golliday Post of the American Legion will hold a shrimp supper for members on Monday, March 11, at 7:30 p. m., according to an announcement by Edward Bill, post commander.

Bill said that Lincoln Cox, state department commander, will address the members. Also on the program will be William Jackson, Charles Town, 10th District commander.

Mayor P. W. Clarke and Councilmen Ervin Bowman, Chester Hiett, J. W. Rohrbaugh, E. L. Puffenberger and Devaul Schell have been invited to attend the meeting.

The annual membership drive is under way, according to Commander Bill, and teams for the 1959 campaign are soliciting memberships among former members and veterans eligible to join the Legion.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Not Yet Perfect

THREE RECENT near-collisions between commercial and military aircraft should get the very closest study, particularly in light of the fact that air safety rules have been vastly improved since the flurry of mid-air crashes that began with the Grand Canyon tragedy in 1956. These are among the principal precautions taken today which did not exist in 1956: All pure jet flights at altitudes of 24,000 feet and over are on instrument flight plans, are under air traffic control guidance from the ground, and are monitored the whole way by radar. On three great "skyways" coast to coast and 10 miles wide, all planes flying at altitudes from 15,000 to 22,000 feet are under "positive control." That means every aircraft in those zones flies an instrument plan, is directed from the ground, and is protected by a "cocoon" of air space.

UNDER A PLAN initiated last July by the airlines themselves, all commercial aircraft flying at altitudes 10,000 feet and over rely on instrument flight rules and place themselves under air traffic control. This gives them solid protection against each other, but not against business, private or military craft which do not choose to follow the same rules. At and near at least 40 busy U. S. military and naval air bases, the heavy burden of military flying has been separated either geographically or procedurally (by allotting specific air channels) from commercial and other air traffic. More such plans are being worked on steadily.

IN ADDITION to all this, there is in service today substantially more radar, more traffic control equipment, more of other electronic devices and the personnel to operate these safeguards than existed in 1956. And more is coming into use almost every day. In at least two of the recent near-miss cases, those involving an Eastern Electra and a Capital Viscount, the presumed circumstances of flight—including altitude—should have afforded a high degree of protection. What we need to know is whether there was any deliberate or accidental departure from flight plans, whether the military craft were or were not from "controlled" bases, whether or not they themselves had filed flight plans with the CAA. Whatever the ultimate findings, these incidents stress the fact that for all our recent gains air traffic control is still imperfect and much urgent work remains to be done.

Girls Will Be Ladies

FATHERS ARE inclined to be somewhat testy when their sons of early Boy Scout age show interest in dancing, girls and other such folderol. Fathers, thus confronted with evidence that the lad is growing up, take comfort in generalizations about what rough-and-ready outdoor boys they were—until well into their high school years, to hear them tell it. Now comes science, in the shape of an Iowa State College sociologist, with justification for the modern boy's early concern with the opposite sex. He has to be aware of feminine wiles at an earlier age these days, research indicates, because girls are becoming aware of young ladyhood earlier than in the past. It's a matter, though the sociologist doesn't put it thus, of self defense. There was a time when a boy could go along until his mid-teens without finding girls much of a hindrance. That time seems to have vanished forever, thanks to influences that make girls want to be young ladies when they ought to be playing baseball. Oh, well, that's progress—alas.

To End All Bottles

THEY DO THINGS in a big way Down Under. This was brought strikingly to the attention of Londoners attending a function at Australia House when a five-foot bottle of South Australian sherry was produced to regale the guests. While this can scarcely be regarded as an incident of historic importance, there is a certain fascination about it. This giant bottle, named Adelaide after the center of the Australian wine industry, makes other giant bottles seem miniature. Winebibbers ordinarily feel quite festive if their host provides, say, a Jeroboam. A Jeroboam holds four quarts. The celebrative spirit takes wings when a gathering sports a Methuselah (eight quarts), a Balthazar (16 quarts) or, wonder of wonders, the mighty 20-quart Nebuchadnezzar. But these glassy monsters seem scarcely visible in the shadow of the Adelaide, which holds a full 131 quarts.

Governors See Danger In Johnson Policies

WASHINGTON—In his attack on the monopolistic character of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson's management of the Senate majority, Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin is far more closely attuned to the wave length of the 35 Democratic Governors than to that of the 64 Democratic Senators.

The Governors are the ones who scent danger in the Johnson compromises which anchor the party in the center of a well-trodden highway. Governors are much closer to the political range of the voters and much more isolated than Senators. The customers couldn't care less how the Governors get their political effects, but turn a close and beady eye on the results.

WASHINGTON has always tended to become absorbed in the technical maneuvering of the House and Senate, in how it's done fully as much as in what is done. It has been dazzled by Johnson's technical proficiency, which is almost entirely responsible for the praise and press he has had.

There are many reasons why so much attention has been paid to it. First of all, this city literally loves politics." It has been starved for leadership and for the interplay of conflicting ideas and ambitions.

Johnson has rarely allowed Democratic conflict to emerge on the Senate floor; his skill in averting it by cloakroom maneuver is the show, the fascinating performance so often glowingly described.

Even so, he could not get so much attention if the performance at the White House were not so lackluster. To put it bluntly, it is a bore to press and public.

IT IS EQUALLY true that if a Democratic President occupied the White House, he and not Johnson would be the focus of attention. What such a President said and did would be the party line. If he followed the Democratic tradition, he would be a strong and commanding leader and the likes of Johnson would have to fall in line.

It is fair to add also that Johnson for four years prior to 1959 made a record of achievement with a hairline majority of many diverse elements and strong-willed men. For that, no one can ever take credit away from him.

Proxmire's point is that Johnson is in a rut. He argues that Johnson is compromising major issues out of a habit no longer dictated by necessity, now that a strong Democratic majority exists. The point was daringly taken, for Johnson has power and can be vindictive on occasion.

IN BELLING the cat, Proxmire has had the courage to do what a substantial number of Democratic Senators, at least, have been too timorous to attempt. Because they have not been challenged by a strong President, they have taken the easy Johnson way. They have gotten by with it because the Johnson technique of obliterating the sharp and controversial points of the issues has left the public apathetic and poorly informed.

With no strong winds then blowing from any direction, it has been more comfortable for Senators to quell their doubts and fears about the real wisdom of Johnson's course while awaiting whatever direction time and circumstances may provide.

Capital Eyes Arab Parley Feelers

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A new idea for a Little Summit conference between leaders of the Arab world and western powers is kicking around Washington and at the United Nations in New York.

The approach is through a suggestion that President Gamal Abdel Nasser and heads of other Arab governments be invited to the United States. The justification is that this would be a return of the visits which Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and Assistant Secretary William M. Rountree made to the Middle East last year.

The subject matter for such talks, according to the preliminary feeler, would be to see if some way could be found to disengage the Middle East from the cold war conflict between Soviet Russia and the western powers.

In effect this would be carrying the idea of Arab neutrality one step further.

BUT THE contention is made that in the long run this would bring the Middle East into closer relations with the West. And if that happened, it is maintained that the Arab countries would be less receptive to influence from Soviet Russia.

This whole plan is obviously of Arab origin. There has been no ofifcial State Department acknowledgment of reaction to the suggestion. It has been cooly received in first informal discussions with U. S. officials. There has been no encouragement to the Arabs to make a formal presentation to the State Department for a full conference.

As a subject for speculation, however, the idea is not without interest. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee under its new chairman, J. William Fulbright, of Arkansas, and the repeated tongue lashings of Democratic whip, Sen. Mike Mansfield, of Montana, have urged the State Department to seek new solutions for old, stalemated crises. Imaginative statesmanship could conceivably improve U. S.-Arab relations.

WHAT THE Arabs are understood to mean by "disengaging the Middle East from the cold war" is abandonment by the U. S. of the belief that there is only one crisis in the world—the struggle against communism.

They maintain that the U. S. should stop insisting on pacts and bases for defense against the Soviet Union before giving aid to Middle East countries.

The weakness of this argument is that if the U. S. and western European countries should act to disengage the Middle East from the cold war, it would by no means cause the Communists to disengage and discontinue their efforts to take over that part of the world.

On the contrary, any relaxation of western defenses in the Middle East might only serve to step up Communist subversion.

ARAB leaders point out, however, that relations between Russia and the Middle Eastern countries have been going from bad to worse in recent months.

Nasser has cracked down on Communists in his United Arab Republic of Syria and Egypt. Russia's Khrushchev in reply castigated the U.A.R. leaders in his report to the 21st Party Congress for their charges that Communists were working against Arab nationalism.

Communist agitation in Iraq, tending to take that country into the Soviet orbit, is also regarded as hostile to the interests of Arab unity.

Communist countries' releases of Jews from Rumania and now Russia, for migration into Israel, is also regarded as anti-Arab in purpose.

It is this situation which may have encouraged Arab spokesmen in this country to explore possibilities for improving relations with the West. It is intimated that any moves in this direction by the United States would be welcomed by Arab leaders.

Assignment America

NEW YORK — This is the era of the "taste treat" and of the "new oral sensations." You puts down your money and you takes your cherce. Frozen bistec delicioso, powdered wiener gugelhupf, ready-mix rib roast.

For before dinner there soon will be capsuled martinis, and for after dinner, sponge cake made from real sponges to cut costs and calories. The American public will try anything, long as it's new and well-advertised.

THE GREATEST headway currently is in the field of tars and nicotine. Having been advised by some people to cut down on our smoking we are, naturally, smoking more than ever before. And, in the search for more "taste thrills" for the smoker a number of tobacco merchants are coming out daily with titillating new products to puff on.

There are delightful little cigarillos frequently known as "whiffs," and intended to be savored like cigars rather than inhaled — but who tends toward intentions these days?

AT THE FLOSSY night clubs in New York, we now see women puffing on cheroots that are slimmer and shorter than queen-sized cigarettes. They taste like hubby's Havanas and smell like the blackest tobacco in the back rooms of Paris bistros, and the ladies are delighted with them.

Not only are they discovering a new sensation for the taste buds — they are attracting attention again, for the first time since they shocked the maitres de with a chemise. That was in 1957. It's been a long time between sensations.

WE RETURNED from one of these supper clubs the other night, reeking of Turkish and musing wistfully on the old days when ladies chewed gum to be daring, and discovered a special delivery letter.

It came from a friend of long standing who said he has just been appointed an executive of the "Snuff Information Center," which is kicking off the first active campaign since George III's reign to push snuff.

He said that in these days of hot interest in cool smoking, snuff is not to be sniffed at.

And he meant it literally.

"MORE THAN six million American men and women use snuff today at the rate of 36-million pounds a year," he wrote. "But the reason you probably weren't aware of it, is that they no longer sniff snuff.

"About 95 per cent of today's snuff users take it orally — that is, pinched between the thumb and forefinger, or spooned up with the lid of the container, and placed between the gum and the lower lip."

Another taste treat, obviously.

FOR PEOPLE who wouldn't know snuff from powdered bananas, it is a preparation of pulverized, flavored tobacco. It acquired a bad reputation in the days of the American Revolution, when the rugged colonials began associating it with the lace-frilled dandies who hung around Elizabethan courts, sniffing at snuff—and our forefathers.

It continued to have its adherents, however, and today is growing in popularity (according to the "snuff information" people).

Chief users of no-sniff snuff are farmers, who haven't time to smoke cigarettes, and industrial workers, who operate in plants where smoking is taboo.

BUT THEY HOPE to appeal, of course, to a broader section of society, including women in search of the new taste thrill and attention-getter. And from what I've seen of ladies lately, they can't miss.

Wait'll Marcia gets a load of that new pink snuff. . .she'll flip.

"Maybe," I can hear her giggling to Myrtle, "they'll even think it's marijuana. . ."

Right On The Line

CAIRO—One reform we would like to see brother Nasser make as he goes about the difficult task of building up Egypt is to place a limit on the amount of time a belly dancer can hog a night club floor show.

One of those fullblown babes shook, rattled and rolled for a solid—make that flabby—hour the other night at a party the Egyptian representative of 20th Century-Fox threw for Hugh O'Brien at a local deadfall or vice versa named the Montana.

SHE EXHAUSTED two important items after only 30 seconds of her grind—her repertoire and her audience. The rest of the hour was more of the same, done sometimes on the dance floor but much of the time on the ringside tables.

AFTER AN HOUR of the bumps, done to the strains of an orchestra that took its pitch from a piece of chalk being scraped the wrong way across a blackboard, a guy next to me said, "imagine that bum Farouk used to sit through nine of these every night."

THERE IS NO more stunning exhibition of ancient art anywhere in the world than in the Cairo Museum's huge gallery devoted to the treasures found in 1922 in the tomb of King Tutankhamen. From his exquisite ostrich feather fan down through the thousands of precious objects buried with the 19-year-old king nearly 2,000 years before the birth of Christ, there is nothing that fails to provoke breathless wonder.

Archaeologist Howard Carter was the first to step into the tomb on that historic day of discovery. The head of the expedition, Lord Carnarvon, was still outside. Carter sprayed his search light here and there in the murky place and was struck dumb.

"WHAT HAVE YOU found, Carter," Carnarvon called impatiently.

And from the depths of the unparallelled find Carter cried out, "marvels, marvels!"

Gives a fellow goose bumps.

We are able to present today another memorable exclamation evoked by the incredibly varied treasure that was collected and buried with Tutankhamen. Frank Conniff, a Danbury, Conn., Irishman who has tucked away many a departed relative in his time, looked down the long line of showcases in King Tut's gallery and muttered, "what a wake that must've been."

EGYPTIAN employees around the new Nile-Hilton have a touching concern to be of service. They will quickly and nervously shout "certainly" when you ask them to do something, even though they may have only the slightest idea about what you want. They feel it would be impolite to ask a person to repeat.

We asked an electrician to repair a burned-out fuse in our room. "Certainly," he said. "I'll have the housekeeper send you the pillow immediately."

Last night we ordered a roast beef sandwich. "Certainly," the waiter said and returned in half an hour with a huge plate of fois gras.

THEN THERE was the trouble experienced by Welles Hangen, NBC's crack correspondent. During the recent riots in the Belgian Congo, Hangen asked a Cairo travel agent to check on how best he could fly to Leopoldville. The man was delighted to be of service. Half an hour later he called back and reported everything was arranged.

"You fly first from Cairo to London and then take the local," he said briskly. "Are you nuts?" Hangen asked. "Why should I fly to London and take a local from there to Leopoldville?" After a pause the man asked him if he would mind repeating the last city. Hangen did.

"I thought you meant Liverpool,' 'the fellow said wistfully.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—"All the good ideas come from the heart," said Maurice Chevalier.

There are few men his age today who can match France's gay boulevardier in either grace or gratitude.

"I am 71, and have been in show business now for 60 years—yes, I started at 11," he said. "I take my job seriously, because it is my whole life, my whole happiness.

"You have to love a profession that has been so good to you."

Chevalier, who quit a dubious future in a thumbtack factory to become the most durable song-and-dance man of his time, retains a charm that is financial as well as physical. Nearly 30 years ago he was making $20,000 a week, and today is more solvent than the French government. Or the American government, for that matter.

SEATED IN THE living room of his hotel suite, Chevalier was the picture of a timeless, old-fashioned sport. He wore a smart plaid suit whose pattern looks as if it had been woven in Braille. His spring-blue eyes crinkled in a ruddy complexion.

But at 180 pounds, his agile frame gave a slight hint of portliness.

"If I were intelligent, I would weigh a little less," he sighed. "But I am getting at a moment in my life when it is hard to refuse to eat a little more, or drink a little more, if I feel like it.

"To give way to all the bad instincts that we all have—that is what defeats most people. When I see young artists who are broken by liquor and things like that, it makes me sad.

"I AM NOT a moralist—ah, no!—I only know what is good. I know you never run a risk in doing less of anything tempting, and you always run a risk in doing too much of anything.

"Too much of anything is too much—whether it is virtue or vice."

Chevalier is immensely pleased over the international success of his latest movie.

Despite his light-hearted air, work has been a religion with him. His art is endlessly rehearsed.

But the old boy, now minus his famed straw hat, still wears life like it was a flower in his buttonhole.

"Take exercise? Ah, no!" he shook his head. "But I stopped smoking 25 years ago, and I drink very little.

"Whisky is the best drink—when you can indulge it. It gives you a lift. So" — he laughed—"So you must not drink it until you fall down."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—It isn't often that I try to write a eulogy about a friend who has passed on, because I don't seem to have the gift for it. But I was so impressed by Rep. Daniel A. Reed while he was alive that I keep remembering all sorts of things about him now that he is dead.

Dan Reed was old, but his spirit wasn't. At 83 his robust humor was still 100 per cent intact. Only a few years ago a young man named Robert Sullivan had the temerity to contest the veteran in the Republican primaries. Sullivan made the tactical and strategic error of saying Mr. Reed had one foot in the grave. Dan routed the upstart by saying his foot would be planted all right, and Sullivan would feel where.

The New Yorker was the Republican dean of Congress, but even the hard days on which his political confreres had fallen failed to depress or daunt the wonderful old man. He said he'd seen Republicans fall and rise before—and Democrats do the reverse. He had—many times.

UNLIKE MANY personages who have to get re-elected, Rep. Reed wasn't afraid of jokes on himself. He didn't feel that a story in which he was the butt impaired his dignity. Just recently he told me a typical Dan Reed anecdote.

The villain of the piece was his son, William, now a grandfather. When William was a baby, Dan Reed was football coach at Cornell University. The father decided his offspring would grow to be as tough as himself.

Whenever young Bill would hurt himself, the father would say: "Don't cry! Just grit your teeth!"

One day the child came into the dressing room after a tough Cornell game. Dan recounted the episode as follows:

"I was busy dressing. Bill began rummaging through a pile of athletic equipment in a corner. Unfortunately for myself I didn't pay much attention to him.

"When I was almost dressed I bent down to tie a shoelace. Bill took advantage of this to try out his athletic prowess. He took a powerhouse swing with a baseball bat and brought it down on my head.

"When I came to, I looked up at him bleary-eyed. Whereupon he said: 'Don't cry, father. Grit your teeth.'

"I gave him no further coaching in being tough."

Washington is a turnover town. Its newspapermen try to keep detached so they won't miss a member of Congress too much when he goes. But Dan Reed was in Congress for 40 consecutive years, and its going to be a long time before many of us can forget him.

SENATOR Hubert H. Humphrey broke down his taciturnity the other day and vouchsafed a few words in the Senate. The monosyllabic Minnesotan introduced a bill to amend the Davis-Bacon Act governing the payment of prevailing wages on Federal construction work. He began:

"May I say at the outset, that major defects in the Davis-Bacon Act have become apparent over the years."

Reticently, he proceeded to amplify this in several thousand words.

That self-same day, Rep. James Roosevelt, of California, inserted an extension of remarks in the Congressional Record. He said he was offering a House bill that would be a companion to one in the Senate. Rep. Roosevelt said:

"May I say at the outset, that major defects in the Davis-Bacon Act have become apparent over the years."

He went on to repeat, word for word, everything Humphrey had said in the Senate.

In this measure at least, the son of FDR and the man who craves to become one of FDR's successors are not only companionable, but brotherly; in fact, identical twins.

Pullen Backs Non-Citizen Teachers

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr. Maryland superintendent of schools, now may turn more easily to another source of teachers for the State's public school system.

The State Board of Education yesterday agreed to allow Dr. Pullen to hire non-citizens of the United States for teaching jobs.

The board had a regulation saying "only citizens of the United States shall be employed in the public school system in the counties or admitted to the State teachers colleges."

However, the board's by-laws were amended to allow the appointment of foreigners.

Dr. Pullen said exceptions had been made in the past and that the attorney general had ruled the regulation could be waived for good reason.

Dr. Pullen suggested that the regulation be maintained but that he be allowed to make exceptions without first having to consult the board.

The Montgomery County Council of Parent-Teachers Assn., in a letter to Dr. Pullen, asked that foreigners be permitted to teach in public schools. The letter said non-citizens are "potential source of excellent teachers."

Stock Market Has Five Billion Shares

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every time the average of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rises 20 cents, the valuation of all listed shares rises by more than $1 billion.

That's because there are more than five billion shares listed on the big board—the last total available as of Jan. 31 was 5,074,653,334 shares.

Incidentally as of the end of January, the value of all the listed shares amounted to $280,825,782,527. That's only about $5 billion less than the national debt.

Of course, if anyone tried to liquidate that stock to pay the debt through confiscation of the stock—as might be done in Russia—the value would shrink like a sponge in reverse.

For the big stocks, this market pretty much the same as it was in 1929 when the listings first reached the billion-share mark. The outstanding difference today is that the shares are in smaller pieces and there are more of them. It's nearly all done by splitups.

Stock Splits

Take General Motors Corp., for example. Back in 1907, there were 825,568 shares of GM outstanding. In 1920 there was a 10 for 1 split which lifted the total to 20,539,344 shares.

In 1924 GM had a reverse split — 1-for-4 —which brought the shares down to 5,161,599.

A 50 per cent stock dividend in 1926 raised the total to 8,700,000 shares. In 1927, a 2-for-1 split raised it to 17,400,000 shares. Then a 2½ for 1 split brought the total to 43,500,000 shares in 1929.

There was a long interval until 1950 when a 2-for-1 split boosted the outstanding stock to 88,208,630 shares. A 3-for-1 split in 1955 lifted the total to 230,939,096.

The company issues stock from time to time for its incentive plan and today it has 282 million shares outstanding. This tops the list.

The other big listings include in order of size: Standard oil (N.J.) 215 million shares; American Telephone (after April 15), 212 million; General Electric, 88 million; Sears Roebuck, 75 million; Standard Oil of California, 63 million; Texas Co., 60 million; U.S. Steel, 53 million; Socony Mobil, 49 million, and du Pont 46 million.

"Little Market"

These members of the Big Ten have together a total of 843 million shares of about 17 per cent of all the stock listed. Thus they make up a little stock market of their own. If each one would rise $1.25 a share, their total listings would rise in value by more than $1 billion.

When American Telephone's 3-for-1 split becomes fact on April 15, the date of the stockholders' meeting, the total of listed shares will rise by 141 million shares.

The value of a company's stock doesn't mean that's the asset value of the company as carried on its books. General Motors as of the end of 1957 carried its stock at the par of $1.67 a share with a value of $468,315,160. Right now it's worth nearly $13 billion in the market.

Standard Oil (N.J.) carries its assets around $8 billion and its stock is worth more than $11 billion.

All of the foregoing is carried to indicate that the dollar changes in stock valuation do not mean that anyone is richer by the big figures. All the holders of all the stock listed are richer on paper by one billion dollars if the market goes up 20 cents a share on average.

Where does one get such an average? It's the Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks which has been uncannily running neck and neck with the actual market average as calculated each month by the exchange of all stocks. For example, on Jan. 30, the average of all stocks by actual figures was $55.34 and the Standard & Poor's index was 55.42.

Airline Pilot Had No Illusion; Boys Admit Shooting Tracer Bullets Into Sky

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Capital Airlines pilot was correct. He did see tracer bullets pass the nose and wing of his Viscount plane as he was about to land at Friendship Airport.

Two boys admitted yesterday they were shooting tracer bullets into the sky the night of Feb. 17.

Federal officials, however, released them. The teen-agers, FBI agents said, had no intention of shooting at the plane. It just happened to have come into their range.

"We have no proof of intent," Leon H. A. Pierson, U. S. attorney, said. He explained that intent to damage an intestate carrier is necessary before the government has a case.

FBI agents said an 18-year-old service station attendant at Elkridge and a 17-year-old companion admitted firing bullets into the sky the night of the plane incident. The shooting was being done from a quarry near Dorsey.

The older boy had a dozen tracer bullets which he said was given him by a soldier-friend stationed at Fort Meade. He was using a .30-caliber rifle.

Although the tracers were intended for machine gun use, agents said they may be fired from rifles.

Capt. R. M. Stair was pilot of the plane carrying eight passengers and three crewmen on a flight from Chicago to Washington with stops at Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

The bodies we now recognize as bacteria first were found by Anton van Leeuwenhoeg in 1683, but the first successful study was made by Louis Pasteur.

Electronic Ghosts Set In Industry

Automatic "Bosses" Would Speed Up And Expand Production

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Electronic "ghosts" are ready to step into American factories, boss complicated machines, speed up —and expand—production.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology said so Wednesday.

The research engineers call it the Automatically Programmed Tool system—APT. They hail it as a technological breakthrough in turning out complex, critically accurate parts for aircraft and for industry generally.

Two years of research in the MIT Servomechanisms Laboratory was sponsored by the Air Force, Air Materiel Command. Nineteen aircraft plants around the country cooperated.

Some day, says Douglas T. Ross of MIT, every part of the vast industrial machinery of the United States will benefit from APT. He is head of the computer applications group of the Servomechanisms Laboratory.

A giant machine tool stands in the MIT laboratory — incredibly working by itself. You won't see the "ghost" behind that operation, nor hear it muttering a strange language—likethis:

"On kul, on spn, go rgt, tl left, circle-ctr, plus 2, plus 3, radius, plus 5."

Nevertheless an electronic ghost, working with that strange APT language, calculated and prepared the complicated mathematical instructions which tell the machine just what to do. What is the "ghost" saying?

In relatively simple English it goes like this:

"Turn on the coolant; turn on the spindle, go right with the tool on the left side along the circle whose center is located at x equals 2, y equals e, with a radius of five."

The general idea is this:

A quiet revolution has been going on for 10 years in factories making airplane-type parts. Production has been growing more and more automatic.

Now comes this APT breakthrough. Digital computers have been married to automatically controlled machine tools.

The MIT engineers have found a way to write general directions in the strange, but easily learned APT language of up to six-letter words—directions which the big digital computer can understand.

From these instructions the big computer takes over the job—actually working out the complicated mathematics. Recorded on tape, these instructions tell the small special-purpose computer controlling the machine tool just what to do. Intricate metal parts are then turned out with great accuracy.

Here's one example of the programming time saved. It takes 200 man-hours to program, manually, a typical wing rib shape. The same programming job takes five hours by the APT-computer method.

Viaduct Pumping Station Checked

The last of three pumping stations needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project underwent its final inspection yesterday.

The inspection was made by the Corps of Engineers officials, E. J. Albrecht Company officials, Mayor J. Edwin Keech, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and Roy Maphis, assistant maintenance superintendent.

Nuzum said he was told several minor deficiencies found in the inspection by Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, will be completed today or tomorrow and be followed by a recommendation that the unit be turned over to the city for maintenance.

The Viaduct pumping station was completed by the Albrecht firm for about $100,000 as part of the $2,115,879 contract for sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the flood project.

The two other units, the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations, were built by the same firm for about $768,000.

Board Gives Approval To Liquor Site

Transferring License From Centre Street To LaVale Backed 2 to 1

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners today voted to grant a transfer of the package liquor goods store license of the Potomac Fruit Market, Inc., from North Centre and Frederick streets to a site in LaVale.

Voting against the granting the liquor license transfer was Edward J. Ryan, who recently was named to the board. Ryan, a Democrat, said that a large number of persons signed the remonstrance against issuance of the license and he felt that their wishes should be acceded to.

Stanley O. Hamilton, the Republican member, and Howard Vandegrift, a Democrat, both voted for the transfer. They said that testimony in the remonstrance hearing February 17 showed that there are 22 commercial establishments in the section and that there had been an on-sale beer license in an adjacent property at one time.

All three board members agreed that the remonstrants' testimony that property values would be effected and that there would be an adverse affect on children who take busses to school from a nearby intersection were not valid.

Earl Allen, who is one of the licensees, testified concerning the commercial aspects of the section along U. S. Route 40 from the site of the proposed premises and the Six Mile House. The other licensees are Edna Griffith and Bertha Walker.

Milton Gerson was attorney for the applicants and Earl E. Manges was counsel for the remonstrants.

Liquor Board MakesChange In Procedure

The practice of holding hearings on two days for applicants for renewal of alcoholic beverage licenses was abolished today by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage Licenses Commissioners.

Edward J. Ryan, recently named to the board by Gov. Tawes, recommended at today's board meeting that the practice be discontinued. He said it was unnecessary and only caused a jam in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court, on the two days set aside.

Stanley O. Hamilton, board chairman, and Howard Vandegrift, the other members of the board, agreed that the system be scrapped.

Instead, the board said that persons who apply for renewal of their licenses will be able to obtain their permits by going direcily to the clerk's office on or after April 21.

The board said that applications for new licenses will be called in for discussion and licenses against whom complaints have been lodged will also be called in before the board for settlement of problems.

The new procedure will be more efficient and will also eliminate long waiting by licensees at the Court House which resulted in past years, it was stated.

It was stressed by the board that licensees make applicant for renewals on or before March 25 so they can be processed and advertised as required by law. Any delinquent applicants will face the prospect of being without their permits to operate, it was pointed out. Licenses become effective May 1.

CHURCH SPEAKER — Rev. Paul H. Hetrick, of Brookville, Pa., a Nazarene missionary to Africa, will speak tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the First Church of the Nazarene here. Nine other Nazarene churches in the area will participate in the services.

U. S. Weather Unit Honors Oakland Man

R. E. Weber Among 21 Cited For Service For Over 50 Years

Ralph E. Weber, Oakland, was one of the 21 citizen observers honored today by the Weather Bureau for making daily weather observations for over 50 years without pay.

The 21 men and women are the veterans of a nationwide corps of 7,000 volunteers who read rain guages and thermometers daily.

Weber is the No. 2 observer in Maryland from the point of service, exceeded only by D. Paul Oswald of Hagerstown who started one year before him in 1902.

The accommodating Garrett Countian holds the honor of reading the lowest surface temperature ever recorded south of the Mason-Dixon Line—a bitter 40 degrees below zero on January 13, 1912.

Weber, Oswald, and the 19 other observers were recognized by the Weather Bureau, in a special citation edition of the Daily Weather Map issued over the United States. They have their pictures and biographies printed for all to read.

The salute to the 21 men and women couldn't be placed on a more appropriate place than on the back of the weather map.

F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau, paid tribute to work of his unsalaried, and often unsung, observers.

"Without the daily records of these cooperative observers," Reichelderfer said, "our knowledge of the climate of the United States would be meager."

The data from the cooperative observers, scattered all over the country, helps weather forecasting. As the records are built up over the years, they also help answer such far-reaching scientific questions as: "Is our climate changing, and if so, how?"

Each of the observers receives from the Weather Bureau a rain guage and a small shelter with a maximum and minimum thermometer. Every day in the year the observers log the readings. They all file monthly reports.

Beyond that, they often become the local weatherman for the area and spend much time answering inquiries about the coldest February and the wettest August in local history.

State Senate Considering Appointees

Walsh Named Regent At University; Some Big Jobs Unfilled

The Senate of the General Assembly has before it 39 statewide appointments and 578 local jobs in Baltimore City and the counties submitted by Gov. Tawes for confirmation.

The governor has more than 130 other state jobs to be filled later, including memberships on the State Roads Commission, Racing Commission and other agencies.

Conspicuously missing from the list of State appointments yesterday was one for superintendent of State Police. A spokesman for the governor said he was delaying this one "for further study" and would make a recommendation to the Legislature before it adjourns April 6.

Decision Difficult

The spokesman said Tawes was advised by the attorney general that although the constitution required the appointment to be submitted, he did not think there would be any serious legal question in delaying it. Col. Elmer F. Munshower, the present superintendent, is serving a term which expires in May.

Tawes reportedly is attempting to decide between a State Police career officer, Maj. William F. Weber, and other candidates.

Among his other appointments he named former Atty. Gen. William C. Walsh of Cumberland as a member of the University of Maryland board of regents for a nine-year term; continued Wallace Reidt of Towson as the $15,000-a-year director of the Department of Parole and Probation; named Dr. Aaron Dietz of Hyattsville to the State Board of Health, and continued Dr. George Anderson of Baltimore on that agency.

Altogether, he reappointed 19 incumbents to their jobs, including many designated by Gov. McKeldin for the minor boards and agencies.

His appointments to Baltimore City jobs reflected a strong trend toward supporters of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and faction leader Jack Pollack, as opposed to the Philip Goodman - Irvin Kovens Democratic faction which had held numerous positions under the Republican McKeldin administration.

Pollack Victory

Pollack's son-in-law, Attorney Paul A. Dorf, was named chief judge of the Traffic Court and four of the eight court appointees are identified with Pollack's organization. Mayor D'Alesandro's son, Thomas III, was named president of the Board of Election Supervisors.

Woman Delivers Own Child At Her Residence

A fifth child was born to a Lonaconing couple this morning, the delivery being made while the mother was unattended by a physician at her home on Gills Hill in that community.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Nicol at about 5 a. m., with Mrs. Nicol waiting until daylight before sending her oldest child, a six-year-old son, to a neighbor's from where her husband was called at work.

Mr. Nicol arrived home at 7:30 a. m. and then called for an ambulance to take his wife and baby to Miners Hospital in Frostburg. Attaches report mother and child 'doing fine.'

The father is employed as a night watchman at the VFW home in Lonaconing. The baby is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicol's five children.

Cosgrove and Llewellyn represent the shop students who constructed the chest under the supervision of Alexander, while the supplies were purchased by Misses Sansom and Saville and Harbaugh, Brinkman and Breighner. Under the direction of the faculty advisor.

Six Hundred Absent From Allegany Hi

The attendance picture in Allegany County schools was spotty today with increases in some schools and slight decreases in others.

Allegany High School reported the largest number absent with 615 students off due to the flu incidence. Bruce High School in Westernport listed 149 absentees as compared to 125 on Tuesday.

Fort Hill High School had 483 absent today while only 365 were away on Tuesday. Beall High in Frostburg had 89 students absent, a slight increase. Columbia Street Elementary noted a decrease with 42 off as compared to 55 on Tuesday.

Gephart Elementary listed 22 children absent, a slight increase. West Side Elementary also had a slight increase to 63 pupils compared to 54 on Tuesday. Mt. Royal Elementary has a slight increase with 43 children absent.

Valley High in Lonaconing had 133 absent compared with 162 yesterday. Beall Elementary in Frostburg had 128 pupils absent, an increase from yesterday's 113 pupils. SS. Peter and Paul parochial school had 58 absentees today, which is about the same as yesterday, while the Ursuline Academy list of students absent was 27, a slight increase.

Missionary Speaks Here

Members of nine area Nazarene churches will attend a program tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at First Church of the Nazarene, Oldtown Road, to hear Rev. Paul H. Hetrick, a missionary to Africa.

Churches at St. Clairsville, Bedford, Hyndman, Hancock, Moscow, Frostburg, Oakland, and Bethel and First Nazarene here will send delegations to the service.

This is the first time Rev. Mr. Hetrick and his family, including four children, have been in the United States on furlough since 1945.

The Hetricks have worked in Swaziland and Transvaal, South Africa, where the Nazarene missionary work is concentrated. For the last five years, Mr. Hetrick has been a teacher in a boys school at Boksburg, Transvaal.

He also served as principal of a Bible school in Stegi, Swaziland, and for a time was in charge of the boys' hostel at Lremersdorp, Swaziland.

Mr. Hetrick was born in Brookville, Pa. His formal schooling was at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Mass., where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1942. He was a pastor for five years before becoming a missionary.

Goodwill Rally Set By Methodist Youths

The Cumberland Sub-district Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold its annual goodwill rally in Cresaptown Methodist Church today at 7:30 p. m.

Fort Hill Junior Red Cross Completes Disaster Chest

The Junior Red Cross unit at Fort Hill High School has completed a project which will directly benefit a disaster area where school's and children's institutions have been affected.

The Fort Hill unit has completed the construction and fitting-out of a Red Cross chest which will eventually wind up in disaster or devastated area where school, recreational and health supplies are needed.

The chest was constructed in an industrial arts class under the direction of Lee Alexander, shop instructor, and supplies purchased under the supervision of Mrs. Albert Hast, faculty sponsor of the Fort Hill Junior Red Cross.

Mrs. John M. Robb, chairman of the high school section of the Junior Red Cross, accepted the chest on behalf of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter. She explained that the chest program was inaugurated during the 1947-48 school year, and that since that time 1,874 chests have been shipped to distressed areas.

Shop students who were chiefly responsible for the building of the chest were Lawrence Cosgrove and William Llwellyn, while the purchasing of supplies was done by Bonnie Sansom, Bonnie Saville, Hugh Brinkman and Truman Breighner.

Calvin Harbaugh assisted in the packing of the chest which was done under supervision of Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the County Red Cross Chapter.

Mrs. Hast said the Fort Hill Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y units contributed towards the purchasing of supplies aside from the donations made by the student body.

Recipients of direct aid from Junior Red Cross units from throughout the country were the surviviors of the tragic parochial school fire last fall in Chicago, Mrs. Legge pointed out, explaining that a Red Cross chest was provided for each of the 24 rooms in the school.

The Chicago parochial school students who survived the disaster also were furnished a new book bag and gift box each, which drew the comment from the archdiocesan superintendent of schools that "if the adult and junior members of the Red Cross could have seen the looks on the faces of the children they would be amply repaid."

Mrs. Legge said the Junior Red Cross chests were also provided for the schools in the southwest section of the country which were either damaged or destroyed in floods last year.

Carnival Sunday At St. Mary's

Proceeds of the benefit will be applied to the church's building fund. Plans are now being made for the construction of a new school, convent and rectory, according to Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor.

Divico said all workers should report to the parish hall this Saturday at 1 p. m. to begin setting up tables for the supper. Booths will also be erected on Saturday.

Station Inspected

Final inspection of the viaduct pumping station of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project was conducted today.

Kelly Tire Distributors Confer Here

Seventy-two Kelly-Springfield Tire Company Cumberland District distributors attended the company's 1959 spring distributor meeting at the Shrine Country Club this morning.

M. T. Powers, Kelly vice president - sales, told the distributors about Kelly's "better-than-industry" sales performance during 1958 and Kelly's production and product control improvements to handle 1959's increased consumer demand.

From the home office in Cumberland, L. J. Auker, advertising and sales promotion manager, told the distributors, "Everything points to a terrific growth in replacement tire sales volume in 1959. Industry estimates forecast renewal sales this year of better than sixty-one million passenger tires, almost nine million truck and bus tires and almost two million farm tractor and implement tires.

"The retreading business also continues to register greater and greater gains. The industry forecast for this year is approximately 30 million units for passenger retreads and 8½ million truck retreads," Auker concluded.

Other indications of a record-breaking sales year, as well as the features and benefits of the complete Kelly line of tires for 1959, were discussed by S. W. Harter, Cumberland district manager. The meeting concluded with lunch.

Board Suspends Tavern License

The license of Ruffo's Tavern in Mt. Savage was suspended for six days today by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

A plea of guilty to possession of a gaming device in the form of a tip board was entered by the licensees at today's hearing. The suspension starts March 1 and continues through March 6.

Matthew J. Mullaney was attorney for the tavern operators at the hearing. He told the board that it was a minor infraction of the law and urged leniency. The tavern licensees had been fined $100 in Trial Magistrates' Court in the gaming charge.

Long Asks Ruling On Seniority

Commissioner Seeks Clarification On Transfer Of Five

The Civil Service Commission of Cumberland was asked today to solve an issue concerning seniority rights of five Street Department employes who were transferred into the newly created Flood Maintenance Department.

John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, requested the opinion in a letter to Francis A. Kenny, chairman of the commission.

Long said the problem was broached by Guy Long, secretary of Local 812, Municipal Wokers Union, when the five men were transferred by an order introduced by Mayor J. Edwin Keech on February 16 in the council meeting.

The order was passed with a 4-1 vote with Commissioner Long against the proposal.

Seniority Retained

By that action, Roy Maphis was made foreman of the new department with Emory H. Sager, Gilbert L. Markwood, Joseph J. Soethe and Harry Sharretts as its four-man crew.

These men had been in the Street Department under a flood maintenance unit. Mayor Keech's order further stated that the five employes would retain their seniority rights.

Then this past Monday, the council tabled an order returning one of the five men, Markwood, back to the Street Department.

Markwood, the commissioner noted, who has a very good record in the street department, requested the transfer back to his former job.

Long Asks Ruling

Long stated: "For the protection of the seniority of the men in the Department of Streets and Public Property, will you please have your body rule on these changes. The Civil Service Rule on transfers states 'With the approval of the commission any regularly appointed employe of the classified service may, upon the written request of both appointing authorities involved, be transferred from the position he holds to a like position in another department. The seniority of a transferred employe shall begin anew as of the date of the transfer,' and Rule 9, Section 1, states 'Seniority of employes in the classified city service shall be confined to the department wherein employed except any special case that may be ruled upon by the commission.'"

Long asked: "How can an employe hold seniority in two departments?"

"These five transferred workers have been in the flood maintenance department under the commissioner of streets and public property since the inception of the flood maintenance section approximately two years ago. Some of the men hold additional years of seniority in the Department of Streets and Public Property," he concluded.

Wiley Ford Bridge Will Be Repaired

The State Roads Commission has opened bids on the repair of the Wiley Ford bridge across the Potomac River between Cumberland and that community in West Virginia.

The Whiting Turner Company of Baltimore made the low bid on the Wiley Ford project with an offer of $24,925 to renew the timber flooring and railing.

Firemen Called

Firemen from East Side station this morning answered an alarm at the home of James Folsom, 308 Pulaski Street.

CUF LEADERS CHAT — Prior to the start of last night's County United Fund dinner at which officers were elected and a talk on health services was given, the three men above chatted on CUF details. Left to right they are William C. Walsh, the new president of CUF; A. Earl Johnson, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, and Lewis J. Ort, outgoing president. The dinner was held at the Cumberland Country Club.

Food Prices At Retail Are Likely To Be Lower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today retail food prices are likely to average a little lower this year than in 1958 when they were at an all-time high.

The department forecast a small reduction in prices because of prospective larger supplies of pork, eggs and, at least during the first half of 1959, of fresh citrus fruits and vegetables.

There appeared to be little cause for joy among grocery-buying housewives and producers, however, because the department forecast said "marketing charges for food are likely to increase this year." This means a smaller farm share of the consumer's food dollar, a bigger take for the middleman, and less savings for the housewife.

The department said in its publication, "The National Food Situation," that per capita consumption likely would recover from the decline of last year when supplies of some foods were temporarily reduced.

The per capita increases will be mostly in pork, lard, chicken and, possibly, lamb and mutton. The consumption rate for beef likely will be 81 pounds per person compared with 79.7 pounds last year. The rate for veal is forecast at 6.7 pounds, compared with 6.8 pounds in 1958.

The consumption rate of pork will jump to a whopping 66 pounds compared with 60.6 pounds last year. The eating of lamb and mutton is expected to go up from 4.1 pounds per person to 4.4 pounds.

Consumption of chicken will jump from 28.2 pounds to 29.8 pounds, the department said.

Make Vegetable -Cream Soups

Frozen vegetables help you "home-make" old-fashioned cream soups.

Cook one package frozen chopped spinach, or frozen chopped broccoli, or frozen cut corn, or frozen mixed vegetables in a small amount of salted water.

Add, without draining, to 3 cups thin cream sauce that has been well seasoned.

Tuna And Cheese Spread Urged

When you're lunching on a sandwich, make sure it's a hearty one. Remember — you should get a third of your daily nutrients from the noon day meal.

"Tuna-Cheese Spread" is a satisfying mixture flavorful with meaty chopped ripe olives.

Spread it generously on buttered whole wheat bread, adding crisp lettuce and mayonnaise if you like.

Tuna-Cheese Spread

¾ cup chopped ripe olives
1 (3-ounce) softened package cream cheese
1 (6½ or 7-ounce) can flaked tuna
Few drops Tabasco sauce
2 to 3 tablespoons mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients and blend well. Makes about two cups spread.

Stuffed Veal Breast Recipe

You'll picture yourself in Austria when you prepare and serve this old world favorite—Stuffed Veal Breast. Truly a unique taste treat to serve six.

Purchase a large breast of veal, 4 to 5 pounds. Have your butcher cut a pocket. Season with salt and pepper, roll in flour, and fill with stuffing. For the stuffing, moisten 2 cups of rye bread crumbs to a paste with 1 cup bouillon. Add 2 stiffly beaten eggs, 1 clove of minced garlic, 1 tablespoon dehydrated parsley, 1 chopped onion, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds and salt and pepper to taste.

Stuff in Veal Pocket

This should be a stiff dressing, not a runny one. If it is too thin, melt 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet and cook the dressing until it becomes rather stiff, but not dry. Mix well and stuff into veal pocket. Place the stuffed breast in roaster.

Mix together 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet into 2 cups water, and pour over the meat. Salt and pepper to taste and springle ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutimate over the top. Cover and cook in 325 F. oven for 2½ hours or until tender.

If the gravy is too thick, add a little water; if too thin, add a mixture of 2 tablespoons each of

Sole Louise Fine California Dish

1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Season fish with salt and pepper. Roll each fillet and fasten each roll with a toothpick. In a skillet pour liquid and lemon juice. Add bay leaf, ginger, butter, onion and parsley. Let come to a boil. Turn heat down so mixture simmers. Add rolled fillets and poach for ten minutes, spooning liquid over fish. Turn fish carefully. Cover pan and cook five minutes more. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Serve very hot. Makes six servings.

Bring Back Good Old Days With Homemade Ice Cream, Hot Coffee

Remember those long-ago summer mornings when the whole durn family took turns cranking the ice-cream freezer? The ice cream itself was so deliciously cold and rich that the children squealed with delight! Even today, homemade ice cream is a dessert that everyone anticipates with joy.

The only difference between ice cream a la 1957 and the old rack-salt variety is in the preparation. With electric mixers and refrigerators at our disposal, we can make ice cream that's really sensational in half the time—although we do miss the fun of turning the old ice cream paddle!

If you're convinced that homemade ice cream is a "must" for your next dessert, by all means, try a wonderful new recipe for Coffee-Butterscotch Ice Cream. It's just as smooth and creamy as the old-time variety and the flavor is a marvelous blend of two favorites, mellow butterscotch and zesty coffee. For an added touch of lusciousness, top your ice cream with a swoop of whipped cream and sliced bananas. Then bring on the coffee and lots of it — for fragrant coffee is the all-time companion for homemade ice cream — and the good old days are here again!

Coffee-Butterscotch Ice Cream

1 cup sugar, divided
½ Cup ground coffee
1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
1½ cups whipping cream

Caramelize ½ cup sugar in a heavy skillet. Add coffee to milk, bring to scalding point and strain. Add strained milk slowly to caramelized sugar, stirring constantly. Add remaining sugar and stir until dissolved. Add a little of the hot mixture to egg yolks and return to pan. Cook, stirring constantly, about 2 minutes. Cool. Add vanilla. Whip cream and fold in. Freeze in large refrigerator tray. When firm, turn into chilled bowl, break up with spoon and beat until smooth. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Serve with whipped cream and garnish with sliced bananas. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

French Recipe For Eggplant

The gleaming purple of eggplant served as Aubergine Farci is tops in taste treats. This is the way they prepare eggplant in Provence, France. It adds color to any dinner with unique and superb flavor as well. To serve 4:

Purchase a medium-sized eggplant. Cut the eggplant in half lengthwise and make a few incisions with a sharp knife. Sprinkle well with salt, let stand for 30 minutes and squeeze out the salt and liquid by pressing with a dry cloth. Place in large covered skillet, meat side down, in 2 tablespoons of hot olive oil, cover and cook for 10 to 12 minutes on each side. Ad more oil if necessary.

Scoop out the meat, taking care not to break the skin, and chop coarsely in a wooden bowl. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a shallow pan, add 2 medium-sized sliced onions and cook slowly until soft without browning. Add 2 skinned, chopped tomatoes (these may be canned whole tomatoes) and the eggplant meat. Cover tightly and cook for 5 minutes. Correct the seasoning with salt and pepper.

Fill eggplant skins with the mixture and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and a few browned bread crumbs. Cut 4 anchovy fillets in strips and place them latticewise on top. Pour over the top a little melted butter, brown well under the broiler.

Cheese, Corned Beef In Hash

Blue cheese adds a provocative taste to the old familiar American corned beef hash. This makes four servings.

Combine ½ cup crumbled American Blue cheese (about 3 ounces), one 12-ounce can corned beef, 3 cups diced cooked potatoes, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, ⅓ cup beef stock or bouillon and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Cook over low heat until lightly browned, stirring occasionally.

For the best lemonade, slice washed lemons paper thin. Stir in as much sugar as you ordinarily use, then crush the fruit with a potato masher. Allow to stand ½ hour, then add water and ice and serve.

Good accompaniment for soup or calad: cut off crusts from bread slices and spread each with a little mayonnaise; toast in a hot waffle iron until lightly browned and cut into strips.

Any cooked green peas left over? Chill and drain, then spoon them into a lettuce leaf; surround with thin slices of cucumber or tomato, and serve with a snappy French dressing.

In making Baked Alaska at home the trick is to be sure that both the cake and the very firm ice cream are completely covered by the meringue before the meringue is browned in the oven.

Dessert: Creme Brulee

This true "Aristocrat of Desserts" appeals to young and old alike. It has the delightful smoothness of custard with the pleasant coolness of ice cream. You can serve it on a large platter surrounded by several different brandied fruits to add color and eye appeal.

For six servings, scald 2 cups coffee cream; beat 4 egg yolks with 3 tablespoons sugar. Remove the cream from the fire and pour very slowly into the egg mixture, stirring constantly. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, pour mixture into 1½-quart baking dish and place in pan of hot water in preheated 350 degrees oven for 30 to 35 minutes, or until a silver knife inserted in the center of the custard, comes out clean.

Sift 2 tablespoon brown sugar over the otp of the custard. Place the custard under the broiler until the sugar melts and forms a glaze.

Cool, then refrigerate. Serve very cold.

Ground Lamb Is Delicious

Ground lamb is a delicious meat, especially when stuffed with pineapple.

For each serving, slice a lamb patty through the middle making two thin patties. Place a slice of pineapple between the two patties and press lightly together. Wrap edge with a strip of bacon and secure with a toothpick.

Fry over moderate heat until browned and cooked through.

A Touch Of Spring: Cherry Bonbons

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Neatest trick we've come upon recently is this way of baking cherry bonbons — and in good time for springtime tables.

Do you know the jars of maraschino cherries that come with stems? Well, the stemmed cherries are stuffed with small pieces of semi-sweet chocolate and then dipped into batter and baked. Pink frosting is spooned over the cookies and guests help themselves — lifting the bonbons by the cherry stems. If your company is like ours, they'll be intrigued with the idea.

This batter mixture is one of the new recipes using corn oil, and it helps to produce a soft-texture cookie dough that tastes good with the fruit. We choose to stuff the cherries with chocolate because we wanted the bonbons to resemble chocolate cherry candies, but if you prefer you might stuff the cherries with nutmeats.

CHERRY BONBONS are just what you need to brighten a springtime table. The bonbons can be prepared by stuffing small pieces of semi-sweet chocolate or nutmeats into the cherries, then dipping them into batter and baking.

CHERRY BONBONS

Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound) maraschino cherries (with or without stems), ¼ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1¼ cups sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ cup corn oil, ¾ cup light brown sugar, 1 egg, ½ tablespoon distilled white vinegar or lemon juice, ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk or light cream, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Pour off cherry juice and reserve for frosting; drain cherries on absorbent paper. Stuff a semi-sweet chocolate piece into each cherry. Sift together the flour, baking powder and baking soda; with fork or pastry blender blend in corn oil until mixture looks like fine crumbs. With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat brown sugar and egg thoroughly. Stir vinegar into undiluted evaporated milk; mix with vanilla into brown sugar-egg mixture. Beat into corn oil-flour mixture about ⅓ at a time, mixing until smooth after each addition. Batter will be thick. Dip cherries into batter, turning to coat cherry completely. Lift cherries out of batter with a teaspoon and place them one at a time on an ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 8 to 10 minutes. (Expect stems on cherries to burn a little!) Cool on wire rack. Makes about 5 dozen bonbons.

To Frost Bonbons: Gradually stir ⅓ cup maraschino cherry juice into 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar until mixture is smooth. Spoon frosting over tops of bonbons. This makes a thin covering. Use less liquid and add red food coloring for a thicker frosting. Note: ½ cup commercial sour cream may be used instead of the vinegar or lemon juice and the evaporated milk or light cream.

Cocktail Dip

File this idea away for your next party. It's a wonderful dip for crackers or potato chips.

Combine a 4½-ounce can of deviled ham with 1 cup of sour cream. Add a few drops of onion juice, 2 teaspoons drained, chopped capers, 1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento, ⅛ tablespoon fresh-ground black pepper and a few drops of Tabasco.

Mix well, chill in serving bowl and garnish with pimiento and capers.

Use cotton swabs to apply stain or varnish to small scratches on furniture.

Sunday Or Anyday Treat

Here is a light, dreamy dessert which is delightful to look at and delicious to eat. It is special enough to serve to special guests — yet one which will easily become a family favorite.

This treat is good the year round — the orange soda imparts a definite flavor and a delicate pale orange color. Why not try it on your family tonight?

Sunset Cloud

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
2 eggs, separated
Few grains salt
1¼ cups orange soda
2 tbsp. sugar
½ cup whipping cream
½ tsp. vanilla

Soften gelatine in ¼ cup cold orange soda. Beat egg yolks; add remaining orange soda, sugar and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats spoon. Add gelatine; stir until dissolved. Chill until syrupy. Whip cream; fold in with vanilla. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Chill until set. Makes 6 servings.

Cooperation Keynote Of Large Family Breakfast

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Breakfast is important in any family to maintain health, spirits and growth. So all doctors and nutritionists warn. That's why the Jenkins family of Glenview, Ill., takes it so seriously. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, there are six active sons to feed every morning.

The Jenkins week-day breakfast is served in three shifts. Dad eats with the three and four-year-olds. Then the six, eight, and 10-year-olds eat together and lastly Mom and the baby. But on weekends the entire family eats together.

Mrs. Jenkins says she serves both hot and ready-to-eat cereals every morning. Quick-cooking oatmeal or hot wholewheat cereal are prepared early and kept warm in a double boiler or casserole. She also offers the boys a choice of several ready-to-eat cereals.

How does she manage to feed such a large family? Cooperation is the keynote, she says. Mr. Jenkins does the weekly shopping every Thursday night. Bread and meats are purchased once a month and stored in the freezer.

Fruit crisps are a popular dessert of the busy Jenkins family. Her cranberry-apple crisp is a variation of apple crisp. The topping can be prepared in the morning and combined with the fruit just before placing it in the oven.

Cranberry-Apple Cereal Crisp
(Yield: 6-8 servings)

Topping: Two cups ready-to-eat high protein cereal, whole-wheat flakes, corn flakes or bran flakes; ½ cup butter, melted; ½ cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt.

Filling: Four cups sliced apples, 1 No. 2 can whole cranberry sauce.

Lightly mix together the cereal, butter, sugar, cinnamon and salt. Gently press ½ of the topping into the bottom of a greased pan 10x6x1¾ inches. Mix together the apples and cranberries. Pour fruit over cereal and sprinkle top with remaining topping. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until apples are tender and topping is a deep rich golden brown, about 40 minutes. Serve hot or cold, plain or with milk.

Youngsters usually enjoy a Banana Split Salad. To prepare it arrange two banana halves on a lettuce leaf, put a mound of creamed cottage cheese on each banana half, and top with a little canned crushed pineapple and a maraschino cherry.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Salmon and green pepper loaf, tomato sauce, baked potatoes, snap beans, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, carrot sticks, celery, cranberry-apple cereal crisp, coffee, tea, milk.

Here's New Idea For Waffle Topping

Waffle Topping: At this season of the year pancakes and waffles become popular breakfast fare. Here's a new idea for a topping to serve hot on wafles or pancakes: Combine one cup of crushed pineapple, undrained, with 3 tablespoons of butter, ¼ cup of brown sugar and 1 teaspoon grated orange peel. Heat until bubbly and serve hot. (Yield: 1½ cups.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL COOKIES

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, ⅔ cup shortening (soft), 1 egg, 3 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted), 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and sugar into a mixing bowl. Add shortening, egg, milk and vanilla. Beat until smooth — about 2 minutes. Stir in cooled chocolate, then rolled oats. (Chill if necessary for easy handling.) Roll out to ⅛-inch thickness on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth with stockinet-covered rolling pin. Cut with floured 3-inch round cookie cutter. Place, about 1 inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 10 minutes. Remove with spatula to rack to cool. Makes about 3 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

Note: Cookies may be frosted with 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar blended with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (soft), 2 tablespoons strong brewed coffee. Sprinkle frosting with ½ cup finely chopped nutmeats.

Baked Tomatoes For Winter Meals

"Golden topped tomatoes" add interest to winter meals.

Cut tomatoes into thick slices and arrange in shallow baking dish. Season with salt and pepper, dot with butter and sprinkle with instant minced onion and grated Cheddar cheese.

Broil or bake until tomatoes are tender and topping is bubbly and lightly browned.

After a turkey dinner don't allow the leftover bird, dressing and gravy to stand in the kitchen; get them into the refrigerator as soon as possible.

Unsung Cook Can Take Bow

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's been going the rounds for more than a dozen years. Who knows what unsung cook first dreamed up this good idea? But eaters continue to bless him or her!

We're talking about the American way of slicing a loaf of crusty French-type bread, and then spreading a flavorful mixture over the cuts. Now the annointed loaf goes into a moderate or hot oven for 10 or 15 minutes to come out fresher than fresh, spreading a nostalgic aroma, tasting robust and savory.

We have a notion this loaf was first concocted to eat with outdoor barbecued foods. If so, it caught on so fast that now you are likely to find it wherever there's an indoor buffet supper.

The first loaves of this sort we ever encountered were spread with garlic butter. But cooks go on inventing, tasters applaud. Now other spreads appear almost as often as the garlic mixture, and some of the best of these are made with blue cheese.

For this basic cheese spread, allow a quarter of a pound each of butter and blue cheese to stand at room temperature before beating together thoroughly. Store in a tightly-covered container in the refrigerator and use as fancy and need dictate.

And another innovation. Sometimes you find variations in the bread. On occasion, instead of bakery loaves, the brown-and-serve French-type ones are used. An unsliced loaf of regular white bread is also good this way, but make sure it is the "home-baked" variety. Just cut the regular loaf into block-shaped pieces, each big enough for a serving, but dont slice all the way through; spread the cuts with butter and blue-cheese mixture and heat.

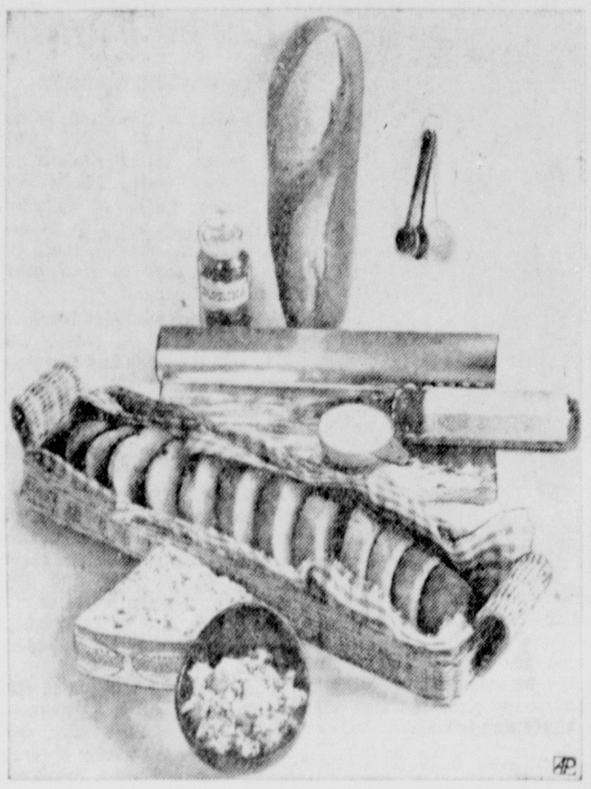
Interested in still another idea? Then use fan-tan rolls with a blue-cheese-plus mixture as directed in the following recipe.

BLUE CHEESE FAN-TANS

Ingredients: ½ cup (packed down) blue cheese, ¼ cup butter, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 package (6 ounces) fan-tan rolls.

Method: Have cheese and butter at room temperature; cream with Worcestershire sauce. Separate sections of rolls with fingers or small sharp knife without cutting all the way through. Spread sections with cheese mixture. Heat in moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot through 8 to 10 minutes or longer. Serve at once. Makes 6 rolls.

It's not necessary to pour off the fat when you're cooking bacon. If the bacon cooks in the drippings the slices float and when turned brown evenly.



BREAD AND SPREAD: Crusty French-type bread, anointed by a flavorful mixture, probably first was devised for outdoor barbecues but now you're likely to find it anywhere, including indoor buffet suppers.

Golden Ring Mold Is Buffet Highlight

A large golden ring mold, filled with assorted fruits garnished with mint sprigs, highlights a buffet dinner table.

Make ring mold with plain or lemon-flavored gelatin, using apricot nectar as liquid. Chill until set and fill center of mold with chunks of fresh pineapple, canned peach slices, cherries and other favorite canned or fresh fruits.

The city of Tel Aviv began in Israel as a small garden on the side of a hill. Tel Aviv means "hill of spring."

Passenger Plea Of WM Upheld

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The West Virginia Supreme Court today threw out a Public Service Commission order which allowed Western Maryland Railway to drop only part of its passenger service between Elkins and Durbin, Pocahontas County.

The company had asked authorization to eliminate all passenger service on the mixed daily freight - passenger runs between the two points. The PSC ordered that passenger service be continued on the 47-mile run on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Western Maryland maintained during hearings on its application last year that it lost $41,000 in 1957 on the passenger service.

When the PSC allowed only partial discontinuance, the railroad appealed to the Supreme Court.

Pork On Best Buy List At Markets

The following guide to the nation's best food buys for this weekend was prepared for United press International by the U. S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eggs, dairy foods, and a varied assortment of meats play a leading role among the best values in foods this week.

Pork is especially budget-priced and housewives will find excellent buys in roasts, chops, bacon, sausage, and hams. The more popular cuts of beef are offered at attractice prices by many markets, as are legs of lamb. Broiler-fryers and turkeys also are excellent choices.

Apples continue to lead the fruit parade, but oranges, grapefruit, bananas, and avocados also are good buys. Some markets are featuring pears, grapes, lemons, and limes as excellent values.

Vegetable counters offer a wide variety of items. Among the leaders are cabbage, potatoes, sweet potatoes, radishes, lettuce, celery, tomatoes, carrots, green peppers, and cooking greens. Canned peas are still in heavy supply, and offered at bargain prices.

At the fish market housewives will find good values, the most plentiful, nationally, being canned tuna, fish sticks, and shrimp.

For a closer look at the best food values in this particular area here are more details:

Best Buys

Weekend food shoppers will find meat counters well stocked with a wide variety of favorite items. In beef, good choices will be round, rib, and chuck roasts, and the ever popular steaks, such as porterhouse, sirloin, and chuck.

In pork, loin roasts and chops will be offered at attractive prices. In lamb, you'll get good buys on legs and chops. Broiler-fryers continue to be featured at economy prices.

In the dairy section, you'll be tempted, pricewise, to get extra amounts of eggs and all dairy products.

For best buys in vegetables, look to potatoes, endive, escarole, spinach, collards, kale, and the cooking greens. You'll also do well on cabbage, celery, lettuce, carrots, Idaho potatoes, tomatoes radishes, peppers, sweet potatoes and broccoli.

In fruit, apples remain at the head of the good buy list. Also recommended are oranges, grapefruit, limes, and bananas.

In fish, best buys are filiets, scallops, smelts, oysters, and clams.

Sunday Brunch Features Eggs

Give yourself ample time to prepare these eggs.

Double Boiler Scrambled Eggs

Ingredients: 6 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, ¾ cup homogenized milk, 2 tablespoo butter.

Method: Beat egg with rotary beater just until yolks and whites are combined. Beat in salt, pepper to taste and milk. Melt butter in top of double boiler; add egg mixture. Cook over hot (not boiling) water; occasionally stir the cooked portion of the egg from the bottom and side of pan so you have creamy flakes. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Scrambled eggs may be garnished with a dusting of minced chives or parsley, strips of canned drained pimiento, sliced pimiento-stuffed olives or chunks of black olives cut from pits in large pieces.

Shoemaking was an honored profession in ancient Egypt.

Prunes Appear In Omelets, Too

Ever eat a prune omelet? It can be quite a conversation piece for Sunday "brunch."

Make the omelet as usual. Spoon on a thick filling of chopped prunes, flip over and serve with bacon, toasted English muffins and coffee.

Another version is to mix the chopped prunes right in with the eggs, and that's good, too.

Hickory Baked Beans Pleasing

You'll relish the flavor of Hickory Baked Beans.

Chop a small onion and combine with a can of baked beans. Top with partially cooked slices of hickory smoked bacon or regular bacon plus smoke seasoning.

Bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes, until the bacon is browned.

Thin mayonnaise with leftover juice from sweet pickles and serve with a salad of tuna fish or salmon.

Easter Bonnet Sandwiches In Colorful Style

EASTER IS a natural time for showing off your culinary talents. And what better way to do it than with these Easter bonnet sandwiches, which are as tasty as they are cute?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Whimsical cooks come into their own at holidays. At Easter time the custom of offering colored eggs, festive yeast breads and lamb cakes have lured many culinary artist to add other gay creations to this joyous occasion.

Fashion creeps into food: lately we've been having bonnet cakes and bonnet cookies on Easter tabels. Now here come Easter bonnet sandwiches — and they're as cute as buttons.

One point on which we insist: holiday food, although it may be whimsically shaped and decorated, must not be so tortured that it doesn't taste good. These open sandwiches, bonnet style, measure up because they are a delightful flavor combination. The "brims" and "crowns" of our edible sailor-hats are made of cream-style cottage cheese seasoned with lemon juice. Cucumber slices give height to the "crowns" and the bonnet "trimming" of water cress sprigs and colorful berries are plain perky.

These bonnet sandwiches are fun to serve during the Easter holidays, perhaps for a one o'clock luncheon or a four o'clock tea. Grownups will enjoy them as much as teen-agers and small fry.

They also are amusing to serve as an hors d'oeuvre for Easter dinner and, if you like, you can easily cut the recipe in half to make just eight of these appetizers.

Or make them part of an Easter dinner and, if you like, you can easily cut the recipe in half to make just eight of these appetizers.

Or make them part of an Easter day supper buffet that features ham because the cottage cheese and cucumber flavors are blended with prepared mustard, fine with that meat. What else would go on the buffet table? We might choose a hot potato puff and a salad of broccoli or green asparagus. Desert could be a spongecake roll with an orange filling and topping of whipped cream; or a meringue filled with a tangy lemon cream.

Eastern Bonnet Sandwiches

Ingredients: 1 carton (8 ounces) cream style cottage cheese (small curd), 2 teaspoons lemon juice, salt, 20 slices bread, 2 drops food color, 2 drops red food color, 16 slices unpeeled cucumber (about ⅛-inch thick and 1 ½ inches wide), 16 small sprigs watercress, 24 raspberries or blue berries.

Method: Beat cottage cheese to make as creamy as possible, add lemon juice and a dash of salt. Cut circles from 16 bread slices, using a 3-inch cookie cutter. Cut 4 circles from each remaining 4 bread slices, using a 1 ½-inch cookie cutter. Divide cottage cheese mixture into 4 equal parts and add one color to each of 3 parts, leaving fourth part white. Spread 4 large and 4 small circles of bread with each color of cottage cheese mixture. Place a cucumber slice in center of each large bread circle. Top with small bread circle spread with same color of cottage cheese, placing them with their spread sides up. Decorate "bonnets" by arranging a watercress sprig and 3 or 4 raspberries or blueberries on one side of each hat. Makes 16 servings.

Your guests will love a corned beef and cabbage salad for a supper snack after watching a TV show. Just mix finely shredded green cabbage with French dressing and spoon on individual salad plates. Top with a slice or two of corned beef and a spoonful of mayonnaise that's been fine with that meat. What else: Serve with hot buttered rolls.

Family Supper With Pea Soup

Two-Way Split Pea Soup
Veal Chops Potatoes
Salad Bread Tray
Fruited Gelatin Beverage

Two-Way Split Pea Soup

Ingredients: ¾ cup quick-cooking green split peas, 1 hambone (with a little meat left on), ½ cup sliced carrot (1 medium-size), ¾ to 1 cup thin strips onions (1 medium-size), 1 rib celery with leafy top, few sprigs parsley, 5 cups water, salt, pepper, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup (if desired).

Method: Wash peas in cold water; drain; turn into soup kettle with hambone, carrot, onion, celery, parsley and water. Bring to a boil rapidly; decrease heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, until peas are cooked—about 45 minutes. Remove hambone. Put soup (including vegetables) through a food mill or press through a strainer. Add salt (if needed) and pepper to taste. Makes about 5½ cups thin soup. Use soup "as is" or mix with the undiluted condensed tomato soup; heat gently, stirring often. This mixture (Puree Mongole) will make almost 7 cups.

For a delicious luncheon dish spread toast with deviled ham and top with creamed eggs. Serve with a crunchy carrot and green pepper slaw for good texture and color contrast.

Quick rice dessert: Mix cold cooked rice with diced fruit and honey; fold in sweetened whipped cream and chill.

Family Supper With Leftovers

A moist loaf of good flavor and texture; any leftover will be wonderful for ham sandwiches.

Smoked Boneless Pork Shoulder Butt
Sweet Potatoes Broccoli
Homemade Mustard
Molasses Oatmeal Bread
Fruit Salad Beverage

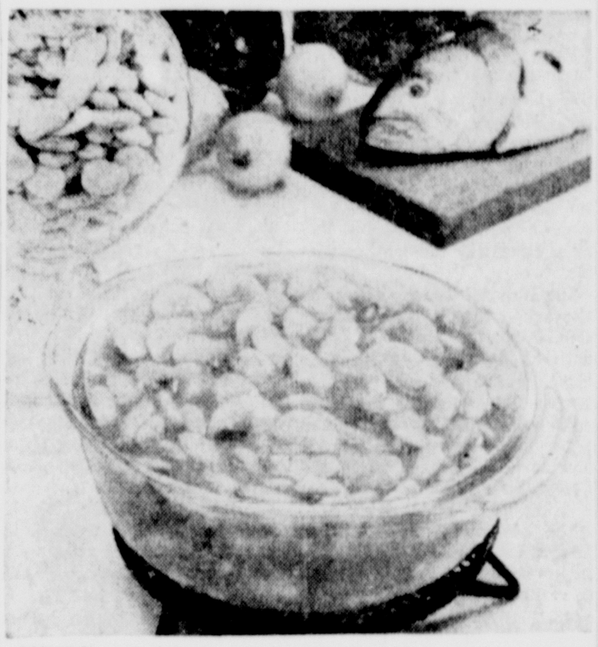
MOLASSES OATMEAL BREAD

Ingredients: ¾ cup boiling water, ½ cup rolled oats (regular or quick-cooking), ⅓ cup shortening, ¼ cup light or dark molasses, 1 ½ teaspoons salt, 1 package dry active yeast, ¼ cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 egg, 2 ¾ cups sifted flour.

Method: Stir boiling water, rolled oats, shortening, molasses and salt together until shortening melts; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved; stir into lukewarm rolled oats mixture. Add egg; beat with a spoon until blended. Stir in flour gradually until blended and place in lightly greased bowl. Cover and chill 2 hours. Shape chilled dough into loaf; place in a greased loaf pan (9 ¼ by 5 ¼ by 2 ¾); cover. Let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk (about 2 hours). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour.

Ever heat drained canned pineapple chunks with chutney and butter? Wonderful to serve with chicken curry. Use mango chutney and chop fine, then add a little of the spicy chutney syrup when the combination is being heated.

Tomato Soup, Dried Beans Combine In Tasty Casserole



SAVORY and full of protein, too, is this casserole uniting tomato soup and dried beans. Chopped green pepper adds tang.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Dried beans are a good source of protein, such as dried butter beans, dried limas or kidney beans, either in cans or home-cooked. That's why they make nutritious meatless main dishes for Lenten meals.

Butter Bean Bake
(Makes 4-6 servings)

Two tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup, ¼ cup water, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 cans (1-pound each) butter beans, drained, ½ cup grated cheese.

In saucepan, brown onion and green pepper in butter. Add remaining ingredients except beans. Heat a few minutes. Put beans in buttered 1-quart casserole; pour sauce over. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

Baked Tuna Sandwiches
(Makes 6 servings)

One can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked; 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 6 hamburger buns, split; melted butter or margarine.

Combine soup, tuna, green pepper and onion; spoon into buns. Brush top of buns with butter. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU: Dried beans and tomato soup in casserole, baked fish (if desired), or crisp bacon, garlic bread, grapefruit sections, green pepper and lettuce salad, oil and lemon juice dressings, chocolate brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

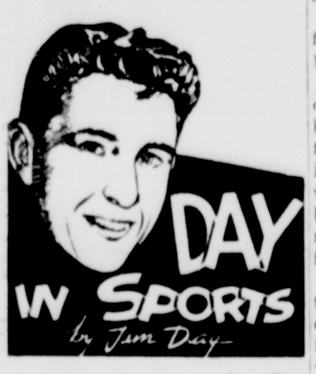
LaSalle-Alco Tilt Postponed Until Monday

The intra-city basketball clash tomorrow night between Allegany and LaSalle has been postponed until Monday evening at 8 o'clock on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

Brother Thomas, LaSalle athletic director, stated this morning that coach Chet Payne of Allegany asked postponement of the contest because only two members of the Camper team were able to attend school today, the rest of the squad all being absent because of illness.



Bobby Corle, the Imler, Pa., jockey who looked so bad in his debut at Sunshine Park, Fla., that the stewards wanted to take him off the horses because they didn't think he could handle them, is now the hottest booter at Bowie Race Track.

When the former 90-pound Bedford High flyweight wrestler brought John S. Kell's Deack Duncan home in the featured Overbrook Purse yesterday at Bowie, it was the 20th time he had flashed first under the wire for the meet.

It's been a big jump and one that took plenty of hard work for the 22-year-old jockey who got his start just four short years ago at Cumberland's Fairgo track.

Corle now has finished in the money 13 times in 19 mounts this week with four winners, five place mounts and four in the third hole. Yesterday, in six mounts, he finished out of the money only twice, once in fifth place and the other time in sixth.

For 89 trips to the starting gate, Corle has booted home his 20 winners while 17 have returned place money and five were good for the third slot. He boasts a lead of nine firsts over Larry Reynolds and Raul Sterling, the latter pair bringing home 11 in front of the pack.

Reynolds, the leading rider at Fairgo last year, had only two tries yesterday and didn't return any money to his backers. Sterling, for two starts, won aboard Our President in the third race and finished third with New Door in the fourth.

Corle's victory yesterday came aboard a horse that was given little consideration in the betting by the crowd of 9,541 because of his mediocre record. According to the story in the Washington Post and Times-Herald this morning, it was the expert handling and well-judged ride of Corle that proved the difference.

That bit of work paid off handsomely with a return of $14.20 to win, $7.20 to place and $3.40 to show as the gelding took the lead at the top of the home stretch and won with plenty in reserve by a length and a quarter.

Sports Spatterings

Just how much is the spectacular Bob Cousy worth to the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association? . . . Jack Barry, writing an article on the court wizard of the Celtics in this week's issue of the Sporting News, has it figured out . . . Barry says that the ex-Holy Cross star, now in his ninth year of pro ball, is worth at least 50 points per game . . . Broken down, Barry has it stated this way: 20 points on scoring average; 14, from his seven-assists-per-game average; two points a game by forcing strong scoring opponents to bench on fouls; three points a game by his time-killing dribbling and his combined leadership of fast break; five points for his genius on defensive press . . . Quite a guy, this seven-time, first team All-Star selection who will be seen this Sunday via the television screens against the defending-champion St. Louis Hawks in the NBA game of the week . . . Romney's Bill Maphis, who will have his shooting eye aimed at the district scoring record when the Pioneers close out their regular season against Martinsburg Saturday night, needs only 20 points to erase the 637 markers pumped home by Hyndman's Bruce May five seasons back . . . Bill, with another year of eligibility remaining, has 618 points in 20 starts . . . He has hit for a staggering 194 counters in the last five games for a sizzling 38.8 average and included in the performance chart is a 41-point showing against the Bulldogs . . . The state scoring record, established in 1956, is held by the fabulous Jerry West of West Virginia University . . . Jumpin' Jerry had 926 counters in 27 games as he led East Bank High to the State Class A championship that season . . . At the rate the six-three Maphis is going, he may topple that total as he closes out his brilliant career

Moorefield, Franklin In Section 14 Semi-Final

The big scramble for a coveted berth in the state championship basketball tourney at Cabell County Memorial Field House in Huntington, March 20-21, gets started tonight at Moorefield and Shepherdstown.

Those two towns will be sites for the Section 14-A and Section 16-A schoolboy tourneys.

Franklin High, riding the crest of the best season in the school's history with a 19-2 mark, will be favored to carry off the honors in Section 14-A. The Panthers, who were runnerup in the PVC behind champion Keyser, will meet Moorefield in the first semi-final at 7:30.

Mathias opposes Circleville in the second contest at 8:30. Wardensville High (14-6) drew a bye in the opening round and tangles with the winner of the Mathias-Circleville game tomorrow night.

Franklin Record Tops

Franklin has a 7-1 record against its opposition in the rounds. The Panthers, coached by "Gus" Smith, swept Moorefield by 59-53 and 61-49, took Mathias across both times, 73-70 in overtime and by 105-51, set down the Indians from Circleville 47-40 and 75-49 and split with the Warriors.

Wardensville cost the Panthers their bid for the PVC title, bagging the return game, 61-49, after being beaten in the lidlifter, 61-48. The only other defeat dished out to the Panthers was by Green Bank, 83-64. That one ended Franklin's undefeated string at 15 games.

Moorefield, playing up-and-down ball most of the season, has the second best mark in the five-team affair. The Jackets, who posted a sub-par 8-12 record overall, lost only to Franklin.

Moorefield took Mathias into camp both times, 68-55 and 64-47, while dumping Circleville, 54-43 and 69-50, and sweeping Wardensville, 52-29 and 44-40.

The Warriors split in six outings, sweeping Mathias, 73-35 and 88-56, while dividing the series against the Jackets and Panthers. Wardensville and Circleville didn't play during the campaign.

Mathias and Circleville, splitting their pair of contests, wound up with 1-7 and 1-5 logs. Mathias won the first tilt against the Braves, 86-83, and then took a 53-46 setback.

Both quints had a rocky road to travel this winter. The Indians scored only three wins in 20 tries while Mathias lost 18 times in 21 outings. Wardensville sported a 14-6 mark.

Franklin, with the new setup in classifications this season, drops from the old "A" tourney in which it participated last season. The Panthers were beaten in the semi-finals at Petersburg by champion Martinsburg, 70-38.

Mathias Defending King

Moorefield, Mathias and Circleville all played in the tourney in 1958 as the only three representatives with Mathias bagging the honors in whipping Circleville, 72-61, in the title game. The Eagles dropped out in the semi-finals of the Regional when being a 73-42 victim of Piedmont.

Five quints will be entered in the Section 16-A event with Harpers Ferry, Musselman, Paige-Jackson of Charles Town, Ramer of Martinsburg and Shepherdstown competing.

Two other area sectionals start tomorrow evening as Paw Paw is the host school in Section 15-A and Potomac State College will be the site for the Section 13-A squabble.

Berkeley Springs opposes Capon Bridge and Paw Paw tangles with West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney in the Section 15 semi-finals. Fort Ashby goes up against Piedmont and Elk Garden plays Ridgeley in the Section 13 semis.

Championship games in both these tourneys will also be staged Saturday night.

The winning teams at Keyser, Paw Paw, Shepherdstown and Moorefield will qualify for the Regional tourney set for Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, at Potomac State College where Melvin Heiskell will be the director.

Area Tests Next

The survivor of the regional advances to a two-team area test and the eight area winners will compete for the West Virginia State Class A championship at Marshall College in Huntington. The state Class AAA and Class AA titles also will be decided there.

The Class AA schools of nearby West Virginia will not swing into action until a week from today at Petersburg where Romney, Keyser, Petersburg and Charles Town will battle it out in a two-day sectional event.

In the opening round games Friday, March 6, Charles Town plays Keyser at 7 p. m., and Petersburg tangles with Romney at 8:15. Referees for this tourney will be Clifton Van Roby and "Pete" Elliott.

Martinsburg has graduated into Class AAA this year and is slated to battle Morgantown at Martinsburg High School next weekend.

Three Dozen Now Tabbed As Holdouts

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Some three dozen major leaguers—more than in any recent year—become holdouts today when spring training officially opens for most of the big league teams.

Heading the list, of course, are sluggers Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, Bob Cerv of the Kansas City Athletics, Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox and Roy Sievers of the Washington Senators. Their demands range from Cerv's estimated $30,000 all the way to Mantle's $85,000.

The National League champion Milwaukee Braves have no star comparable to Mantle or Jensen unsigned but no fewer than six players have yet to agree to terms: Pitchers Don McMahon and Gene Conley, catcher Del Rice, first-baseman Joe Adcock and infielders Felix Mantilla and Casey Wise.

Holdouts' Status Hazy

The status of the American League's "big four" is hazy, as might be expected. Roy Hamey, in charge of dealing with Mantle again, talked with the slugger Wednesday and said only "it's only a question of money." Cerv rejected the Athletics' last offer of about $23,000 and is at least $5,000 away from a settlement. Seivers is insisting on $40,000 and Jensen, the league's Most Valuable Player, meets with Red Sox General Manager Bucky Harris for a fourth time today.

Others who'll be considered holdouts if they don't agree to terms by nightfall include Hector Lopez, Preston Ward and Ned Garver of the Athletics, Rene Valdes of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Frank Barnes and Joe Cunningham of the St. Louis Cardinals, Gus Zernial and Charley Maxwell of the Detroit Tigers, Andy Carey of the Yankees, Billy Loes, Gene Woodling, Billy Klaus and Bobby Avila of the Baltimore Orioles and Ramon Monzant and Al Worthington of the San Francisco Giants.

Reds Sign Ennis

Del Ennis, long-ball hitting outfielder, just got in under the wire Wednesday when he signed with the Cincinnati Redlegs. It took 15 telephone calls between Ennis and General Manager Gabe Paul before an agreement was reached—believed to be the first record of the new baseball season.

Other late signers included first baseman Norm Zauchin of the Senators and infielder Billy Gardner of the Orioles. Each is believed to have accepted a slight reduction.

Rec Title Series Begins Tonight

Finals in the Men's Rec and High School basketball leagues, both best-of-three series, get underway tonight in a pair of games on the Carver court.

Police Boys Club tangles with Diamond Bowling Alley at 7 o'clock in the High School loop. PBC eliminated Malin's Chiros, 65-30, and Diamond kayoed Lovers Leap Esso, 58-37, the same evening.

Police Boys had tied with Lovers Leap for first in the final standings by bagging 10 of 12 games. Diamond was knotted with Malin's for third place, both quints taking nine wins and losing three times.

It will be Hafer House Furniture against Robinson's Plumbers at 8 o'clock to begin the Men's Rec finals. Hafer's ushered out Carolan's Tavern, 51-42, and Ballard's Cleaners lost to Robinson's, 59-42, in the semi-finals Monday evening.

Hafer House was the regular-season champion with a 15-1 mark while Robinson's finished second with a 14-2 reading.

Fight Last Night

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Spider Webb, 158, Chicago, stopped Bobby Boyd, 160, Chicago, 1.

Hubs End Unbeaten, Edge Alco By 59-53

Allegany High's hoopsters nearly wrecked the unbeaten dreams of North Hagerstown last night as the locals fought the Hubs down to the final whistle before dropping a 59-53 decision in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League clash at North High.

The CVAL champs, who wound up with a 20-0 record overall and 10-0 slate in the circuit, were given their roughest battles by Alco in their two games. The Campers started the season against the Hubs and lost out in the final seconds, 60-56.

Alco Streak Ends

Alco, having a five-game win streak broken, has two more games this weekend, both involving championships. The Campers, now 10-9 for the campaign, tangle with LaSalle tomorrow night on the SS. Peter and Paul court and then have their County Class A playoff with Fort Hill Saturday night at Beall in Frostburg.

Three quick field goals by Ronnie Hawkins with less than 1:30 to play in the game iced the verdict for North High after Allegany had rallied to pull within two points, 49-47.

The Campers grabbed a 14-13 lead in a see-saw first quarter which the score was tied several times. Dick Spencer scored four goals for Hagerstown to keep the Hubs in contention in the initial stanza.

The Hubs finally pulled ahead 27-26 at intermission and quickly built their margin to 30-26 as the third quarter opened.

Campers Pull Close

Allegany trailed throughout the remainder of the second half before Gerald Horton's twin-pointer pulled the Campers within two points with 1:47 to play. At this point Hawkins' three goals put the contest out of reach for the Paynemen who suffered their ninth loss of the campaign.

High point men for Hagerstown were Hawkins and Spencer with 15 tallies each while Gary Frisby had 15 for Allegany.

North High lost Jim Washington and Hawkins on personal fouls while Frisby and Bob Gaffney exited via the same route for Allegany.

Shook paced Grace Baptist with 18 points while Often dropped in 16 for Central as the winners rallied in the second half for the victory.

Van Meter and Border had 11 points each for Living Stone which scored only two points in the overtime while Arrowood caged 17 for Salvation Army. Bell bucketed 14 tallies for First Baptist and Whitacre had 11 for Old Furnace.

Qualifiers Ready For Open Start

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — About 115 golfers were ready to tee off today in the rain-delayed qualifying round for the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament.

The qualifying originally was scheduled for Tuesday with competitive play set for today. But two days of rain wrecked those plans and washed out a pro-amateur tournament scheduled ahead of the PGA event.

Opening round action in the 72-hole medal play tournament will begin Friday. Tourney Co-chairman Jim Winfree revised the plans and set a 36-hole session Sunday so the eighth annual tourney will wind up on schedule.

About 65 spots for pros will be decided in the qualifying. Defending Champion Ken Venturi and 84 other top pros on the PGA winter circuit were exempt from qualifying.

Webb, Basilio May Fight For Middle Crown

CHICAGO (UPI)—Middleweight Spider Webb's future hinged today on champion Sugar Ray Robinson more than on his convincing first round knockout victory over Bobby Boyd.

"If Robinson decides to fight Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title, then I can't think of any better fight than Webb and Carmen Basilio for the middleweight title—and we'd like to have it for Chicago," said Truman Gibson, head of the newly formed successor to International Boxing Club, National Boxing Enterprises, said.

"If Robinson decides to fight Basilio," he added, "then I'd just advise Webb to fight any middleweights he can until he can get a title fight. But we'll put him in for a championship fight anytime we get the chance."

Webb, third ranked among the world 160 pounders, was impressive in his televised battle with Boyd ranked seventh. The bout lasted only 1:55 before referee Frank Sikora waved Webb aside with his 32nd win in 36 pro fights.

Boyd, suffering his seventh knockout and his 11th loss in 66 pro bouts, was still groggy when he was on his feet at the count of 10 and Sikora, examing his eyes, waved Webb off quickly.

'C' Playoff Tilt On Tap Tonight

The first of two playoffs to determine county representatives in the District 1 tourney at North Hagerstown next weekend will be staged tonight on the Fort Hill court.

Flintstone High and Oldtown clash at 8 o'clock for the Class C crown. The quints split their season series as Oldtown scored its only victory in 19 starts by posting a 46-44 decision over the Aggies. Flintstone, victor in five of 12 starts, had taken the opener, 65-49.

The victor tonight meets Hancock in the championship game Saturday, March 7, at 7:30 p. m. at the new Hagerstown gym.

Tickets will be sold at the door.

Allegany and Fort Hill, also tied in their race for Class A honors, have their deciding game slated Saturday night, 8 o'clock, on the Beall High court in Frostburg. All seats for that one are reserved and are now on sale at both schools.

Baylor Nears Rookie Score Mark In NBA

By United Press International

Elgin Baylor is less than 100 points away from setting a rookie record for scoring in the National Basketball Association.

Baylor, Minneapolis' flashy fledgling, scored the season's high of 55 points and raised his personal total to 1,399 Wednesday night as the Lakers larruped the Cincinnati Royals, 116-96, in the opener of a doubleheader at Detroit.

Needs Only 98 Points

The former Seattle All - American now needs only 98 points to surpass the first-year high of 1,496 set by Alex Groza with Indianapolis during the 1949-50 season. Bob Pettit of St. Louis scored 1,466 as a rookie with Minneapolis in the 1954-55 campaign.

The Hawks beat the Pistons, 104-100, in the nightcap of the Detroit twinbill and the Philadelphia Warriors walloped the New York Knickerbockers, 134-123.

Baylor's total on 12 field goals and 11 free throws, was the third highest single game effort by a player in NBA history. Joe Fulks scored a record 63 points with Philadelphia on Feb. 10, 1944. George Mikan had 61. The previous top this season was 52 by Pettit.

Minneapolis gained the lead late in the first period on a Baylor basket and stayed ahead for the rest of the game. A 48-41 halftime margin was built up to 23 points at one stage of the game.

Jack Twyman's 34 points for Cincinnati were completely overshadowed by Baylor's performance.

Pistons Lose Ground

St. Louis dropped Detroit 4½ games behind Minneapolis in the battle for second place in the Western Division. The Hawks gained a 47-40 half-time lead and managed to contain the Pistons after intermission. Pettit led the St. Louis attack with 24 points. Phil Jordan had 20 for Detroit.

Paul Arizin, right behind Pettit in the face for the scoring championship, poured in 21 of his 32 points in the first half to pace Philadelphia to a 68-52 intermission lead. The victory pulled the Warriors to within three games of Syracuse in the race for the third play-off spot in the Eastern Division. Willie Naulls was high for New York with 26.

Where Is He Now?

Fusari Operates Cooler Business

Charlie Fusari, a speedy welterweight from New Jersey, rolled up a string of 45 straight victories in three years before he lost his first fight at Madison Square Garden to tough Tony Pellone in 1947. The next year, Fusari started another winning streak only to be flattened by Rocky Graziano late in 1949. In 1950, he built himself into a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson and went the distance but lost the fight. He retired in 1952 after only six more bouts.

Whatever happened to Charlie Fusari? Now 35, he lives in Irvington, N. J., operates a water cooler business and is associated with a used car lot in Newark.

Petty Victor In Stock Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —Lee Petty of Randelman, N. C. reigned today as winner of the 500-mile NASCAR stock car race sweepstakes, but he had to wait three days to make it official.

Johnny Beauchamp of Harlan, Iowa, was at first declared winner of Sunday's classic. However, protests from men in the pit area forced NASCAR President Bill France to withhold a final decision until films of the close finish could be studied.

An absence of photo-finish facilities complicated matters and officials had to pour over films and still shots of the race to determine Petty's victory. They finally declared Petty the winner Wednesday.

The pictures showed Petty's 1959 Oldsmobile in front of Beauchamp's 1959 Ford Thunderbird as the car cars zoomed past the finish line. Petty's average winning time was 135.521 mph, a new 500 - mile record for stock cars.

Petty, who didn't file an official protest, said "I slept good because I knew I had won it."

His dreams were money - makers as there is a difference of about $11,000 in prize money between first and second place.

Dozen More Join NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI)—The NCAA announced today 12 more schools have entered its college division basketball tournament, bringing to 22 the teams already in the field of 32.

Five of the latest entrants qualified automatically as conference champions. They are Southwest Missouri (19-2) of the Missouri Intercollegiate Conference; South Dakota State (14-5) of the North Central League; North Carolina A & T (23-3) of the Central Intercollegiate Conference; Knox, Ill. (17-2) of the Midwest Conference and Scaramento State (11-9) of the Far Western Conference.

Seven other schools accepted "at-large" berths. They are Tuskegee, Ala. (15-10), Lemoyne, N. Y. (16-5), Florida A & M (21-5), Wabash, Ind. (12-7), Loras, Iowa (16-5), Augustana, Ill. (11-8) and Western Illinois (16-7).

Orange Baseball Picked For Tour

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) —Adoption of a new orange colored, glowing baseball for its 1959 district and state tournaments was reported by the National Baseball Congress today.

The non - pros' ruling body earlier had adopted the sphere for its 25th annual national tournament, opening Aug. 14 in Wichita.

Ray Dumont, congress president, said use of the ball for which increased visibility is claimed, will be optional in franchised leagues in this and 27 affiliated nations.

Cloud Hanging Over Tar Heels' Tourney Chances

Virginians Deal Second Loss In Row To Carolina

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

A second-straight upset loss, this time at the hands of Virginia, threw a cloud today over North Carolina's post-season basketball chances and could serve as a warning to high-ranked West Virginia, which hits the tourney trail today.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 1 team until upset by Maryland last week, took it on the chin again Wednesday night, 69-68, at Charlottesville, Va., when Paul Adkins of Virginia tallied two free throws with 1:30 to play.

The loss dropped North Carolina out of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Although it could be meaningless in the long run, since the ACC berth in the NCAA tourney goes to the team winning the league's own post-season tourney, the loss raised doubts about North Carolina's chances.

Tar Heels Blow Lead

North Carolina seemed to have this one wrapped up early with a 12-point lead during the first half, but then Adkins entered the game and sparked Virginia in a comeback to take a 36-34 halftime lead.

North Carolina led, 63-67, when Adkins hit his pair of free throws that decided the game. Carolina had a couple of shots after that, but they went astray as Cavalier defenses kept the Tar Heels at long range. Herb Busch had 20 points and Adkins 19 for Virginia while Harvey Salz had 19 for North Carolina. It was the Tar Heels' third loss in 20 games.

West Virginia, ranked 13th nationally, is a top-heavy favorite in the Southern Conference's post-season tournament opening today in Richmond, Va., with an NCAA berth at stake for the winner.

Coach Fred Schaus' Mountaineers have won the league title four straight times and have won 47 straight league games. They were expected to crush Davidson in an afternoon program that also pitted William and Mary against Richmond. In night games, Virginia Tech faced George Washington and The Citadel faced Furman.

To Decline NCAA Berth

In another tournament development, it was learned in Starkville, Miss., that Mississippi State probably will decline a berth in the NCAA tournament. The Maroons have clinched the right to represent the Southeastern Conference in the NCAA carnival, but the state of Mississippi has an unwritten policy against racially-integrated athletic events.

University President Ben Hilbun said the school's decision won't be announced until after the Maroons' final game of the season Saturday night against Mississippi. But it was learned that the announcement almost certainly would be a rejection. That would clear the way for Kentucky, last year's NCAA champion, to return to the tournament on a "rain check."

In other leading games Wednesday night:

Maryland followed up its victory over North Carolina by beating Georgetown (D.C.), 67-56, as Charlie McNeil scored 27 points; Louisville celebrated its acceptance of a member-at-large berth in the NCAA tourney by trouncing De Paul, 83-66; Fordham, bound for the National Invitation Tournament, edged Rutgers, 79-72; Temple beat Pennsylvania, 75-69, and Syracuse shaded Canisius, 79-73.

FRAME-UP—Frank Thomas, when viewed from between Cincinnati teammate Frank Robinson's legs, seems small. But Thomas, obtained from Pittsburgh in a trade, is a big hitter who figures to give Reds plenty of power to go with Robinson's bat.

North Carolina Cagers May Be Doing 'Fadeout'

By The Associated Press

Are North Carolina's basketball Tar Heels fading in the stretch? Did that short-lived No. 1 national ranking making them overconfident? Have they picked up a fatal case of the late season jitters?

The questions were prompted by North Carolina's second straight Atlantic Coast Conference loss last night.

Lose Conference Lead

Virginia's 69-68 victory at Charlottesville knocked the Tar Heels out of first place in conference standings.

North Carolina, clobbered by Maryland last week, will have to whip Duke in its final ACC game Saturday to gain a tie for first with North Carolina State. The Wolfpack ended the season with a 12-2 record.

Should the Tar Heels win, a flip of the coin will determine which gets top seeding in the ACC tourney in Raleigh next month.

Last night's defeat came at the hands of a team which previously had managed only four wins in 12 conference games.

Adkins Hero

Paul Adkins, who had attended his grandfather's funeral in Florida, entered the game with nearly six minutes gone, and put new life in the Cavaliers.

He scored 19 points and his driving layup in the final minute won the game. Teammate Herb Busch got 20 points.

Harvey Salz was top man for North Carolina with 17.

North Carolina now is 17-3 overall. Virginia has a 6-15 showing with a final game Saturday against South Carolina.

Maryland went out of the conference last night and dumped Georgetown 67-56. The Terps, led by Charlie McNeil's 27 points, came from behind in the first half.

Conference teams are idle tonight.

All team representatives are urged to attend the session as the league hopes to open about May 4.

St. Michael's Seeks Crown

If SS. Peter and Paul's cagers want to keep their chances alive in the Catholic Youth Basketball League they'll have to whip unbeaten St. Michael's of Frostburg tonight when they clash on the SS. Peter and Paul court at 8 o'clock.

The Mountain City hoopsters, with the first-half title tucked away and a 15-game win streak going, can take the second-half honors by winning tonight in the final games of the season.

St. Michael's won the opening crown by beating the Flying Dutchmen in a playoff, 37-35, after the teams had wound up with 9-1 records. They had split in their two previous meetings.

Frostburg is undefeated in nine tilts for the second-half race while the locals' only setback in as many outings was to the pacesetters, 31-20, at Frostburg.

In the first game of the twin bill, St. Ambrose will play St. Peter's of Westernport at 6:45.

St. Mary's Gaels will be host to St. Mary's in the other league game scheduled for tonight on the Oldtown Road court at 7:30.

Woodling Signs Baltimore Pact

BALTIMORE (AP) — Veteran Gene Woodling, who last year said he was considering retiring from baseball, has signed for another season with the Baltimore Orioles.

The 36-year-old outfielder's timely hitting helped spark the Birds last year. He batted .276.

Terms under which he signed were not disclosed but they were believed to be roughly those of last year when Woodling was the highest paid Oriole at about $32,000.

Woodling's signing, along with that of infielder Billy Gardner yesterday, left only three Orioles out of the fold.

Throws Out Suit

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (UPI) — A Brooklyn Supreme Court justice Wednesday threw out a $100,000 suit brought against the former Brooklyn Dodgers by Irving Wiener, 63, a field guard who lost the sight in one eye while retrieving a baseball on Aug. 7, 1954.

Craft Thinks A's Capable Of .500 Ball

This is the last in a series by major league managers giving pre-season appraisals of their teams.

By HARRY CRAFT
Manager, Kansas City Athletics
Written for UPI

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—I'm not setting a goal for the 1959 Athletics like I did last year when we were aiming for 70 victories and beat that by three games.

I won't even say that we will be a first division contender. But we will be shooting for a .500 percentage and, if we hit that, we won't be far out.

I believe we can hit the .500 mark this season with a little natural improvement and the bench strength we have added.

Additions like Wayne Terwilliger, John Bella and Dick Williams have given us that bench strength we have sorely needed.

They and some other young fellows will give us more maneuverability this season and the competition for jobs this spring will be greater than it ever was.

And a little competition never hurt anyone.

Battle For First

First base, in particular, will be an interesting position this spring. Fellows like Preston Ward, Harry Simpson, Whitey Herzog, Kent Hadley, Jim McManus, Hal Smith and even Bella and Williams will be out to win it.

If I had to name my first baseman today, I couldn't do it. It wouldn't be fair to those fellows.

But pitching is the most important thing to the ball club.

Unless someone changes my my mind, we'll start out with the same rotation that we got going toward the end of last year. Bob Grim, Ned Garver, Ralph Terry and Ray Herbert. My mind is still open on the fifth starter.

Of the young pitchers, I'd say Howard Reed, the big Texan, has an excellent chance of making the ball club. He's got the stuff and good control for having only one year of experience.

Grim could be the No. 1 man on our staff from what he showed in the last two months last season.

Bob Cerv and Roger Maris will give us defense and punch in the outfield.

Praises Lopez, De Maestri

Bill Tuttle in centerfield is better and more vaulable than the record indicates. He hit only .214 last year, but he got the key base hits and key bases on balls.

I can't say that the rest of the infield is set, but Hector Lopez swings a good bat and showed good improvement when we shoved him in at second base last year; there's no question about the defensive ability of Joe DeMaestri at short, and you couldn't ask for a man to step in and do a better job than Hal Smith did at third last year.

Here's where that bench strength and maneuverability come in. Terwilliger, Milt Graff and Mike Baxes will be in the running for these positions in addition to the fact that Lopez can move to third and Smith could take over at first or behind the plate.

Of course, our catching staff is pretty well manned with Harry Chiti and Frank House.

Pfeiffer Beermen Set Dux Record

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI — The Pfeiffer Beer Club of Detroit smashed a 21-year-old American Bowling Congress tournament record Wednesday night by posting a 3,243-team total.

Pfeiffer's pace-setting performance set the stage for a showdown tonight with the defending ABC champions, the Falstaffs of St. Louis, which must set another record if they hope to retain their crown.

In Wednesday's other action, Bill Pace, 27, of St. Louis, who is handicapped by being crippled, jumped into first place in the singles with a tremendous 743. Pace had games of 239, 225 and 279. His total was the 15th best singles score in tourney history.

Brewers Rout Chaney's For 143-64 Win

Unbeaten Old Germans, who went on a scoring rampage last night in the City Basketball League by walloping Chaney's Transportation, 143-64, at Carver gym, gun for their 18th straight triumph tonight when facing Forty & Eight Club at 7 o'clock at Allegany.

The Brewers, seeking a sweep of the split-season race, have won seven games this half. Old Exports will tangle with Chaney's in tonight's other contest at 8:30.

Score 70 Goals

Cutting the cords for a staggering 70 goals, Old Germans racked up one of the highest totals on record in the league. The Brewers other three tallies came from the foul line.

Using only five players, all five of the Brewers reached double figures with Ed Orndorff and Glen Smith both rattling the rims for 41 points. Don Moran finished with 31 while Phil Smith contributed 20 and Alex Ambrose 10.

Colin Detrick led the losers with 25 markers.

In the second game of the doubleheader the Loyal Order of Moose five edged the Old Exports, 66-62.

Trailing 40-38 at intermission the Moose rallied in the third quarter when Ronnie Cage's goal put them ahead, 42-41, a lead the victors held the remainder of the game.

Finish With Four

Bill Kirk fouled out with 7:25 remaining in the fourth period leaving the Old Exports with only four players the rest of the contest. The losers rallied to pull within two points at 64-62 when the Moose froze the ball during the final three minutes. A layup by Don Lilya with 40 seconds left iced the contest for the Moose.

High scorer for the winners was Lilya with 28 tallies while Bob Pence with 22 and Jim Thomas with 20 paced the Old Exports.

VPI Poses Top Challenge To WVU In Tournament

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—The Southern Conference basketball tournament opens today with four games on tap and seven teams taking aim at West Virginia's string of four straight championships and 47 league wins.

Talk was persistent that a better league balance and the power of Virginia Tech posed the biggest challenge the powerful Mountaineers have faced in years, but West Virginia remained a solid favorite.

WVU Meets Davidson

The Mountaineers take on Davidson at 4 p. m., e.s.t., in what is picked as the only lopsided contest in the opening round.

William and Mary tips off the tournament against Richmond at 2 p.m. e.s.t. The two squads have traded victories this season.

The opening night schedule pits second place Virginia Tech against George Washington at 7:30 p. m. e.s.t. and closes with The Citadel against Furman in another rubber battle after an even split in two previous matches.

West Virginia Coach Fred Schaus, his usual cautious self, opened the quote parade with a sunny, "It should be a real fine tournament" and closed his predictions with "In this day and age in basketball, you can't take any team lightly."

All In Good Shape

However, Schaus readily admitted "everybody is in good shape," including All - America candidate Jerry West, voted the Most Valuable Player in the 1958 tourney.

The two afternoon winners will square off in the first semi-final Friday night and the opening night victors will clash in the other, with the finals scheduled Saturday night.

The champion will represent the conference in the NCAA tournament, in which the Mountaineers have been ignominious first-round losers the past three seasons.

Besides the impetus of 47 straight conference wins, the Mountaineers received a double-advantage in the first-round pairings. Davidson is rated a weak sister while chief challengers Virginia Tech and George Washington are paired against each other.

Wesleyan Seeks Crown Tonight

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Morris Harvey will be out tonight to stop West Virginia Wesleyan from taking its second straight District 28 NAIA basketball berth.

Morris Harvey dropped the first game of a best-of-three series 90-77 Tuesday night at Buckhannon and must win tonight to keep alive its title hopes.

If a third game is necessary it will be at Glenville Monday.

The Eagles have won 12 straight games on their home floor since losing to Wesleyan over a year ago. They also are the only team to beat Wesleyan this season, winning here 93 - 91 Feb. 5.

The revenge - minded Bobcats worked out on the Morris Harvey floor Wednesday night. Wesleyan enters the game with a 31-1 record, while the Eagles have a 16-8 mark.

Legislature Adopts Bill For Oldtown

County Will Pay $838 Support For Fire Company Unit

After concurrence on amendments to a bill directing the Allegany County Commissioners to pay $838.40 toward the support of the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company the measure was adopted at the General Assembly.

The measure, Senate Bill 223, was sponsored by State Senator Charles M. See.

The bill was amended by the Allegany County Delegation to delete a $150 contribution to the Chapel Hill Hose Company, a social group.

Senator See said Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, reported the amendment was made in response to a suggestion that the Chapel Hill contribution be cut out, as it is no longer in existence.

The organization went out, Senator See said, when Nelson W. Russler died.

The legislators made no change in the $150 contribution to the Cumberland Hose Company, whose former quarters are used by the Cumberland Auxiliary Police unit.

Deletion of the Chapel Hill contribution brings the total the county is directed to pay the several volunteer fire companies to $22,813.40.

Two other fire company bills may be acted on during the current session of the Assembly.

The first is a bill to create a special taxing area for fire protection in election districts served by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and to allow a tax of not more than 10 cents on each $100 assessed valuation of property to finance the company.

The proposal would be put up to the voters in the districts in a referendum 90 days after June 1, when the bill would become effective.

The Allegany County Delegation, which is sponsoring the bill, has received endorsements.

Francis Fatkin, president of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association, wrote he had contacted 10 companies and all approved.

It was endorsed by the LaVale Civic Association in a letter from Lloyd Buchanan, president, according to Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Delegation.

The other bill is one sent down by the City of Cumberland to the Allegany County Delegation, requesting that the county contribute toward the support of the Cumberland Fire Department a sum equal to aid to volunteer fire companies.

The plan was placed in the hands of the Allegany County Delegation Monday after city and county officials disagreed, and City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the "delegation must take a stand."

So far as is known, the bill has not been introduced.

State Senator Charles M. See said last night he "will not legislatively referee differences between the City of Cumberland and the County Commissioners."

Program For Health Work Discussed Here

Edward V. Graef, executive director of the Health Research and Services Foundation of Allegheny County, Pa., who was the speaker at the County United Fund dinner last night, met with local doctors and community leaders earlier to advise them on the operation of a single, local health foundation to cover all diseases.

Graef told the CUF workers attending the dinner at Cumberland Country Club last night that "communities are no longer interested in wooing health agencies into United Funds." He said the Health Purpose Foundation which has been created by the CUF to serve the total needs of the area in the health field "is the right step in the right direction."

Graef, who helped to organize the first local health foundation in the United States while serving as United Fund executive director in Durham, N. C., was introduced by Ort.

"United Funds are now moving in a new direction," he declared. "As far as health agencies are concerned, United Funds are interested in developing a better product—one that will do a much better job in the field of medical research; a far superior job in the field of health education; a much finer job of providing medical services to people who need those services."

The speaker traced the history of United Funds from their origin in Detroit in 1948, where business men and labor leaders became annoyed at the number of fund campaigns conducted in their plants, and where the Ford Motor Company discovered it was costing $40,000 in lost time and production each time a fund campaign took place in Ford installations.

"Business, labor and other community leaders then asked themselves, 'Why can't this situation be corrected?'," Mr. Graef said, "just as they are now asking themselves, 'Why do we need a separate health agency for every disease?' "

He declared that "in the beginning, the national health agencies gave hope to the business and labor leaders who organized United Funds. The American Heart Association joined in some four or five hundred campaigns. The American Cancer Society joined in some three or four hundred campaigns. Tuberculosis joined. Crippled Children joined.

"Then," he continued, "confusion developed. National policies restrained local health groups from accepting money from United Funds in some places, while in others they were permitted to participate. And finally, although United Funds included 'cause' money for health agencies in their successful campaigns year after year, the time arrived when nearly all of the health agencies refused to accept the money."

Graef then traced the studies made by various communities of the operations of health agencies, "most of which," he declared, "can render very little service because of their top-heavy organizational setups.

"So long as you have one separate health agency for every disease," he stated, "then you are going to have an organizational setup that simply eats up the money and uses it for purposes other than for what the people thought it had been contributed."

Graef said that there are now more than 100 national health agencies, "each with its own executive and office and staff, and each hoping that it will become as big and strong as heart, cancer and polio, with separate chapters in each and every community, each with its own office, its own executive and its own staff."

The CUF volunteer workers then heard Mr. Graef declare: "This, to your community leaders, is the last straw!"

He referred to a Rockefeller Foundation report of 1945, and to a similar report made by the Ohio State Medical Association two years ago, both of which recommended a single health agency for all diseases, and agreed that:

"Multiplicity of agencies means inefficiency, unnecessary expense, duplication of staff, competition for public support, less effective leadership and direction for all, dissipation of energy and confusion to the public."

The single, local health foundation is the "new product being developed by community leaders in many cities, including Cumberland, and they are getting it ready for market.

"They are not waiting for the product to be absolutely perfect before they proceed. They know there are many problems to solve and they are taking them on one at a time.

"They are already facing immediate problems arising out of relationships with some national agencies that have informed them they want to cooperate in the new movement. There will be problems arising out of relationships with other national health agencies whose past history indicates very little cooperation can be expected.

"But," he concluded, "most important of all, your community leaders are taking a long, hard look at what their relationship will be with more than 100 health agencies already in existence at the national level—agencies that are not yet established in your local community, but all of which want to move in, and will move in—unless your community leaders cling to their plans for a single, local health foundation to cover all diseases."

William C. Walsh, former circuit court and court of appeals judge and attorney general of Maryland, was elected president of the CUF organization.

A complete slate of officers, board members and executive committee members was elected at the meeting, which was presided over by Lewis J. Ort, first-year campaign chairman and second-year president of CUF.

The invocation was delivered by Salvation Army Captain Daniel K. Biggs, 1959 CUF campaign chairman, who later reported on the recent drive that netted $316,807 for the support of 32 affiliated CUF agencies in Allegany and Mineral counties.

A. Trago Brust Jr., secretary, read the minutes of the last CUF meeting; Earl K. Hess, treasurer, gave a financial report for the year, and Robert G. Garner, chairman, gave the 1959 nominating committee report.

In addition to President Walsh, other officers elected for the coming year include:

Dr. W. Royce Hodges, vice president; William R. Carscaden, secretary; and Earl K. Hess, treasurer.

The executive committee will consist of A. Trago Brust Jr., Mr. Carscaden, Wilbur Johnson, Duard H. Little, John B. White and Mr. Walsh.

Members of the board of directors are:

Critic Says Steel Hour 'Wafer-Thin'

Able Young Actor Placed In Poor Role In TV Play

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS-TV's U.S. Steel Hour is an infuriating example of TV blueprinting.

Aside from CBS-TV's Playhouse 90, there are no dramas of quality on television and it would seem much to the Steel Hour's advantage to jump into the gap and coat itself with some honor.

But for the past couple of seasons, the Steel Hour has taken refuge inside a dreary sanctuary of mediocrity. It hires players of skill, but then anchors those players to timid dramas, uninspired, yawny, unelectric.

There is a mechanical drabness about its product. There is no flash or fire about the snow. It simply shuffles through the paces.

Wednesday night, the Steel Hour did wrong by one of the most exciting young actors in our theater, George Scott. Scott is a whiplash of a performer, vigorous, stinging, crackly. He is a player of leather and given a decent chance, he can lace strength through the flesh of any play.

Unhappily, Scott was thrown into a wafer-thin wrapper called "Trap For A Stranger" that simply buckled under him. It was an implausible piece about a small town sheriff who unjustly accuses a stranger of manslaughter in order to win an election, skinny in its motivations, hogwashy in its conclusion.

Dick Van Dyke and Teresa Wright also were thrown into this cellophane package and labored manfully and womanfully, respectively. It occurs to me what the Steel Hour could use is a little steel in its own scripts.

Short Shots: Jocelyn Brando, Marlon's sister, was trapped inside a remarkably tedious version of the Lizzie Borden story on ABC-TV's Accused Wednesday night. Jan Sterling turned in a bonny performance Wednesday night on an inert NBC-TV Wagon Train episode. CBS-TV's Trackdown didn't even bother with a plot Wednesday night — Just ground out a single and wearisome chain of gun-booming from start to end. It's a shame to waste Robert Culp, one of the more competent cowboy actors, in debris like this.

The Channel Swim: CBS-TV's "Hamlet" pulled a respectable 15.4 Trendex Tuesday night. Hubbell Robinson, vice-president in charge of network programs at CBS-TV, estimates the Shakespeare play reached 22 million viewers.

General Motors will sponsor eight Art Carney specials next fall, four of them dramatic shows, the others revues or variety shows — no network has been picked yet. Burgess Meredith will narrate CBS-TV's March 28 special, "The Human Comedy," with Jo Van Fleet a likely choice for one of the leads.

Barbara Bain has checked out of the cast of CBS-TV's Richard Diamond after making five episodes. CBS-TV's The Last Word, scheduled to be axed after March 15, has gotten a reprieve through the summer. Negotiations between Milton Berle and Kraft, which called for Berle to do six NBC-TV specials next fall, fell through Wednesday because of money.

Jackie Cooper has joined Genevieve in the cast of the premiere of the NBC-TV Florence Henderson-Bill Hayes Music Theater show March 26. Johnny Desmond takes off for Hollywood after this Friday's CBS-TV Your Hit Parade to film a CBS-TV Desilu Playhouse, "A Diamond For Carla," which also will star Anna Marie Alberghetti. ABC-TV is plotting a spectacular that would star the Three Stooges.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Annie O'Donnell, who passed away Feb. 26, 1944.
You left a beautiful memory,
A sorrow too great to be told;
But to one who has loved and lost you
Your memory will never grow old.
Daughter,
RUTH DURKIN.

In beloved memory of our Mother and wife Mary M. Metz, who passed away three years ago today, February 26, 1956.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for her will still keep green
And never fade away.
Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When the lights go out I like to give my wife a bedtime kiss. Did you ever kiss a woman with her teeth out? Well, that's my problem. I can tell you it isn't very much fun. She used to wear her teeth to bed but lately she takes them out because she says they hurt her. I tell her to go get them fixed but she says they don't bother her that much. Be a pal, Abby, and help me out.

NOT SATISFIED.

DEAR NOT: Cajole, threaten or bribe but get the little woman to the dentist who made her dentures. A tiny bit of adjusting can make a whale of a difference in your domestic relations.

DEAR ABBY: I am too ashamed to sign my name to this letter but I hope you will print it in the paper because I need an answer and I don't know where to turn. My eleven-year-old son is getting to be a very clever thief. I give him a generous allowance and if he'd ask for anything extra he would get it, but he seems to enjoy stealing. He steals from his friends, the grocer, the druggist and he will even go into my purse and steal money. I see things in his drawer I know he didn't buy. I've threatened to take him to the police station to frighten him but nothing helps. Oh, Abby, am I raising a criminal? Please help a broken-hearted mother.

BROKEN-HEARTED.

DEAR BROKEN-HEARTED: A child who steals merely for the thrill of stealing should get professional help. He can be straightened out if he is taken in hand early. Threatening him with punishment by law is unwise. A policeman should be identified as a friend whose duty it is to protect us and our property—not as an enemy who takes pleasure in punishing our wrongdoing. Ask your family doctor whom to see.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife who comes home with an expensive item like a dress or handbag and announces, "This is my Ghristmas present from you." Sometimes it's "my anniversary present" or "my birthday present" or some other special-day present. In the sixteen years that we have been married I haven't been able to buy her one gift because she beats me to it by three months. As an excuse she says she wants to make sure she gets something she likes. I resent it. What can I do about it? HENPECKED.

DEAR HENPECKED: If you've been "henpecked" in this manner for sixteen years, I'd say you were a pretty dumb cluck. Tell the little shopper that the next "gift" she buys herself she will have to pay for or return.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always the "life of the party" but he will be the death of me. He will do anything to get a laugh, including putting a lampshade on his head and doing the "hootchie-kootchie' dance. I am the quiet type and hate to see him make a fool of himself. How can I get him to be more dignified? He is almost 50 and ought to know better.

EMBARRASSED.

DEAR EMBARRASSED: If your husband enjoys himself and reason to feel that he is "making reason to fee lthat he "making a fool" of himself. Let him have a good time.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
ANNE DELLINGER SMITH and ROBERT SMITH III, her husband, Cromwell Street, Luke, Maryland, CHARLES E. DELLINGER JR., and DOROTHY S. DELLINGER, his wife, 2725 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D.C. RICHARD B. DELLINGER and NAOMI HARRIETT DELLINGER, his wife, Bloomington, Maryland, COMPLAINANTS, VS. MARTHA B. DELLINGER, unmarried, 1629 Columbia Road, N.W., Apartment No. 317, Washington, D.C., RESPONDENT.
No. 25482 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, State of Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a Decree for the Sale of certain Real Estate located in the Town of Westernport, in Allegany County, Maryland, which is owned by the heirs at law of Anna Bruce Dellinger, late of Allegany County, Maryland, who died intestate.
The Bill states that Anna Bruce Dellinger, late of Allegany County, Maryland, died intestate on the first day of August, 1957, seized and possessed of Lots Numbers Three (3) and Four (4), and a strip of land of even width lying in the rear thereof, as laid out on the Plat of Gannon's Addition to the Town of Westernport, Maryland, in Allegany County, as improved by a large Brick Dwelling thereon, and which property was devised unto her by the Last Will and Testament of her husband, Charles E. Dellinger, dated February 24, 1926, and probated on June 14, 1946, in the office of the Register of Wills of Allegany County, Maryland, in Will Book "S", Page 583. That Ten (10) feet of the West side of Lot No. 3, described in said Bill adjoining the property of Norris Bruce et ux., has been conveyed by the parties of interest therein unto Norris Bruce and Marie Bruce, his wife, by deed dated December 7th, 1957. That Anna Bruce Dellinger died intestate on August 1, 1957 and left surviving her as her only heirs at law four children, namely, Anne C. Dellinger, who married Robert Smith, III, Charles E. Dellinger who married Dorothy S. Dellinger, Richard B. Dellinger, who married Naomi Harriett Dellinger, and Martha B. Dellinger, who is divorced, all of whom are adults and the Respondent, Martha B. Dellinger is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
The Bill further states that the real estate described therein is valued at approximately Ten Thousand Dollars and that the partition of said land and dwelling is not susceptible to partition in kind, and the property should be sold and the proceeds distributed among the parties in interest according to their respective interests of an undivided one-fourth interest to each heir.
IT IS THEREUPON this 17th day of February, 1959, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complainants by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 18th day of March, 1959, give notice to the said absent Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill, warning her to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of April, 1959, next, to show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Planetary influences encourage all worthwhile matters. You can do well in your occupation and other interests, too. Go after things cheerfully and with a will to win.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—You may have to pay for previous neglectfulness, work harder to get over the "rough spots." Be calm, don't rush, keep a steady gait and you will eliminate mistakes and increase gains.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Strong influences for fine progress if you follow your better impulses. Small perplexities should not be difficult to handle if you are true to your better self. Artistic pursuits favored.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—One of those periods in which decisions must be carefully made and attention to detail a prime requisite.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Construction work, invention, scientific experiments and research, nursing, travel, exploration especially favored. You can advance if you maintain inner and outer poise, balance.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—You are heading for a "mixed" day tomorrow, so make all the progress possible now. Plan well to counteract any unsatisfactory influences that may arise.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Get as much done as possible in the A. M. Afternoon influences are more restrictive; will cause delays.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Do only as much as reason allows. If you set too strenuous a pace you will exhaust energies. Stop to think, review procedures. Can you cut some of the red tape?

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) —Day is receptive to smart plans and a quick but sensible course of action in your work and in any worthwhile undertaking in which you must take part. Be ambitious but reasonable, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are a willing giver, both wisely and unwisely. You do not mind ingratitude; are only sorry you cannot do more for people. Honest in intent, you do not anticipate dishonesty. There's high intelligence here; branch out occasionally; don't hesitate to wish for better methods. Control inattentiveness.

Wagner died seized and possessed of several parcels of real property located in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that it is necessary in order to settle this estate and pay the debts thereof, it will be necessary to sell a parcel of said real property.

Jacoby On Bridge

No Diamond Bid Needed

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South has a perfectly normal opening no-trump and almost any two players will land at three no-trump with the North - South hands.

The right way to get there is the simple way. North should raise directly to the no-trump game. He does have a good five-card diamond suit but there is no reason for him to bid it. Why fool around with an 11-trick contract when you have a hand that will do just as well at a nine-trick level?

No one vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ 5

The slam - bang player will make four no-trump quickly and easily. He will win East's ten of clubs with his queen and run off five diamond tricks, one spade, two hearts and two clubs for a total of ten.

In duplicate the expert will do the same except maybe he will work out some sort of endplay or pseudo-squeeze and make five-odd. In rubber bridge the expert will only make three-odd.

Here's how the expert will lose a trick. He will win the first club and play a diamond to the ace. Then the expert will lead a low diamond from dummy. He has seen such things as a 4-1 suit break and since four diamond tricks will give him his game he will use this safety play in order to ensure his contract.

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. This must be Blackwood and if your partner shows as many as two aces you will bid six spades. There should be a good play for it because he has shown a maximum two no-trump and good spades. If he shows three aces you will still bid six spades only.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Again your partner has responded two no-trump to your one spade bid. This time you hold:
